Goodfellow, Brother Robert Thompson, Brother Bigonoske, Brother Stan Maxwell, Brother Harry Leeman, Brother Wilfred Muir and their wives, with suitable gifts to honor their retirement.

Following the presentation, dancing to Hugo Diggins' Orchestra and floor show by Bianca Henrices was much enjoyed by all.

The ticket prize winners were: Mr. D. Montgomery, Belleville, $100, Mr. K. Wright, Belleville, $50, and Mr. E. Goodman, Belleville, $25.

Much credit is due to Brother E. L. Goodman, local chairman of Division 189 and chairman of entertainment, and his committee, for a splendid evening.

Due to the generosity of the Belleville merchants, many lucky people received door and spot dance prizes.

DOWNED BY SMOKE

BOSTON (AP) — Fifty subway passengers and 25 firemen were chilled Monday by smoke from a burning electric transformer in a subway station. The fire disrupted the system's signal system, causing a vast tie-up that delayed 100,000 morning rush hour riders by as much as two hours.

1955 Light Fruit Cake

By Mary Moore

(REPEATED BY REQUEST)

Last Saturday I promised to Dea S. the recipe which she refers to as a Fruit Cake "which calls for crushed pineapple" which appeared in this column in 1954 or 1955 .This recipe follows and was called

1955 MOIST LIGHT FRUIT CAKE:

(Incidentally this is the fruit cake recipe we used for Marion's Wedding cake, and I think that over the years it has been the most popular fruit cake recipe I have ever given to this audience.)

1 lb. blanched chopped almonds, 4 oz. shredded coconut, 2 oz. cut citron peel, 8 oz. cut lemon peel, 15 oz. golden seedless raisins, 4 oz. red glace cherries, 4 oz. green glace cherries, 4 oz. candied pineapple cut very small, 1 20-oz. tin best quality crushed pineapple, 1 lb. 2 oz. butter, 3 cups white sugar, 9 eggs, yolks and white separated, 1 1-2 teaspoons almond extract, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 1-2 teaspoons cream of tartar, 1 teaspoon salt. Cream butter until it is light and pale and fluffy (under electric beater if you have one), then gradually cream the sugar into it until both light and creamy — do not cut this creaming short. Then add the egg yolks and beat until the 3 ingredients are all well blended and light. Add the almond extract. In a bowl (or very clean dishpan) that is large enough to hold all of the batter and leave room for mixing, put all of the prepared fruits, except the pineapple. Sift the flour and measure it and sift it again with the cream of tartar and salt. Sift it over the creamed butter-sugar-egg mixture and stir it in. Note below re flouring fruits. Call on one of your strong-armed men and mix the batter into the fruits and add the can of crushed pineapple. Our cakes required 3 hours and 15 minutes, but you must decide the time yourselves depending on size of pans you use" (Makes 10 lbs.)

apple. Whip the egg whites until stiff enough to peak and fold them in. Have your pans ready — preferably new shiny ones — lined with 3 or 4 thicknesses of wax or parchment paper or brown paper — and butter this paper when it is uncoiled into the tins. Turn in the batter having pans not more than 3-4 full. NOTE:

If desired half of the flour mixture may be stirred into the fruits before they are mixed with the batter.

Bake cakes at 275 deg. Fahr. with water-pan in bottom of oven throughout entire time.

Unlikely Any Ship Will Sail Along Canada's 3rd Ocean Front Because of Pack Ice

Written for The Canadian Press
By TOM FAIRLEY

:SACHSEN, Sverdrup Islands (CP)—No ship has ever sailed along Canada's third ocean front of tightly-packed islands stretching much of the way from Alaska to Greenland along the Arctic Ocean.

Probably none ever will since the northern coast is obstructed by pack ice winter and summer. Yet this sector of Canada's boundary now is the scene of a vast hydrographic survey.

Why a hydrographic survey where no ship can go? The explanation is in the fact that this is only the beginning of something much bigger. On the heels of the hydrographers and guided by their map of the sea bed go scientists to study the earth's crust beneath it; the composition of the bed itself, the ocean water above it and the ice covering the ocean.

The result after many years will be a many-sided collection of scientific knowledge of the Canadian side of the Polar basin.

This is Canada's chosen way of entering the field of scientific polar research in which the Soviet Union has been active since 1937, the Americans since 1952.

It's the Canadian government's Polar Continental Shelf project which has just finished its first six-month season of field work in the Ellef Ringnes Island sector of the 1,500-mile northwestern frontier.

Elaborate and expensive facilities are needed for the work out on the polar ice. Everything at the Isachsen weather station where the project is based must be brought by air from the RCAF station at Resolute Bay, 350 miles away. And, apart from motorized toboggans for short runs, transportation to and from the field parties on the ice is also by air—single-engine Otters from MacMurray Air Service, Uranium City, Sask., and Bell and Sikorsky "choppers" from Arctic Helicopter Services, Montreal.

Then, so that scientists can always know exactly where they are on the ice, $250,000 worth of Decca radio-navigational equipment from England was installed in the aircraft and at three points along the front of the islands.

The Decca system provides instantaneous geographical "fix" for the scientists, often working far beyond the sight of land. Reading the heavens is much too slow and unreliable for today's pace of scientific work.

Among the scientists are geologists, geographers, biologists, zoologists and glaciologists studying the islands and collaborating out on the ice with their colleagues, the oceanographers.

The project is entirely Canadian, a government operation under direction of the department of mines and technical surveys. One significant effect of the project is to place Canadian citizens on the islands for the first time in any numbers.

Indeed, sovereignty rather than science was the first consideration in 1958 when the cabinet approved the project. For years Canada's title to the Queen Elizabeth Islands rested on token occupation by a few government seals along the southern and eastern edges. The only other settlements were weather stations at five points operated jointly by Canada and the United States. Most of the islands were uninhabited and in the Canadian Arctic, as a whole American outnumbered Canadians 200 to 1.

In 1957 and early 1958, just before the project was approved, there were several developments with significant bearing on the situation:

1. Launching of Sputnik and the ensuing hue and cry for more fundamental research of all kinds in the West. This led to demands by the U.S. early in 1958 for intensified work in the scientifically-interesting Canadian Arctic, if necessary through joint Canadian-U.S. projects.

2. First Arctic cruise of the Nautilus, American nuclear submarine which in 1958 crossed the top of the world under the polar ice—evidence of a new line of military thought and another reminder for Canada of its neglect of polar research and, specifically, of its ignorance of the waters of the Canadian archipelago.

3. Compilation in Ottawa of geological data collected in the islands since 1955, revealing the virtual certainty of a new oil province; and the knowledge that oil might be found under the sea bed as much as under the islands. The oil rush in the Islands started in January, 1959, and 40,000,000 acres now are under exploration permit with regulations carefully designed to favor Canadian investment.

4. Convening at Geneva early in 1958 of a law-of-the-sea conference at which Canada seized its opportunity to press for protection of each country's right to resources in the continental shelf along its own coasts. This point was adopted before the conference ended and became international law.

These and no doubt more elusive factors evidently convinced the cabinet that the far northern Islands could become a great national asset; that Canada's postwar urgently needed safeguarding by presence of more Canadians on the islands; that scientific exploration as a national policy was the logical way to achieve this and that a polar shelf study would be ideal since it would take account of all chief concerns — military, economic, scientific and political.

OCEAN RESEARCH — Canada has embarked on a full-scale scientific study of its Arctic Ocean frontier. Map shows initial area studied this summer by hydrographers to determine slope and extent of Canada's polar continental shelf. Channels along the ocean front were sounded for depth from east of Meighen Island to Prince Patrick Island. Slope of the continental shelf was established by a line of soundings into the Arctic Ocean from Cape Isachsen on Ellef Ringnes Island.

Presidential Candidates Hold Divergent Views on Defence Of Chinese Offshore Islands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic and Republican candidates for president have clashed again on defence of the Chinese offshore islands.

Senator Kennedy, the Democratic standard-bearer, said he cannot believe the American people will have confidence in any party and a leader who commits the United States to defending the "two rocks off the coast of China." Kennedy has said he will defend them only in defence of Formosa.

Vice-President Nixon, the Republican nominee, reaffirmed his stand to vigorously defend Quemoy and Matsu and said the next administration must make sure that the U.S. is the strongest country in the world militarily "whatever the cost may be."

SHEET REDS' APPETITE

To give up Quemoy and Matsu, Nixon said, would "only whet and not satisfy" Communist appetites.

The whole issue rode into the campaign last night during the televised presidential debate when a question was asked about defending the two islands if the Chinese Communists should try to grab them.

Quemoy and Matsu are Nationalist Chinese territory, about just a few miles off the Communist-dominated Chinese mainland. The U.S.-Nationalist China mutual defence treaty does not pledge the U.S. to defend them. Shelling of the islands by the Red Chinese for several months in 1958 caused a crisis, but the situation there has been relatively quiet of late.

Nixon said Monday night in a Salt Lake City speech that the islands should be defended vigorously. "Whenever you make a concession to them (the Communists) it only whets their appetite. It is not the road to peace. It is the road to war, or it is the road to surrender, or both."

Senator Kennedy in Pittsburgh, called the islands indefensible and said that a United American's president "who is liberal at home and careful abroad." He called Nixon a man who is conservative at home and a risk-taker abroad.

The Quemoy-Matsu issue was not mentioned Monday night during a televised program on which President Eisenhower answered questions from a group of women.

Praising Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, Eisenhower said: "We could have no better two people to have the Republican ticket. By experience goes to both foreign and domestic affairs, I think, I think they are unequalled."

Former president Truman said last a few miles off the Communist-dominated Chinese mainland. The U.S.-Nationalist China mu- "I don't know whether he's what he's talking about—he never told the truth in his life."

One of Eight Burned in Fire Dies in Hospital

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — Lloyd Bernarva, 34, one of eight men burned in a $10,000,000 industrial fire in Port Colborne Friday, has died in hospital in Toronto.

Mr. Bernarva had been transferred from here to a Toronto hospital.

Hospital authorities said Monday night that five of the men burned in the fire that destroyed the Maple Leaf Milling Company flour mill are still in hospital.

None is in serious condition.

An eighth man, Roy Seguin, was treated in hospital here and released Saturday.

G. M. Maclachlan, executive vice - president of Maple Leaf Milling, said Monday night it has not been decided whether to rebuild the mill. He said company officials decided during the weekend that it will be a smaller plant if it is rebuilt.

The mill's 180 employees will be paid up to Oct. 15 and dismissed, Mr. Maclachlan said. He expected they would get preference for jobs from contractors if the mills are rebuilt.

NEW AIRCRAFT — This American-built aircraft, an Umbaugh-18, may be imported into Canada by business executives. It takes off vertically like a helicopter. Once off the ground it moves forward with a pusher-type propeller while the overhead rotor acts as a wing. To land, the rotor acts as a big pinwheel, easing the plane down. (CP Photo).

Hybrid Plane, Umbaugh-18 Now Made Commercially

CALGARY (CP)—A new type of aircraft—a hybrid that takes off vertically like a helicopter but flies like an aeroplane—will soon make its first appearance here.

The plane, just coming off the assembly line at the Fairchild plant in Hagerstown, Md., is known as the Umbaugh-18, brainchild of a 40 -year- old Second World War pilot who pioneered the use of helicopters as sales-men in Florida.

Ray Umbaugh, president of the craft and owner of an American aviation firm, put wings on his top salesmen three years ago.

The result was so successful that he decided to put all his salesmen into the air. But he found the cost of helicopters too high.

Result: The U-18, described as a refinement of the old theory of flight, applying power to the rotor only for takeoffs and doing away with the need for even a small run on an airport runway.

The plane takes off straight up, just like a helicopter, using a rather simple clutch and gear arrangement on the rotor. The motor turns the rotor to get the craft off the air. Once aloft, a pusher-type propeller pushes the craft forward.

Pressed disengaged from the big rotor and the action of the air keeps it spinning and acting as a wing while the propeller drives the craft forward. If the engine should fail, the craft acts as a big pinwheel, easing the craft to earth.

The U-18 can climb 1,050 feet a minute, cruises at 100 m.p.h. at 65 per cent power and has a top speed of 126 m.p.h. It does about 24 miles to the gallon, has a fuel capacity of 34 gallons and can remain aloft for 3½ hours.

Boosters of the U-18 see its potentialities encompassing everything from police work to spot repairs on power, pipe and fence lines, crop-dusting and spraying, even in helping sportsmen find a secluded fishing spot.

Several Calgary oil executives are reported to have visited the Maryland factory to investigate possible use of the craft in the industry, now pushing into densely-wooded and often inaccessible areas.

Former Deputy Reform Minister Dies in Toronto

Born in Cornwall, England, Col. Basher came to Toronto and joined the police department in 1913.

The following year, he enlisted in the Queen's Own Rifles, serving overseas first as a corporal. He was commissioned a lieutenant in the Canadian Army and served in France, Egypt and Salonika, being twice mentioned in dispatches.

Later, at the age of 24, he was sent to France as governor of a military prison containing 1,000 men. On his return he was appointed governor of Toronto's Don Jail, then superintendent of the Guelph Reformatory farm.

In 1939 he went overseas as commanding officer of the Royal Regiment, serving in England and Italy. He was awarded the O.B.E. and the British Empire.

Appointed special investigator for the department of reform after the war, Col. Basher was superintendent of Guelph Reformatory from 1946 until appointed deputy minister.

Col. Basher was a strong proponent of the daily strip penalty and use of the strap in provincial prisons. The strap was abolished by Reform Minister Wardell two years ago last year. Col. Basher said the abolition of the Guelph Reformatory had later "thanked me for bringing them to their senses."

Appointed deputy minister in 1951, Col. Basher was often the target of critics inducing riots in provincial prisons, especially the escape of the Boyd gang from the Don Jail in 1952.

Khrushchev's Self-Portrait On Air-Waves Depicts Him As Kindly Old Grandfather

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev, the tough-tempered Soviet premier, has drawn this self-portrait: He's a peace-loving old grandfather who would never threaten war.

Furthermore, he said he is convinced that the storm over U-2 spies flights will subside in time for the next U.S. president to meet at the summit with him in friendly fashion.

This is the folksy image Khrushchev sought to project across television screens and on radio Sunday night during a two-hour question-and-answer session.

Except for a few brief blowups, Khrushchev acted peaceful—the campaign of threats and denunciations he has waged since delivering three weeks ago to lead the Soviet delegation at the United Nations.

"What do I want with war?" he asked. "I have so many grandchildren, even a great grandchild."

HE'S "ELECTED" NOW

Khrushchev pictured himself as the "elected" leader of a nation who wants nothing more than to help his people, who share his dream of being friends with the American people.

"We don't ask to get anything from you. We only want friendship and peaceful ties," he said.

Khrushchev, however, did not backtrack from his latest demands. He still wanted the West to get out of Berlin, overhaul the UN according to Moscow specifications, disarm now and talk about it later, he answered.

He said Russia would have no alternative but to shoot down further spy planes.

But, he added in talking about the U-2 spy plane incident:

"There can in international relations be all kinds of complications. Sometimes they can be very sharp indeed, but with the passage of time such situations lose their rough edges . . . evidently this will happen also with the U-2 incident."

DOESN'T MENTION

Perhaps significantly, Khrushchev said nothing about his previous demand that President Eisenhower apologize because of the U-2 incident before any new summit session.

Khrushchev was interviewed by television personality Mike Wallace-kind on the program Open End.

The show, one of the questions. Hundreds of viewers phoned the studio to protest Khrushchev's appearance. Others called to complain about spot announcements of a Soviet film which extolled the work of Radio Free Europe and the North Atlantic pact.

Khrushchev "just got right" with anger when an ad appeared him a note during the show telling him about the Radio Free Europe announcements, Sussking said later.

Victor Sukhadrev, his interpreter, relayed Khrushchev's comment. It was: "How dare you!" But in a few seconds the Soviet leader calmed down.

"Well, do anything you like. We will win. We will win," Khrushchev told Sussking.

RESTLES AT BAY

Khrushchev seemed determined not to let any of Sussking's questions anger him. He bristled for about a few seconds when he was accused of "baying at the moon" by rehashing the U-2 plane case.

"I did not come here to bay at the moon," he retorted. "I am chairman of the council of ministers of the greatest state on earth, and if you have invited me then you will please respect me. If you don't respect me, don't invite me."

Khrushchev invited Americans to travel to Russia—and see for themselves how "wonderfully peaceful" all Russians are.

Khrushchev accused him of evading some answers and of not really saying anything new that Americans expected to hear about peace. Would Khrushchev say categorically that Russia would never start a war? Emphatically, he answered:

"Categorically, we shall never start a war, so you can sleep in peace. We want not a war but peace between us."

Can Build Gadget That Will Make Paraplegic Walk

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An electronic gadget can be built that will make paraplegic walk, research surgeon reported Monday.

It is not ready for production yet but its workability has been demonstrated by experiments on the temporarily paralyzed legs of dogs, he said.

Another three years of experimentation will be needed to bring the project to the point where it can be tried on patients, he added.

The report was made to the American College of Surgeons by Dr. Robert H. Rushmill, professor of bioengineering at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y.

Paraplegics are persons who are paralyzed on both sides from the waist down. Their spinal cords have been cut. Mostly they are wheelchair cases.

THE GADGET

Dr. Rushmill, produced walking motion in the legs of dogs paralyzed by anaesthetic. He said this they built an electronic system, operated by muscle signals that would deliver gentle electric shocks to the four groups of leg muscles that carry out the walking motion.

The shock activated the leg muscles of the anaesthetized dogs, producing the motions needed for walking, he said. Then the machine took over the function of the brain in paraplegics: the muscles do not function because the nerves controlling them have lost their connection with the brain.

Murray, 26, both of Sarnia, in a two-car collision in Sarnia Township Saturday.

Buddy Allan Foster, 13, Sergeant River, Ont., accidentally shot himself while playing with his brother and two other youths near Clarence Sunday.

Constance Bastedo, 14, Monday when a car rolled over on Highway 7 near Georgetown, Ont.

Adenauer and de Gaulle Do Not See Eye-to-Eye on Issues

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

To Premier Michel Debre, an since the collapse of the summit last May has richly justified their suspicions.

But today the two leaders are occupied with other issues on which they do not see eye to eye.

De Gaulle, faced by a new attempt to debate the Algerian problem in the UN, has tentatively dismissed the organization as "a pitiable platform for sensational speeches and threats." Adenauer has given every indication that he holds the UN in high esteem.

Adenauer continues to look favorably on proposals for broadening the European Economic Community, which binds France and West Germany and members, into a Western European political bloc including Britain and other non-members of the six-nation trading group.

De Gaulle, jealous of any surrender of French sovereignty, some roof.

Expect Hundred Thousand To View Plowing Matches

SPRINGFIELD, Ont. (CP) — The 47th annual International Plowing Match begins today near this village on a site that has already mushrooged into a tent city.

The four - day competition, probably the biggest annual rural event in Ontario, will see about 250 entries competing for the right to represent Canada in competition at the world title.

Sponsored by the Ontario Plowmen's Association, it brings together the best plowmen from each province in the country as well as winners in regional associations matches in Ontario.

In addition to expert plowmen the match also features youngsters from 14 years and up already skilled in the exacting task of turning a clean, straight furrow.

Sunny, cool weather with afternoon conditions was predicted for the first match—one of the most ragged the 100,000 spectators expected at the event will see.

Some 30 Ontario mayors, many of whom have never driven a tractor let alone turned a strip of sod, will compete in the opener for the mayor's title.

Tractors used in the matches are supplied by farm implement dealers. Plowmen entering the horse plowing competition bring their own animals, and in some events appearance of the horses is judged as well as the plowing.

About 250 firms, most of them suppliers of farm machinery and goods, have established exhibits in the sprawling canvas city.

A new feature in this year's match will be the crown of a "queen of the furrow." Contestants will have to have a complete knowledge of plows and plowing as well as a pretty face and trim figure to win the title. Other attractions during the four days include daily cooking contests, a parade and horseshoe pitching contests for men.

Springfield is 12 miles east of St. Thomas.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

There was a touch of nostalgia for an old baseball buffs at CNRA Park Sunday afternoon when Bobby Strachan's young oldtimers of the boisterous mid-forties dusted off the medal year and did diamond battle with Ken Sodden's starry 1960 junior "A" champions.

Bobby's crew went to the post carrying heavy imports of lard equator-wise, that is some of them did. The rest kicked up their heels and swerved around the diamond, somewhat rusty perhaps, but with plenty of evidence they had some of the old finesse left.

Umpire "Shad" Ethier had a field day, for he had his "beat" of the Umpires' Association. Al Kelleher, under his official thumb and Shad made the most of it. He and big Al put on a neat comedy act which was climaxed when Kelleher blasted a towering shot that struck the score board in left field.

And forgotten, tooo, was the current world series, at least for the moment when those old cronies Murney and "Sonny" Green, Cy Young and some others got together and talked about baseball when even Bobby Strachan's "veterans" were running the bases in three-cornered pantles.

"Sonny" now a silver-haired veteran, came along with sons Vern and Bud who played with the veterans juniors. He was one of the most colorful characters that ever played in the old Central Ontario Baseball League, and by his own admission, the only catcher who could throw a ball to second base, beat it to the bag, catch it and tag the runner coming from first.

Our Uncle Ned sat on the back porch last evening, twiddling his thumbs, rockin' gently with a big fat comfortable chaw in his mouth.

"'Twas a right nice weekend for you sportin' fellas," he remarked, "dependin', of course, on what team you were rootin' for. And judgin' from the look on your face like that one the cat has after it gobbles a canary, your team did right well."

The old boy was right. It was a great Thanksgiving for the poor, weak and downtrodden. The underdogs took a new lease of life and turned on erstwhile snarling conquerors. The supposed high and mighty came crashing down before the desperate assaults of the stepping stones.

Take the Pittsburgh Pirates. The proud Yankees, rated by many as ultimate conquerors, handed the "lowly" Bucs a second humiliating defeat on Saturday. The score was 18-9, close on the heels of that 16-3 debacle.

But Pop-leg Murtaugh, a broth of a bhoy, heard the pleas from the bistros of Pittsburgh. Clanking schnapers tinkled a toast to the downtrodden. The Pirates rolled over glassey-eyed, shook themselves, and got up before the count of ten. They picked themselves off the mat and led by Mr. Elroy Face and Bill Virdon's two-run single and game-saving catch bumbled the mighty Yankees.

Yesterday a slender tooth-picking southpaw named Haddix held and hogtied the proud Bombers from the Bronx for seven innings, then the smouldering Yankees started to catch fire. Enter Fireman Face again. He promptly hosed the hit-hungry bludgeons down for the second time in a row. That was it. Remember, the Pirates in six.

The rollicking Riders from Ottawa vidicted by Bock (Kon) Stewart, galloped willy-nilly over the flat-tering Locks from Montreal, while the win-hungry Ben-gals from Hamilton turned on the proud Argonauts and bumbled them for their third defeat. Ay, lads, 'twas a right noble holiday.

Pirates Win Pair In Yankee Backyard

Roar Back After Blasts

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel said it just right if you overlook the grammar.

"Wal", observed the New York manager Monday after Pittsburgh's 9-3 triumph, "we gotta win the next one or we ain't gonna be playing ball no more."

That was the world series picture, the Pirates needing just one more victory to eliminate the Yankees.

After absorbing two terrific shellackings in a row, the Bucs battled to two victories in the enemy's own back yard to lead 3-to-2 in the best-of-seven set.

Trounced 16-3 at home Thursday, the Pirates were battered 10-0 at Yankee Stadium Saturday.

But they squared things Sunday with a 3-2 squeaker over the American League champs. Relief ace Elroy Face saved that one for Vernon Law and again did a fireman's job in the late innings Monday for Harvey Haddix.

ODDS CHANGE

Just two days ago, the oddsmakers were laying 9 to 1 on the Yankees to win the series. Today the odds are 4 to 1 on the Pirates.

Bob Friend, Pittsburgh's 18-game winner, is manager Danny Murtaugh's pitching choice for Pittsburgh Wednesday. Stengel said he would choose between Bob Turley, the fast - balling righthander, and Whitey Ford.

If a seventh game is needed, Murtaugh will call on Law, the only pitcher with two victories in this series. Either Ford or Turley, whichever one doesn't pitch Wednesday would start the key game in Pittsburgh, provided the Yankees even the series.

A worried Stengel said:

"If we had won yesterday, I would have started Turley today, tomorrow. He will have five days' rest. Ford will only have three. I'd prefer to give Ford more rest."

The belief is that Casey has to go with Ford. Once this summer, Casey had run out of pitchers and Ford volunteered to pitch with two days' rest. The 31-year-old Yankee "stopper" came through with a 1-0 victory over Baltimore Orioles.

HAS LOST ONCE

Friend pitched last Thursday and was charged with the debacle in the second game. He gave up six hits in four innings before he was taken out for a pinch hitter with Pittsburgh trailing 3-1. The strong-armed right-hander, however, struck out six men.

Haddix put the Pirates in a commanding position Monday before 62,733 Yankee Stadium fans. The 30-year-old left-hander had a three - hitter until the seventh when he weakened and gave up singles to Tony Kubek and Hector Lopez.

Face, for the third time in the series, came on and stifled the Yankees the rest of the way. He disposed of eight of the nine batters he faced, only a pass to Mickey Mantle in the eighth marring his flawless pitching.

All the Pirates went after the victory at the outset. Dick Stuart led off the second with a single to left off Art Ditmar, also the victim of a first-inning Bucc uprising in the first game of the series.

Gino Cimoli forced Stuart, but Smoky Burgess doubled to right and Cimoli stopped at third.

All this juncture Don Hoak grounded to Kubek, who threw to third in ample time to get Burgess. Gil McDougald, the steadiest of Yankee veterans, dropped the ball, placing Pirate runners on both second and third with one run in.

DOUBLE SCORES TWO

Bill Mazeroski's double to left brought both home. In came Luis Arroyo in relief and struck out Haddix. He then got Bill Virdon to bat out to McDougald, who had to lean into the stands to make the play.

The Yankees scored in the second on Elston Howard's double and successive ground - outs by Bobby Richardson and Kubek.

The Pirates boosted their lead in the top of the third when Dick Groat doubled to left and Robert Clement brought him home with a single to the same place. That brought in Bill Stafford to pitch the Yankee pitcher.

There was no further scoring until the ninth. Burgess singled to left and took second when Bob Cerv fumbled the ball.

Joe Christopher ran for him and advanced to third on Ryne Duren's wild pitch. Duren had come in at the start of the eighth. Hoak's single through the box scored Christopher for the Pirates' fifth run of the game.

There was one other Yankee threat. With Mantle on base in the eighth, Bill Skowron lashed a drive down the left-field line that Then he flied out to short. Then he flied out to short.

Hull Scores 3 In Black Hawks Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks, aided by the brilliant play of left-winger Bobby Hull, appear to be the club most likely to challenge the supremacy of Montreal Canadiens this season as the National Hockey League season moves into its second week.

The 21-year-old all star, last season's NHL scoring champion, scored all three goals Sunday as Chicago edged the visiting New York Rangers 3-2 to take over top position from the Blues.

The Black Hawks now have five points against four for New York. Montreal is third, also with four points, Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings have two points each and Toronto Maple Leafs trail with only one.

All clubs have played three games.

MOORE SCORED THREE

Canadiens, who have won the Stanley Cup the last five seasons, and Chicago, now are the only undefeated clubs in the league.

Dickie Moore, Canadiens left winger did scoring duty upon two seasons in succession, collected three goals in Montreal's weekend games against Boston.

Two of them were tying goals as the teams drew 1-1 Saturday and 4-4 Sunday.

Moore leads the NHL scoring race so far this season with three goals and three assists for six points.

INGARFIELD LED RANGERS

New York Rangers' Earl Ingarfield scored twice Saturday to lead his team to a 5-2 victory against Toronto Maple Leafs.

Tim Horton of Toronto scored the lone goal Sunday against Detroit Red Wings to give the Leafs their first point of the season.

Detroit's Gordie Howe, back in action after missing two games with an injury, scored one goal and a assist to contribute to the tie.

All clubs were idle Monday, Thanksgiving Day, but league action returns today with Montreal playing in New York and Detroit visiting Boston.

Booster Club To Meet On Wednesday

A general meeting of the Belleville Maxx Booster Club has been scheduled for the Recreation Centre here Wednesday evening at eight o'clock.

All members of the club and anyone else wishing to join is urged to attend this all-important meeting. There's plenty of urgent business on the agenda.

Topping the menu will be the election of officers for the 1960 - 61 season. President Jim Matthews will be unable to attend the meeting since he is entering the hospital for surgery. The meeting will be chaired by Harry Nollett.

The past year's financial statement will be given and fund raising projects for this season will also be up for discussion.

McFarland team coach Gordie Bell will be on hand and will speak on this year's team.

It is an important meeting all around for the club and everyone is urged to attend.

Lakefield Wins Title From Sudbury

PETERBOROUGH (Special) — Lakefield defeated Sudbury 1-0, in 12 innings here Monday to retain their All-Ontario intermediate A softball championship. It was the third 1-0, extra-inning game of the final series, both pitchers going in all three.

Ray Judd of Lakefield allowed four hits and fanned 17, walking one. Metro Szaryk of Sudbury pitched a three-hitter, walked none and struck out 21 Monday. Each side had two errors.

Red Wasson singled in the 12th, moved up on an out and scored on Bob Crowe's fly which was dropped in right field. Red Wasson got two hits in five to lead the batters.

Ron Stewart, a darting, fox-like runner, is living proof that a little man has a big place in professional football.

The five-foot-eight halfback is driving the Big Four Union opposition wheezy with fantastic scampering for Ottawa Rough Riders.

Stewart pulled his latest bit of magic Monday in leading Riders to a 31-21 crusher over Montreal Alouettes. When he joined the Riders three years ago many skeptics said he was too small for the big league, but Monday he once again jammed the words down the critics' throats with the four brilliant long touchdown runs and a league rushing record.

Stewart, a 24-year-old 175-pounder, piled up 287 yards rushing in 16 carries, an average of 17.9 yards each time he ran with the ball. His touchdown dashes were 39 yards, 31 yards twice and 37 yards.

TIED WITH ARGOS

The victory, before 22,186 fans at Montreal, sent Riders into a first-place tie with Toronto Argonauts, beaten 20-16 Monday by the resurgent Hamilton Tiger-Cats before 25,000 delirious customers at Hamilton.

The Rough Riders made a clean sweep of their Thanksgiving weekend action, starting off with a 41-23 victory over Alouettes before 16,721 fans in Ottawa Saturday. Argonauts beat the Tiger-Cats 24-14 in Toronto Friday night.

Argonauts and Riders have each won eight games and lost three for 16 points apiece. The Tiger-Cats champions the last three seasons, and the six are deadlocked for the third and final playoff spot with six points apiece with 5-8 records.

Stewart, at all-time great with Queen's University Golden Gaels, scored a touchdown in each quarter. His rushing total smashed the mark of 217 yards gained in one game set by barging fullback Gerry McDougall of Hamilton.

Stewart vaulted into second place in the individual scoring race with 84 points — 14 touchdowns in 13 games. He is 14 points behind George Dixon of the Alouettes.

Quarterback Russ Jackson's seven-yard run on a keeper play, a one-yard dive over backs by Joe Kelly and Gerry Nesbitt's five - yard buck produced the other Ottawa touchdowns. Gary Schreiber kicked five converts and a 35-yard field goal and Jim Conroy booted a 35-yard single.

LONGEVITY AMONG

Don Clark came up with a 35-yard touchdown run for the Alouettes and Lou Bruneteau, Sam Etcheverry tossed passes to end Hal Patterson and Dixon for two more. Bill Bewley converted all the touchdowns.

The Riders played Monday without star fullback Dave Thelen, who suffered a injured left shoulder in Saturday's game. Stewart more than took up the slack. Import quarterback Ron Lancaster was dressed but never saw action. He has been ailing.

The Ticats came up with a powered Argonaut passing attack. Quarterback Bernie Faloney guided them with some well-timed running and passing against the fevered Argos.

Jarus, who roared through the Argo line on a 35-yard gallop, and Pete Neumann scored the other Hamilton touchdowns. McDougall had two converts. Buck Shaw and Dave Mann and Dick Shatto scored the Argo touchdowns. Cookie Gilchrist, thrown out of the battle along with Hamilton's Harry Lunn for fighting, kicked one convert and a 37-yard field goal.

GOOD RUSHING

The Ticat defence rushed quarterbacks Tobin Rote and Nobby Wirkowski repeatedly and produced a gasflinn stand which halted Argos in the third quarter on Hamilton's four-yard line. On the following play of the game, the Ticats hauled down Toronto's Bobby Kuntz on the five - yard line as Kuntz desperately tried to power his way to pay dirt.

Argonauts lost Rote for nearly 30 minutes. He was severely shaken up early in the game when a Ticat tackler ran into a third-down gamble.

The Riders scored all six touchdowns along the ground Saturday, Kelly got three, Stewart two and Nesbitt one. Schreiber converted all of them.

Patterson scored two touchdowns for the Als, Dixon got the other. Bewley picked up three converts. Bewley, on an attempted field goal, and Etcheverry added singles on kicks.

Beavers Win Three In Row

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The rookie of the Eastern Professional Hockey League, Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers, are looking like the league's strong men, Monday night after three games. Montreal Royals, are languishing in the cellar.

That's the picture after four league games during the holiday weekend which saw the Beavers — now entry in the EPHL's second year of life—win their third consecutive start, downing Kingston Frontenacs 3-2 at Kitchener Monday night.

Royals, winners of the league playoff title last spring, dropped their third straight decision in Montreal Sunday, a 5-3 loss to Sudbury Wolves. On Saturday night they bowed to the Frontenacs 3-2 in Kingston.

In the other weekend game Hull-Ottawa Canadiens won their second game of the season at home, trouncing Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds 5-2.

The Kitchener - Waterloo club, a farm team of the New York Rangers, now boasts a 3-0 record lost record and Hull-Ottawa Canadiens are at their heels with a 3-0 record. Tied for third at 1-1 are Kingston and Sudbury.

Flaherty scored all six goals for Beavers Monday night. Two of his three converts, Bewley, on an attempted field goal, and Etcheverry added singles on kicks.

Speedy St. Louis' junior evergreens of 1947 threw their weight around, literally, that is, on Sunday, but they tossed a scare into Ken Boden's 1960 Ontario junior championships at that.

True, the scoreboard read 9-6 against the heavily larded oldsters, but they had a lot of fun scoring six runs off as many hits and mixing good plays with expected bobbles.

The World Series game kept a lot of the faithful close to their TV sets, but manager Boden said the sale of tickets would set some kind of a very gratifying sum.

He expressed his appreciation of the CNRA management, the umpires, the ticket sellers and all who helped make the venture the success it was.

Both sides used three pitchers with the champions collecting nine hits. The oldtimers drew six walks as against three. Let's forget the bobbles.

Bobby Bunton started and gave evidence he still had that fast ball and control. Art Wright, who has developed a pear-shape, followed and Billy Strachen finished the chore.

Boden used Glen Dalzard, Billy Latchford and son Larry, who gave up the two-run homer to "Moose" Kelleher.

The most of the old gang was on hand with Russ Scales behind the plate, Huck Reeves at short, Vern and Bud Green, Don Semark, Mort Bradshaw and the pitchers. Mouse Rush and Dave Lockyer could not make the trip.

Claude Carr and Gordie St. Louis helped fill out the "Old Timers" roster. Umpires Ethier, Watkin and Bertrim gave their services gratis. In fact, "Shad" acted as master-of-ceremonies and kept up running comment with Kelleher as the straight man.

The junior champions scored three runs in the first, four in the fifth and two in the seventh. The veterans nibbled the youngster pitchers, scoring two in the first, singles in the second and third and two in the seventh. Both teams had eight hitters go down on strikes.

It was a lot of fun, good for a lot of laughs, some good and bad baseball, and a fine effort on the part of Bobby Strachan who fathered the idea and was mainly responsible for getting the former junior squad together.

"HEAVY" ROLES

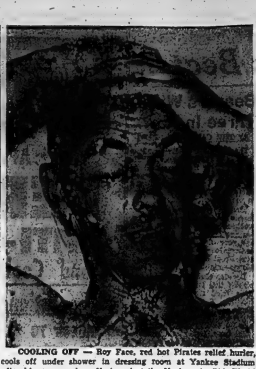
Series Facts And Figures

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the series:

The only player on both squads who has failed to see action in the series is pitcher Ed Ciba of the New York Yankees. Pittsburgh hurler Harvey Haddix was the 30th Pirate to crack the lineup in Monday's game.

Relief specialist Elroy Face, who has saved the three Pittsburgh victories, was credited with 18 saves in the National League campaign. He relieved 68 times and posted 10 triumphs to go along with his "face-saving" chores.



Art Ditmar of the Yanks, in absorbing his second defeat of the series, tied the record for most games lost in a series that went either six or seven games.

The Yanks' Mickey Mantle has drawn seven bases on balls and eight strikeouts—each one short of equaling records for a six-game series. Babe Ruth walked eight times in a six-game series in 1923 and Jim Bottomley of the Cards struck out times in the 1930 series that went six games.

For office pool buffs, there's a three-way tie for the inning run "high" so far. The Yanks have scored seven runs in their half of the fourth and sixth innings. Neither team has been able to score in the eighth inning while the Pirates are scoreless in their half of the seventh.

HOLD STEEPLECHASE

AURORA (CP) — Surgeric Camp, ridden by Ken Robson of Aurora, won the Prince of Wales Steeplechase, Canada's oldest steeplechase, here Monday. The race was the feature of the Toronto and North York Hunt Club's annual hunt trials.

COOLING OFF — Roy Face, red hot Pirates relief hurler cools off under shower in dressing room at Yankee Stadium after his game-saving effort against the Yankees in fifth World Series game. Pirates won, 5 to 2. It was the third hot effort for Face against the Yankees in the series. (AP Wirephoto).

Senor Roberto Clemente

Could Be Series Star

By TED MIZE

The point was emphasized in the Pirate dressing room after Monday's 6-4 victory which gave them a 3-2 edge over New York Yankees in the best-of-seven series.

His bullet throwing arm had stopped the Yankees from taking an extra base on hits to his territory, a feat that contributed greatly to Pittsburgh's three victories.

LIKES COMPARISON

He beamed as his arm was compared to the famed one of Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, who played the same right field for the Bucs in 1925 when they won the world series by beating Washington Senators and pitcher Walter (The Big Train) Johnson.

"Sure," Roberto grinned happily, "Nobody can run on me."

He did not say it in a boastful manner. He was just stating a fact.

Clemente put fear into Yankee base runners in the first game in Pittsburgh. In the second inning after Yogi Berra and Moose Skowron had singled with none out, he gathered in pinch-hitter Dale Long's fly and just missed doubling Berra at second with a fantastic peg.

"We discovered then that they have a good right fielder," said Yankee manager Casey Stengel.

PLAYED VITAL ROLE

There was nothing the 26-year-old Puerto Rican could do about the Yankees' one-sided triumphs in the second and third games. But his arm played a vital role Sunday.

It came in the seventh inning when the Yankees drove hurler Vern Law to the showers. Skowron had opened with a double but he didn't try to score when Gil McDougald singled to right. He would have been out as Clemente tossed a bullseye three home to catcher Smoky Burgess. The Moose later scored as Bobby Richardson forced McDougald.

Then came another play that showed how the Yankees respect Roberto's arm.

Pinch - hitter John Blanchard singled past first baseman Dick Stuart. Ordinarily, Richardson might have raced to third, instead he stopped at second.

Springfield Unbeaten in Three Starts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Springfield Indians, defending American League champions continue to power their way along in the early stages of the 1960-61 campaign.

They are unbeaten in three games and picked up two of the victories during the weekend. The Indians shut out Cleveland Barons 6-0 Saturday, then beat Buffalo Bisons 5-3 Sunday.

Rochester Americans and Hershey Bears battled to a 1-1 tie in Saturday's other game. On Sunday Providence Reds belted Quebec Aces 8-2 and the Americans defeated Hershey 4-3.

The Indians lead the league with six points, one ahead of Rochester and two up on Cleveland.

The Indians' scoring against Cleveland was handled by Floyd Smith, Kent Douglas, Jimmy Anderson, Bill Sweeney, Bruce Boudreau and Harry Pidhirny.

INTO OVERTIME

Hershey and Rochester went through a 10 - minute overtime period without getting the game. Hank Cleala scored for Carchery and Ray Khasewich replied for Bears. Bobby Solinger came in the third period.

The Americans produced three goals in the second period to beat the Bears, Rookie Jim Pappin with his first AHL goal, Guy Rousseau, Dick Van Impe and Stan Sindrey scored for Rochester. Myron Stankiewicz scored for Hershey.

The Reds broke loose in the final two periods to batter the Aces. The teams were deadlocked 1-1 at the end of the first period but Quebec couldn't stand the pace.

Hull Tops Goal-Getters

MONTREAL (CP)—You'll find men in the National Hockey League with far more polish than Dickie Moore, a better turn of speed and a tougher shot to handle.

But Moore is what's known as a finisher. He's one of those guys who always seems to be in the right place at the right time.

After the opening week of play—three appearances by each team—the NHL's first statistical release shows today 14 players with three points or more.

Moore, 29, the veteran left-winger with Montreal's power-packed Canadiens, is right up there on top.

The two - time league scoring champ balanced off three goals with three assists for six points and a two-point lead on five players bracketed with four.

HULL GETS FOUR

Chicago's brilliant young Bobby Hull has four goals for his points and so takes preferred billing in second spot.

The others are Moore's teammate Henri Richard and Brian Cullen of New York Rangers—two two goals and two assists — and New York's Andy Bathgate and Gump Worsley of Hicke, each with a goal and three assists.

In the three-point bracket, a pair of players have two goals—Doug Mohns of Boston Bruins, a defenceman converted to forward, and Bernie Geoffrion of the Canadiens.

They have the rank with Eddie Litzenberger and Eric Nesterenko of the Black Hawks, Norm Ullman and Murray Oliver of Detroit Red Wings, Red Kelly of Toronto Maple Leafs and New York's Dave Balon, the only rookie in the top 14.

Both Montreal's Jacques Plante and Chicago's Glenn Hall have yielded five goals in three games for an average of 1.67. New York's Lorne (Gump) Worsley follows with six goals allowed.

Wednesday, October 12

General Tendencies: Until noon you are under fine aspects for finding whatever articles of charm, beauty, apparel, etc. that may appeal to you, as well as make any sales, and for guiding the good will of all by an attitude of interest in their well being. Then tonight use care not to get all steamed up emotionally or you irk others.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Be certain during morning to follow suggestions made by a family tie which will be both practical and lucrative. P.M. be devoted to close ties and strive for harmony. Say nothing that may start an unfortunate argument.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Aspects are favorable for finding just the articles you need during A.M. Get an early start. During the evening it is important your sister clear of some superficial acquaintance who could indirectly make a good deal of trouble for you.

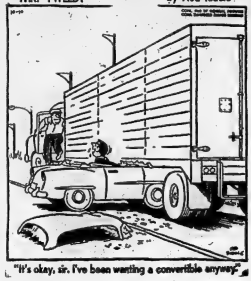
Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Morning fine for cleaning abode or office and adding the items that will improve appearance. Impress others with your fine work. Be very careful during P.M. that you are not extravagant where entertainment is concerned.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — A.M. ideal for improving appearance at barber or beauty shop and then coming to better understanding with loved one. Later, do your utmost to help close ties achieve greater personal happiness. Be kind. Take it easy.

Leo (July 2 to Aug. 21) — It is fine to carry through with that plan for attaining your desires which a close tie has suggested, but don't get overly excited. Be careful, also, that you drive and walk carefully or you can get into a serious accident.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — A.M. is perfect for getting together with associates and carrying through pleasantly with some mutually agreeable plans. Later, do not become depressed over some current personal problem. Help the needy.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — By doing something practical this morning, you get the approval of higher-ups who will give you added backing you need. Later, do nothing that will take away from present prestige you enjoy.



Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — During the morning it will be possible to make a fine impression on some influential person, which will help you to achieve greater success. P.M. don't be small and cut out some good friend who you feel has outlived his, or her usefulness.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — By being loyal and devoted to one who has been a great friend, you will be doing what is just and will gain thereby, also. P.M. you are relying on some valued individual who will surely disappoint you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Your talents will be appreciated this morning and all those whom you contact will gladly be of assistance. Tell them of your ambitions and desires. P.M. steer clear of over-pi-lever executive who is not a friend.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Important you keep working steadily in A.M. to put abode in perfect order so that you get the approval of right people. P.M. be sure you go out for fun and relaxation which will help you to think more clearly.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — You have much leisure time today in which to tone up your appearance and system and also to have a bit of fun. P.M. steer clear of mate who is becoming altogether too forceful and dissatisfied. Play it cool.

If your child is born today . . . he, or she, will be very fascinating, but it is important you early give the benefit of much supervised exercise in order to work off the tremendous energy in this chart, which could be utilized along the wrong channels. Also, give fine training in religious matters. Then the life becomes beautifully balanced and the forte will be in professions where diplomatic ability is a must.

Carpenter Face

Fashions Yankee Coffin

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Elroy Face is an off-season carpenter whose special project this week is fashioning a coffin for the mighty New York Yankees.

"I'm ready to go against them tomorrow and the next day, too, if I'm needed," the Pittsburgh relief pitching ace said today. "They look like just any other club to me. In fact, I like to pitch against them."

"I figure every man who steps up there against me is capable of hitting the ball out of the park, but at the same time I'm convinced I'm not going to let him do it.

When he signed for pro baseball career in 1949, a Philadelphia Phillies scout, Fred Mathews, told him he would be lucky to make it in class-D ball because of his age (21) and size.

"I guess I fooled him," said Face, "Here I am in the world series. Who would have imag-

In the Dressing Rooms

NEW YORK (AP) — Gil McDougald, the veteran third baseman of New York Yankees, faced no squeaky to his fatal error in the second inning of Monday's fifth world series game with Pittsburgh.

"I dropped the ball," he said with a bitter smile in the dressing room later. "He didn't knock it out of my mitt. It popped in before he hit me."

With Gino Cimoli on third and Smoky Burgess on second, Don Bosk of the Pirates grounded to shortstop Tony Kubek, who tossed to third in plenty of time to get Burgess.

But McDougald's error again put Pirate runners on second and third and Cimoli scored. Bill Mazeroski's double brought both home and the Pirates went on to win 6-4.

Art Ditmar, the Yankee pitcher who was knocked out in the first inning of the first game of the series, was the victim.

THEY DIDN'T FIELD

"So the other day he didn't do so well," said manager Casey Stengel concerning Ditmar, the first Yankee pitcher. "And he didn't field very well now, but he didn't field so well for him either, and anyway he won 15 games this season."

Although it was Elroy Face, the Pirate relief ace, who drew the wild cheers again Monday, Vernon Law was the pitcher pressed with Harvey Haddix, the starter.

"His pitches break down," said Kubek. "He has a lot of motion." Bobby Shantz, Yankee southpaw, said: "He didn't come over the plate once to me. All on the corners."

Stengel added glumly: "They kept us from hitting all through the series."

STILL UNDECIDED

The 71-year-old professor said he still was undecided about his pitching selection for the sixth game in which the Yankees will face Bob Friend, the Pirates' 18-game winner who lost the second game.

Stengel's choice lies between right-hander Bob Turley, winner of the second contest, and lefty Ralph Terry, who shut out the Bucs in the third game.

"Turley will have had five days rest and Ford three," said Stengel. "If we had won this one it would be Hurley, and then Ford. Now I don't know."

CAUTIOUS FRIENDS

The scene was completely different in the Pirate clubhouse where confidence reigned. It was tempered only slightly by shortstop Dick Groat's cautioning:

"The Yankees aren't dead yet. They're always dangerous."

"I'm tickled the way we bounced back," said manager Danny Murtaugh, who had set through humiliating 16-3 and 10-0 defeats in the second and third games.

"I could call on that fifty times (Face) each day if necessary," Murtaugh, who had Friend working at the bullpen in the ninth in the event Face weakened, said. "If my hit Face, I would have put in Friend. Now I can use him on Wednesday and save Law for the seventh game if needed.

Scandal Hits Soccer In Britain

LONDON (AP)—British sports have hit by its second scandal within a month Monday when a former Welsh soccer international said, in a newspaper article he has written during retirement, that he was offered £200 by two gambling officials to throw two games.

The offer was made by Roy Paul, a former Manchester City captain and one of Wales' all-time stars, in an article in the Sunday newspaper, The People. He gave the name of the man who accepted the bribe.

Gambling officials released in mid - September that a group from continental Europe has been in Britain for months buying up English race tracks. Investigations into the scandal are still continuing.

Paul's allegations drew angry denials from past and present Manchester City stars but the football Association was called for an immediate investigation.

Paul said he was bribed £500 to notes the first time after Manchester City had been beaten. He said the payment was made in the office of the opposing team's manager. That night, Paul said he told another Manchester City player about it and they shared the money.

Paul said the second player arranged the next bribe. Paul said he received £25, the other man took £50 and "the other boys on the team who didn't object got £10."

WAS A STAR

A veteran of 62 international games for Wales' national team, Paul was a big name in soccer. He now plays for a small club in Ely, near Cardiff.

Ken Barnes, a teammate of Paul's said he once was offered £200 by an anonymous person, but "I reported it immediately."

John Higgins, a player for the Bolton Wanderers, told football reporters that he had been offered £300 to lose a game against Manchester City.

A former Manchester City footballer, Don Revie, said he was going to write a personal letter of protest to Paul.

"I played with Roy from 1951 to 1957, and no game I ever played was ever sold to my knowledge," said Revie. "It shall tell Roy he has stirred all his old friends and teammates."

Ole Case Used to Sock It

NEW YORK (AP)—Just 37 years ago Monday the first Yankee Stadium world series game was played, and the Yankees lost that one, too.

The score of that 1923 game was Giants 5 Yankees 4, and the Giant man-of-the-hour was an even-lazy tough old codger named Casey Stengel.

With the score tied 4-4 in the top of the ninth, Casey lined a bullet Joe Bush pitch over Bob Meusel's head in left centre. Then Casey wheezed and puffed his way around the bases.

When he reached second the batting was held never make third and when he reached third nobody would bet he'd reach home. But he chugged around to complete his inside-the-park home run and win the game.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctor examinations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction of hemorrhoids took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months.

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And almost 100 sufferers wrote a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, most of them in 10 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in such use for healing injured tissues on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Broad Changes In Govt. Housing Policy Announced

Lift Income Ceiling, Boost Repayment Time

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Walker has announced broad changes in federal housing policies that will affect just about everyone connected with the construction industry—whether he buys, sells, builds or rents houses.

Mr. Walker, announcing the moves late Tuesday, said he hoped the "sweeping" changes would "inject new life into the lagging housebuilding industry."

Main changes were the lifting of the income ceiling on direct mortgage loans made by the government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and boosting to 35 repayment time to 30 years from 25.

Other changes extend home improvement loans under the National Housing Act to rental projects and "luxury" homes, increase terms for financing of low-rental housing, provide government loans to builders for construction of display homes.

The government is guaranteed home improvement loans, made by financial institutions, were previously available only to private homes and the interest rate on them is six per cent.

They will cover such work as installation of heating, roof, interior and exterior decorating, plumbing and electrical wiring work. There are some 1,500,000 rental housing units in Canada.

Mr. Walker said "an extensive program of repair and improvement work should result in this sector."

Elimination of the income ceiling on direct government mortgage loans departs from a policy begun this year which, Mr. Walker said, would not be made to families with incomes over a range of from $7,000 to $7,600 annually, depending on family size.

A spokesman said the government rule of thumb on minimum income was a normal lending guide. This has been that no person should be up more than 27 per cent of his annual income in mortgage and tax payments in buying a home.

Mr. Walker said the lengthening of the mortgage repayment terms by five years would help families who may have been hesitant in building or buying a house because of monthly carrying charges.

On a $10,000 loan, for example, the monthly cost would be reduced and interest payments of $4.30 a month saved.

And some churchgoers, Rt. Rev. Hugh McLeod told the Toronto West presbytery, are like excursionists, picnickers, businessmen, scientists and artists who visit the village and then go home completely they know the community.

He said the excursionists and picnickers are persons who visit the church only on special occasions and form no personal knowledge of it.

Businessmen were those church members who judged the success of the ministry by financial figures and other statistics, and artists those who took a scientific attitude toward the church and felt those who equated the church with its organ, its architecture or its oratory.

The church, he said, is "more than an art, more than a business and more than a science."

Mr. McLeod was delivering his first address since accepting the position as head of the United Church at the general council sessions in Edmonton Sept. 14.

Frondizi Says He Will Not Resign Office

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Argentine President Arturo Frondizi made a radio broadcast today and said he will not resign in the face of a military threat to topple him from power.

Frondizi made his broadcast after army and navy officers mobilized their forces and demanded he crack down on Communists and Peronists in his government.

Frondizi was under a virtual ultimatum by the two armed forces to oust all officials with Communist sympathies or back-ers of exiled dictator Juan Peron.

All troops were confined to barracks and sailors and airmen moned back to their ships to strengthen the military demands.

Army secretary Gen. Rodolfo Larcher handed in his resignation—he quoted Tuesday night after senior army officers charged that he was trying to present their case properly before the government.

The army move against Frondizi's policies are headed by Gen. Carlos Severo Toranzo Montero, commander - in - chief, who was reported to have set up an emergency headquarters at the Campo de Mayo military base some 20 miles west of Buenos Aires.

Admiral Alberto Vago, chief of naval operations, said the navy was "1-0 per cent supportive" the army's demands.

Moderator Says Spot Judgments Made of Church

TORONTO (CP) — The newly-elected moderator of the United Church of Canada Tuesday likened the church to a village by the sea where people live, work and die almost unnoticed by visitors from outside.

And some churchgoers, Rt. Rev. Hugh McLeod told the Toronto West presbytery, are like excursionists, picnickers, businessmen, scientists and artists who visit the village and then go home completely they know the community.

He said the excursionists and picnickers are persons who visit the church only on special occasions and form no personal knowledge of it.

DONALD DUNKELD NEW ONTARIO PLOWING CHAMP

Parkhill Mayor Shows Best Furrow

SPRINGFIELD, Ont. (CP) — Donald Dunkeld, a 29-year-old Claremont farmer who didn't think he could do better than earn a place in the competition, is Ontario's 1960 plowing champion.

The 47th annual international plowing match opened in this Elgin County town Tuesday, with the Ontario championship and the mayors' contest.

A crowd of 15,000 watched the colorful pageantry of bands, cowboys and cowgirls, as James S. Parkhill, Ontario hydro chairman opened the four-day furrow fiesta.

Mayor Donald A. Gooding of Parkhill, host for the 1960 plowing experience was, "about 15 minutes, maybe a month ago," defeated 17 other municipal mayors.

VICTORY A SURPRISE

Dunkeld, who will represent Ontario in next year's Canadian championships in Bellevue, said his victory was a surprise.

"Sunday afternoon I had as I started out in the stubble," he said. "I knew I was better than I got going." Thouth Dunkeld completed 13 times for the Canadian championship, he has his first time for the Ontario title.

Runner-up in the Ontario title was Grant Wells, 31, of Stouffville. He was also runner-up in the 1959 world championship.

The maximum interest rate of 6% per cent on NHA mortgage loans remains unchanged, Mr. Walker said last month that a 6½ per cent rate was a peak for years.

Officials expect about 20,000 viewers—today at the Queen of Furrow contest. The farming belles will be judged on cooking, plowing — not forgetting their personality.

British Conservatives Back Policy Of Leading Lands to Independence

SCARBOROUGH, England (by Colonial Secretary Reginald Maudling today won overwhelming support from the party's executive party's annual conference for the government's approach in leading colonial territories to independence.

Referring both to the Monckton commission's report and a forthcoming conference on the constitutional future of the Central African Federation, comprising the Rhodesias and Nyasaland, Macleod pledged that the government will continue its present approach.

He described the Congo as still a colony—"for it is a colony to the United Nations despite all the proclamations of independence."

Macleod did not comment on the Monckton report in detail but said the possibility of secession by either Nyasaland or Northern Rhodesia from the Federation should be discussed at the constitutional conference.

He recalled that Prime Minister Macmillan, in a visit to the Federation earlier this year, said "it is not the purpose of the Monckton commission to destroy the federation but rather to show how it can be made to flourish."

The commission reported that the federation could only be held together if the native African population is given a much more powerful voice in government matters.

The white population, largely concentrated in Southern Rhodesia, has decried moves to radically expand the franchise among the native population. African

TOKYO (AP)—Inejiro Asanuma, Socialist party chairman and militant leader of Japanese opposition to the U.S.-Japanese alliance, was stabbed to death with a long-bladed sword by a student today.

The assassin, a slender 17-year-old identified as Otoya Yamaguchi, a former member of the ultra-nationalist Greater Japan Youth Society, was hurled to the floor by spectators and carried off to a police station.

Asanuma was hurried to hospital where he died of two chest wounds, one of them close to the heart.

Afterwards, a crowd marched on the police station where Yamaguchi was being held. The demonstrators, whose numbers were estimated at 10,000, were led by Ryoichi Sasakawa, former student association and the Sohyo labor federation.

Controller the huge crowd was quiet as it milled around the police building. A few rocks were thrown on an ineffectual attempt to break in.

Half an hour later, the bulk of the crowd marched on to Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's official residence. There they snake-danced back and forth in the street, shouting "Give Asanuma back to us" and "Ikeda quit."

The demonstrators began to disperse after a cabinet official received leaders of the labor federations and said the government would protect with firmness.

Police reported that Yamaguchi confessed he plotted the assassination for the last three days and said he had no accomplices. Police said he told them Asanuma was a traitor who was trying to sell Japan to the Communists.

It was the first major political murder in 24 years in a country where "government by assassination" was prevalent before the war. But it was the third political stabbing by a right-wing fanatic in four months — the other two victims recovered.

Asanuma, 61, was in the middle of a speech at a meeting urging a clean campaign for the parliamentary elections next month when Yamaguchi rushed forward from the side of the stage.

Japan's three major political parties were participating in their forum on fair election practices when Premier Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda was sitting less than two yards away.

Police said Japan's Patriotic Society is a Nazi-like group that advocates the overthrow of the pro-war structures. It clashed recently with the left-wing demonstrators in riots last spring against the U.S.-Japanese treaty which forced the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan.

The leader of the society, Hideo Akao, often called Japan's Hitler, said Yamaguchi left the group in May or June. Akao said Yamaguchi was "a misguided youth's act. He felt sorry for Asanuma but this is punishment from heaven—it was bound to happen."

Await Hammarskjold's Reply Before Acting on Ultimatum

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—Mobutu Sombole acted Tuesday night awaited a message from Dag Hammarskjold today as he maintained his threat to arrest Patrice Lumumba by force if necessary.

Mobutu and Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko acted Tuesday night to postpone action against the proposed premier pending a message from the United Nations secretary-general.

But Bomboko warned: "The unfortunate and partisan policy of Lumumba, Gizenga and Soldeville could start a third world war."

Mobutu issued an ultimatum to UN representative Rajeshwar Dayal of India Monday morning that UN soldiers guarding Lumumba's official residence send aside by 6 p.m. Tuesday or his troops would move.

"We have merely postponed taking action," Bomboko said Tuesday night.

Green Presses Canada's Plea For Renewed Arms Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Canada's plea for renewed talks Monday night in the disarmament committee has run into a rampage of threats and derision.

Soviet Foreign Minister Howard Green, after calling and earnest analysis of the disarmament situation, reiterated Canada's pleas for a return to negotiation and said he was not going to speculate on why the Communist side broke off the 10-nation meeting in Geneva in June.

While stressing that "this debate is no time for recriminations and I don't want to stir up hostility," Green said the Communist walkout was a "great mistake" and that "I believe the free West committee was making progress.

Green said he agreed with Khrushchev that disarmament is an economic issue and should be discussed at the constitutional conference.

He recalled that Prime Minister Macmillan, in a visit to the Soviet Union earlier this year, said "it is not the purpose of the Monckton commission to destroy the federation but rather to show how it can be made to flourish."

The commission reported that the federation could only be held together if the native African population is given a much more powerful voice in government matters.

Disarmament Parley Halls Stink Like Horse Stables Rants Ugly-Tempered K.

Loses Fight to Have Arms Plan Considered in Plenary Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev, in an ugly mood, let loose Tuesday night with a furious charge that Western disarmament efforts — in a word—smell.

Khrushchev was clean-up man on a list of Communist speakers when he shouted that Western disarmers were leaving the halls of disarmament negotiation into "horse stables" with such a stench that "no honest man could breathe."

Going down to a wheezing defeat in a non-aligned effort to bring disarmament, the Soviet premier told the West to beware of him and boasted that Soviet rockets are being mass-produced like sausages out of a machine.

After the assembly session Khrushchev declared that the Western powers had brought the world closer to war by opposing Russia's proposal that its disarmament resolution be debated in a full assembly plenary session rather than in committee.

VOTES TO ACCEPT

The assembly voted 62 to 11 with 24 abstentions to accept by steering committee's recommendation a Soviet disarmament proposal be sent to the 82-nation committee, which includes all members of the UN.

The dispute, although procedural, excited Khrushchev to such an extent that he charged that the west has been bluffing about disarmament since the Second World War.

United States Ambassador Jarred W. Wadsworth said the Soviet disarmament proposal, which envisages total disarmament, could be dealt with properly only in the political committee where "ideology" and not in a "table-thumping propaganda spectacle" in the plenary session.

Britain's David Ormsby-Gore declared there was no thought of "relegating" the Soviet proposal. And Khrushchev himself said at one point that the argument about allocation was "idle."

What interested to him was progress in disarmament, said Khrushchev, and if asked why the Soviet Union wanted the disarmament issue dealt with properly that "we have been in the committees—we know the stable and the smell."

WILL DECIDE TODAY

The assembly left until today—it was a midnight session—the decision whether to comply with Khrushchev's demand that debate within the 99-country plenary body itself and two, rather than proposed by the Soviet Union.

One of these was the Soviet proposal for a disarmament conference for all colonial territories. The other was a Polish proposal that the flights of U.S. U-2 and

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—William J. ALTERED CABINET WILL START EARLY ON NEW PROGRAM

Prime Minister Will Fly to Prince Albert

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker's newly reshaped cabinet, with emphasis on youth and energy in the top policy-making committees, will come to grips with its new legislative program next week, informed sources say.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who announced changes in the cabinet to the oldest members of his cabinet Sept. 30, summoned his ministers here Tuesday, planned to fly home today to his Prince Albert seat, presumably over the weekend. A number of local provincial services are in his riding.

Among the first decisions to be taken up by the cabinet when the dust of changing offices has settled and the prime minister returns are plans for an autumn start on the regular 1961 session of Parliament.

Mr. Diefenbaker planned when Parliament prorogued its 1960 session in August to make an earlier-than-usual return to the next year's work, but held off final decision on the date of the opening until he completed his plans for the cabinet.

Besides the departures of Defence Minister Pearkes and Veterans Minister Brooks and the appointments of four cew ministers, there were portfolio shifts among six existing ministers.

The new cabinet of 24 members—one of the largest in Canadian history—includes five per cent of 65, the prime minister being the oldest. The shuffle cut the average age by 1.38 years to 53.8, compared with the 44-year-average age of the Lauzon cabinet when it was formed in June, 1957.

The new ministers, including Defence Minister Harkness, 57, Trade Minister Hees, 50, and Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton, 49, will be settled into their new offices by the week-end. Their appointments are among the most controversial in the cabinet changes. Mr. Harkness was moved from the agriculture portfolio, Mr. Hees from transport and Mr. Hamilton from northern affairs.

Mr. Hees was not an assistant to Mr. Pearkes as defence critic

Cooke Makes Application For Franchise

TORONTO (CP) — Jack Kent Cooke, owner of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League today made a formal application for an American League franchise.

In a telegram to baseball commissioner Ford Frick and the presidents of the National and American Leagues, Cooke said:

"I hereby formally applies for admission into the American League's immediate expansion program and respectfully urges that the American League solve baseball's problem at its earliest convenience so that the new stadium can be completed and baseball operations may be dealt with at once.

"Toronto places its future in major league baseball on the line."

Cooke made an application pending to become a United States citizen. The telegram following the announcement that the National League had taken steps to put baseball in Toronto by virtually assuring Houston of a 1962 franchise. The American League was expected to keep pace by granting a franchise to Dallas-Fort Worth.

The telegram read:

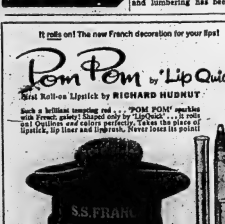
Children Enjoy Riding Horses At Ranch

The senior class of Belleville and District Retarded Children's School, John Street, enjoyed a trip to the Circle B Ranch, at Bissenginon, near Shannonville, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Alex Parkhurst, chairman of the Association's recreation committee, who planned the event, reported the children "thoroughly enjoyed" their first horse-back ride they have ever had.

"Some of them were afraid, and in fact they were very excited and some of the children didn't want to get off the horses," she said.

The outing was made possible through the kindness of Mr. J. B. Giffin, owner of Circle B Ranch.



Prior to the ride, the children were instructed on the proper procedure of bridling, saddling, and mounting a horse, by Mrs. and Gonyea, the riding instructor.

The children also enjoyed a hike through the woods near the ranch. They gathered wood for a bonfire, and had a wiener and marshmallow roast, to round out the day's outing.

Volunteers were J. D. Giffin, Armand Gonyea, Mrs. T. A. Macbeid, and E. Cooney.

Trade Minister Hees Tells LODA Meeting Harbors Will Be Expanded if Needs Arise

PETERBOROUGH (Staff) — Trade Minister Hees said the federal government is "basically" interested in "promoting the building of ocean going transport if the expansion is justified in the light of the economic and engineering reality."

Mr. Hees was one of four cabinet ministers who Tuesday addressed an industrial and municipal relations conference sponsored by the Lake Ontario Development Association. Others were Premier Frost, Leslie Frost, Walter G. Ward of General Electric, and A. T. Butler of the Department of Municipal Affairs.

Mr. Hees spoke a few hours after being shifted by Prime Minister Diefenbaker to minister of trade and commerce in a major ministry.

He said it was up to "the local people" to make sure that "our attention is drawn to the needs of the area and that their request's are realistically based." Since the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, many communities on the Great Lakes have "undertaken standably felt that their areas should receive major harbor development, with a view to attracting seaway traffic." There was "no question" that the "needs" existed at points like Toronto, Hamilton and the Lakehead, but it will be a question of the question of enlarged facilities "most clearly needed."

Mr. Hees was the keynote speaker at a banquet Tuesday night in the Empress Hotel, winding up the day-long conference which was intended to "provide a climate in the Peterborough region conducive to a better understanding between business and municipal government that will result in mutual benefits to both." Some 200 industrial executives had registered by Monday and their number swelled to more than 300 for the evening banquet.

H.M.C.A. BOARD ATTENDS CONVENTION

More than a dozen Belleville and district men attended the convention, during which whom were seen Mayor A. McLean Haig, member of the board of governors, "experiences of industrial and municipal officials dealing with mutual problems"; Aldermen Waller Elliot and Lorne MacDougall; Jim Sharpe, vice president of the LODA; Enos Deal, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Earl Dickmoother, chamber manager; Fire Master James Reynolds; Lee Grills, MP for Hastings South; Ben Thompson, MP for Northumberland; Mayor H. J. McFarland of Trenton; Mayor James MacIlree of Trenton; Clerk-treasurer O. W. Larry of Trenton, conference chairman; Reeve R. W. Ross of Frankford, and Reeve William Thomson of Marmora.

Premier Frost, who was introduced by Mr. Deal, "stressed the opportunities for development of the Lake Ontario region which were unlimited. He told the conference at lunch that the opportunities existed but were limited "only by our failure to recognize them, to seize upon them and to develop them."

He noted that one of the greatest things about Canadians is that they are people who can adapt themselves to ever-changing conditions. In the years ahead the Lake Ontario region, with its strategic location to eight American states, will assume each day a greater role of one of the arms of the "great Canadian" which controls the western end of the lake.

FOURTH PHENOMENAL

The region's growth in population, farming, manufacturing and lumbering has been phenomenal. With the establishment of industries at Marmora and uranium at Bancroft, mining activity has reached a new peak of development.

While some decline in uranium sales is to be anticipated in the coming years, it is hoped that other developments will occur, enabling industries to be maintained and ultimately expanded," he said.

Premier Frost said he considered uranium a power, "and power is one of those things that will be vitally needed today and tomorrow." He looked upon nuclear developments as "very important" to the future of Ontario.

Lumbering and all its allied industries" he said, "will have a very great possibility in your region."

On transportation, Premier Frost said that although this area is served well by the railways, "our railways have to be prepared to meet the needs of our age. It's going about it the wrong way, I think, to pull out the railway lines."

On highways: "Within three years one of the finest highways—the Trans-Canada Highway—will be fully completed. At about the same time we shall see the completion of the 401."

He described Ontario as the "natural gateway to northern North America" and suggested that to take advantage of the opportunities presented by the province "all we need to do is raise our sights, go out and roll up our sleeves and do the job."

Walter G. Ward, vice-president of canadian General Electric, spoke on industrial and municipal relations in the modern industrial economy. He was followed by A. T. Butler, director of the municipal administration department, Department of Municipal Affairs, who spoke on municipal problems in a rapidly expanding economy.

During the afternoon panel discussion, Mayor Haig of Belleville was asked to give his views on annexation.

"I'm not for people, oppose annexation," he said. "I'm not at all certain there is any objection to annexation if it is done right. It's almost imperative that a municipality should eventually proceed with annexation as the municipality grows."

Leaf Cleaning Will Be Started In Near Future

The staff of the Public Works Department has been taking advantage of the current seasonal lull before the autumn leaf fall and winter's storms to prepare for the weather conditions ahead. Equipment has been readied and plans have been made first for leaf cleaning and removal and secondly for the inevitable snow removal problem.

Local residents will be notified approximately two days in advance as to when the leaf removal and cleaning program is to be done Mitchell, assistant city engineer Mark Hellsbu stated this morning. Intersectional trucks and cleaning units are ready for this work at any moment and it is expected that leaves will provide a minimal worry this year with the pick-up system which is to be implemented for the convenience of city leaf-rakers.

Several trucks have been made to a number of local streets recently. Palmer Road (CSD) gravel was ditched and the surface improved between Marshal Road and Highway 2 during the latter part of the week. Also improved were Bridge Street and Sidney Street. Similar work on East Moira Street is expected to get underway today.

Regular maintenance work has been keeping the various crews busy with the usual sewer rodding and flushing service calls being attended to; temporary street name signs have been put up; minor drainage and the restoration of streets and curbs where sewer and gas services can have been made, have also been done.

The sanitary land fill program at the city dump has been progressing satisfactorily and it is expected that this project will reach completion in about a year's time.

The traffic study which is currently underway has also been occupying the works department and the completion of this project is anticipated in the near future.

Amongst other projects which have been completed this week is a 100-foot length of sidewalk on Charles Street.

Mr. Ken Jeffrey, acting on behalf of the Tweed local president, who is now in England, was presented with the Achievement Plaque. Mr. Jeffrey in his absence, received a standing ovation from the members and guests.

Mr. Harold Murphy gave a report of the year's activities. He felt everyone should put in a little more effort so that the OFU would keep rolling. He thanked the members for their as good leadership gave the spark to keep them active and busy.

Mrs. Jeanne Williams, Springbrook, gave a humorous reading an interesting address on her trip to Europe. She attended the Inter - Provincial Farm Union Council joint board meeting in Switzerland last summer. She also attended the Farmer Labor Conference in Belgium. This last year, sponsored by the I.A.W. Only by visiting a meeting such as this in Europe can you get any idea of what the Farmers' Union has accomplished to aid farmers.

LABOR ATTITUDE HIGHLIGHTENING

Mrs. Williams said she was impressed with the calibre and reasoning of the Farm Union delegates. The attitude of labor as concerned was highlighted at the Port Arthur meeting. She was impressed that the farmers receive a fairer share of the consumer's dollar.

Mrs. A. Parker, 1st vice-president of the Ontario Farmers' Union, the guest speaker, was introduced by Mrs. Williams, lady county director.

In her remarks, Mrs. Parker stated that a few years ago, people were her most valuable asset. Then machinery came in. Now we are allowed to slip away from the rural communities. Farming prices and costs were leaving the farms at the rate of 10,000 farm families a year. The last five-year census showed a loss of 50,000 farms. Farmers are only the equivalent of the whole farm population of the province of Ontario. Farm products were not new. History revealed that back in the time of the Roman Empire apathy on the part of the people had brought about their downfall.

"We have been told we are prices and ourselves out of the market, stated Mrs. Parker. Politicians, speaking recently, even some farm spokesmen, are quick to point out the fact that prices will result in the loss of our markets. Farmers are told if they want paid cost of production prices for their products, consumers couldn't afford to buy. Yet, egg prices for the first three months of this year were the lowest since the hungry 30's.

RED CONSUMPTION DECLINES

"But did the consumers buy more eggs because as they were cheap? No, consumption of eggs declined by five million dozen. Farmers are easily hoodwinked into believing that over-production caused the low prices. That price must demand rules the markets. It would be interesting to hear the excuses for low poultry prices. It certainly was not over production that caused it.

"Current Review and Poultry Products Market Report published by the Department of Agriculture clearly shows that Canadian production has not met with our domestic requirements since 1951. Any statistics on our markets has been caused by imports. In the first nine months of 1960, 9,473,142 pounds of poultry meat have been imported. This is equal to 2,543,236 pounds over the same period in 1958. The imported meat not only serve one purpose, bargain prices for the Canadian farmer producer. Had the Canadians received parity prices for their production these imports of surplussing power would have been absorbed without effect on prices. Declining prices for other commodities such as soybeans for example, have been caused by the threats of the supply, while the price of farm items—farm prices disaster level.

MUCH PRODUCE IMPORTED

"Canadian farmers produce only about 80% of the total requirements of mutton and lamb. The rest is imported. Every year imports are dumped on our practically unprotected market.

"Deficiency payments implemented in early 1958 are not the only answer. Time had proven that deficiency payment proposals of marketing boards had halted the corporation type farmer and had failed to help the family farm fail."

Mrs. Parker in her concluding remarks advised all locals of the OFU to meet with their M. P.'s and M. P. P.'s during the session of parliament and inform them of their problems.

Mr. Tom S. Kelly thanked the guest speaker with a few remarks. After which a question period followed.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Mrs. Parker acted as chairman for the election of officers. Officers for the coming year are as follows: county director, Harold Murphy, Marysville, Ont.; lady county director, Mrs. Jeanne Williams, Springbrook, Ont.; auditors, Morton Reid, T. S. Kelly, Mrs. Pat Murphy, Wes Farrell, Fred Reid, George Williams, all farmer directors, Mrs. Mac Cassidy, Mrs. William Bater, Mrs. Jean Bailey, Mrs. A. B. Prentice, Mrs. Ken Jeffrey; sec-treas., R. Clarence Graham; auditors, Mrs. Ethel Kelly, and Mrs. John Cassidy.

CHESS PLAYERS

HELP

WE ARE DYING!

Yes, the Belleville Chess Club needs new members — fast — if it is to survive. It is not a case of chess players finding the club dull or far away. But they keep moving away to other towns. Right now the club has no ideal home — having every Monday evening at the Belleville Recreation Centre, Pinnacle Street—, low fees, $1 per year plus 25 cents per meeting, well lighted, and with tables but not enough members to keep it going. If you are a chess player, why don't you give the club a call, attend a meeting or two before deciding whether it is worth paying a buck to join. Expert or beginner, you will be welcome and will find some player able and eager to give you an enjoyable game. Also enjoy tournament chess or just a friendly game at whichever you prefer.

Higher Costs Reduce Corby's Net Profit

H. Corby Distillery Ltd. in a statement issued today said that their annual accounts, although not yet audited and approved, indicate that the consolidated net profit after taxes for the year ended August 31 amounts to approximately $1,200,000 as compared with $1,700,000 in the previous year. This represents $1.25 per share compared with $1.55.

The cost price squeeze continued to have an adverse effect on profit margins; and also the higher retail prices in Canada, which resulted from increased federal levies in 1959, were in effect throughout the year under review. These price increases, no part of which accrued to distillers, induced many consumers to purchase lower-priced products.

Tuesday night saw the Oddfellows' Hall again bulging at the seams, this occasion being the installation of officers for the year of Quintena Rebekah Lodge.

Tall white standards of fern graced the dais of the N.G. Lodge opened in regular form with Noble Grand Sister Ethel Wilson, N.G., Ila Addey, V.G. in their respective chairs. Sister Verna Thomasburg, Secretary, and Sister Thomasburg, Tweed, Parham, Ontario, and Sister Stonehouse all the way from Picton, Nova Scotia.

The D.D.P. Sister Mary Plumpton was escorted to the centre of the floor, presented with a white carnation wrist corsage by her mother, Sister Drummond, on behalf of the Lodge, then introduced by Sister Allie Cavanagh, P.N.G., and seated beside the Noble Grand.

The Degree Staff, Sister Orese Adams, was introduced by Sister June Carruthers, and both were escorted through the Guard of Honor, crowned in pastel colored Rose-length bonnets and forming an arch of multi-colored baby breath.

Sisters Nina Neal and Maysell Hills sang, "In Heavenly Love Abiding", after which the D.D.P. staff prepared for installation.

PROCESSIONAL

The Deg. Guard of Honor, dressed alike in pale green floor-length gowns, with matching wrist corsages of pink and white carnations, carried wands matching the gowns, and carrying wands topped with sparkle covered "V" entered first, followed by the Deg. Officers and escorts in pairs, colors going, then the Deg. Marshall in turquoise silks, and finally the D.D.P. regal in rose-pink satin. Each Officer Elect was presented with a corsage, then duly installed in their respective chairs. Installing the Vice-grand Sister Irene McMartin, was her Sister, Deg. Warder Sister Mabel Lloyd D.D.P. of Parham. Each appointed officer was presented with a corsage, before being installed.

The Deg. Guard of Honor was lovely as it conducted the floor work, and formed Guards for the Officers-to-be, taken to their chairs.

Another duet was sung by Sisters Nina Neal and Maysell Hills, "There's a New Day Dawning", while the appointed officers received their charges. The Deg. Guard then formed a cross in the centre of the floor, and Sister Nina Neal read the Installation Prayer, while Chaplain was being installed. The Installing Staff and Guard of Honor then retired and were seated.

Regular business was then completed in record time.

GIFTS. PRESENTED

Sisters Ila Addey, N.G. Ireno McMartin, V.G. and D.D.P. received many lovely gifts from their well-wishers. The D.D.P. was presented with a gift from the Lodge. All recipients thanked the givers.

Sister Dorothy Webber sang a beautiful solo, "In the Garden of To-morrow", and was then presented with a gift by Sisters Clara Ironsides and Edith Rushworth.

Five new members were inducted into the club, and the initiation ceremony was carried out by Mark Vamer.

President George Tripp announced that Eric Cooper's annual Christmas toy project will commence at the Kinsmen Centre on October 15th, and urged Kinsmen to volunteer their assistance again this year.

He also announced Dan Flskie's request for a Cub leader for the club-sponsored Cub pack.

THANKS TO ABSENT

Past President Gerry Wishart gave a brief address on the Kinsmen Christmas Seal campaign which opens Monday. He urged Kinsmen to assist the campaign as "members of good will" and by "word-of-mouth" promotion by "people who know first hand the important work being done by the participating agencies."

Newt Macfie, travelogue chairman, announced 300 of the 1,000 travelogue series tickets have been either paid for or promised and urged members to push the sale of those tickets as the club will reach its goal.

Parents Rescue Two Young Sons As Home Burns

TRENTON — Donald DeMille, 6 and Douglas DeMille, 5, sons of Mr. and Mrs. David DeMille, 325 S Trenton, were rescued by their parents yesterday after noon, minutes before the family residence burst into uncontrollable flames.

Mrs. DeMille, working downstairs in the large frame farm house, noticed smoke coming from the second storey. She ran upstairs and opened a door at the top of the stairs. She was met by a solid wall of fire. Rushing back downstairs she called her husband from the barnyard. They took the children in the family car to a neighbor's home, a mile and a half away, where they called the Trenton fire department. The DeMilles had no telephone.

By the time the department arrived, a high wind had fanned the flames and the house was burning out of control. Firemen concentrated on saving the adjoining barn.

The entire loss was estimated at between $8,000 and $10,000. The only articles saved were about 300 bags of potatoes in the basement and a few pieces of furniture.

Monday washing which was on the clothesline was burned. Salvation Army officers from Trenton visited with the family last night to arrange for immediate aide needs. The building was covered by insurance.

Fire Chief Cecil Ellis said that the blaze had been started by the smouldering in a defective chimney. The DeMilles had started a fire early in the day.

Mr. and Mrs. William DeMille, parents of David DeMille, were visiting in Smithfield at the time of the fire and Gloria, 9, Jim, 8, and Peter, 7, children of the younger DeMilles, were at school.

Vandals Make Hanna Park 'Complete Mess'

TRENTON — Vandals are at it again in Hanna Park. Residents have been uprooted from current beats and turned upside down, slats have been removed from the outside toilets, privys have been broken and in the words of gardener Bart Boers, the "park is a complete mess".

At last night's meeting of the Board of Parks Management attended by chairman E. M. Parker and members Miss Marion Baker, Norman Armstrong, Bill Ireland, John Saylor and Mr. Boers it was decided that everything moveable in Hanna Park should be stored in the board's shed on the property during the winter.

It was resolved, living in the vicinity of Allison Park on the east side of the river, complaints about an apple tree which grows at one side of the park, overhanging a hydro property, said he could not drive his car by the tree. Board members agreed that the branch had no business driving his car or park property, as the tree will remain. In fact, it was suggested that trees be planted at five of the park's six entrances.

Norman Armstrong will enquire about the cost of erecting a fence around this park to define the boundaries. It was emphasized at the meeting would not be designed to discourage pedestrians from using the park, but merely as a way of defining the actual property owned by the board.

The chairman reported that the gravel pit in Stanley Heights which will eventually come under parks board jurisdiction, has been sloped part way by the contractor. It was suggested that trees could be planted to hold this bank, but some members thought this should not be done until the pit is to be used by the board for a park area. Tree planting will be considered again.

NEW AID

Ken Craddock, vice-president of the Trenton Legion branch, came asking that a new flag, pulley and rope be placed on the flag pole in Fraser Park. This was arranged. Application for Gilmour Hill will be considered at the meeting, after November 11, all flags will be removed from the parks for the winter months.

Miss Baker read a letter from Clarence O. Wilson, Q.C., informing the board that the town wanted to deed Lot 17, Mt. McLellan Park, to the board. The town-owned lot may not be sold for a number of reasons, yet there have been several offers to purchase, leading to ambiguity. The board members agreed to accept the bid, but Miss Baker will ask that this property and other properties deeded to the board since 1955 be incorporated into the original by-law. An improvement program will be carried out in the spring on the river properties which were deeded to the board in 1955.

At the suggestion of the chairman, two board members will examine the landscaping around the new addition to the library, with an eye to removing ugly, scraggly bushes, and replacing them with evergreens.

Large skating rinks will be made in Hanna and Cotnrell parks and smaller rinks in Victoria, and High parks. It is hoped that hockey enthusiasts will use the larger rinks and leave the smaller rinks to the younger skaters.

Stage manager Alena Fines reports that she has most of the assistance she will need, but that she could do with more helpers for setting and props.

Wardrobe mistress Jean Causey would like more help with costumes; and any clothing belonging to the early 1900 period would be appreciated.

The next general meeting of the group will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 19, at the Trenton Community Gardens auditorium.

The executive will give a talk on voice production.

RUDEL READ DIES

TORONTO (CP)—Lionel H. W Cole, 48, vice-president and general manager of the Ontario division of Rudel Machinery Limited, died Tuesday.

"Canadian Citizenship" Subject of Talk at Kiwanis

Although Canada is often criticized for aping the United States in many things, there is one thing in which the two countries differ — and that is in the approach to citizenship.

One important difference is Canada believes in integrating its immigrants into the life of this country, while the United States prefers to assimilate their immigrants into the U. S. way of life.

This was brought home to members of the Belleville Kiwanis Club when they had as their speaker, Glynn Allen, Senior Liaison Officer of the Citizens' Branch of the Canadian Department of Citizenship and Immigration, Toronto.

Mr. Allen gave an informative address on "Canadian Citizenship", at the weekly meeting of the club Tuesday at the Kiwanis Centre.

He explained that Canada's "social approach" to citizenship often results in applicants for Canadian citizenship being "Canadian "in their hearts" by the time they present themselves for citizenship.

Commenting on Canada's integration policy, he said:— "We in Canada believe our life is enriched by sharing various cultures . . . sort of unity through diversity. He added in the U. S. the word "assimilation" is a "dirty word" now, and has been replaced by the word "culturization," but they both mean the same.

Other differences include the legal processes whereby aliens are made citizens, and the fact the U. S. carries out an annual registration of all aliens living there, while Canada does not.

DESCRIBES PROCESS

Mr. Allen also described the process by which immigrants become Canadian citizens, and the importance of Canadian citizenship to aliens.

Among the reasons why aliens should become citizens of Canada are: It entitles them to vote, it gives them the right to hold public office, and to travel on a Canadian passport, and "gives him a sense of belonging."

Also included in his interesting and informative address was an outline of the important provisions of the Canadian Citizenship Act which was passed in 1947.

Among them is the "right of soil." This means a child born on Canadian soil or on a Canadian ship is automatically a Canadian citizen. British Isles, France and the United States are the only other countries having this provision, he said.

Other countries have the "right of blood" principles of citizenship or in other words, the child assumes the citizenship of his parents.

The Canadian Citizenship Act also stipulates an alien (not a British subject) must have lived in Canada for five years prior to applying for citizenship, (with the exception of the wife of a Canadian citizen) and that the wife retains her Canadian citizenship when she marries a man of another nationality. Prior to 1947 the wife assumed the citizenship of her husband.

The speaker was introduced by John Trafford, and thanked by John Denton. He was presented with a token of the club's appreciation by president George Tripp.

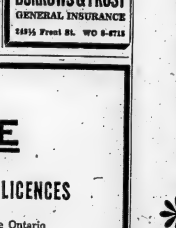
nationalist leaders in Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland feel that the federation system will mean the permanent subservience of the Negro population to Southern Rhodesia's white people. The conference had resulted in deep disunity.



Macleod said Britain soon will unwrap a big technical aid scheme for African nations.

With only one dissenting vote the 4,000 conference delegates supported a resolution calling on Britain to maintain her own independent nuclear deterrent, strengthen the Western alliance and further the co-operation with Washington on atomic defence matters.

Later, a resolution declaring Britain's contribution to the West's nuclear power must not be diminished received unanimous approval.

The concluding speaker, Sir Brandon Rhys Williams, said: "We have a special duty to make it quite clear to the whole world that Britain is not weak, not soft and not pacifist."

Frustrating!

Somebody, sometime, recently, called psychology the pseudo science—and if somebody did not somebody should have.

One of the duties of psychologists seems to be to rescue people from frustration but their cures often seem to us to be worse than the disease.

Consider, for example, the recent offering of Dr. Otto Klineburg, who is professor of psychology at no less a university than Columbia, New York.

Dr. Klineburg has made note of the fact that there is a Cold War on the home front, too, with teen-agers often at odds with parents about rules governing conduct. He suggests uniform rules, established by neighborhood gathering of parents, in consultation with their teen-agers.

Dr. Klineburg says that a boy who can use the family car on Saturday night is more frustrated when his chum gets three times a week than is the lad who doesn't get it one time a week at all. Similarly frustration lurks for the girl who is forbidden to date when all her neighborhood chums are free to do so.

What he wants is a uniform set of rules. Sounds wonderful. Except we would like to know what happens in the teen-ager when he leaves the school and suddenly discovers that uniformity is not universal, that there are a hundred and one different rules which apply to one person but not to another, depending on such trivial differences as type or even place of employment, personality, appearance, financial circumstances, racial or religious background, and place of residence, and not merely such differences in one's own circumstances but also, as often as not, on similar differences between those with whom one is closely associated, one's employer, wife or even close friends.

Such a solution is the normal diet for the average human being and ought we not to get used to it as soon as possible?

Students Like Mathematics

The most recent issue of "The School Guidance Worker," published by the Guidance Centre of the Ontario College of Education, contains a questionnaire submitted to 90,000 Grade 9 students in Ontario in 1959—and a summary of their answers.

We are amazed, and delighted, to learn that mathematics was mentioned most frequently by students as being their favorite school subject.

There will be some who will regard this as additional evidence of a modern trend to emphasize science at the expense of the humanities. How can anybody, they will ask, be more interested in the sum of X plus Y than in "Lord Jim" or the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome?

We take an opposite view. Mathematics is a demanding subject. There may be such a thing as a French without tears, but it is doubtful whether mathematics must of so by the sweat of his brow. There is hope for any generation which selects mathematics as its favorite subject at school. It is essentially a generation welcoming discipline and hard work.

Fills Obvious Need

Not all church members will agree with the United Church pastor who plans to visit Ontario beverage rooms, but there can be no complaint about his intention to befriend the people who frequent these places.

The Rev. Arthur Packham, who has left his charge near Belleville to carry out his new plan in Toronto, has an excellent point in his desire to "bridge the gap . . . between the church and people who frequent beverage rooms."

By so doing, he is not necessarily agreeing that beverage rooms should exist, or that people should go to them. But he is stressing the fact that these things happen and that a visit to a beverage room should not cut off a person forever from the church.

Ontario beverage rooms are not particularly pleasant places. The atmosphere alone seems almost designed to discourage customers, and Mr. Packham will no doubt be subjected to some rude shocks. But his purpose is good—to bring the church to the people—and he deserves encouragement. (Windsor Star.)

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE HORROR OF EMPTINESS

Whoops! Oh so, no it can't be. The gas tank is empty.

Have you ever had that experience? The horrifying thought which almost overwhelms you when in the world will you be able to get gas? Of course is that you will not be able to make it to the curb. There, without power to move an inch, you will be in the middle of the road or street with horns blasting angry people expostulating, and perhaps the policemen coming up and asking, "How come?"

It is to be hoped that you will not have this experience, or if you have had it in the past that you will not have it again. But if you do, just reflect when you get back home what a kinship there is between this traffic problem and the moral and spiritual situation in which many people find it in themselves. For there are some people in the world who have no power within themselves. They are pushed or pulled around, but they have at their own motive power concerned they are helpless. They have developed nothing w h really makes life go for them.

Beware of emptiness. Whether the emptiness is emptiness of head, or emptiness of heart, or emptiness of life, be sure that you is just as unnecessary as for any of us with normal common sense to allow ourselves to run out of

The Art of Being Absurd

Nothing may be more boring or boorish than absurdity. Yet there is an art of being absurd, as there is of anything else. And the art is skilful enough, absurdity may become a delightful recreation from reality.

Beerbohm Tree could carry absurdity into ordinary life with artistic exuberance. His friends never knew when it might appear, as the following items by Hesketh Pearson will show.

Once he was visiting Harrogate and was invited to dinner by two of them were writers—Stephen Phillips and Raymond Blathwayt. "Why," Phillips exclaimed Tree, "it's your birthday, isn't it!"

"No," replied Phillips, "not that I know of."

But Tree was insistent: "Oh, you've forgotten. It is, I'm sure and I must buy you a present," Tree moved at once into the postoffice; his four friends marched after him.

To the girl behind the counter he said: "It's my little boy's birthday" (indicating Phillips with a slight gesture), "and I want to get him a present, a surprise of the day. So I may as well have him as myself. Have you anything much smaller or anything more harmless?"

The girl was laughing. She replied: "Here are some penny stamps. "Will these do for him?" she asked.

"Why, exceedingly well," said Tree (with a passing suggestion of the Ides in Shakespeare's "Henry VIII), "but I only want one stamp." He smiled and silently he scrutinized the great sheet of stamps, at least 200 of them. He made up his mind. "I think I'll take the one in the corner next to the stamp in the very centre. Yes, that one, please." Raymond Blathwayt says: "Silly, you will say, but it took Tree to do it to perfection, and he was delighted (so girl enjoyed the joke!"

Another time Tree was known for such flights into the absurd. But Sir Henry Irving was annoyed by an actor in the production with absurdity. In his later years he was inclined to be cold.

Yet when he was young, his friend, J.C. Trewin, tells us, he took initiative in devising some fantastic bit of acting in the light of the day. And Irving seldom failed to support him.

They were playing together on a theatrical tour, the train stopped at the station in town of Ayr. Edmund's, Toole put his head out of the window. He called the station master, with an air of serious importance he asked him at what hour the funeral would be held.

"What funeral, sir?" asked the perplexed station master. "You've made some mistake: There's no funeral here."

At this point Irving entered into the performance. "Yes." he said, "that is so."

They both got out of the carriage. To the astonishment of the station-master, they walked solemnly away, repeating: "Yes, yes, we've come to Bury St. Edmund's." Then mixing with the crowd, they got into another part of the train.

The danger in deliberate absurdity is not only that it may bore people, but that it may insufficiently artful: it may also be much resented, like an insult which is not altered, absurdity has to prove that it is a match for mixed reality.

W.M. Rossetti was at times given to boisterous foolishness. In flights from the crowding work as poet and artist. When he suddenly appeared among his family or friends might run, to escape the danger of practical jokes that seemed certain to follow.

He was walking down the street in Upper Gower Street with William Morris. They happened to be near a house where some children were singing a hymn. On the conclusion, Rossetti put his head in at the open window and cried "Amen" in a resounding ve'oce that startled the unsuspecting housekeepers, fled, before the angered schoolmistress could come to the door.

Yet so genially did Rossetti carry on the practice that some centuries later he was in the schoolroom, holding an extemporized examination of the children and awarding penny prizes for good answers.

But there are times when well-planned absurdity may meet an audience for which it was never intended. It is not the performance that is surprised, so much as the onlookers.

Lewis Carroll, the author of "Alice in Wonderland," for example, loved to be in a house where a children's party was being held. No sooner did the guests arrive and be dropped to his hands a d kisses, presents, than he was lost and crawled towards the room where he heard a hubbub of voices.

Unfortunately he had missed his way before a house and gone into the one next door. He crawled into a room where a conference of serious people was taking place, in connection with some modern reconstruction.

The spectacle of an elderly, growling man coming on all fours into the room for hours created an immense sensation. But it was for from the sensation Lewis Carroll had planned. He stood quite upright, like a man. There is a time and place for everything—especially the art of being absurd.

Hanged Men Who Made Aces

BBC London Letter

It is hardly surprising that Scotland Yard still regard the scene of spades as an unlucky card. It had a key position in the case that was revived in Britain on playing cards from the early seventeenth century when Guy Fawkes was lifted in the 1960 Budget. Nowadays, said Dudley Barker on a BBC broadcast, nobody would be much affected by its superstitions, but in the days of fierce and fecund tax in its time.

Imposing a tax was the main object or pretending the imposition of foreign-made cards, and tax was stuck on the ace of spades. Nobody was allowed to manufacture cards; they had to be bought by the card-makers from the Stamp Office, and that act became plenty and heavier, the forgery of cards became more and more profitable. "A first offender would be fined in the Star Chamber and pilloried," said Barker. "But any one foolish enough to risk the second time and got caught was hanged. The last execution was as recent as 1720. With the more enlightened times, there were no more hangings and the tax was steadily reduced until by 1903 it was only threepence a pack, and remained at this figure until abolished.

"Waste not, and the Red Cross Society will want not for fine contributions" may well be called a paraphrase of a well-known adage. Such was the case on Saturday when the workers of Belleville responded generously to the appeal of the Girl Guides of the city for collections of materials that ordinarily find their way to the waste paper basket.

Troop No. 1 under the guidance of Miss Mary Rogers "covered" the city for the collection of such materials and their efforts were rewarded with the fine sum of $15.00 which has been turned over to the local branch of the Red Cross.

Partridge are plentiful in the northern districts of Hastings County, according to hunters; but when the birds crash into the city they are conveniently park themselves in the back compartment of an automobile, that is overlooked by the famous northern hospitality.

That was the experience of Mrs. Lorne Bleecker in the village of Madoc yesterday when she discovered, through his eyes when he opened the compartment, that a partridge eyed that the birds were the gift of a friend.

A thrilling bowling season in Bay of Quinte waters is drawing rapidly to a close for another year, is suggested by the fact that many of the local pleasure-boat owners have already hardened their ketchs, and the motor-driven craft for the winter.

Belleville business men and citizens are fully convinced that the world's markets are opening up and the unprecedented prosperity of Canada is rapidly being solved. Belleville has not only been hit by the wave of the depression, according to leading men in the community, and at the present time few men are unable to find work. The Ontario Oshawa, a is reveals that most of the industries of the city are working on top staffs, are moving steadily out of the slump.

Urges Grads Serve Abroad

Vancouver Sun

Dr. Norman MacKenzie's advice to University of B.C. students, to consider taking their education to underdeveloped countries after graduation, has the ring of a plea for a new conception of citizenship.

World citizenship.

Dr. MacKenzie cited the case of the former Belgian Congo; an independent nation without trained leaders, without native doctors, lacking the means of producing its own food.

That nation, if such it can still be called, faces a disaster of magnitude. It needs help to the worst way. There is a missionary call here for people of serious purpose who have the stuff that will be needed.

The Congo is an extreme case. But in many parts of the world, particularly in Africa, new nations need help of this sort in the years ahead. Perhaps Canada can get it to through the good offices of friendly governments in advanced nations. Technical and professional training can be given selected men of talent in universities abroad.

The Communist countries won't be backward in offering this sort of help. They will produce trained personnel indoctrinated with communism.

The West is wise it will be in first with offers of help. And it will be intelligent about it.

Meantime there is Dr. MacKenzie's challenge to the young students of our own country.

Our governments might encourage graduates to follow his advice. A few years of service abroad, bringing the benefits of modern science to the backwards, could be an experience of great value.

They would bring this value back with them on returning to their homeland.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

STRETCH MARKS ARE CAUSED BY BROKEN FIBROUS TISSUES

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a daughter of 15 who has grown quite rapidly. She is about 5 feet, and weighs 98. She has horrible stretch marks around her bust and the side of her hips. Is this normal, and will they ever go away? They are quite red.—Mrs. B."

Your daughter, of course, is decidedly overweight and as you say, has grown quite rapidly.

She also has the type of skin which develops these "stretch marks." Physiologically, the "stretch marks" are placed where, under the stress of rapid expansion, the fibrous tissues underlying the skin have broken. This is often seen in people who gain weight rapidly, as in pregnancy.

The redness will disappear but these marks will probably remain, although they will be less conspicuous as the years go by. Some efforts to curb her weight increase should be made. You are right in feeling that she is on the direct sun because when the fibrous tissues are broken they burst. What causes this and what can be done? Ans. Nothing.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am 50 and have what the doctor calls 'itch of the anus.' It is very itchy. Spots. In summer the white spots seem whiter and the dark parts get darker. I stand for it in the direct sun because when the itch starts I scratch and then it bursts. What causes this and what can be done? Ans. Nothing.

This is called vitiligo (vih-ih-lye-go) and consists of areas in the skin which are free of pigment, or color, cells. It happens in people of all ages and what the cause is not known. Sometimes, however, these spots have been found to be due to injury damaged by severe sunburn or severe chemicals. In these latter times—no detectable reason.

Vitiligo not only mars and spairs your appearance, and it makes people say, "What happened to your skin?" but it does have no ready answer, because nobody knows. It is not contagious.

Treatment: Usually covering the light spots with cosmetics. Walnut juice, an old method of dyeing the light spots, is also used. Within the last couple of years of so, a new and wonderful drug derived from a plant found in Egypt and other middle eastern countries has been used. Sometimes it helps, sometimes it doesn't. In the hands of a skilled physician at times, such as stomach or intestinal symptoms, it can be used under a doctor's supervision.

Sometimes the color returns to the skin spontaneously and the best I can tell you, other than a few minor remedies, is to keep in mind that this condition isn't "catching." It isn't the result of any harmful illness, and it isn't going to harm you healthwise.

"Dear Dr. Molner: You said that 'there are half a dozen treatments, more or less, for acne.' I modestly good batting averages in putting an end to pimples, but we don't know why or how. Could you state what these treatments are?—P.V.C.

The steroid hormones (ACTH, cortisone, etc). X-ray, ultraviolet, topical applications—that is, things that can be spread on the skin, as salves—, other drugs at times, sometimes vaccines. Or maybe it isn't the sun; I don't know. But psoriasis sometimes abates in summer. Sometimes infections and sometimes disturbance in the metabolism, or body chemistry, have an effect, and a correction of it consequently will conquer the psoriasis. The my term "modestly" good b a batting. Psoriasis rarely does any permanent harm, but it's unsightly and a nuisance. We are happy when one treatment or another happens to prove effective, but at least we don't have to be alarmed over failure. Just disappointed.

Dragonfly Best Aviator

BBC London Letter

The flash of dragonflies over a pool is a common sight on a sunny summer day, but it's not particularly easy to get a close up view of one of these colorful insects. There are about forty species in Britain, though the total is probably capable at avoiding it. They are, however, very large in size, efficient eyes each of which contains anything from 10,000 to 28,000 facets. Consequently one can not only keep a sharp lookout in all directions but also see a good deal further than the eyes of other insects.

Besides being the most farsighted, the dragonfly was also regarded as the most specialized aviator of the insect world, Reginald Pope said. What the advantage of being able to work each of its four wings separately, so that it can "hover" rather like an aeroplane, or fly backwards as easily as forwards, and it can race, has been proved. Some of acceleration would make a racing motorist green with envy, and it flies out-manoeuvre just about every bird in the country, with the possible exception of the swerlin. Its top speed, forwards or backwards, has been estimated at about sixty miles an hour, although that speed is attained to only in short overseas models".

Roberts went on to describe how the dragonfly satisfies its enormous appetite by eating and devouring insects on the wing, but by the practice of "flying" with its legs curved in into a kind of basket, into which hungry specimens are carried and insect that has not the sense to keep out of the way . . . When it has considered sufficient, the dragonfly will settle down somewhere to enjoy a good tuck in."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

POWER IN THE QUIET MIND

I believe that only a very small percentage of people realize the power of the quiet mind, yet its possibilities are boundless.

By the quiet mind I mean one that is free from fear and worry and you will reap an abundance in health and happiness. A noted trainer of athletes once said to me that it was amazing how the body reacted to just a little thought, and a useful one.

The older I get the more I live to wonder over what this body of mine does in the way of repairing itself. Sometimes I have injury in one part of the body and it seems to get quickly to work. Thousands of people would add years to their lives if they only learned to control their arteries in good condition.

As time advances the organs that have labored so faithfully should be given kindness and understanding to help them out. A cheerful outlook on life, and trainer of athletes once said to me that it was amazing how the body reacted to just a little thought, and a useful one.

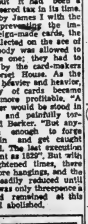
THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A prosperous old businessman who is more or less retired but is still chairman of the board of his firm had a group of newspaper reporters to his house for afternoon tea to discuss a community centre plan he has in mind.



While we were taking in the library, the telephone rang six or seven times and our host paid it no the slightest attention. There was an elderly maid footing around the room serving tea and cookies, and she didnt answer the phone either.

A little later, it rang again several times. The old boy never lifted it.

Finally the time we were getting up to leave, again the phone rang and rang. And all of a sudden, paperwas we stopped briskly over and picked it up. He at once engaged in a long conversation.

When I was saying good-bye I finally got my asking about the phone calls.

"Oh, that he said. "Anybody we know knows that we don't answer until it rings ten times. If there's one thing makes me mad, it is telephone calls at my dinner table. I've had one put in the den—a telephone—but I never went to bother with that any more. Not a bad idea.

QUEBEC JOINS PLAN — Quebec has joined the national roads-for-resources program under which the provincial and federal governments split the cost of selected road construction.

Premier Lesage announced construction of three highway links at a cost of more than $13,000,000 under the scheme.

As shown on map (broken lines) the three projects are; a 116-mile link between Amos and a new mining site at Matagami; a 85-mile road joining Waconichi and Albanell lakes, and a 30-mile road between Chapais and Desmaraisville. (CP Newsmap.)

ALTERED CABINET

when the Conservatives were in opposition, and reorganized and streamlined the agriculture department in his three years there as minister.

Former trade minister Churchill, now minister of veterans affairs, will be able to spend more time in party politics but continues to preside over the cabinet committee on scientific development, reporting to Parliament for the National Research Council and the atomic energy program. Also a former government House leader, directly the schedule of the Commons.

A former president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, a post involving grass - roots organization, Mr. Churchill was a leading strategist in the 1957 Conservative election victory and is credited with being one of the few in his party who accurately forecast the result.

SHOULD AID BUSINESSMEN

Into Mr. Churchill's difficult trade portfolio, with its ramifications both on import and export trade and on domestic business and industry, the prime minister put Mr. Hees. The Toronto-born, an energetic and successful businessman, is an advocate of competition, assistance for the small enterprise and processing of Canada's raw materials in this country.

Going into Mr. Hees' old portfolio of transport is Leon Balcer, 42, the youngest of the cabinet ministers from French Canada but highest in seniority, and another former national president of the Conservative Association. While quiet and retiring by nature, he has demonstrated more administrative ability than is usually regarded as necessary for the relatively junior post of solicitor-general he held until today.

Mr. Balcer undertook wider responsibilities, as general adviser to other ministers on Quebec problems and as chairman of special cabinet committees.

The transfer of Mr. Harkness to the more immediately critical portfolio of defence opened the agriculture post for Mr. Hamilton, who moved over from northern affairs and national resources. The former Saskatchewan teacher is the man who put the inspiration of the northern "vision" into operation.

LONG-TERM PLANNER

Widely regarded as the enthusiast in the cabinet, he can be expected to emphasize long-term planning in the agriculture department. With his new department, he also takes on the task of reporting to Parliament for the Canadian wheat board, and defending it against criticism in Parliament and in the Prairie provinces. The wheat board formerly came under the trade minister.

The other transfer was the elevation of William J. Browne, 51-year-old former magistrate and Rhodes scholar in law who had been minister without portfolio since 1957, to the job of solicitor-general. It was a promotion for Newfoundland's representative in the cabinet, despite results the province has given the Conservative party generally.

Among the new ministers, Walter Dinsdale, 46, new minister of northern affairs, is the only one with experience in parliamentary opposition before 1957. Besides his youth and qualities of care for detailed work, he has established one of the most closely-knit personal followings in his Manitoba riding, of Brandon-Souris, and as a Salvation Army worker represents a new element in cabinet.

The other three new ministers are men who have impressed the prime minister with their ability. One of them, 61-year-old Hugh John Flemming, new minister of forestry, impressed the prime minister with his political record as well. Mr. Flemming, premier of New Brunswick from 1952 until this year, also is a long-time personal friend of Mr. Diefenbaker and the man who moved his nomination for the party leadership in 1956.

Girl Suffers Fractured Pelvis

PICTON — Donna Williams, 15, of Big Island, was admitted to Prince Edward County Hospital here suffering from a fractured pelvis as a result of being run over by a wagon. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurel Williams, the girl was riding on a load of baled straw. The bales shifted as a corner was being turned and she fell to the ground and a wheel passed over her. An operation was performed and she is resting comfortably.

120 BIRDS SHOT

Early in the spring, Prince Edward Rod and Gun Club secured 500 pheasant poults from the Department of Game and Fisheries and placed them on Waupoos Island. During the summer they have thrived and an open season was declared last weekend. Fifty hunters were on hand and at the day's end, 120 birds had been shot. Secretary of the club, Arthur Sleet, stated that this type of restocking was much more satisfactory to hunters than releasing the birds in many parts of the county where they were fair game for poachers during the closed season.

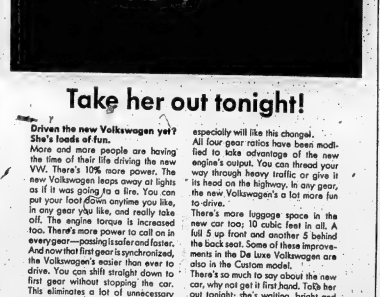
Missing Helferty Boy Case To Be Reopened by Police

PICTON — Mike Helferty disappeared for five days and returned home unharmed but without apparent memory of what had transpired in that period. That was from July 30 to Aug. 4. During that time a great search was organized in the district and across Ontario. He was found walking on the highway about a mile from home, in good health, clean and well fed. Since then, police have been unable to secure a clue as to where the boy had been or with whom.

Picton police gained a new lead recently, which they revealed for the first time today. Mike Helferty celebrated his 15th birthday. On the night previous, someone tossed a roll of paper ink on the doorstep of the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ferry Helferty. When opened by Mrs. Helferty, it was found to contain four army maps, a travel section of a daily newspaper, a birthday card and a ten dollar bill.

The card had been chosen with care to convey a message. Chief of Police George Pitt believes. On the cover was a picture of a ferocious bull and the words: 'Birthdays can be mean and fierce and make you want to hide. But they won't bother you if you'll . . . . . Just wave 'em aside'.



Police believe the picture ties in with the advice, printed in ink — 'You don't need to be afraid of that sort of people either', apparently meaning the police.

MUST KNOW BOY WELL

Someone must have known the boy well to have known the date of his birthday, commented Chief Pitt who states the card will not be closed until it is learned where the boy was during the five - day period, or with whom he was.

Helferty left his home to hitch hike to Outlet Beach. He states he accepted a lift from a car after three miles and was then let out. He states he remembers nothing else and his parents state he has not confided anything to them.

Following his disappearance, Outlet river was dragged, hundreds of searchers covered most of Prince Edward County and followed trails in Hastings and Lennox counties, Kingston and various parts of Ontario, who had been alerted to look for a missing red-haired boy. The maps which were tossed on the doorstep, covered these areas. Police are checking as how the maps left the army camp since they were printed for the Canada Department of National Defence Army Survey Establishment. They were in new condition when turned over to police.

More and more people are having the time of their life driving the new VW. There's 10% more power. The new Volkswagen leaps away at lights as if it was going to a fire. You can put your foot down anytime you like, in any gear you like, and really take off. The engine torque is increased too. There's more power to call on in every gear — passing is safer and faster. And now that first gear is synchronized, the Volkswagen's easier than ever to drive. You can shift straight down to first gear without stopping the car. This eliminates a lot of unnecessary stopping and starting. If Women drivers especially will like this change.

All four gear ratios have been modified to take advantage of the new engine's output. You can thread your way through heavy traffic or give it to head on the highway. In any gear, the new Volkswagen's a lot more fun to drive.

There's more luggage space in the new car too: 10 cubic feet in all. A full 5 up front and another 5 behind the back seat. Some of these improvements in the De luxe Volkswagen are also in the Custom model.

There's so much to say about the new car, why not get it first hand. Talk her out tonight; she's waiting, bright and shining, at your VW dealer.

Members of Hasty Pees Relive Memories at Happy Reunion

PICTON — The battles of Assoro, Ortona, the Hitler line and engagements were relived, and happy memories of visits in London, Rome and other world centres recalled last weekend when Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment held its annual reunion in Picton.

Highlights of the program arranged for the get-together were a dance, a service of Remembrance held at the Cenotaph, a banquet for the men and a tea for the ladies at Picton armouries. Col. F. W. Goforth, MC, beloved wartime padre of the unit and now Director of Chaplain Services (P) for the Canadian Army, conducted the remembrance service and was also speaker at the banquet.

At the cenotaph he told listeners we must always remember before God, with gratitude, those who gave their lives for us and for Canada in war. At the banquet he had many interesting reminiscences of wartime experiences.

An official welcome was given by Mayor N. J. McFarland who expressed the hope that the great political leaders will be successful in their efforts to preserve world peace.

LED BY SHARP

The Hastings and Prince Edward band led the veterans in their parade to the cenotaph. In the march past, the salute was taken by Lt. Col. A. A. Kennedy, DSO, of Owen Sound who brought the battalion home from Europe in 1945. With him on the saluting base were Major H. M. Reid, ED, president of the Regimental Association, Lt. Col. Angus Duffy, Belleville, honorary commanding officer of the Hasty Pees Col. Gerald Allison, MD, regimental medical officer for 17 years, and Lt. Col. W. A. Davern, Wellington, who commanded the second battalion. The regimental mascot, Little Chief had a place of honor.

Honor of placing the wreath on the memorial went to Mrs. Martha Read, widow of Sgt. Charles Read, who was killed at Ortona Crossroads in Italy.

At the Association meeting, Austin White of Belleville was elected president; Clifford McCalpin, Picton, vice-president; Arlie Sikelie, secretary-treasurer for the third year. It was decided that the next reunion will be held in Belleville on Thanksgiving weekend.

During the gathering Sam Newton of Scribner suffered a heart attack and was rushed to hospital in Picton. His fellow vets contributed $85 to help defray expenses and wish him a speedy recovery. Period was therafter added to the success of the reunion in Picton from which point the unit left for overseas in 1939.

COLDEN — HOLWAY

Bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and stately candelabra, each banked by ferns formed a lovely autumn setting in Tabernacle United Church, on Saturday, October 8, at 3:00 p.m. for a very pretty wedding, when the Rev. Morgan McFarlane united in marriage Miss Margaret Ann Holway, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peter Holway, to Max Andrew Colden, of Roslin, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Colden.

The wedding music included "O Perfect Love," and the "Lord's Prayer," which preceded the ceremony, and "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Harold Peter Holway, the bride was radiant in a formal bridal gown of silk mist with fitted bodice, and floor-length skirt accented by a front panel of hand-clipped peau d'ange lace, sweeping into a scalloped chapel train edged with lace. She wore a tiara studded with rhinestones, double-length veil of tulle illusion, and carried a cascade of ivory-tinted 'mums with cascade of small feathered bronze 'mums tied in white satin streamers.

Mrs. Catherine McBride, of Belleville, sister of the bride, as matron of honor; Mrs. Marcia Widgen, of Belleville, and Miss Doris Colden, of Roslin, niece of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids, were attractively gowned in velvet, the matron of honor in gold color, and the bridesmaids in autumn green, fashioned in princess style with petalled bodices and bouffant skirts. They were matching headdresses, and carried classic bouquets of crescent-shaped bronze 'mums mingled with green cokulla leaves.

Mr. Jack Colden, of Picton, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman; Mr. Jack McBride, of Belleville, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mr. Harold Colden, of Roslin, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers.

The reception was held in the church parlors where the guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing a peony-colored sheath gown appliqued with peony-colored roses, cerise, pansy and mauve bow hat, and peony pink sweetheart rose corsage.

She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, attired in autumn green in sheath style, with bolero having satin trim, autumn green velvet cloche hat, and corsage of bronze and yellow 'mums.

The bridal table was prettily appointed with white damask and centred by a three-tier wedding cake banked by sweetpeas and tall candelabra. The bridal bouquets added a lovely nuptial accent.

For travelling to Syracuse and Northern New York State, the bride chose an autumn green two-piece walking suit, trimmed with grey Persian lamb; a white maribou cloche hat, avocado green accessories in suede, and corsage of fesle creet carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Colden will reside at 183 George Street, Belleville.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Enright with Misses Fralick as hostesses, followed by a buffet lunch; and at a linen shower at the home of Mrs. Widgen with Mrs. Marcia Widgen as hostess.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

There may have been better Thanksgiving weather but it would be hard to say just when. At this time of year, more comments are made on the beauties of Nature than at any other time, with the possible exception of a first spring glimpse. If we had any artistic ability among the items of notation, we might well be the beauties of this time of year which we would like to capture for preservation. We say preservation because already trees are falling in great numbers and many have shed their leaves. There even seems to be a change in the sound of the wind as it rushes in written; the beautiful spell of weather may soon be broken.

How many people feel the desire to create beautiful pictures for other forms from what they see and feel? We read a story the other day along this line, about the High Commissioner for Canada in India. The report in the Times of India said: "Among the latest busts of the Prime Minister (Nehru) is one done by the High Commissioner for Canada in India, Mr. Chester B. Rowling. This piece of sculpture is remarkable for the keen expression it has conveyed. Mr. Nehru's face that the artist has succeeded in recognizing. The mood displayed is that of a thinker whose troubled mind has caused deep lines on his sensitive face. Mr. Rowling caught Mr. Nehru in this mood when the Prime Minister was listening to the debate in the Rajya Sabha (Council of States) on China. As he watched the grave face of the Prime Minister, Mr. Rowling decided to recapture the expression. Though he always had a desire to create something beautiful with his hands, Mr. Rowling began to experiment with sculpture only two years ago. His earlier busts were busts — including one of his grandson which is exceptionally clever and beautiful. Mr. Rowling loves horses and makes their figures from memory. Mrs. Rowling, also an artist, does landscape paintings.

What do they think of us?

That question came to mind after the young student, whom we had picked up on the road north of Madoc, had left us at his destination in Bancroft. Returning to the University of Ottawa for the Thanksgiving weekend, he admitted to being very tired and warm when we stopped for him.

He was a friendly, talkative lad; this made us forget the a little the color we had set out to see. The interest in a new personal contact will nearly always take precedence over other things. So we talked about the course of study (he was in political science and partly sociology, not being sure which would come first), about other colleges affiliated with his university, about one special teacher and about Belleville students whom he knew.

One statement in particular we remember: "It's a saying we have that if you graduate in political science, you can always get a life-long appointment with the International Disarmament Commission". Was this a bit of cynicism, with maybe a touch of fatalism? It was said very cheerfully and somehow it made us feel that he just he did not appear to take it too seriously. However, when they view the world which we and our predecessors have left to them, what do they think of us?

Wondering about the answer we brought to mind a verse read in Thoreau's Walden:

Men say they know many things;
But lo! they have taken wings,—
The arts and sciences,
A thousand appliances;
The wind that blows
Is all that any body knows.

Bridge St. United Afternoon Aux. Holds Thank-Offering Meeting

The Afternoon Auxiliary of Bridge Street United Church W.M.S. met in the Sunday School auditorium for its thank-offering meeting.

Owing to the illness of the president, Mrs. McArthur, Mrs. Davis, 1st vice-president, presided. The secretary, Mrs. Wishart, was absent and Mrs. Cathers acted for her.

This being Thanksgiving season, Mrs. Davis opened the meeting with a poem entitled "A Woman Counts Her Blessings," followed by prayer. From this poem it was learned that as this woman counted her blessings she found "So now I go about my work on wings while thank You, thank You," my heart sings."

After the reading of minutes by Mrs. Cathers, business arising from them was discussed. It was decided to have a "spring luncheon if a speaker can be secured; that the Auxiliary, donate $50 to Refugee Year and we hope it will have more to give before the end of the year.

The various secretaries gave reports. Mrs. Denyes, assistant member secretary, called each of the different members during the past month, for Easter Thankoffering had been $30.

Mrs. Meyers, literature, read a selection entitled, "You Are That Hand."

This article stated it was each person's responsibility to extend the hand of friendship to newcomers in her vicinity, in the church, or wherever or whenever the opportunity presented itself, and to watch for the opportunity.

Mrs. Hoyes, literature secretary, had appointed two members to review the two plays included in the book study course. These were done by Mrs. McFee and Mrs. Massey. These brief reviews both plays sound very interesting either as private reading or presented as a play.

Mrs. Ormond reported 24 subscriptions to Missionary Monthly. It is now time to renew for another year.

Mrs. Massey, Friendship secretary, had made a number of calls on the sick.

PROGRAM

The program for the month was in charge of Mrs. Howie and Mrs. Seldon's group, with Mrs. Howie as leader. In her opening remarks, she spoke of the different seasons, suggesting different hymns. Easter, "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today"; Christmas, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and this Thanksgiving time, "Bringing In the Sheaves." She asked the Auxiliary to join in the singing of the first verse and chorus of this hymn. Elementary aged child in Sunday School acted as one remembered singing this.

Mrs. Howie followed with a meditation on "Bringing In Our Sheaves." What is meant by sheaves be? Will they be sheaves of grain, bundles of newspapers, variety, something gleaned for the "Master of all Harvests?" Mrs. Lee led in prayer.

The study for the day was of the Scandinavian countries, present and possible future.

Mrs. May, in reviewing the book, "Fire Beneath the Cross", traced this movement from A.D. 325 when all Christian church held its first conference near Constinople, to the present day. Missionary Movement

Wedding

FRANKFORD — A pretty autumn wedding was solemnized in King Street United Church, Trenton, on Saturday afternoon, October 1st at 3 p.m. when Dorothy Patricia Graham became the bride of Kenneth Arden Wannamaker, of Frankford.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Graham of 95 Wilkins St., Trenton, and the bridegroom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wannamaker, of Frankford, Ontario.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was lovely in a full-length gown of white organza silk with long sheath sleeves. The bodice fashioned with a folded sash was accented with a self French rose, offsetting the waistline at the back. Her portrait necklace was dotted with seed pearls and bugle beads and a bouffant skirt graced her gown. Her fingertip veil fell from a headpiece trimmed with seed pearls and sequins and she carried a cascade of white Fuji mums.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Judith Graham, the bride's sister, Miss Beverley Wannamaker, the bridegroom's sister were short gowns of French green in peau de soie fashioned with short sleeves and bouffant skirts. The long torso bodices carried petal shaped silhouettes and V-shaped neckline lines were offset with tiered Bertha collars. The headpieces were of little green feather bands and they wore satin shoes of green. Their bouquets were semi-cascades of yellow Fuji mums.

The little flower girl, Miss Pamela Berry, the bride's cousin, wore an orchid nylon dress over taffeta and a headband of yellow mums and carried a nosegay of yellow mums matching the headdress.

Mr. James Williams, of Saltpan, was groomsman and Mr. Paul McHenry of Peterborough and Mr. Charles Wright, of Wallbridge, cousins of the bridegroom were ushers.

The wedding reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Graham, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a Heron-green wool broadcloth dress, the bodice featured a portraiture back neckline with gentle fullness creeping with self-French rose and below the elbow sleeves. She wore a mauve-rose pink velvet hat with matching gloves and corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Wannamaker, the bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a gown of rose beige lace over taffeta with roushroom hat and matching gloves with corsage of yellow mums.

For the wedding trip through the eastern United States, the bride chose a dark green two-piece wool ensemble with three-quarter sleeves and a rolled collar. Her hat and gloves were a rust shade and shoes of dark brown, and she wore a corsage of bronze mums.

Out-of-town guests were present from Oakville; Toronto; Belleville; Montreal; Campbellford; Peterborough; Port Hope; Kingston; Bath and Stirling, Ontario.

Rylstone W. A. Donates to Cambellford H. A.

RYLSTONE — On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Carl Reid was hostess to the Rylstone Women's Institute at her home on the 10th line. There were twenty-five ladies present.

Mrs. Don Kerr, president, was in charge of the business part of the meeting which opened with the Institute Ode and Creed.

It was decided to make a cash donation to the Hospital Auxiliary of Campbellford Memorial Hospital again this year instead of taking part in the bazaar and farmers' market in December.

Mrs. Don Kerr and Mrs. Clara Whitman were elected to represent the Institute at the area convention, to be held in Belleville on October 12th and 13th.

Mrs. Bob Spencer was convener for the balance of the program, which included: topic, "Thanksgiving," prepared by Mrs. Don Kerr and read by Mrs. Jim Stewart; a reading, "Housewives Rebelled by T. V. Commercials," by Mrs. Ellis Jones; a reading, "Are Canadians Getting Soft," by Mrs. Percy Reid.

An exhibit of hammered copper, parchment and dish centres, by Mrs. Ernest Irwin, Mrs. Don Kerr and Mrs. Carl Reid, was shown. Mrs. Irwin gave a short talk on the short courses, during which the exhibit originated.

Mrs. Lily Anderson was the lucky winner of the china cup and saucer in an attendance draw. There will be a draw, of a like kind from time to time to help stimulate attendance.

The meeting closed and refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee, Mrs. Gerald Barnum, Mrs. Jim Stewart and Mrs. Ellis Jones.

Boudoir Beauty

By ALICE ALDEN

Designed for the autumn bride is this daytime length gown and peignoir made with all the filmy beauty of a diaphanous dance frock.

The exquisite Alencon lace which encircles the neckline of the gown and the matching peignoir, trims the sleeves, is a circular design derived from an antique lace pattern called, appropriately enough, "Wedding Ring."

The bridal ensemble while its name implies, many brides are choosing a new bliss that is suggestive of a serene summer sky. Pretty, too, in pink, either a vivid shade or a delicate crystal pink, all with matching lace.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

WEDNESDAY

The first one this week happened to Peady. At a reception, she invited the hostess to come to her house for dinner "after the guests all departed." At 7.15 p.m. she invited guest telephoned to ask if she could bring another girl from out of town. Peady was faced with the common problem of stretching four thin pork cutlets (boned pork chops - Ed) worth to serve four adults. She had fricasseed them with a couple of large tomatoes sliced on top. After the phone call she added and added an onions thick green pepper. By eight o'clock they still had not arrived and since she was restless she thought thickening the by now homogenous mass. By the time they did sit down to dinner and this was served from the best platter it had simmered and blended so much and all were so hungry they said it tasted divine.

I'll admit it takes an experienced cook to extend four small pork cutlets for four adults and have them rave over them, but it can be done and I'm going to be glad to do it.

Recipe is by Pete. He is discovering the restrictions of maintaining an apartment and a car and a demanding serve at T.C.U.E. Nothing daunted, while Marianne was here, he invited her and me to dinner. He made meat loaf (lbs. worth of hamburg), boiled rice, scalloped potatoes (1 cake 15c), dressed lettuce (6c head at the "reduced-for-quick" counter), apple and melon fruit cup (12c makes at the r.f.q.s. counter) and coffee.

Because he likes pungent flavors he added 2 whole chopped cooking onions to the ground beef, 1 chopped stalk celery, 1 cup. 1 slice of whole wheat bread soaked in a little hot water, and a generous Worcestershire sauce. He served this with a tomato sauce made from canned tomato sauce which he flavored with bayleaf and a little of all the spices he had on hand. It was delicious.

Could it be I enjoyed it so because I did not cook it myself? Could it be I enjoyed it because I was startled by could it be the dear company I was in? I guess it was a heady mixture of all three.

Anyway there are two shining examples here of two inexpensive and happy meals that tasted like gourmet fare.

Steady Dating By Teen-agers Is Deplored

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (cp)— The annual convention of the Ontario Catholic Daughters of Isabella Monday passed a resolution deploring "the growing tendency of not observing the precepts of abstaining from servile work on Sunday."

Another resolution urged members to be more active in drawing to the attention of those responsible the growing number of cases where faith and morals are offended by presentations on radio and television and in the press.

Delegates were told the 17 circles of the provincial organization raised $26,302 for charity in the last year.

Mrs. Joseph A. Broderick of Niagara Falls was installed as Ontario regent of the organization.

Speaking to the convention, he criticized parents who allow steady dating by teen-agers and said the fact that it is a common practice is no justification ture."

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. C.A.—She takes no interest in her sister.

Bernice H. — My mother seems ashamed of me.

Mrs. C.A.—I have two daughters, both happily married with young children, both living out of town though not near each other.

The trouble is that Bernice, the younger, practically bolts her hands to her ears every time I talk about her sister, Diane, on the other hand, has a real family feeling. When I write to her or telephone, she wants to know every little thing about Bernice. "What else is new?" Bernice will say, if I so much as mention Diane.

Last month Diane won an important prize in sculpture. When I offered to send Bernice the newspaper clippings about it, she said, "Don't bother." I am heartbroken over this sick relationship. Aside from her envy of Diane, Bernice is a sweet and bright young woman.

Bernice H.—My mother thinks getting your name in the paper is the greatest. She has no use for my achievements. Im just a plain housewife minding my own business. No special glory. So I dont count. Its always Diane, the great, wonderful Diane.

I grew up in the shadow of my beautiful, talented sister. Oh, my parents went through the motions of developing me, too. I took all kinds of lessons. And everyone was polite. They'd ask how I was doing in school. But then their eyes would light up and the rest of our "family talk was about Diane—her honors, her dates, her future. I was sort of excess baggage.

Now Im trying to be me. I want my mother to know me as me—not just Diane's kid sister. I'm doing a good job, too. Only my mother can't see me for dust.

The Council: Here is the old story of "the quiet one" who all her life has been screaming inside herself. Bernice won't consider herself. Bernice won't consult the family until her mother personally centers upon her all the prerequisites of full citizenship. Hard as it may be in the face of Diane's exciting and glamorous attainments—this means equal attention, approval and encouragement.

While it seems late for this mother to get to work on Bernice's starved ego, it's better late than to assault it further.

Unthinkingly, Mrs. A. floated along on the clouds of adulation for her first-born. She assumed that money, unsure Bernice was up there with her, enjoying the ride as part of Diane's entourage.

Nothing was further from the truth. To Bernice, every commendation for Diane became a reproach for her. "Why aren't you like her, why can't we be as proud of you as ye are of her?" rang in her ears, even though no one mouthed the words. Instead of basking in the glory of being Diane's sister, Bernice writhed in the shame she felt at not being able to "measure up."

An interesting sidelight in this situation is that Bernice and Diane may very well be in direct touch with each other, exchanging news about their babies, birthday presents, recipes and chit-chat. But Bernice won't tell her mother to concentrate upon her, and her alone, when they communicate.

By focusing upon, even exaggerating, her role as mother of Bernice and grandmother of Bernice's children, and underplaying the Diane bit for the next few months, two things may happen. First, Mrs. A. will discover unsuspected virtues, abilities, assets and natural endowments in her second child. Also, Bernice's bitterments will begin to melt as her icy defensiveness vanishes. Reassured, certain that she too is appreciated and loved, she may be able to reach out and commend her sister.

Only a person who is content within herself can respond with enthusiasm to the success of someone else.

Trent Valley W.I. Area Holds Its Annual Meet At Club Canara Tuesday

By GLADYS WARD

Combining the districts of Hastings, Prince Edward, Northumberland and Peterborough, the Trent Valley area of the Women's Institute, formed last year, convened at Club Canara on Tuesday morning for its annual meeting. The theme this year was "Our Heritage is the Past," with the slogan, "Preserve this inheritance and accept our responsibility for the future."

With Mrs. R. Robson, Halloway, presiding, the convention opened with singing led by Mrs. T. J. Payton of Lakefield, with Mrs. J. Parnell at the piano. At the door Mrs. Percy MacMullen and Mrs. Ralph Usman, both of Stirling, were in charge of the reception of delegates. Mrs. Earle Denyes and Mrs. N. Rogers were the billeting committee. The minutes were presented by Mrs. Percy Hay, secretary-treasurer, of Halloway.

The study was tastefully decorated by the Parkdale Institute with a colored arrangement of gourds and fall flowers on the speakers' table. Sprays of leaves in fall colors, basketsful of fall flowers, white urns with broad-leafed plants, pumpkins and other vegetables of the harvest season made an attractive array. In the background were displayed the various districts were hung on the wall.

The vice-presidents, Mrs. John Reid of Trenton, Mrs. S. R. Beatty of Madoc and Mrs. H. Sharpe of Buckhorn, were introduced and presented with corsages.

FOUR RESOLUTIONS

Mrs. W. A. Goodfellow of Codrington, read the resolutions, which seven districts reporting four resolutions, which will be voted on at this assembly and will be forwarded to the Provincial Board for approval or rejection. The resolutions were concerned with double rolls of wallpaper rather than convenience and economy; single rolls should be obtainable; with the printing on cotton sugar bags which could not be removed by—hens we use many of the articles of sewing; with the display of margarine in dairy displays in grocery stores without distinguishing margarine as a dairy product is misleading; and with a county survey of retarded children to ascertain what education al rad could needs they may have. Mrs. Goodfellow reported that the two resolutions which went from the convention last year were not sustained by the Provincial Board.

In reply to the roll call of districts, each delegate spoke for one minute on "Our Responsibility As World Citizens."

Mrs. W. J. Honey for Northumberland East noted that many had listened with great interest to some of the most important issues of the world as reported from the United Nations. "We cannot all be important," she declared, "but each and every one is a citizen of our own community, and we must strive to live at peace with our neighbors, to respect the church, our laws, and those set up over us, and to friendly with newcomers, to try to understand their difficulties. We must take an intelligent interest in world affairs, and strive to take our share in the affairs about us."

HOME FIRST CONCERN

Mrs. Frank Brown spoke for Northumberland West, saying that our responsibility begins at home by setting a good Christian example, and our children can look back to a happy home. Every morning we can resolve to make the day better by living a life of fellowship. If we do, we will have a lot to be thankful for when Thanksgiving Day comes next year.

Speaking for Hastings East, Mrs. E. Lasier felt that we could do so little as individuals, and had influence in such a small area of the world, but that we do everything we could in our own area.

Mrs. Phillips reported for Hastings West, remarking that there was a tremendous responsibility on leaders, but our own responsibility as individuals was important too, and we could help to fulfill our tasks by learning more about New Canada, by having more contacts with them and showing interest in their ways and habits as well as teaching them our ways.

Mrs. E. Irwin replied for Hastings North with the thought that we had much to be thankful for with friendship and fellowship. If there were more brotherly love shown we would not live in such suspense, with nations at each other's throats. Women can still and discuss world conditions healthy, and out of these discussions ideas should be sent to leaders. We need the resourcefulness of women to help the ways of peace. We must keep our faith strong and not despair.

In her response for Prince Edward, Mrs. Earl Hicks said that citizenship was the art of independent living, with character-istics of courage, integrity and industry. We needed to meet these requirements to be good Canadian citizens.

Mrs. Woodbeck answered the roll call with the thought that everyone has inherited an equal right to live in this wonderful world, its valuable literature of the ages, including the teachings of Christ, the great galleries, medical and scientific knowledge, that if we accept these good gifts, we should with full and thankful hearts stand ready to preserve this inheritance and accept our responsibility for the future. However insignificant our contribution, we should be behind footsteps in the sands of time.

Two vocal solos were contributed by Mrs. Earl Beatty of Havelock, "My Mother's Eyes" and "Sure They Called it Ireland."

CITIZENSHIP REPORT

In her report on Citizenship Education, Mrs. Ross Hall of Havelock, stated that the keynote of citizenship training was service to others. Education was in preparation for complete living, not as a means to employment but as a means to nobler living.

Slides were used to tell the story of other lands and cultures; papers were given on civil defence, a housewife's life in wartime, and the work of the Ontario School for the Deaf. A Provincial Board report was given on the demerit system for car drivers, showing that drivers were do your part well and you will have little time to criticize others; honesty, courtesy and gratifiable, upward with confidence and humility; that wisdom is knowing when to speak your mind and when to keep quiet; that the greatest man ends up with a goose egg in his hand, and the greatest chick he marries. Some of the points she answered with how parents should show more interest in our schools; a country survey of rural will and what Prizes were given to school children for their exhibits, public speaking was encouraged and the standard of work raised in district levels. Demonstrations were given of aluminum etching, leather work, jewellery making, and flower arrangement. The value of recreation was stressed.

Since the Trent Valley area was formed two members were appointed to the Provincial Board, sharing the work in the District annuals. The first of these was Mrs. C. H. Gillespie of Grafton who has completed her third and final year. At Woodstock this year, Mrs. Gillespie read her fifty-ninth annual there were Dora Lee Awards from eleven branches. A suggestion was made that this be a limit to keep the business part of the meeting to a limited time. The second was that the educational purposes, the social part should be the most important part of the meetings. An example of this was given; plant the seed of a dandelion in a home and it will bloom in the community. Plant the seed of hatred and it will breed discontent and one gave a demonstration.

West Northumberland held its district meeting in the afternoon in branches. Many items of interest were given on the roll call, including odd group pictures. One report was that before keeping up with the Joneses find out where the Joneses are going. Institutions officers attended the conference at Brockville and brought into the benefits received there. At Peterborough the girls' clubs outshone the military display. There were fine reports from the fifteen branches.

Mrs. Gillespie thanked all the delegates for the privilege of working with them, and all who had so graciously helped her during her term of office.

ATTENDED FOUR MEETINGS

Mrs. Sherman Foster of Hillier spoke about four annual conventions. In Hastings the members modelled the hats they had made for their millinery course. Each district with its branches and one Junior branch is celebrating the 50th anniversary next year. They have done Twenty-minute histories, and have a member on the Historical Society. The displays were most impressive. They are planning for one for the 1951 International Plowing Match.

At Madoc fourteen Branches have done ten Tweedsmuir books. It was their fiftieth anniversary and they celebrated with a birthday cake and a review of the years given by Mrs. G. D. Moon. They had a large and lovely display of needlework, foam rubber work and other crafts.

In Prince Edward, scholarship money was being raised, two Junior Institutes had church services, picnics and chicken barbecues, and had sent delegates to camp. The garden clubs and achievement days were well carried out. They also had a display of hats from the millinery course.

LUNCH SERVED

SOMETHING IN COMMON! — Princess Margaret, right, chats in a loose fitting coat, chatted companionship with Miss Janet Wain during a visit to the Louise Margaret maternity hospital at Aldershot, England, last Friday. The princess wept London society that the princess will have a baby early next year. It was noted that her dress was more matronly looking than her usual slim models during the hospital visit and that she has been wearing a coat on all her recent public appearances. (AP Wirephoto).

Mrs. John Reid of Trenton presided at the afternoon session, with Mrs. K. Nicol of Madoc and Mrs. G. Morrow of Belleville also receiving at the door. The visitors were officially welcomed by Alderman Ross Bailey, who told them they had the freedom of the city and hoped their discussions would be educational and worthwhile. Mrs. M. Rutherford of Grafton replied that they were delighted to be made welcome in such a beautiful city and such a fashion.

Mrs. George McCrimmon presented as Historical and Current Events report, noting that seven districts had sent in reports. There were 63 Tweedsmuir histories and two scrap books compiled. Mottoes used were: In youth we learn, in age we understand; the work is full of willing people, some willing to work and the rest willing to let them; if it is not recorded it may be forgotten; the more we learn, the more we realize our ignorance; the only old person is the one who has no longer desires to learn; money may be the husk of many things but not the kernel. It brings food but not appetite, medicine but not health, acquaintances but not friends, servants but not faithfulness, days of joy but not peace and happiness; according to our vision so will be our achievement of tomorrow; Roll calls were answered by: great women and what made them great; historical clippings; the history of the property on which we live; curious I have never die; a clipping or paper about a local event which took place twenty-five years ago.

Topics used included a history of the Belleville courthouse and a display of old books and papers; the family tree of Queen Elizabeth; the home and life of Ridout-Bell; a debate on what our generation is leaving behind for the future; exhibits of old mugs; a paper on the battle of Plains of Abraham which ended French rule 200 years ago. Displays were given of antique articles somebody owned by my grandmother; old clocks, furniture and pictures. Contests were held matching childhood pictures with their present-day counterparts and contents of grandmother's purse. One branch reported having a contest for its Tweedsmuir book and displaying it in the public library; members brought items for the book. Another has started its second book. The activities reported included an interesting feast; a tea held in memory of a museum and bus trips were made to historical spots.

For current events one Institute reported that it searched for news items which were the interesting and worthwhile but did not always make radio or TV headlines; the Royal visit; opening of the seaway; the birth of Prince Andrew; the satellites; an experiment with peculiar trees from Europe which is being carried out in B.C. In 1957 Canada will celebrate its 100th birthday. One district has suggested that it take on the project of restoring old cemeteries. This project would require study, planning and cooperation with the township council.

Mrs. Gordon Fox of Bloomfield, reported that there were three Junior Institutes in that district. They had held discussion groups, studied first aid, had demonstrations, had larger projects to make money. Their joint work with the Junior Farmers included field days, picnics, church services, public speaking and many other activities.

Mrs. Fox urged some effort on the part of the senior Institutes to assist and encourage the young people.

PROVINCIAL HEAD SPEAKS

Provincial President Mrs. L. G. Lymburner of Port Colborne was introduced by Mrs. C. H. Gillespie as a woman who had had wide experience in Institute work, a newspaper woman with reporting and editorial experience, a breeder of English springer spaniels, and one who has specialized in music, art and in all community affairs.

Mrs. Lymburner spoke of the kind reception she had received as she visited groups in Ontario.

Over $3,000 had been received for the Adelaide Hoodless fund to restore her old home at Stoney Creek, but it was important that this fund should be completed as early as possible.

The president described some of the things that had happened during her term in office. She had received many invitations to attend anniversaries and other conventions, and had compiled when possible, or sent greetings. The executive council had met at Guelph, and the members involved. It was hardly possible to realize the importance of the safety program. There were no laws to make one safety conscious except with electric wiring, so each must be responsible for safety in her own home. She had been part of a delegation to Queen's Park in connection with green stamps, prizes and premiums in packages. The delegation had been able to persuade the members of the legislature that their cause was a good one, and they had reason to be distributed. Any action is being held in abeyance until the Supreme Court has ruled on a test case in Winnipeg.

The Canadian Conference on Education was a national group which met in Toronto. The men and women who comprised the executive were among the most successful in Canada who had made great contributions to the educational life of the nation, she said.

The 400 coupon project was a means of assistance to Overseas women of the British West Indies, the newest Provob to enter the A.C.W.W. Each coupon is worth ten dollars. Cups and saucers with a blue band are to be selected. This is a short time project and will close early in winter.

FILM FESTIVAL PLANNED

The president had attended the London film festival, and understood that there was a movement afoot to sponsor one in Eastern Ontario. At these festivals they have a time fixed for programs, one day being given to Chambers of Commerce one to boards of trade, one to women's institutes and so on.

Mrs. Lymburner explained that she had spent twenty-six 5-day weeks on Institute work as Provincial President. The national convention had been held in Vancouver next year when 70 delegates chosen from the membership will go from Toronto. In September 15 is the closing date for the Tweedsmuir competition to be judged with a Provincial level. Essay and citizenship competitions are to be judged at Toronto, sent on to the national level and then on to the A.C.W.W.

The speaker told of the Lady Aberdeen scholarship foundation which was an international fund for financing and educating persons chosen from the have-not countries, so they can go back and teach better family living. Ireland has offered to give free tuition for five successive scholarships.

The President described her travels in the British Isles and Europe where at Canadian Legion party was well receiving everywhere. People are hungry for, desperately that, as women of good-will, we will use our influence to promote world peace and friendship", the speaker told her audience. The Pennies for Friendship fund is a continuing work going on year after year in connection with fellowship extension work. We need this fund to sponsor our visitors [illegible]

The President showed a new linen towel which would be available about the first of the year for 75 cents. The A.C.W.W. design of maps with flags and arms showing where the Associated Country Women of the World were operating. It had a dark green and white border.

PLAY PRESENTED

A play called the "Break Away" was presented by the Codrington branch. This was based on an actual event of April 21st, 1932, when the Fulton Lake flooded. Since then the lake has been dry and to-day there is no vegetation there. The players were dressed in costumes to represent the period, the setting was the Simpson home.

A vocal solo was given by Mrs. Gordon Fox with Mrs. Parrott accompanying at the piano. The first number was "Wheels a Song" followed by "An Old Violin".

GOODFELLOW HEARD

The speaker of the afternoon was Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, who was introduced by Mrs. Clarence Holmes. Mrs. Goodfellow then briefly thanked the platform, where she was presented with a bouquet of yellow mums, pleasing that the members wanted to give recognition to one of their own members who was also an understanding wife, a devoted mother and a gracious hostess who had given valuable leadership in Institute work.

In introducing the speaker, Mrs. Holmes described him as one of the outstanding members of the Cabinet in Ontario, who had entered municipal life 30 years ago as Reeve. He had been recognized by his appointment as Minister of Welfare, later Minister of Municipal Affairs, and now Minister of Agriculture. He had also had been a successful farmer.

Mr. Goodfellow stated that he had been associated with the women's institutes for a long time, since being taken there by his mother to a meeting in 1908 to which he was invited at home. Rural women had been dedicated to improving rural life and had made great contributions to farm living. The farmers' wives had always been always pleased to assist and cooperate with the Federation. Good people are those who are reasonable, understanding and will look dispassionately on the needed the women for the work they did.

"I have just returned from a four weeks' trip overseas to study marketing. Agriculture has an intense co-operative system. I was particularly impressed with the pride of people in their own homes, farms and communities. I feel concern that Canadians take too much for granted.

We have not been confronted with the problems of farming that we faced in the early days. We have a great heritage established for us. Have we a proper appreciation of the privileges we enjoy to-day? We should have a truly Canadian outlook.

URGES NEATNESS

"In Denmark and throughout British Isles, there is a great pride in their own premises, and paint their buildings every year. Germany has certainly created a good citizen if his property is well kept.

"We have reason for pride here in Ontario, and I should like to see old buildings and barns, broken down and no longer in use, torn down and the place cleaned up, so they would not attract eyes. Take advantage of the school of experience. Public service is a great challenge; irrigation is how people gives the greatest reward in life, and if I had my life to live over I would spend it in exactly the same way."

In expressing appreciation to the speaker, Mrs. Norman Foster said the people of this area had watched the progress of Mr. Goodfellow step by step, and wished him every success in the future.

A banquet was held in the evening in the dining room of Club Canara which was prepared and served by the Club staff.

EVENING SESSION

Mrs. R. Robson presided at the evening session and called on Mrs. Lymburner who brought greetings from the Women's Institutes in England, Scotland and Ireland, who in each instance, when she visited there, had asked her to bring their best wishes to Ontario. The Provincial President talked of her experiences in the British Isles, of the agricultural schools in France, the production of land from the erosion in Italy. She told the delegates that we in Canada are not sufficiently proud of our country, due to the old countries we see how things are cherished and preserved. We are too anxious to put the old aside and get the new.

We should realize where we are going. We should be thankful and grateful, for what we have, and for the heritage that is given us. We have great strength and should be sure what is good and fine in our culture."

Barry Fryer of Stirling who has been a C.N.E. prize winner sang two solos, "England's Green and Pleasant Land" and "Give Me Your Hand."

Mrs. Haggerty brought greetings from the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada and spoke briefly of the possible at the national convention in Vancouver.

At the triennial conference in Edinburgh, Scotland, Mrs. R. J. Hastie, Mrs. Haggerty and other delegates, took some interesting slides of the meetings and of other places visited. These were shown at the meeting so the Institute members could see something of the pageantry of the conference and the international implications. Mrs. Lymburner presented a thousand dollars from the Ontario membership for the Lady Aberdeen-scholarship fund. The collection included hostess' purse given on the hills, a pipe band playing in the picturesque beauty completed the showing.

Mrs. Ralph Hill of Trenton gave a humorous reading, "How Pa Stubbs Received His Education."

Miss Helen McKercher of Toronto, gave greetings from the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Home Economics. She noted the approach of the 50th birthday of the Junior clubs, and urged the members would continue to give them their support.

Miss Audra Brickman, Carrying Place, and Mrs. Clarence Vandlief, Amelianburg, were the nominating committee at the evening session.

Mr., Mrs. Elgin Moynes Mark 40th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Moynes entertained at a party at their home in honor of Mr. Moynes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carman, of Belleville, who celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on Saturday.

The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Carman, and the grandchildren, were present, namely: Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Carman, Bill and Abe, of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Carman, Catharine and Stewart of Point Anne; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kelly of Halloway, and Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Moynes, Laurie, and David, of Belleville. All enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner.

The table was tastefully appointed with a Scotch lace cloth and a beautiful bouquet of Ruby red carnations, baby's breath and fern, and centred by a large white anniversary cake flanked by tall white sprays of red rosebuds. The rooms were decorated in red and white streamers and pink bells.

The bride and groom were presented with a beautiful oil painting of winter scene and a fine some walnut ottoman, by the family.

The evening was spent in reminiscing and showing moving pictures.

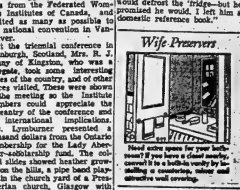
Indian Writer Starts Long Canada Tour

OTTAWA (CP)—The ideal of a "united commonwealth of Commonwealth was referred to Tuesday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker in a debate visit with one of India's leading women journalists.

"I should write this story right away," said Mrs. Amita Malik of Delhi, who has started a 10-month tour of Canada with a stay in Ottawa.

Awarded a fellowship by the Canadian Women's Press Club, Mrs. Malik is finding lots to write about for Indian newspapers—but little time for the writing.



Tuesday she visited several government agencies, had late afternoon tea with Mr. Diefenbaker and attended a dinner and reception. She had interviewed Mrs. Diefenbaker in India in 1955.

Mrs. Malik, who will work on newspapers and in radio stations while visiting the homes of press and radio members across Canada, owes the experience to a suggestion by Mr. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Diefenbaker, on an address to the club's traditional meeting in London last September, urged members to promote greater understanding and a knowledge of Canada. The fellowship fellowship program was the result.

Selected from 26 applicants, Mrs. Malik came to Canada on three weeks' visitor's visa. She packed 34 saris into one suitcase.

She left behind a husband who is assistant station director of All-India Radio, "I burst into tears when I asked him who would defrost the fridge—but he said he would. I left him a domestic reference book."

Need some insurance, but don't know where? If you have a closet overflowing with preserves, a husband who is shelling out a conscience, rather and attractive wall covering.

Reserve in B.C.'s Okanagan Valley Is Economic Success Story of Salish Indian Band

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Okanagan reservation No. 1 shows what the Canadian Indian can do when given equal opportunity with the non-Indian to paddle his own economic canoe.

Fat cattle, big timber and plump grain — products of the sun - baked basin of fertility formed by this interior British Columbia valley—underline the economic stability of the Salish band. Most other Canadian reservations are less fortunate.

Okanagan No. 1, eight miles from Vernon, covers 25,379 square miles of rolling range-land, forest, rich bottom soil, irrigated fields and fruit orchards.

Only a small percentage is leased out to non-Indians, most of it for expensive, intensive row-crop farming where Orientals can show profits by hard labor.

MOST ARE LOGGERS

Logging supports about 60 per cent of the working force among the 711-Indian band members. Best cattle herds have up to 500 head, a modern-day switch for the interior Salish who used to trek across the Rockies in the old days to hunt prairie buffalo. Grain fields rim the north arm of Lake Okanagan.

All around the reservation lie the fruit orchards, some being destroyed by owners weary of high costs and unprofitable prices.

Okanagan No. 1 is an admitted high spot in a Canadian Indian picture more often pitted with deep depressions. Among B.C.'s 36,500 Indians, a counterpart is Cape Mudge on Quadra Island a few miles from Ripple Rock.

There Chief Harry Assu and his 247 followers head a fishing fleet of 32 other seiners and 30 gillnetters operating out of the neat Kwakiutl-band reservation with church and totem pole and television. Two of the band have the 237 band members turn their hand to logging, too.

STRONG LEADER

Their status is attributed directly to old Chief William Assu, father of Harry, whose strong man influence virtually lifted them by the bootstraps to a point where a non-Indian logger comments:

"There are some wealthy men in that village—hell and all that. They're really fine people. Some come to visit us from time to time. I guess"—and this is said without bitterness—"they'd burn the furniture we have."

Okanagan No. 1 reservation is administered by Jack Hett, superintendent whose agency runs down the valley to cover six bands and 40 reservations, some unoccupied. A battleground in matching year Kamloops helps fill him for his job.

As elsewhere more reservation pupils now are attending integrated school in Vernon and housing assistance is provided on a matching dollar-for-dollar basis. But many Metis ask advice and pay their own way, he says.

CHEMEY IS GOOD

Electricity runs through most of the reservation. In sharp contrast with conditions in other parts of Canada, many Indians have built up bank credit—a practice usually thwarted by the fact that the Indian can't mortgage his land or is regarded as a bad risk.

"Some of these people have $60,000 worth of farm equipment in the yard," says Mr. Hett. Others own logging equipment and he tells of one agency Indian who pocketed $53,000 from beef sales—not subject to income tax since the cattle were raised on the reservation.

With all its comparative affluence, the band presents many of the same obstacles to integration found elsewhere—obstacles often justly rooted in past experience with the non-Indian and his governments.

YOUTH ON COUNCIL

The council has refused to let the reservation be surveyed. Mr. Hett still attends all council meetings — conducted in Salish which some members don't understand—but feels optimistically that his services are progressively less in demand.

There is also a trend here, as well as in other more-developed bands, toward replacement of the "old guard" by younger council members less mindful of past wrongs and more conscious of present realities.

But the band's views on a number of subjects, as laid before the parliamentary committee on Indian affairs, show what makes older Indians regard the words integration or enfranchisement—dropping of Indian status—with concern.

The brief reiterated criticism by B.C.'s Indians of the result of a federal-provincial royal commission sitting in 1915-16. It planned 47,000 acres from reservations pledged in perpetuity and added 87,200 acres. The catch was that the substitute land was worth four times less than the original.

The brief opposed alcohol on the reservation — B.C. Indians drink only in licensed premises anyway—and urged that schooling be confined to reservation schools to preserve language and culture.

OPPOSED VOTE

It took the common line of opposing the federal vote granted subsequently to Indians—in this case because it was felt that the Indian requires more education and progress.

Mr. Hett says a moral transition has become evident with education advances.

"Young girls today stick with school more. There are fewer weddings where the bride is pregnant or already mother of one or two children. There are fewer young couples now who marry with perhaps no plans for children for a year or two."

Television has helped inject new ideas into many reservations and has combined with school to cut the amount of Indian spoken. It has helped to curb the downtown loitering of Indian men in or around the beer parlor.

Private-Enterprise Operation Of Small European-Made Bus Rated Success in North Bay

By OLIVE McNAUGHTON of the North Bay Nugget

NORTH BAY, Oct. (CP)—This city of 22,000 has licked one of the biggest of modern municipal headaches — public transportation.

Judged by how well the needs of citizens are served and by the financial health of the service, the private-enterprise operation of small European-made buses must be rated a success.

They have been shuttling through city streets now for about nine months.

Philip McCarthy, who owns a fleet of taxicabs and an ambulance service here, offered a solution to the transportation problem after the previous operator found he could not operate without a $46,000 subsidy from the city.

CITY LOAN

When North Bay withdrew its financial support, residents were without any public conveyance for nine months.

They welcomed Mr. McCarthy's proposal to put eight 17-passenger diesel Mercedes-Benz buses on the routes. Council agreed to advance him $24,000 ($2,000 a month for 12 months) repayable within five years.

It signed a five-year contract with him and granted an option for renewal for an additional five years. Then the three-man transportation committee headed by Archie Freeman, a retired railway executive, operates regularly with the operator and acts as adviser.

The buses cost $8,000 each—a fraction of the price for a full-size vehicle. Their economy of operation and manoeuvrability have endeared them to Mr. McCarthy. Their trim lines and cleanliness have impressed the public which pays a 15-cent fare for adults and 10 cents for children under 12.

"I can operate a bus cheaper than a taxi," said Mr. McCarthy. "We are carrying over 2,000 passengers a day now and I suspect that figure will rise considerably in 2,000 as cold weather sets in."

He added that he hasn't had to buy a part for the buses in nine months; he still has all his original drivers and council has never interfered "so they must be satisfied too."

Mr. McCarthy and city hall have received numerous inquiries from other centres with transportation problems. Representatives from Welland, Ont., were here recently to view the operation.

The buses are washed each night. Some now have 34,000 miles on them. Drivers, spurred by an incentive bonus, are courteous to the extent of stopping in mid-block to pick up or discharge passengers.

The buses have averaged 21 miles to the gallon even while averaging six stops to the mile. Mr. McCarthy says he expects engines will have to be rebuilt after 200,000 miles. Advertising brings more than $5,000 a year and the system has been profitable from the beginning.

Mr. McCarthy says he is convinced small buses are the solution to the needs of cities with less than 50,000 people.

Along with the eight original buses, he is buying a ninth and 10th advertising standard buses on school routes. He is starting a towing service and also plans to buy an airplane for his 24-hour ambulance service.

Motion to Define Practice Of Oral Question and Answer Periods in Ontario House

Thirty Charges Of Fraud Laid Against Eight

TORONTO (CP)— Attorney General Roberts Tuesday ordered the drafting of a resolution to define the practice of oral question and answer periods in the Ontario legislature.

The select committee on legislative procedure plans on the best course to follow, Liberal members Art Reaume of Essex North and Andrew Thompson of Toronto Dovercourt wanted the committee to pass a resolution allowing questions and answers by the opposition without prior notice.

Mr. Reaume said the House of Commons permits a question to be asked without the member having to give it in written form to the Speaker before the House sits. In the House of Commons the Speaker rules on the floor whether the question is of urgent character.

"It has the result of keeping the ministers on their toes," Mr. Reaume said.

COULD BE LAX

The House of Commons question period is recognized as the liveliest part of the debates, he said.

Mr. Thompson said a more spontaneous question and answer period could be continued to 45 minute periods two days a week as a start.

Mr. Roberts, committee chairman, said the present practice of written notice gives the member a chance to rule wisely on the question. And it gave the ministers time required to have a properly addressed time to find an answer.

He asked Roderick Lewis, QC, chief law clerk, to draft a resolution for the committee's perusal, keeping in mind the limitations governing the orderly debate.

WANTS EQUALITY

Earlier, Mr. Reaume said the government should permit equality of membership on committees. He charged that the government was also to hamper investigations of "alleged wrongdoing" by putting committees of 14 h 17 opposition members.

"I don't think it's fitting to set up a committee to investigate the courts," he said. "I think it wrong for a council or police department to investigate itself."

Mr. Reaume charged that the 1954 select committee investigating the highway department scandal was not handled properly and not brought to a proper conclusion.

"If you had evidence, you should have given it to the police," Mr. Roberts, who was chairman of the committee, "I bent over backwards to have witnesses brought in."

Mr. Roberts said that no responsible government would permit an equal number of opposition to sit on select committees, which would be the same as turning over the respons.bilities of government to others.

B.C. Govt. Will Not Collect Dues of Union

VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia government announced Tuesday abolition of a payroll check-off civil service union dues because of the affiliation of organized labor with the CCF.

"The government believes," provincial Secretary Black said, "that it would be derelict in its own duty if it continued to provide any service which might contribute to, or imply approval of, such an affiliation."

It sparked resignation of Victoria branch president Larry Huck because the BCGEA is affiliated with the B.C. Federation of Labor and the Canadian Labor Congress.

The BC civil servants voted at their Vancouver convention last week against quitting the B.C. federation. They will hold a secret ballot on what action to take when the new party completes its merger.

COULD BE LOST

The BCGEA has about 11,000 members. Many of them are in Victoria.

In Vancouver John F. Murrell organizational director of the association, said the government's move is a violation of the principles of Labor Relations Act.

"While the government . . . has the undoubted right to act within the provisions of the act, there has always been recognition of the principle of check-off.

He said the government action was taken without prior warning or discussion with the BCGEA.

Cards, Letters Mailed in 1940 Just Received

DETROIT (AP) — The Leo Wenzinger family of suburban Highland Park Monday received greeting cards and letters in their regular mail delivery from people no longer living. All were postmarked 1940.

One of the cards was from Mrs. Wenzinger's aunt, Mrs. Anna Zink, of Alpena, Mich. Mrs. Zink died 11 years ago.

Another was from Wenzinger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wenzinger, of Milford, Mich. Joseph Wenzinger died two years ago.

A letter from one of Mrs. Wenzinger's friends said she was going to stop teaching because she was expecting a baby. "That baby, Karen, now is in the U.S. Marine Corps," Mrs. Wenzinger said.

Postal officials were unable to explain immediately why the mail was detained.

Tenth Decennial Census To Be Taken Next June

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians will have to wait one year yet for a general census starting next June 1.

The mammoth survey, 10th decennial census since Confederation, is expected to take up to three weeks in most areas and employ an army of between 25,000 and 27,000 enumerators.

Date of the census was announced Tuesday by the government. Results of the population count will form the basis of the next redistribution of seats in the House of Commons.

The census takers will probe a little deeper into the intimate infrastructure of Canadian family life than in former years. For instance, they will want to know something about a mother's fertility, and of the total earnings —not just wages—of the breadwinners.

TO COST ESTIMATE

Officials said they could not estimate how much the big project will cost; this had not been fully worked out yet. They were certain, though, that it would be much more than the 1951 census, which showed the total cost was $1,400,000.

The 1931 census placed Canada's population at 14,000,420. By 1941 when the pocket-size questionnaires were distributed, that had risen by 2,071,362 to 16,-071,782.

The basic questionnaire will be filled out by every fifth person, those 25 or over will be asked to fill out questions, mostly having to do with jobs and how much they come. For males 25 and over there will be a brief questionnaire on wartime service in the armed forces.

HOW MANY CHILDREN

At every fifth household married or widowed women 15 and over women will be asked when they were married and how many live-born children they have had. This "fertility question" was settled on by the census bureau at Joliette, Que., and Galt, and housewives received little reluctance to answer it.

There will be a household questionnaire to gather data on the farm home. This reflects the changing social conditions and rising standards of living in Canada. For instance, instead of asking whether there is a radio—which just about everybody now has—enumerators will ask whether he has a TV set.

NEW YORK (AP) — At 83 Mrs. Hattie Gibson Hallowell has languished all but forgotten in a Bronx jail cell for 6½ years.

Her crime?

A small claim had been made against the estate by Mrs. Hallowell couldn't have anything to do with court procedures.

Not much happened until Monday when the New York World-Telegram and Sun, which in turn got in touch with the judge.

Surrogate Judge Anthony P. Savarese ordered Mrs. Hallowell released Tuesday when he learned what happened. He directed that action concerned with the case bring the matter before him forthwith

Perhaps Mrs. Hallowell was jailed for contempt of court, but Judge Savarese said no person in prison until she dies.

Mrs. Hallowell's son, Richard Gibson, said: "I've done all I could to get her out."

C. Magdett, OLA President, Stricken With Polio Shortly After Playing Game in 1949

Written for The Canadian Press by Jack Gatecliff of the St. Catharines Standard

Aug. 17, 1949, was one of those tes timony mid-summer days when the heat rises like vapor out of the pavement in the city and every step on a farm turns the weary body into a mass of powdery dust.

It started the same as a dozen other similarly oppressively - hot days for Carl Madgett.

He left the neat farm house after an early breakfast and headed for the sports field on his parents' farm which lies within yards of the end of one of the main Malton Airport runways northwest of Toronto.

He skipped dinner so that he could complete his work, then hurried to the nearby town of Brampton to meet other members of the Excelsiors senior lacrosse team before they left for a game in Peterborough some 80 miles distant.

THE LAST GAME

That day, Aug. 17, may have started under conditions which Churchill's Excelsiors could not but it is a date that 35-year-old Carl Madgett will never forget.

He never played another game of lacrosse after that sticky summer day when he took his first step on Miller Bowl.

For months doctors despaired that he would ever walk again and for the rest of his life he will have, as a constant reminder, a pair of crutches.

"I can remember every detail of that game," said Madgett a quarter of a century later in his home where, as president of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, he is supervising the Canadian senior lacrosse finals between Nanaimo and Peterborough for the Mann Cup.

"It was late in the schedule and we were in the fight for first place. A lot of our players were away on holiday and we had only 10 men against the 15 Peterborough dressed. I don't think I was off the floor more than five minutes and was lucky enough to score three goals. We finally won 19-7."

FELT WEARY

Savarese decided that he felt a little more weary than usual after the hot, humid hours but put it down to working out in the sun all day."

When he got up the next day he found he had pains running up and down his legs. By the time a pain had shifted to his back and that night he was taken, protesting, to Brampton Hospital.

Early next morning the family physician, Dr. W. W. Bartlett, took a spinal test and by noon had the verdict.

"I'll never forget the look on Dr. Bartlett's face when he came to my room. He was so choked up he could hardly talk but he finally blurted out: 'I'm afraid, Carl, you have infantile paralysis'."

NEWLY MARRIED

Carl, married less than a year-and-a-half, spent six months at Toronto's Riverdale Isolation Hospital where he was told he would spend the rest of his life in a wheelchair.

He completely paralyzed from the waist down but the doctor hadn't reckoned with the will of the young athlete. At Toronto Rehabilitation Centre in Toronto he began exercising muscles that were still healthy.

With encouragement and help from Dr. A. T. Jusse, a member of the Lyndhurst staff who had suffered from a type of creeping paralysis himself since he was if.

"It may sound like pure corn but he told me that anything I wanted to do, within reason, I could do."

LEFT CHAIR

Others at Lyndhurst were dubious of allowing Madgett the use of crutches even after he was fitted with sturdy steel leg braces. But just three months after discharged he was able to make the way down one of the hospital corridors. He met Dr. Jusse on the way.

"I asked Carl if he had arranged to take a wheelchair home with him and asked him what he answered? 'Leave it here for someone who needs it. I'm going to walk.'"

Madgett realized, after a few falls, that he wouldn't be able to walk normally so farm work was out.

But after arriving home he applied for, and obtained, a job at the Toronto Township assessment office in Cooksville. Three years ago he was appointed township commissioner.

Arnprior Council Will Limit Scope Judicial Inquiry

ARNPRIOR (CP)—Town council has decided to limit the scope of an inquiry into alleged irregularities in the administration of Fenbrooke Judge T. M. J. Galligan who will conduct the inquiry.

Following a closed session Tuesday night, council unanimously agreed to delete from the terms of the inquiry a proposal which would allow a taxpayer to bring complaints before the Judge.

Judge Galligan, who will open the inquiry Monday in this Ottawa Valley town 20 miles west of Ottawa, recently questioned the scope of that proposal.

The inquiry now will be limited to allegations of theft or private use of town property and equipment which were under police investigation, and to matters the inquiry was requested.

Councillor Joseph Brown, the premier, Lumumba, who refused to quit, tried to link Kasavubu to an alleged "plot" to sell out the Congo's new banking institutions to Belgian interests.

The Leopoldville daily newspaper Le Courrier d'Afrique, whose interests had been closely allied to Lumumba, printed a publishing again, reappeared Tuesday in a slightly different format.

About the same time, the daily Courrier d'Afrique, whose interests had been closely allied to Lumumba, printed a publishing again, reappeared Tuesday in a slightly different format.

However, since then he has been busily getting support from Kasavubu and Mobutu, who have the main chance of success. He moved slowly after the initial burst.

Mobutu called in a group of Congolese university graduates and undergraduates to run the country, setting a deadline of December for new power base for politicians.

As the "boy ministers" are Kasavubu fired him Sept. 5.

Nikita Had Brief Wrangle With Spaniards

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Soviet Premier Khrushchev had a brief wrangle with the Spanish delegation on returning to his seat after delivering a fighting speech in the UN General Assembly Tuesday night.

"The Spanish people will have their say."

A member of the Spanish delegation, seated just forward of the Soviets, yelled: "We don't like you."

A Spaniard rose in his seat and UN security officials surged forward. Khrushchev sat down and the incident ended.

Chinese Recoil Sharply Against Kennedy's Stand

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A Nationalist Chinese spokesman Tuesday called sharply Tuesday to the new Democratic presidential candidate Senator John F. Kennedy on defending the offshore islands.

Kennedy said Monday in Wei said curtly the Nationalists will fight Khrushchev for Formosa and Matsu" because they are "an integral part of the only China that exists, Free China on Formosa."

During a political debate in the United States Tuesday night Republican vice-president Richard Nixon said the islands are "in the area of freedom."

Kennedy said he believes in defending Formosa but thinks it strategically wrong to try to defend the offshore islands. Kennedy said, that according to some military authorities opinion the islands cannot be defended.

Nixon May Have Trouble Selling Pledge to Canada

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In his eagerness to depict Senator John Kennedy as a woefully-misinformed babe in the woods, Richard Nixon has plunged into a political pledge he may have trouble selling to Canada and other allies in the event he becomes president.

This pledge—far stronger than any assurance Kennedy has given Eisenhower on the subject—is to defend the two tiny offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu against the Chinese Communists regardless of what the people of Canada and other free countries think.

Nixon's pledge, expressed in his view, sought to impress on the electorate that Kennedy is a dangerous man determined to block the Communist drive for world conquest. The issue of territory, he has opened the door for Nixon to reconcile this with his self-portrayal as defender of peace and his plans for increasing cooperation inside the Western alliance.

NORTH KOREA

Would, in fact, the American people be willing to go to war over what Nixon has described as "two rocks" just a few miles off the Chinese mainland and about 100 miles from Formosa? Would Canada, Britain and other nations be willing to contribute men and arms in support of such a policy?

Senator J. W. Fulbright, a prominent Democrat, said the chairman of the foreign relations committee, suggests they would not. He suggests also that in pursuing such a policy, Nixon would be running the risk of getting into uncomfortable position of being committed to go to war on behalf of the Chinese Communists and on the side of Chiang Kai-shek's anti-Communist regime in the event of a dictatorship.

Last Friday in the second Nixon - Kennedy television encounter, Kennedy argued that while he would not give up the two islands under threat of Communist guns, he believed these islands are not essential to Formosan defence. He suggested the defence line be drawn in the area around this main nationalist territory.

Wilkins Gave Warning About Pearl Harbor

LONDON (AP)—A new biography of Sir Hubert Wilkins says the Australian explorer warned Britain "months and months" before the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The book by Lowell Thomas —Sir Hubert Wilkins, Enigma of the Unknown—says Wilkins had dinner with the Japanese foreign minister, Yosuke Matsuoka at the Raffles Hotel in August, 1941.

The consul-general drank too much and confided that the Japanese were going to hit the American fleet in Pearl Harbor on the air.

"And as for Singapore," he said, "we shall walk in here from the north; whilst all your guns and fortifications are pointing to the south."

The Japanese said he was going to Pearl Harbor, which in 1958, "because I know you are a secret agent of the American fleet, and because I know you will report this conversation to them and to the British, too, and they will lay this story in fantastic the consul-general told did not know what he was telling about, and they will not believe it."

That is exactly what happened, Gibbons writes. Sir Hubert's report was not believed.

2 Youths Fined For Impaired Driving of Car

ORILLIA (CP)—Two youths were sentenced Tuesday for impaired driving of the same car after police testified they switched seats during a chase Sunday.

Kenneth Delzar, 18, was fined $75 for impaired driving and $12.50 for consuming liquor under age and driving with a beginner's permit.

Michael Sharpe, 19, elected to serve a 60-day jail term for impaired driving, consuming liquor under age and driving with his licence under suspension.

gathering more power after cleaning up the government administration—without a few cracked heads—many pro - Lumumba politicians are dreaming their former leader.

The leaders of the general commissioners appear to be Justin Bomboko, Lumumba's former foreign affairs commissioner later switched to Ileo's proposed cabinet, and Maria Cardoso, a mulatto graduate from Louvain University in Belgium.

Cardoso met Lumumba's stock to a new low when he and other commissioners released texts of letters, allegedly signed by Lumumba requesting military assistance and arms from Russia and Communist China.

This allowed Mobutu's decision to kick out of the country the Russian and Czechoslovakian ambassadors and Lumumba's Communist advisers.

Lumumba suffered redoubt when five former parliamentarians, including President Kasongo of the lower house of representatives, publicly renounced his leadership.

Kasongo is the acknowledged strong man of the house and was obviously the man who swung the majority to the representatives to Lumumba's side when they gave their former premier a vote of confidence shortly after the "boy ministers" were sacked.

To the question of whether this might not be interpreted as appeasement, Kennedy quoted a number of military and diplomatic experts, including State officials who say that to have maintained Quemoy and Matsu are strategic interests and that this Nixon countered that South Korea also was considered indefensible as far as Asia was concerned, as well as other lands of the Far East.

In taking his position that Quemoy and Matsu should be defended at all costs, Nixon has departed from the milder Eisenhower policy that the fate of these islands should be decided by the fate of attack and that further this attack is aimed at Formosa and its nearby Pescadores Islands.

Under a mutual security treaty, the U.S. is committed to the defence of Formosa and the Pescadores. Nixon's latest statement has frequently stated that Quemoy and Matsu are a slightly different category."

It's the Numbers Game today, with $3788

Using all four figures each time, but only one of each and no other figures at all, make up expressions for the successive whole numbers as follows.

Any regular arithmetical signs may be used, but the factorial or summation of simple plus is allowed, of course.

For example, 37 - 9 - 8 is acceptable as 29.

The limit without a break seems to be 323 this time, but I shall be interested to see any lists even though they fall short of that goal. And a solution for 134 would be more than welcome!

Thanks for an idea: to: A. Dentack, Toronto.

Thomson Sells Empire News To News of World

LONDON (Reuters)—Canadian publisher Roy Thomson, who owns newspaper groups in Britain and Canada, announced Tuesday night the sale of The Empire News, a British Sunday newspaper, to The News of The World, another mammoth circulation Sunday paper.

The News of the World has a weekly circulation of 6,800,000. The Empire News—which has been in financial trouble recently—has a circulation of 2,000,000.

At the same time, Thomson said his British newspaper group would take over the printing of The News of the World's northern edition at Manchester, where The Empire News was formerly printed.

The Empire News makes its last appearance this Sunday. The News of the World will absorb it by starting with the issue of Oct. 23.

Thomson acquired The Empire News when he bought control of Kemsley Newspapers Limited in July, 1959.

SAFEGUARDS INTERESTS

"We consider," Thomson said in his statement, "this arrangement safeguards the interests of the maximum number of our employees."

The 117-year-old News of the World has built up the largest circulation in Britain with extensive coverage of court cases and a variety of special features. It has often been criticized for presenting the seamier side of British life.

The Empire News has always had its circulation strength in the north of England. Founded in 1884 as the Umpire, it was the first national Sunday newspaper to be published outside of London.

In 1937, it changed its name to The Empire, and then a few months later to The Empire News. Five years ago, it amalgamated with another Kemsley newspaper, The Sunday Chronicle. The political flavor has generally been independent right-wing.

U.S. Concerned Over Big Spread Of Nuclear Club

WASHINGTON (CP) — United States authorities are deeply concerned over the possible future spread of the world's nuclear club following a report that West Germany has made progress in developing a low-cost machine for turning out enriched uranium.

The German machine, employing the centrifuge cream-separator method of forcing the bomb-fuel uranium-235 from the heavier U-238 isotope, may not only have an impact on bomb-making but also in the competitive field of commercial atomic power.

A western scientific source believes it may even lead to the end of the U.S. monopoly in the export of fissionable materials for peaceful power and bombs—a monopoly that the U.S. is employing to some advantage in her over-all diplomatic policy.

The state department, while maintaining it will be some years before the German development can be used in a practical way for bomb-making materials, indicated it already is negotiating with Germany to keep her process secret and keep the machines under strict export control.

A German embassy spokesman agreed that his government has a "moral obligation" to keep the machines from falling into the hands of unscrupulous regimes. He said he believes his government will ban exports of the "latest models."

HUNT FOR HIKER

DISARMAMENT

RB-47 reconnaissance planes controlled aggression.

Khrushchev — who made two speeches, one moderate from a prepared text, the other impromptu and unrestrained—said chiefs of government who have left the assembly for their capital would return if there was a real chance of disarmament. He received his call for a special assembly session on disarmament to be held in Europe early next year.

But this was rejected by Wadsworth, who denied the Russian's charge that the U.S. presidential election campaign was interfering with disarmament negotiations.

Khrushchev, in his second speech, announced he was deliberately seeking to shake up the delegates. He said they personally would run the risk of being destroyed in a new war.

At one point he turned merry, saying every thing was going "marvellously" in Moscow although he had been away a month. Scheduled to leave late Thursday, he would remain here indefinitely if there was a chance of achieving disarmament.

Aside from the Soviet bloc, Cuba, Guinea and Mali, a new African state, voted against the steering committee recommendation. By far the majority of new African countries supported the West. Most of the abstentions were Afro-Asian countries.

Khrushchev and other Communist representatives—from Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Albania, Ukraine, Poland, White Russia, Rumania and Hungary—all denied that propaganda advantage was sought. They said that, instead, the West was seeking propaganda by insisting on debates on the "specious quotas" of Communist oppression in Tibet and Hungary.

Khrushchev said he had listened to the representatives of Britain, the U.S., and Canada who all spoke in "righteous" tones. "The colonizers are filled with celebrate a victory. They put of plan, of course, the decision for the discussion of disarmament.

Later Khrushchev told reporters the situation was sad and discouraging.

Khrushchev walked directly up to the reporters outside of his New York Park Ave. headquarters. He told them:

"We have been defeated—the country fighting for disarmament. Those that support the position of the United States can

"These are steps closer to war. It is not a victory for peace but a victory for those who want war.

"Every honest man is discouraged. Evidently we will now have to compete in the manufacture of arms. Evidently, the United States, Britain, France and Canada do not want disarmament. This is certainly very sad."

Asked if he saw any hope for its proposals, he replied:

"Not at this assembly."

COAL BACKS BOOM—A giant electric dredger scoops out thousands of tons of soft coal per hour on the Latrobe Valley near Melbourne, Australia. In a country short of hydro power, oil and gas, coal is the source of cheap energy needed for Australia's economic boom. (CP Photo).

Tranquil Valley Disturbed By Roar of Big Dredgers Scooping up Tons of Coal

By RUSSELL ELMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MELBOURNE (CP)—Beneath a haze of industrial smoke, the roar of giant mechanical dredgers shatter the tranquility of the fertile Latrobe Valley's sheep and dairy farms.

Day and night these machines scoop thousands of tons of brown coal from one of the world's biggest man-made holes to provide fuel for electricity. From the nearby 804,000 horsepower Yallourn thermal station, largest in Australia, high-voltage transmission lines carry power 90 miles westward to the mushrooming manufacturing plants and automobile factories of Melbourne.

Elsewhere in the valley native-born and European immigrants are constructing another power station; factories produce coal briquettes for home heating and Melbourne's gas supply; a new mill turns out paper products.

Today the Latrobe Valley plays an important triple role in Australia's postwar expansion; its soft brown coal deposits, reputed among the world's largest, are a vital source of cheap energy in a country which is short of water for hydro power and has oil yet discovered oil or natural gas to any large extent. The power forms the core of the recent spectacular growth in Victoria, now Australia's most industrialized state. Its homogeneous working force of "old" and "new" Australians typifies a fundamental change in Australia's labor structure, without which none of the country's major developments could have been effected.

NATIONAL PATTERN

In each of Australia's six states there are similar stories of harvesting the earth's natural resources—mineral and agricultural—developing power, and establishing new industries.

Australian - built coastal freighters transport iron ore 4,000 miles from Yampi Sound on the northwest coast of Western Australia to steel mills at Newcastle and Port Kembla in New South Wales.

Wines and dried fruits grown under irrigation in South Australia's Murray river valley are sampled in high-class Melbourne restaurants and shipped overseas as an important foreign exchange earner.

Hydro-electric power generated in streams and lakes of mountainous Tasmania power Australia's only aluminum smelter and mills, manufacturing newsprint from hardwood eucalyptus forests.

FEW UNEMPLOYED

In New South Wales and Victoria, whose sheep stations are still the prime source of Australia's wealth, new urban industries now make almost everything from diesel - electric railroad engines to canned soup.

In tropical north Queensland new wealth is being found in copper and uranium mining, tobacco growing, and intensive sugar cane cultivation.

The accent is on self - sufficiency. Few Australians can forget the serious Japanese invasion threat in 1942 and acute shortages caused by wartime attacks on the traditional shipping lifeline with Britain.

Although some slackening in the phenomenal economic growth of recent years is probably inevitable, government commerce officials and private businessmen are generally optimistic about the future. After only a mild slowdown in the momentum of expansion during the 1956-58 recession, with unemployment in Australia never topping two per cent of the work force, development now is in full swing again and skilled labor is scarce.

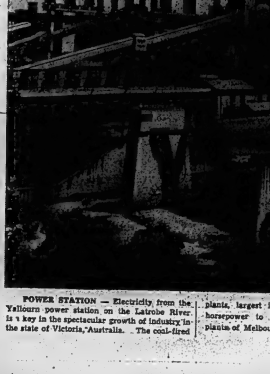
GOOD RISK

From an investor's point of view Australia, with a stable parliamentary democratic form of government and great potential in resources, is considered a good risk.

Great untapped wealth still lies beneath the ground in the form of copper, silver - lead, bauxite, iron ore, uranium and coal. And an intensive hunt is being pursued across the continent in the hope of eventually finding oil.

Main problem is how to pay for the vast capital undertakings and maintain expansion to meet the needs of a rapidly increasing population without disturbing inflation. Wages and prices have been climbing steadily in the last few years, though this year the Australian Court, which sets the wage pattern throughout Australia, rejected trade union demand for a further increase in the basic wage.

Exploitation of natural resources and establishment of new industry depends on the availability of foreign capital that may hinge largely on the accessibility of foreign markets for Australian primary produce exports — wool, meat, wheat and cane sugar. Except in certain specialized lines, such as sale of Australian Holden cars, the value of manufactured Australian exports is relatively small.



HUNT FOR MARKETS

Australia is constantly looking for new markets. Anxiety is expressed over the formation of the European Common Markets, which may tend to restrict sales of Australian agricultural produce. On the other hand, a trade agreement with Japan has proved a success with Japan buying large quantities of Australian wool and selling quality manufactured goods in Australia.

Australia's foreign exchange balance sheet is the healthiest in years and recently nearly all controls on imports have been removed. Most home industries, such as automobile and television manufacturers, enjoy tariff protection, but the Australian tariff board had refused to grant increased protection to the principal cotton section of the textile industry on the grounds the industry should reorientate itself towards more efficient production.

Meanwhile about 90 per cent of Australia's annual expenditure on development comes from local resources, public and private. The greater part of public authority investment traditionally has been raised through taxation, but last year 60 per cent was provided by loans. More individual Australians are investing in stocks and shares, savings are soaring, and credit is easy.

Although small compared to total investment, fresh inflow of overseas capital has been significant. Australian loans floated in Geneva or Wall Street are quickly snapped up, while American and some Canadian business interests are paying more attention to establishing branches in Australia often in association with Australian companies. The GM's Australian subsidiary provoked a fierce outcry.

Lake Once Full Of Trout Now Full of Pickerel

KILLALOE, Ont. (CP)—Round Lake, once full of lake trout, then barren of fish for 30 years, now is teeming with pickerel.

The lake, 25 miles southwest of Pembroke in eastern Ontario, was once a favorite haunt of travellers and trout trollers because of its scenic attractive. Then the trout, on whom local residents and tourists depended for food and game suddenly vanished from the waters of the lake.

Even the more patient fisherman soon gave the lake up as fished out and the days when they could easily catch a "boatload of trout" seemed gone forever.

Then science took a hand. Research teams from the Ontario Department of lands and forests came to the lake, testing water temperatures, placing food supplies under microscope and taking water samples. They recommended that the lake be restocked, not with lake trout, but with pickerel. This was an unusual proposal considering the great depth of the lake in some places but research had shown that pickerel would do well in the lake and would reproduce in the lake.

Results were slow in coming Then, as suddenly as the lake trout had disappeared 30 years before, the pickerel appeared and began biting. Surprisingly, the supply of lake trout has also improved but fishermen, now in the happy position of having a choice of two varieties, have shown a preference for pickerel over lake trout.

Five years may see a big change in your responsibilities. Five years may see a big change in your life insurance needs. For these very reasons, Sun Life of Canada offers its new ADJUSTABLE POLICY, the policy that gives you four options at the end of five years so that you can decide what type of life insurance coverage best suits you at that time.

For example, will you still be insurable? One of the options offers you increased coverage with no further medical evidence . . or . . will you want a larger income for your retirement years? Another option allows you to change your policy to an endowment at age 65 . . or . . will you want to reduce your premium outlay without reducing your protection? Then you can change your policy to a lower premium, whole life policy . . . Or you also have the option of keeping your original policy — which will be fully paid for at age 65 — in effect. This plan may, meet your personal and family insurance needs for a lifetime.

With its four valuable options, Sun Life's Adjustable Policy looks to your future and considers

- your financial circumstances
- your family's protection
- your retirement income
- your insurability

1960 Forest Fire Loss Said Not Nearly as Severe As Predicted During Summer

By ROD CURRIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Now that the smoke has just about settled, it appears the loss from forest fires across Canada in 1960 will not be as severe as predicted during the heat of summer.

The movement of military personnel to battle fires, the evacuation of communities and the closing of forests to fishermen and campers brought widespread publicity during July and August.

But preliminary figures gathered in a cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press indicate most provinces except Prince Edward Island and possibly British Columbia fared better than the average for the previous decade.

The hazard is not quite over, particularly in Manitoba where severe outbreaks have been known as late as October.

B.C. HARD HIT

In British Columbia a forestry spokesman said that whether this year turns out to be the worst on record depends on the kind of weather in the next couple of months. Some fires, mostly in slash areas, were still burning at the beginning of October and already the cost of fire-fighting has hit $4,407,000 compared with $838,079 in the same period last year. The record was $1,542,191 in 1924.

Until damp weather came to B.C. a month ago it seemed the province was headed for its worst fire year in history. There were many blazes in most mainland areas and at one time more than 4,000 men were on the fire line.

On the Atlantic coast, Prince Edward Island had its worst forest fires in history. During a two-week period in September fires blazed in an area west of Summerside, burning much of a 300 - square - mile section of woods, brush and farm land. Dozens of buildings, including several homes, were destroyed, and troops from Camp Gagetown, N.B. moved in to help battle the fires.

A government committee has been set up to assess the damage and cost of fire-fighting but so far no figures have been released.

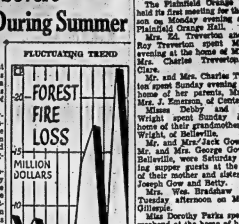
WORSE THAN 1958

Although final reports will not be available for some time on the national forest fire story, it appears 1960 will be generally worse than last year when the 550,000 acres of forested land burned over represented almost one-third of the 10-year average.

However, some provinces, such as Newfoundland and Ontario, got off lightly.

Despite one of the driest and sunniest summers on record, Newfoundland suffered comparatively little in terms of valuable timber. The season's worst fires were on the almost barren south coast when they swept through brush, slash and peat moss and smouldered for weeks.

It was one of the worst seasons in Nova Scotia in numbers of fires but was far short of the record year of 1947 when 2,000 fires burned 44,029 acres of woodland. G. W. Creighton, deputy forests minister, said 40 outbreaks were reported in one day in April, a record for a 24-hour period.



SAVED BY RAIN

Worst outbreak was in the Indian field area of Shelburne County in southwestern Nova Scotia. More than 20 square miles of prime timber and young spruce were burned over before rain came to the rescue.

In New Brunswick a drought in August also created a serious situation and a large area is still dangerously dry. So far, 139 fires —mostly small ones—have been reported. There were more than 700 fires in 1959 causing damage of about $30,000. The record year of 1944 saw 3,467 fires sweep 184,000 acres and cause a loss of $1,432,000.

Two major fires and a series of small ones hit Quebec. The Gaspe Peninsula got the worst of it this year, as it did in 1959. The first major blaze, at Gagnon on the north shore of the lower St. Lawrence in June, burned out some 30 square miles of forest, much of it brush. The other, in Gaspe, covered 100 square miles, mainly spruce. But, one forestry official said, much of the woods burned wasn't "much good anyway."

The year was below average throughout most of Ontario. To date there have been 21,200 acres burned compared with a 10-year average of 97,000. However, it Dollar loss from forest fires in Canada has fluctuated during the last 11 years, rising to peaks in 1958 and 1959 when weather was unusually hot and dry.

Graph shows total property loss and fire-fighting costs from 1949 to 1959. Total last year was $8,-952,974. The 1958 peak of $22,862,-963 was one of the worst on record. Loss in 1956 was $17,521,000.

was higher than last year's record low of 5,211 acres. Worst season in recent years was 1948 when 1,017,360 acres were destroyed.

HAZARD HIGH

The hazard is still high in Manitoba where lightning caused a large number of fires during the summer. To date there have been 313 fires over 270,000 acres but damage in dollars was expected to be light since the flames struck mostly non-productive land.

There have been 225 fires in Saskatchewan compared with 244 last year. Extremely dry conditions exist in southern areas although most of the fires earlier were in the north.

In Alberta, almost 400 fires were reported compared with 410 in 1959. Almost 24,000 acres of woodland were destroyed. Last year 17,877 acres of merchantable timber and 33,377 acres of young growth were burned.

Alberta relies heavily on the services of Bertie the Beaver, a cartoon character, in promoting its campaign for forest safety. More than 6,000 Bertie posters have been posted throughout the province and some 36,000 buttons distributed to youngsters at the Calgary Stampede.

HUMAN CAUSES

Recognizing that almost 90 per cent of forest fires are known to be caused by camp fires and careless smokers and that lumbering, railways and settlers are responsible for another 30 per cent, all provinces have programs aimed at educating the public.

In Ontario television is playing a larger part in its campaign with 60-second spot announcements and 15-minute interview programs on the high-hazard days such as Timmins, Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie.

An extensive educational program called Operation Co-operation and Protection) was inaugurated in Quebec in 1957. "In winter we just visit colleges and convents," said Henri Kieffer, chief of the forest protection service. "When the snow is on the ground people just look at it from the window and talk about forest conservation." For this reason the campaign, to be effective, is carried on chiefly during the period when the hazard is greatest.

AN EDIBLE FISH?

In 1950 Ben McCarthy, Director of Fishing Information of the Nassau Development Board down in the Bahamas, wrote to me, urging that I come with him on an exploring tour of the "out Islands" of the Bahamas. At that time (1950) only 30,000 acres of the 80,000 potentially good fishing waters of that area had been explored and charted. Understandably, I accepted Don's invitation.

The Board had chartered Cruiser Eustance, skippered by Capt. Milton Pierce, number-one fishing skipper of the Nassau Yacht Basin. On board were five men—the skipper, mate, photographer, Don and yours truly.

A great deal of the food we used on that trip came from the sea. But there was one fish that was strictly taboo and which Milton simply would not allow on board—the barracuda. Knowing that many of the boys in Miami cpend their spare time trolling for barracuda off Key Largo, eating all that they happen to catch, naturally I wondered about this prohibition. Milton explained it this way.

"On this side of Big Abaco Island the barracuda are edible. These island people eat all they can catch and they seem to survive all right. But on the other side of the island a barracuda is deadly poison. I don't know why, but that is the way it is. How do we know that the next barracuda we catch hasn't made his way around the end of the island, into these waters? Best play safe."

I chalked the thing up to unfounded local belief of old wives' tales and forgot it. Now comes word from Sport Fishing Institute that Milton wasn't so wrong after all. Dr. Donald P. de Sylva, in his excellent treatise on "The Life History and Systematics of the Great Barracuda" explains in this way.

The barracuda, per se, is not a poisonous fish. His flesh is perfectly edible and many barracuda find their way eventually to the fish markets. However, the big, adult barracuda, which live over the reefs well offshore, often feed on poisonous reef fishes, which in turn have fed on toxic algae and phytoplankton. The flesh of these fish takes no toxic qualities which can, and often do, affect humans quite seriously. From now on, barracuda is not on my diet list.

CAMPERS' AIDS

My old friend, Joe Bates, of spinning fame, has come up with a new and handy wrinkle for the campers. Joe is putting out what he calls his "fat pack" aluminum foil, set up especially for campers and outdoor cookery. This fat pack has two desirable features — the package is flat and can be packed so that it takes up almost no space and the foil itself is extra-heavy, thus lending itself to a multitude of uses around camp under which the lighter foil would fail to stand up.

Joe has put together an interesting little booklet called Outdoor Tips—with Aluminum Foil. Therein you will find instructions on how to make just about every appliance an outdoor cooker will need. All you need is a supply of wire coat hangers, some heavy aluminum foil and a pair of fisherman's pliers. Cups, soup plates, kettles, frying pans and so on are yours for the making. If you wish to have a copy, drop a line to Joe Bates, Jr., Alcoa Building, Pittsburgh, 19, Penna. The fat pack heavy foil is to be had only in sporting goods stores.

BOATING ACCIDENTS

The Outboard Boating Club of America figures that in 1960 more than 29,000,000 people in the United States participated in recreational boating. It is not surprising, people being what they are, that accidents are bound to occur among that many boaters.

The BCA has made a study of the date surrounding all of these accidents. No need here to dwell too much on statistics. One interesting fact stands out, however. Fifty-four per cent of fatal boating accidents —accidents in which people were killed—were the direct result of negligence.

Of course, boating regulations and laws are gradually coming into being, but not by any means keeping pace with the need for such laws and regulations. Just so long as any clown who has sense enough to pull a starter-rope, press a button or turn a switch is permitted to operate a boat on our waters, that long will we continue to have needless boating accidents. It seems to be only common sense that the operator of a power boat of any kind should be required to carry a card which is the equivalent of our driver's license for automobiles.

As I say, people being what they are, such requirements will not eliminate accidents — nor 'gent ones — completely, but it surely should lower the present casualty figures.

Bucs, Friend Sought Series End Today

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

The guy was wacky. He wasn't trying to be funny. He had an amused look on his face when he answered his friend's question.

It was a natural query considering the time of the year. It happened a few minutes before the first game of the 1960 world series was started.

Apparently the questioner had his times fuxed. He asked: "What's the score in the world series?

Without batting an eye this baseball Einstein replied: "American League, 1,257 runs—National League, 1,825 runs. The line score includes 2,502 hits for the American League, 2,586 for the National. The Nationals have bobbbled 399 times, the junior circuit 364 times."

Funny thing is—the guy was right. Three thousand and thirteen innings of baseball have been played in 56 world series beginning in 1903 and extending in unbroken sequence since 1905. There wasn't any in 1904 because the New York Giants of the Nats refused to play the American League champions. "Uncle" John McGraw didn't care for the upstart American loopers who had muscled in on big league territory.

This morning, as on other world series mornings the "post" officionados swerved around the office filbert who makes the pick-up pet o' guid. And if you have any stand-in with the gods who guide the destinies of pool-shakers, you should have murmured a word for guidance to ticket number four.

Don't believe this old baseball cliche about the "lucky seventh." It's as phony as a Khrushchev promise. It is only a reason to say so for winning pools are concerned. The fourth inning is the big one with 312 world series runs against the seventh's 292. The third inning ranks third with 288.

Okay, look at the current series. In the aggregate pools, the ones in which you draw a team and an inning, say, for example, "Yankees 4, three are tied for the last with seven runs each. The Yankees have scored one run in the first and six in the third. They gathered seven runs in a sixth inning. But look at inning number four. In the four games played to date they scored one in the fourth in three games and four in the same inning in the remaining tilt.

The fourth inning has been the most productive for each league individually, too. The Americans have scored 149 times in it, the Nationals 148.

So a fig for "lucky seventh. It comes in handy if you're fooling around with the rent money and those spoil-sprinkled ivory cubes, but in baseball, it's for the birds.

But had you been in Peterborough over the ball, they wouldn't you would not have had to worry over "Number Four." Runs-wise, "one" was the standout.

It seems two of the top-ranking members of the softball pitching fraternity crossed rapiers in as thrilling a pitching series as Errol Perdue's weary sports optics have glimpsed this sunny a moon.

They were the Lakefield Charlieau' "Immortal" Judd and the Sudbury Pexie' "Metro the Magnificent" Search. They battled for the all-Ontario Intermediate "A" championship. Mr. Judd and company won the new-off battle and the loot. The Sudbury team took home $600 pin money. Over 2,000 witnessed the final fray.

Mr. Judd smirched the first game 1-0 in 11 innings. M'sieu Metro took the second bout by the same score in 11 innings. Mr. Judd roared back to wrest the third and final game 1-0 and it took him twelve chapters to close the book.

Mr. Judd struck out 18 batters over the three-game route, M'sieu Metro 56—an average of close to 20 for three consecutive games. That inning call you hear comes from the lair of the local Bobcats.

But you ain't heard nuthin' yet.

Up around Sudbury way this same M'sieu Metro prior to the OASA series, tangled with a fine colored hurler by the name of Booker Thomas.

They met in a playoff for a city league title and marathoned through a 16-inning battle before Thomas got the nod. He struck out 37—count 'em, 37—while his opponent whiffed 25. Booker fanned 20 in the first game of the series, Metro 27.

Someone asked the colored hurler if the 27 strikeouts was his personal record. "There was another time," drawled the big negro, "in Pontiac, Michigan. It was a 21-inning affair. I struck out 53."

In the three league playoffs games played to date Thomas has struck out 84 batters. Grab that contract, Marse Temple!

Ford Started For Yankees

By JACK HIND

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh call-up Terry Up lis first world championship since 1925 today by beating the Chicopratis New York Yankees in the sixth world series game at spacious Forbes Field.

Bob Friend, winner of 18 games in the regular season but a 16-9 loser to the Yanks in the second game, was manager Danny Murtaugh's choice to complete the gallant comeback by the fighting Bucs. Everybody on the staff, except Vern Law, was available for bullpen duty.

Casey Stengel leaned toward Whitey Ford, his experienced lefty, to bail out the Yanks in their backs-to-the-wall situation. Ford pitched a shutout Saturday. Bob Turley relieved him after whipping the Pirates last Thursday, also was pressed into duty along with the rest of the staff.

The Yanks were favored at 4-1 to win the series, although the Yankees were picked at 6-5 to win today's game and force the seventh game tie the same park Thursday.

YANKS TOP BATTERS

The fighting Bucs laughed off the statistics that showed they were batting only .246 as a club to the Yanks' .324 and had hit only one home run to eight by the Yanks. Considering that the Yankee sluggers also had one grand slam homer and their pitching staff had the only complete game, Bob Friend's one hit shutout by Ford—the figure filberts were hard pressed to explain why Pittsburgh held a 2-1 edge in games.

Mickey Mantle, who needed only one more home run to match Babe Ruth's all time series record of 15, was hobbled by a recurrence of the groin injury he suffered in late season. The Mick also was closing in on the series strikeout record of 11 set by Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee in 1958. Mantle has struck out eight times.

The Yanks were not quite as badly off as in 1958 when they came back from a 3-1 deficit and beat the Braves in seven games. Turley won the fifth game then with a shutout. Ford was knocked out in the second inning of the sixth game, won by the Yanks in 10 innings, and Don Larsen and Turley teamed up to win the finale.

OVERCAME DEFICIT

Pittsburgh's last world championship was the result of the only other 3-1 comeback. The Pirates of 35 years ago bounced back all the way to nip Washington in seven games.

When a writer asked Stengel what he thought of Friend, who gave up six hits and trailed 3-1 when he was removed for a pinch hitter in the second game, Casey said, "have you ever seen him pitch in an all-star game? I with they had fired him in the spring. I'll claim him."

Friend was bitterly disappointed when he was taken out of the second game. He thought he could have beaten the Yanks, see then.

MANTLE IN PAIN

Mantle, grimacing from the pain of his injury, said "I woke up with it yesterday morning. I don't know how it happened.

"But it doesn't bother me," he insisted. "I'll play"

"The Yankees were happy to be back home.

"I'll bet you never thought you'd've to come back," chided outfielder Gino Cimoli.

Cimoli was referring to pressure obituaries written about the Pirates after they had suffered humiliating defeats in the second and third games.

"Shucks," he added, "We just wanted to show you guys how we've been doing it all year. This is the greatest comeback club in the history of baseball."

Moss Thrills News Hawks

Moss, hurtled around the 1.9-mile circuit at hair-raising speed, changing from top gear only for the tricky chicane. Most other drivers are up and down through the gears continually on the winding track.

After the session with a blackboard, the ace screamed around the track at high speed with sports editors as reluctant passengers in the MGA-1600, demonstrating high speed, spins and how to recover from them.

"While I do not chase danger," he told his class, "driving a high speed car is a lot more interesting than playing chess."

"You can tour down a straight at 130 miles an hour, but if he goes through at 130 mile - an - hour corner at 121 which you can't take a chance.

"Just putting your foot down and holding it down is one way of making sure you don't last very long."

Yankees Richardson

Ambition, College Coach

By TED SMITH
Associated Press Sports Editor

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees is a most unusual major league baseball player.

He doesn't drink. He doesn't swear. He's tiny (five feet, 7, 170). He loves baseball, but he does not want to become a coach or manager when his playing days are over.

Instead, he wants to coach at a small college so that he can work with boys.

Why?

"I was brought up in the YMCA and I learned a lot of respect for coaches and athletic directors. They know you can have an influence for the glory of God. It's good."

WANT TOO MUCH

Those are not exactly the words anyone expects to hear on a baseball diamond, nor these:

"Baseball is a wonderful game but it doesn't make for a good family life. You need to be away from home too much. It isn't so bad when the children are up to school, but it is very difficult when they do. First there is spring training in Florida. Sometimes there is the necessity for being on the road for half the season."

The problem is still not too big for Richardson. Casey Stengel and his wife live during the summer in Ridgewood, N.J., close to Yankee Stadium, with their two sons, Bobby, 2, and Ron, 2. Their regular and winter home is Sumter, S.C.

Richardson may be small but

TORONTO (CP)—Ron Stewart, the little giant of Ottawa Rough Riders, lacks the size to be a crashing fullback but his great speed and faking has made him the terror of the Ottawa backfield on the Riders' wide plays.

A six-touchdown scoring spree by Ottawa two weeks over Montreal Alouettes in their Thanksgiving weekend doubleheader has put him in second place in the scoring race, only six points behind halfback George Dixon of Montreal Alouettes.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show the 24-year-old Stewart with 84 points on 14 touchdowns, one less than Dixon, who scored one touchdown in both games.

He has a nine-point lead over Cookie Gilchrist of Toronto Argonauts, whose 75-point total in 12 games matches the figure that won him the scoring crown last season. Gilchrist picked up 10 points with four converts and two field goals in the Argos' two games with Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Dave Mann of Argos was tied to one touchdown in two games. Stripped down to scratch on fourth place with 66 points on 10 touchdowns and six singles. He is six points in front of Bill Sweet of Montreal and Gerry McDougall of Hamilton. Dick Shatto of Argos and Gary Schreider of Ottawa are deadlocked for sixth with 54 points.

A three-way battle is going on for the honor of being the top passing quarterback.

League statistics show Tobin Rote of Toronto Argonauts, Sam Etcheverry of Montreal Alouettes and Ron Lancaster of Ottawa Rough Riders sharing the honor so far.

Rote leads in passes attempted and passes completed (208 out of 333), passing yards gained (3,033) and passing touchdowns (28).

The veteran Etcheverry has the best percentage of completions (.621 on 190 out of 306) and Lancaster has the best average passing yardage (9.9).

In the rushing department, quarterback Dan Edelson of Ottawa has piled up 344 yards in 46 carries and Bernie Faloney, the Hamilton Tiger-Cat pivot, has 289 yards in 45 carries.

OTTAWA (CP)—"Anyone could have done it with that blocking." said five-foot-six, 175-pound Ron Stewart, the one-man juke-box of Ottawa Rough Riders.

"All I had to do was follow fellows like Ray Vaughan and Marv Bevan and then out-run the rest."

The old mark of 213 yards was set by Gerry McDougall of Hamilton in 1958; in the west it is 211 yards set by Earl Lunsford of Calgary Sept. 26 this year.

With Stewart carrying 15 times for an average gain of just over 19 yards a carry, Riders beat the old team record with 468 yards rushing — and with an injured shoulder Dave Theien on the sidelines with injured shoulder. Riders old Big Four record, set in 1958 against Toronto, was a mere 445 yards. The western team record is 441 yards, set by Edmonton in 1955.

On the last touchdown, little more than a minute from the end of the game, Riders thought Stewart had scored again but he wanted to make sure.

Quarterback Jack Jackson called Stewart's play in the huddle and added: "And we're going all the way. Let's dig it up for Ronnie."

"We did it up they did, with Vaughan alone throwing three blocks.

"Someone almost got me," Stewart said. "I felt his hands touching my pants but he couldn't get a grip and then I was gone."

"It's lucky that last Alouette was one of their slower linemen and not a back," Stewart added. "I was so tired I think he'd have caught me easily."

Stewart scored six weekend touchdowns to bring his total for rushing for the season to 13, one short of the Big Four mark set by Art Admirant of Montreal in 1956. Stewart is six points behind Montreal's George Dixon as top scorer this season. Dixon has 90 points.

Football fans have been telling Stewart since he first turned out for high school football that he is too small for the game.

Royals Curry Has Troubles

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Floyd Curry of Montreal Royals, who have lost all three of their games in the Eastern Professional Hockey League season, had more bad news Tuesday. Three of his regulars are laid up.

Defenceman Wally Clune, centre Kelly Burnett and highwinger Lully Dennis have an assortment of injuries.

Clune was injured in a car accident last week, suffering lacerations to both knees and contusion of the left knee. He played in Sunday's game here against Sudbury Wolves but was unable to finish. He is a doubtful starter Thursday's game in Sault Ste. Marie.

Burnett, with a chronic heel injury, is also on the doubtful list. Denis has a charleyhorse but there is a chance he may play Thursday.

Curry is hoping to get some replacements in a hurry. His Royals face three games in four days in the Soo Thursday, in Sudbury Friday and back home Sunday afternoon against Kingston.

Dewitt May Remain

Fetzer Tiger President

By JERRY GREEN

DETROIT (AP) — President Bill Dewitt's future with Detroit Tigers—bleak for a week amid reports he'd be given unconditional double today, following exits of the club's controlling interest to a strong - thinking radio executive.

Whatever action is taken on the heavily - criticized Tiger president of one year has been delayed by the surprise transaction that gave John E. Fetzer, chairman of the Detroit Baseball Company, Fetzer, already the principal owner, said he was buying additional stock from a group led by Kenyon Brown of Los Angeles.

A meeting had been scheduled for today and the discharge of Dewitt was widely predicted. It was expected the remaining two years of Dewitt's contract would have been bought up with Tiger owners paying about $500,000 for the release.

MEETING IS OFF

But Fetzer said the meeting is off. Dewitt probably will remain with the Tigers as general manager.

"We'll have to decide about a general manager when we come to it," said Fetzer after he announced the deal that will give him two - thirds of the Tiger stock.

"We didn't have any talk about my taking," Dewitt, a few minutes after Fetzer notified him of the transaction.

Dewitt became president a year ago when Tiger owners felt an experienced baseball man was needed. He later assumed the dual job of president and general manager.

Fetzer said for the time being the Tiger front office alignment would remain as is. Later, Fetzer said, he plans to become president.

HAVE CRITICIZED

Fetzer, along with radio executive Fred Knorr, whose group retains one - third interest, have been critical of Dewitt's rule. They voiced their displeasure after Joe Gordon quit Oct. 3 as manager despite a 1961 contract.

Fetzer, 59-year-old Kalamazoo, Mich., radio executive, was one of the original purchasers of the club when it was bought from the estate of Walter O. Briggs for $3,000,000 in 1956. There have been three club presidents since and Fetzer will be the fourth.

He will be one of his first tasks to sign a new manager, a man who'll be the turbulent Tigers' eighth manager in 10 years. Two of the managers, Jimmie Dykes and Gordon — departed in De- troit's one year of rule.

The Trots

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Su Mac Led, owned by L.-W. Berkemeyer of New Milford, N.J., won the $66,200 Gotham Trot at Yonkers Raceway by three lengths Tuesday night as Hoosier Hanover II and France's Jamin both broke stride. Great Lellwater was second and Senator Frost third.

Su Mac Led, who went off the second choice and returned $7.20, won the 1¼-mile event in 3:01.

SOFTLY TIED

Soft ties for collars and trims and flat tie-belts for lowered waistlines are notable.

SCANDAL SPREADS

LONDON (AP) — Another top British soccer club, Chelsea, has become involved in a spreading bribery scandal. Chelsea's manager, Ted Drake, said Tuesday he was investigating reports that one of his stars offered two Everton players a bribe to let Chelsea beat them in a First Division game last March. Everton won 6-1. Drake told reporters, "I hate all this bribery talk. It is certainly not typical of British soccer and I'm confident the public believes that."

Talent-Heavy Habs Take Over Top

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canucks Close In on West Leaders

WINNIPEG (CP)—A pair of Canadians who never played college football are giving the high-priced imported talent a run for the money in the Western Interprovincial Football Union scoring derby.

They're fullback Gerry James, a graduate of high school leagues in Winnipeg and Toronto now performing with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, and tackle Doug Brown, who came to Calgary Stampeders after six years in intermediate football.

James rolled up 17 points Monday as the Bombers romped over Saskatchewan Roughriders 48-7. The performance gave him 77 points for the season, good enough for second place in the scoring race behind Edmonton Eskimos' Jackie Parker, who has 95.

Meanwhile, Brown, a place-kicking specialist with the Stampeders, counted 15 points on two field goals, seven converts and two singles in two games. He moved into fourth place with 68 points—three fewer than Edmonton fullback Johnny Bright, who is third.

NO BURIALS

WINNIPEG (CP)—When workmen unearthed two tombstones bearing a date in the 1800s while installing a gas line in the suburbs, the owner of the property explained they were merely display stones which a firm had given him for use as flagstones.

What it took Montreal Canadiens nine games to do in the National Hockey League at the start of last season, the Habs have done in four appearances this year.

The talent - laden Canadiens moved into top spot in the standings in New York Tuesday night with a 3-2 win over the Rangers and while the Bruins and Detroit Red Wings tied 3-3 at Boston.

But tonight's schedule tosses the Black Hawks against Toronto Maple Leafs in Chicago and Chicago could grab first place with a win.

HOW THEY STAND

With the schedule a week old, in four games the Canadiens have balanced off two wins with two draws for six points. The Hawks, with a game in hand, have two wins and a tie for five.

The Rangers are a point behind with two wins and two losses for four games followed by the Bruins and Red Wings, three ties and a setback apiece.

WIN GAME HARD

In New York Tuesday night before 14,638 fans, the Habs had the edge in most of the play and shooting New York 36-26, but the win came hard.

Slim centre Phil Goyette's third-period goal was the decider, a clean-in drive at 4:21, assisted by Dickie Moore and defenceman Jean-Guy Talbot.

Moore also fired Montreal's first goal, on a three-man break in the opening period, and held his lead in the individual scoring race with eight points from four goals and four assists.

Hard-shooting Bernie (Boom-Boom) Geoffrion got the other one for the Habs while Andy Hebenton and Andy Bathgate scored for the Rangers.

COME FROM BEHIND

A long-range slap shot that was partially screened produced McKenzie's tally at 6:39. Goalie Don Simmons of Boston, irked by the goal, pounded his stick on the ice and broke it.

Doug Mohns and Bronco Horvath counted second-period goals for the Bruins after Norm Ullman scored for Detroit Boivin picked up Boston's other goal in the opening period.

For Detroit, Hank Bassen replaced Terry Sawchuk as goalie but coach Sid Abel said there was no special significance to the change.

"We're going to carry two guys all year," he said. "I want to give this other guy (Bassen) a chance."

SHIPPING BOOST

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—Shipping tonnage handled by the port of Sarnia up to late in September was nearly double the same period of last year, Harbormaster Whitney Hillmer was hopeful the predicted total of 200 vessels would be exceeded by end of the season.

Sport Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Some time in the next few weeks, someone is going to ask the inevitable question: Where are the National Hockey League color guys, the chaps who fill the arenas simply by lacing on a pair of skates?

The league has a few now, but no sport can afford to lose such flamboyant, crowd-exciting players as Rocket Richard and Test (Scarface) Kennedy in one swoop without people feeling let down by their departure. Who can they taunt or cheer for?

The end of the road came this summer for Scarface and, within weeks, the Rocket. They bowed out amidst great gobs of publicity on one side of bailiffs who have enlivened the big-league scene for many years.

ROUTE PLAYED HARD

Great hockey players, they had to earn their Lumberjeweller in the past couple of seasons. Neither could ever seriously considered as a candidate for the Lady Byng Trophy as the most gentlemanly player in the league although there were chuckles a couple of seasons back when a sports writer, noting the placid behavior of the Rocket, suggested he might qualify.

The two rookies are jammed with the exploits of the Rocket, who now is goodwill ambassador with Atlantic Canadians. Lindsay say, who also owns some records, is living in comfort with Dorothy Howe, his old team-mate with Detroit Red Wings.

They arrived in the NHL about the same time. The Rocket joined Canadiens in the 1942 season and Lindsay made his debut with the Red Wings two years later. Lindsay was a step behind the Rocket for the title as the most colorful player during the big time, but the crowds always knew when he was around.

He was a snarling, richly-talented left winger for the Red Wings until he was traded to Chicago Black Hawks at the start of the 1957-58 season. Only five-feet-eight and 160 pounds, he battled on the ice with his own team - mates and opposing players, and off the ice with fans, referees, his own employer, general manager Jack Adams of the Wings, and even team owners.

"A little guy's got to be cocky," he once said. "The first thing they find out in this business is if you can take it. I had the idea that I should beat up every player I tangled with, and I'm still not convinced it wasn't a good idea." he told a reporter two years ago.

He has lost some battles, including seven fights in regular season games. Cesare Campbell and the team physician who proved to be his toughest opponents.

It started in February, 1957, when Lindsay was traded to Chicago by the Wings. They fought the union and it gradually petered out.

Lindsay was traded to Chicago after a blow-up with Adams, and Scarface, who never backed out of a fight, refused to get into what he termed a "game-calling exchange" with his employer.

"I'm not sore at Adams. I play a man like that," he said.

At least he had the last word.

Toronto Losing Out

National League Expands

By JOE RICHLER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The National League has taken the first concrete step toward expansion by virtually assuring Houston of a franchise for 1962.

The American League is expected to keep pace with its older rival by granting a franchise to Dallas-Ft. Worth in the near future.

Formal action on the Houston application, made Tuesday night by the Houston Sports Association is scheduled for next Monday in Chicago.

The American League has set no definite meeting date.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, said action also will be taken on applications for New York and "other cities." He declined to identify them.

OPPOSITE ENDS

With their ninth teams virtually announced for, the two leagues were looking at opposite ends of the country for their 10th teams—the National seeking a return to New York, and the American hoping to move into Los Angeles.

A majority of American League club owners insist they must have a share of the lush Los Angeles area. They favor a multi-ownership in Walter O'Malley, who Friday has stated his opposition to an American League invasion of Los Angeles, at least until Chavez Ravine, his "dream" stadium, is completed. Construction lags, continually stymied and revised, now call for completion in 1962, at the earliest.

New York, Minneapolis - St. Paul, Houston and Dallas-Ft. Worth were among the five Continental League cities given most consideration at the August meeting when the majors agreed to absorb four of its franchises. Toronto, the other, appears to be losing out since no concrete plans for a stadium are apparent.

Canucks Get Larry Popein

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League landed a prize catch Tuesday night in the person of centre Larry Popein from New York Rangers of the National League.

Ti-Cats Sign Ken Kilrea

HAMILTON (CP) — Ken Kilrea, 22-year-old halfback from the University of South Carolina, has been signed by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four football league.

An all - American as a sophomore at the college, he was selected from the varsity after two games this year for training violations. Both Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four and Winnipeg of the Western Interprovincial Football Union were interested in Kilrea.

He is the son of former hockey star Kenny Kilrea of Ottawa, and is a native of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Raiders Win Over London

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Port Huron - Detroit Raiders Tuesday night hammered their way to a 22-18 victory over London Lords and a second-place tie in the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Raiders have won four games and lost three, giving them a 10-point score after adjusting for their eight-game schedule. Lords, who play a 14-game schedule, have a 9 record.

Sarnia, also playing 10 games, has won three of their eight matches.

Raiders clinched their win when fullback Howard Neely went over from two yards out at 12:36 of the final quarter.

Up till then Lords appeared set for a win. Linebacker Bill Bennett started the victory march when he fielded a pass from Terry Tompkins on the Lords' 40. Neely went over six plays later.

A crowd of 9,000, largest this season, saw the game. Raiders netted 272 yards compared to 9 by Lords.

May Fight In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A title fight between Archie Moore, the world light-heavyweight champion, and Germany's Erich Schoppner may be arranged for a February date at Miami.

Andy Hedererriter, Schoppner's American representative, said Tuesday: "I'm very much convinced that an honest effort now is being made by Feature Sports Incorporated to arrange this fight. And the fight is what we want."

Jack Fuqay, executive director of Feature Sports, the promoting organization, said "we are now making every effort to set up the title fight."

Sent down to the minors were pitchers Curt Simmons, Bob Duliba and Ed Bauta and outfielder Bernard Wells. They were assigned to Rochester, but eventually are to go to Milwaukee if the Cards' switch is working agreements between the two leagues becomes final.

Expect New N.W.T. Highway Will Carry Record Number Sport Anglers Next Year

By JIM WHELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—The more than a dozen outfitters in the Northwest Territories are expecting the biggest influx of sport fishermen ever next season. They will be guiding anglers to waters teeming with lake trout, great northern pike, pickerel, Arctic char and Arctic grayling.

One reason is the newly-completed all-weather highway to Yellowknife which makes it possible to drive into the heart of one of the best sport fishing areas in North America. The driving distance from Edmonton to Yellowknife is 1,000 miles.

Yellowknife, on the north shore of Great Slave Lake, is the focal point for most anglers who go "Outside." The lake is 325 miles long and up to 150 miles wide. Some parts are more than 300 feet deep.

The gravel-surfaced Mackenzie highway meets the Great Slave at the mouth of the Hay River. Here the settlement of Hay River is the base of several trout fisheries which annually export many millions of pounds of fresh fish to the U.S.

The next settlement is Fort Providence at the extreme west end of the lake where it drains into the Mackenzie River system. This area is frequented by the locusts, the myriads of fish discovered by French-Canadian voyageurs. They called them "poisson d'avril" and the Eskimos call it a "rice fish." So few are taken that it is rarely marketed.

Characterized by a long, narrow head, the locusts sometimes 30 inches in length and can weigh more than 20 pounds. It feeds on smaller fish, making it susceptible to a long silver lure.

The best bet for Great Slave fisheries which annually export many millions of pounds of fresh fish to the U.S.

Characterized by a long, narrow head, the locusts sometimes 30 inches in length and can weigh more than 20 pounds. It feeds on smaller fish, making it susceptible to a long silver lure.

The best bet for Great Slave is Highway 1 the modern pioneer highway to Yellowknife. This is a jumping-off point for fishermen, who can rent a boat to reach most parts of the lake or charter a small aircraft to reach any of the many small lakes and streams to the north and east.

The island - studded eastern arm of the Great Slave is ideal for camping, affording havens never before visited by white men and rewarding the angler with silver and lake trout weighing up to 50 pounds. Their color is an adaptation to the rocky bottom, ranging from the grey rock bottom. Trout from the shallow bays are often almost black along their backbone, deep brown along their sides and up to 30 pounds of pure flight.

Snowdrift, an Indian village on the southeastern shore of the Great Slave, is near the lower rapids of the Snowdrift River. Here the fishermen always give thanks before the fish. Carrying soap at almost every fly that's cast and a lure will raise the big trout. The black gnat dry fly tempts grayling averaging close to 2 pounds and the trout are often over 20.

Planes can be chartered at Hay River, Yellowknife and Fort Smith and the rates are $1.05 a airmile for a 14-passenger Otter, 77 cents a mile for a six-passenger Beaver and 50 cents a mile for a four-passenger Cessna 180.

Fishermen who haven't time for the 1,500-mile drive north over the Mackenzie Highway can reach the Territories by airplane from Edmonton in three to five hours, depending on their destination. There are daily scheduled flights from Edmonton to Yellowknife and Fort Smith and less frequent flights to Hay River.

Among the new lodges opened this year in the Territories are the Ila Lodge on Cabana fishing camp on Scheffer Lake, 20 miles northeast of Fort Smith, and the Bear Rock camp, fitted with a total accommodation for 24, second lodge opened this year at Talthelei Narrows on the north shore of Great Slave. No fishermen's tent camps operate at Wrigley Harbor. A six-man tent camp also will be available at Yellowknife next year and cabin rentals have been operating there for some time.

World Series Marks Nudged By Yankees

PITTSBURGH (AP)—New York Yankees are closing in on some world series records for individual performances.

Going into the sixth game, Bobby Richardson had nine runs batted in. The record for a series of any length is 10 set by Yogi Berra in 1956 and equalled by Ted Kluszewski of Chicago last year.

Tony Kubek has five hits. The record is 12, shared by four men. Mickey Mantle has eight strikeouts, three short of the record; seven walks, four short of Babe Ruth's record; and 14 homers, only one behind the Babe's all-time high.

Aces Shade Providence 6-5

QUEBEC (CP) — Providence Reds met strong resistance from Quebec Aces Tuesday night and bowed 6-5 in overtime before a crowd of 4,971.

Having whipped the Aces 8-2 Sunday in Providence, Phil Watson's squad sought a second straight win over last season's American Hockey League cellar-dwellers.

After overcoming an early third period 3-2 deficit, Reds saw the Quebecers tally twice during a major penalty for Terry Sawchuk at 13:21 to tie the count at 5-5 and send overtime.

Six minutes and 15 seconds had elapsed in the overtime period when centre Jackie Leclair blasted a 15-foot shot past Reds' goalie Sawchuk.

Veteran Danny Lewicki, making his first home ice appearance with Providence, also assisted and played outstanding hockey.

Swing Sticks, Draw Fines

Ubriaco and Blair engaged in a stick - swinging duel Sunday afternoon in the Sudbury Forum where the Wolves defeated the Royals 5-3. Referee Lorne Doucett little assessed major and match misconduct penalties to both.

Donald O'Connor Delights With Splendid Dancing Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — After an evening such as Tuesday night, it is obvious that there is nothing the matter with television that imagination, thought and hard work can't cure.

First there was the season's first Hall Reports, a documentary about the extensive development of the Navy's Polaris missile, invested expertly to be fired by a submerged atom-powered submarine.

About an hour later, NBC gave us the Donald O'Connor Show, a gay program of pure entertainment — great dancing, pleasant songs, good humor and handsome backgrounds. O'Connor, who turns up on television as rarely as Fred Astaire, is a man of many talents and the greatest of these is dancing. Mitzi Gaynor, his pretty co - star, contributed her dancing and singing abilities and it was a delightful team.

Old TV series ideas never die, they just change stars and locations. For instance, ABC now has on the planning board a series called The New Breed, concerned with the activities of the Metropolitan Squad of the Los Angeles police department. Remember NBC's M Squad? That was about the activities of the metropolitan squad of the Chicago police force.

At this period of preoccupation with political matters, CBS will present the time of its Sunday Face the Nation for an hour's special showing the 1961 models turns up on television as rarely as while, NBC's Meet the Press, at the same time (6 p.m. EST) will interview presidential candidates John Kennedy,

YOU, TOO, WILL SAY IT'S WONDERFUL! . .

Astrological Forecast

Thursday, October 13

General tendencies: This is a comparatively unimportant day, but you can get all of the details of your own especial talents in good order and can also think out better ways to handle any emotional problem you have with anyone else. Just so you do not become over - emotional yourself, all can be fine. Get out, snoop and do marketing.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Since you have so many duties you must perform in connection with close ties and home, it is best to get them out of the way now when you are not so pressed at business or social affairs, and you can be calm and cool.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — The ideal day to delve into favorite magazines or other printed media for the information you need. Plan a more successful and modern future — not one too much in the past. P. M. get really to know your neighbors. Have fun.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Any financial matters can be worked out most wisely today, and your will then know just what to do to make the future brighter and more happy. P. M. set up a more sensible budget which you can follow with ease and be a help in saving.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — During A. M. you will be able to think out better ways of improving your financial and personal situations, as well as your health. Also, cement better relations with those personal with, whom you are congenial. Be generous.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — You want to get greater support and loyalty from higher - ups, it is important you change your attitude somewhat and be more kind. Begin a real up - trend. Don't forget that there is tremendous power and charm in a lovely smile.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — You can accomplish a very great deal today if you are steady in your aims and have methodically instead of dashing off hither and yon, dabbling with this one and that one. Make your plans early and carry through with them.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — You may find that close allies appear to be cool and offish today, but this has nothing to do with you — they are busy and troubled. Await a better day to discuss any important matters.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Here are worries now as to your love vacation with those who have control over your welfare. It would be well to stop and think of promises made and then to follow through with them diligently. Cement better relations.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — This is one of those peculiar days when you want to run away to some new place and sever connections with good friends. Get hold of yourself and keep busily occupied at civic or business duties instead. Don't be so emotional.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — It is imperative that you be prepared both financially and statistically when situations arise today so that you can win out when dealing with others. Also, be sure you follow through with any obligations, work you promised to do.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Associates are watching you carefully to see how efficiently you perform your part of an agreement made, so be sure you are thorough and precise. P. M. any inconventionalities will be really unfortunate. Be poised, calm.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — This can be a happy and productive day for you if you concentrate upon your duties and loyal friends instead of believing that others can do your work for you or that you should run out on a spree of some sort, or take a trip.

If your child is born today he or she will be one of those fascinating youngsters who will live too much in the world of emotions and imagination, that the artistic, creative talents are quite remarkable. So, teach your child how to be more practical and also give him the finest formal education you can afford. An excellent horoscope for any profession that places your prospect in the eyes of the public to a great extent.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS
IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats ... actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, soap-flowing mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your whole liver bile helps break down these fats ... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills* contains formula of vegetable ingredients recognized for their irregularity-fighting and stimulating effect. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

So when you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need a laxative, Reserve Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Brothers Bury Slaying Victim, Accused Charged

TIMMINS (CP)—The body of Ray Cheolner, 26-year-old victim of a brutal knife attack, was carried to its grave Tuesday by the six brothers he had looked after since she was 11 years old.

Today Mrs. Owen Cheolner of Fenner, 23 — year - old itinerant miner from Halifax, will be arraigned in magistrate's court on a charge of murder in last week's slaying.

Fenner is also charged with offering an indignity to a dead body in the death of model Cathleen Eaton, 21, of Toronto and New Glasgow. Miss Eaton's body partly decomposed, was found last week on a river bank near Fredericton.

Ray, eldest of nine children, raised her brothers and two sisters almost without help after her father died and her mother remarried and left the family 13 years ago.

WORKED AS MAID

For the last three years she had worked as a maid for a Timmins surgeon and was known as a wide-awake, pretty girl with a distilled men. She disappeared after her going out with a man she had met once before.

Saturday police found her body slashed and battered in a quiet birch grove near a remote bush road. Here her necklace was torn. She had been struck on the back of the head and stabbed eight times. There was no evidence of sexual assault.

Mrs. William Kilo, Kay's partner at First United Church, confirmed Ray's identity at the morgue. He said he had talked to her many times and she "received communion regularly."

Ray was a woman entering the full-time life of a nun, but a victim of such depravity," he said. In his sermon Sunday night his our affluent society which is still unable to provide adequate psychologists and ministers to attend the needs of the population.

The police are carried from Mount Joy United Church by Rev. Ralph Kay, Rev. Ernest Timmins; Phillip, 25 and Fred, 24, Timmins; Armand, 16, North Bay, and Joseph, 18, Sturgeon Falls. They were followed by Mayor Victor Rossi and Isobel, 15, also of North Bay.

Mrs. Cheolner recorded her sorrow.

Arnold said before the funeral. "I hope I never meet her killer for get him in my hands for an all-fetchitest way. As far back as I can remember, she's looked after us anything and was the cause of Kay."

Coroner Gordon Beacock of Timmins Police said Feener will be surrounded by counsel at four weeks when he appears today to allow the Crown "to prepare its evidence and call witnesses."

In Kirkland Lake, 76 miles south of here where Feener was arrested Friday on charges of traffic conviction, police said they would question Feener on the disappearance of a girl of Kirkland Lake aged waitress Dolly Woods who disappeared after a date.

When arrested, Feener was driving the distinctive red sports car that belonged to Miss Eaton. She was driving it when she left Fredericton to visit her New Glasgow home.

CONFESSES

Police examining the car found clothing, skin, blood-stained articles and signed statements, including snaps of Miss Chelsea Eaton. Miss Eaton's body partly clothed and child. Police said there is no significance in the photographs.

Police found a pair of blood - stained cut, plus a hunting knife, Feener's clothes and a blood shirt found near Kay's body, which police have given to the RCMP crime laboratory at Ottawa.

Police still are searching for Feener's wife who has not come forward since his arrest last week. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Feener, live in Halifax.

Nixon's Quemoy Policy Is Called "Trigger-Happy"

Kennedy Fears Stand Might Lead to A-War

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator Kennedy says Vice - President Nixon's position on the islands of Quemoy and Matsu mean he would give the United States "trigger - happy leadership" at a precise moment that might lead to nuclear war.

The Democratic presidential nominee said in a speech Wednesday night that such a conflict would be "the wrong war at the wrong place at the wrong time."

If elected president, he said, "I intend to see that not a single American dies on these islands."

Kennedy made his speech on the Quemoy-Matsu dispute at a Democratic fund-raising dinner here. His staff worked all day to get it into shape.

HINTS PRESS

They obviously felt that the controversy with the vice-president over the question, which has been raging ever since last Friday's television - radio debate, could provide a chance of seizing the initiative on the peace issue.

Kennedy made his speech on the Quemoy-Matsu dispute as a Democratic fund-raising dinner here. His staff worked all day to get it into shape.

HINTS PRESS

They obviously felt that the controversy with the vice-president over the question, which has been raging ever since last Friday's television - radio debate, could provide a chance of seize the initiative on the peace issue.

It seemed unlikely this had ballooned into the major fight of the campaign to date, with the two candidates for the highest office in the state as well as who can best be defended as master of foreign policy. Kennedy says they should not be.

STAND BY PLEDGE

Kennedy said that:

1. As president he would stand fully by the U.S. pledge to defend Formosa and the offshore islands.

2. Quemoy and Matsu, lying within easy bombardment distance of the China coast, are not essential to the defense of Formosa. President Eisenhower and other military and civilian leaders have concurred in this view.

3. The U.S. surrender on the Tachen Islands, also close to the China coast, and Soviet pressure voiced very protest on principle.

4. Drawing the U.S. defence line in the Quemoy-Matsu area would be a "disastrous mistake" that would put the United States in the position of asking Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, the Nationalist leader, and the Chinese Communists decide whether American troops shall fight on the islands.

5. Nixon is alone in his view that the islands must be defended, as far as U.S. leaders have indicated. Any attempt to defend them would be without the aid of its allies if it decided to defend them.

Ride in Miniature Man-in-Space Cabin

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Three mice named Sally, Amos and Moe rocketed 700 miles into space today and the Atlas nose cone they rode in was recovered from the south Atlantic, 5,000 miles away. It was not known immediately whether the mice survived.

The air force announced the Atlas successfully delivered the 10-foot cone to its predetermined area north of Ascension Island. The announcement said the ocean-range vessel Coastal Crusader flished the cone from the sea.

It reported "the condition of the three mice will be determined until a representative of the air force ballistic missile division and of the school of aviation medicine opens the life cell, which contains a shored oxygen system." The representatives were aboard the recovery ship.

The black mice made the miniature ride in a man-size capsule in a mock-in-space cabin. The experiment, which took the small travelers into the dangerous Van Allen radiation belt at speeds up to 18,000 miles an hour, was another step toward manned space travel.

OTHER STUDIES

The 12-foot tall cone also carried a group of radiation-study instruments.

The Atlas roared away from this test center at 11:35 a.m. The cone plunked on target 25 minutes later and within 20 minutes was sighted by the Coastal Crusader, a recovery ship on the Atlantic missile range. At the same time two air force aircraft picked up radio signals from the cone.

The ship pulled alongside the cone at 6:32 a.m. Skindivers attached cables to the heavy package, which was kept afloat by a balloon-like device that popped out of the cone and inflated. The delicate job of boarding the cone aboard was completed at 6:40 a.m. The cone was reported in good condition.

The air force emphasized the main purposes of the flight were to test the new cone and general performance of the missile. The mice and other experiments were placed aboard because there was extra room in the area of the cone which the missile would be occupied by a nuclear warhead.

This was the last test for the cone, designated RVX-2A. The previous one said after carrying Val Atlas flights because of failure of recovery gear.

AIRTIGHT CHAMBER

The 12-weeks-old mice, two females and a male, rode in separate compartments in a birch long, six-inch-diameter cylinder which was airtight. The cell is filled with oxygen containers and enclosed except to simulate the earth-like environment which may be necessary for manned space travel.

Strapped to Atlas was an instrument package weighing one fourth of an ounce. This was to radio information on heart beat, respiration and other reactions throughout most of the flight—during 10 minutes of which the mice were to be in a weightless state. It may take several days to analyze this data.

Says Spy Flights Step Beyond Brink of War

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Soviet Premier Khrushchev today denounced U.S. spy plane flights as actually a step beyond the brink of war. He demanded a U.S. apology before the General Assembly.

Khrushchev, demanding an apology for incidents such as the U-2 spy plane flight of last May, said if the U.S. government "will not wish to show good will and will not condemn the practice of sending its spy planes to the Soviet Union and their countries, the United Nations should in all strictness condemn such aggressive actions on the part of one of the biggest powers against other countries."

"Such a policy of the U.S.A.," said Khrushchev, "should be condemned and stopped so that such provocative incidents would not lead the world to the brink of war. The American aggressive flights are actually a step beyond this brink."

Bomarc-B Now in Production Canada to Get Them in 1961

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Bomarc-B anti-aircraft missile has progressed from the testing stage to full production, the U.S. Air Force announced Wednesday.

It said the Bomarc's Seattle production plant has been given the go-ahead for "quantity production" after requesting improvements "already incorporated in the design and production of additional missiles to come."

Without giving details, the air force said it expects to take delivery of quantities of the Bomarc-B "soon." This likely will mean that Canada will get her two squadrons of the missile on target—in 1961.

Early prototypes of the Bomarc-B came under sharp Congressional attack when the missile failed a series of test flights. It finally made a successful flight last April. The department has a range of 600 miles and can fly at an altitude of more than 65,000 feet.

In Seattle Senator Henry M. Jackson, (Dem.-Wash.) said the air force announcement means the $294,000,000 voted by Congress last session can now be released. He said about $244,000,000 of the amount will be for production and also the remainder for research and development.

Jackson estimated the Bomarc-B production lines would be kept busy for about two years.

Seattle sources said it was believed the present funding would provide missiles at four Bomarc-B bases, two of them in Canada.

U.S. Adventurer, 12 Cubans Face Castro's Firing Squads

HAVANA (AP) — A young American adventurer and 12 Cubans were executed today for plotting to overthrow Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Anthony Zarba of Somerville, Mass., was before a firing squad in Santiago with eleven Cuban companions, Havana radio stations reported. Five other Cubans were executed in Santa Clara.

Zarba and his companions had been convicted only hours before by a revolutionary military court of having a "counter-revolutionary" plot to set up a guerrilla front in Cuba.

The eight prisoners were led before four different firing squads in the Santa Clara area at 1 a.m. EDT, the reports of the first rifles cracked through the Santa Clara valley stage at 4:30 a.m.

Havana radio stations said another firing squad in the provincial capital of Santa Clara, in central Cuba, executed five insurgents captured in the Escambray Mountains. Two were reported to have been rebel leaders.

Radio Voz is Havana said the firing squads were composed of militiamen. The city executed at Santa Clara military headquarters said he had no immediate information on executions there, but that the government-controlled stations usually are well informed.

The U.S. Embassy had appealed to Castro's government Wednesday night for a stay of execution.

A five-man military tribunal sentenced Zarba and his seven companions to death after convicting them of landing with a 27-man group on the northeast coast of Oriente province last week.

The execution site for Zarba and his companions was a firing range in San Juan Valley, in the shadow of San Juan Hill where Theodore Roosevelt and his Rough Riders made their historic charge.

Another American, Richard Proccaro of Staten Island, N.Y., was executed among 167 defendants in the Santa Clara mass trial Wednesday. Sentences ranged from 20 to 30 years. The military tribunal sentenced two women in that trial to 15 years.

The 174 defendants in Santa Clara were charged with a weekend roundup of guerrillas operating against Castro's forces in the Escambray Mountains of south-central Cuba.

The Washington Organization and women attempted to organize a counter-revolution against Castro's regime, Havana radio stations said Wednesday night.

There were also reports that the embargo might include all trade, including the export food and medical supplies.

MICKEY FEENER TAKEN THROUGH JEERING CROWD

Murder Suspect Shakes His Fist

TRENTON (CP)—Wearing cowboy boots, a striped shirt and a slight smile, cocky Owen (Mickey) Feener was guided by three police officers through a hostile crowd to court Wednesday and driven to the district jail.

The 23 - year - old former gold miner and laborer from Halifax had just been remanded to Oct. 26 on a charge of murder in the slaying of redhead Kay Chouinor, 26, last week.

Leaving the town hall for the 150-mile trip to the jail at Millbrook, Feener shook his manacled fist at the crowd that had swelled during the brief hearing.

Feener went into court, filled to its last-seat capacity, wearing a three - day growth of blond beard and moustache, his shirt open almost to his waist and his trousers tucked into his boots.

'YOU STINKER'

As he left, Rod Chouinor, 20, one of his victim's six brothers, broke through the crowd screaming: "Feener, you stinker, what did you do to my sister?"

Miss Chouinor's battered and stabbed body was found beside wear a remote bush road. She had been struck on the back of the head by a blunt instrument.

Feener also is charged with offering indignity to a human body in the death of Catharine Easers, 19, found in a ditch at Wellington and New Glasgow, N.S. Her body was found on a rural bank near Fredericton last week.

Miss Chouinor, eldest of nine children, had raised her own brothers and two sisters almost without help since her father died and her mother married and left the family 15 years ago.

Even as her funeral was taking place on Tuesday, and as Feener was taken to court Wednesday he returned to the R.C.M.P. police circulated through the town with pictures of the accused man.

STOP GIRLS

Everywhere they stopped girls on the street and asked:

"Do you know this man?"

Police have re-opened their investigation into the case of a teen-aged waitress, Dolly Woods, who vanished from Trenton over a year ago. Feener was known to be in Kirkland Lake at the time.

Meanwhile, in Toronto, police arrested their files and said that Feener was not connected with the 1959 killing of Elizabeth Kirby in High Park.

However, they did locate Feener's wife living in Toronto with their child. She asked that her whereabouts be kept secret because she is "living a new life."

The Feeners were married four years ago.

U.S. Accepts Full Assembly Debate About Colonies

Hand Extended to Him Asserts Pleased Mr. K.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The United States agreed today to full UN assembly discussion of a Soviet proposal for freedom for all colonial territories. This assured its overwhelming approval.

Delegate Francis O. Wilcox announced the U.S. stand to the assembly after one of the Soviet Union's closest supporters in Africa, the president of Guinea, chided the Communists for their obstructionism Wednesday night which broke up a UN session in wild disorder.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, whose shoe-waving demonstration played a large part in Wednesday night's turmoil, joined in the applause for the American announcement.

Khrushchev quickly took the floor to praise the right course and expressed pleasure at the U.S. decision. But he accused the United States of trying to "wiggle its way out" of the colonial question, and pledged later to water the resolution down into something innocuous.

NEED RAIN-WASHING

Khrushchev, cooling off the cuff, resumed a denunciation of "colonialists." He suggested they needed "good rain-washing" from society to change their attitudes.

"If we, gentlemen, could have another debate on the question of disarmament, we could show what might have been accomplished."

The United States has led a fight for assembly endorsement defeating a Soviet attempt to have discussion on disarmament into full assembly debate instead of deliberations by a 9 - nation committee.

Khrushchev indicated that the United States, by its acceptance of the colonial question, had extended a hand to him.

"I accept this hand, I shake it, I clasp it," Khrushchev said.

DEMONSTRATION BROKE UP

The session began with a spontaneous tribute to President Frederick H. Boland, who abruptly and angrily ended the session Wednesday night after Communists registered another show of strength against Western and neutral delegates.

A wave of applause swept the assembly hall as the assembly president mounted the rostrum to open the session. It was interrupted Wednesday night amid the wildest scenes in the world body's history.

The session broke up in disorder after a series of interruptions, highlighted by Khrushchev pounding his shoe on his desk.

Soviet premier was laughing and grinning as he pounded his desk when Boland appeared. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko followed the premier's lead in grinning.

Boland used a new gavel borrowed from the Security Council to open the day's session. He frowned a few seconds later when he had to bring the tumultuous session to an adjournment.

The chaos raised some doubts whether Khrushchev would fly home to Moscow tonight, but the Soviet premier announced he has not changed his plans. He said he would speak once more before the assembly before leaving.

He may depart before the assembly comes to grips with one of his favorite topics—a charge that the United States conducted aggression with spy flights over the Soviet Union. The assembly debate often flows to a boiling his resolution on such flights for study.

DAY OF DELAYS

The assembly was delayed Wednesday by:

1. Three Khrushchev tries to the rostrum during one of which he called Senator Thomas Dodd, long, a Pallipine delegate, "this Dodd" and "this joker" and "stooge" or "boot licker."

2. Khrushchev's fury that ex- plodded when Sumolong, speaking on the question of colonialism, said the Soviet Union should be expanded to include nations of Eastern Europe which have been deprived of their freedom by the Russians.

3. Repeated and stormy interruptions by Romanian delegate Roland Michelmore and Khrushchev on what they called points of order. Time after time the pair accuse assembly president Frederick Boland of the Republic of Ireland of partiality toward the West in his rulings.

4. Khrushchev's tantrum when Boland, beset-and glaring, banged down on him till it thing while suddenly sqlouring the Soviet premier out of the scene we have just witnessed."

For an instant, the hundreds of delegates in the hall fell silent. Then wild applause for Boland echoed through the hall.

PROCEDURAL QUESTION

All of this arose out of a procedural question—whether to put the Soviet call for a declaration against colonialism on the list for the assembly or whether to consider it first in the political committee, the usual UN procedure.

Khrushchev battled to get it before the assembly first. For the first time in this assembly session, it appeared that he was about to have his way. It was reported that even the United States and Britain were prepared to go along with the majority.

Michmore's last interjection before Boland cut off the session, came after U.S. delegate Francis Wilcox said:

"Everyone here in this assembly hall is fully aware of the undisputed fact that there are a number of states in Eastern Europe which do not have complete independence."

At that point the Romanian took the rostrum on a point of order and addressed Wilcox, saying he began a remark about Ireland. Boland threw the switch on the public address system to cut off the sound and began smiling with the rest.

There was complete pandemonium. Finally, Boland's voice, usually cool and measured but cracking now, said the session, the most tumultuous in his history, was adjourned.

SAME REASONING

Mezincescu later told reporters:

"All I wanted to say was that I with the Irish people would enjoy liberties and freedoms that Romanians and other people in the socialist states enjoy."

He said Boland, in his rulings, had suppressed a Congolese delegate, "supported colonialists, and allowed others to scorn representatives of other member states."

Informed sources said later Boland will announce because the cause of his demeanor and this incidents regarding the partiality of the chair."

The Brazilian spokesman said, however, he figured Boland feared the situation was getting completely out of hand and the scene in general could have serious consequences for the UN."

CRACKS AT U.S., U.K.

In his first trip to the rostrum, Khrushchev read a prepared speech.

He took some cracks at the treatment of Negroes in the United States and accused Britain of sending troops and arms, instead of "bread, medicine and teachers," to the colonial regions. Then he said:

"If the United Nations fails to adopt the proposals . . . the peoples of the colonial countries will have no alternative but to take to arms." He said Russia will help them.

Later Khrushchev yelled at Boland:

"We live on earth, not by the grace of God and by your grace, but by the strength of our Soviet people . . . You will not be able to strangle the voice of the people. Down with colonialism! The sooner we bury it, and the deeper the better."

Ambassador Mongi Slim of Tunisia said the Communists' performance was "a scandal." He deplored any questioning of Boland's impartiality.

TALKS ON SOUTH AFRICA

Otherwise, in the assembly:

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold said the South African government has again invited him to a conference, in January, on its policy of racial segregation.

Raging Marsh Fire Halted In Its March on Northport

A raging marsh fire, roaring across the county from between Big Island and the Prince Edward County mainland, threatened homes and saltcream buildings of Northport Wednesday afternoon.

District farmers, working with plows and grading equipment from the Dept. of Highways stopped the flames half a mile from the village. The damage was done.

The marsh fire, visible for miles in the Bay of Quinte area, as towering columns of black smoke, was started by arsonists into the air, is believed to have started near the causeway connecting Big Island.

Fanned by a stiff breeze, the blaze raced across the dried grass and cat tails toward the village of Northport three miles to the east.

South Rhodesia Calls Out White Volunteer Force

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuter)—Southern Rhodesian authorities today issued urgent calls for white volunteers to reinforce the special volunteer force in the wake of bloody racial disturbances.

A government spokesman said Prime Minister Sir Edgar Whitehead probably would explain the reason for the call-up for a broadcast tonight.

The extent of the call-up was not immediately known but police defence officials were all in conference.

The call-up came 48 hours after the publication of the Monckton commission report drew bitter criticism from white settlers in this British colony in Africa.

The commission, headed by Lord Monckton and appointed by the British government to make recommendations on the future of the Rhodesian federation, recommended that its three constituent territories should have the right to secede.

The African nationalists in Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland are opposed to the federation because they fear domination by white settlers in Southern Rhodesia.

Swedish Foreign Minister Osten Unden backed Hammarskjold's handling of the events in the Congo.

Mahmadou Aw, chief of the Mali delegation, urged the assembly to demand an immediate cessefire in Algeria. "This filthy situation must be cleaned up," he said.

Sir Claude Corea of Ceylon called for more powers for the secretary-general to work out some talks on disarmament in the "committee of 10" or anywhere else.

Robert Menzies, prime minister of Australia, conferred for an hour with Khrushchev. He said Khrushchev now considers a ban on nuclear tests is of diminishing importance because of the huge stockpile of nuclear weapons already in existence.

Driver Examination Centre For Quinte Area Officially Opened by Hon. J. Yaremko

A most important step towards the achievement of safer highway driving through better qualified drivers was taken in this area yesterday with the opening of the Ontario Department of Transport's driver examination centre at 73 St. Paul Street, yesterday afternoon by the Hon. John Yaremko, Minister of Transport.

During his opening remarks the minister stated that this centre was but one of a series which are being opened across the province to provide the citizens of Ontario with the proper facilities to determine whether a new driver is adequately prepared to operate a motor vehicle safely. The centre will also serve as a point for re-examination of drivers, who have lost their operator's permits through the demerit point system, he added.

Vehicle transportation should be a boon not a blood bath, Mr. Yaremko commented and pointed out that the main purpose of this new system of examining drivers was to check out the individual's awareness of the many other facets requisite to good and safe driving habits apart from the mere operation of a motor vehicle.

Citing the fact that there are currently some 2,000,000 vehicles and close to 2,250,000 drivers in Ontario, the minister said that although the annual accident rate is holding its own despite vehicular and driver increases, the aim of his department is to decrease this rate.

Fresh from an Ontario cabinet meeting earlier in the afternoon, Mr. Yaremko announced that the Department of Transport and Education had just agreed upon the introduction of a driver instruction program for teenagers to the secondary schools of Ontario as an extra-curricular subject. He hailed this move as being a most important one towards the achievement of safer highway and driving conditions through the proper education and instruction of new drivers.

It was the hope of his department, Mr. Yaremko commented, to have a system of driver examination which is second to none in North America. Even now, he stated, the current Ontario program was serving as a guide for other safety conscious state bodies across the continent.

CIVES RESUME

D. J. Collins, deputy minister of the department, gave a resume of the value of the new examination system. Proof of its need, he stated, was evident from the great number of traffic accidents. During the first six months a new driver is on the road he is ten times more prone to accidents than during the following six months.

Proper preparation of the drivers and an adequate test of their abilities are necessary, and the failure rate of prospective drivers in a community usually ran about 50 per cent under the new system. The greater number of these failures usually pass upon re-examination some weeks later and usually prove to be better drivers because of their initial failure.

Teenage drivers are three times more accident prone than any other age group, Mr. Collins stated adding that it was felt this was entirely due to inadequate training because it could be shown that properly trained teenagers are actually the safest drivers on the road.

The deputy minister asked the support of those present in putting across this 'program to the members of the community. Each person is responsible for his own act lionmuisbi ET his own actions in our society, he said adding that it was the purpose of the new program to weed out the irresponsible and help them to better their attitudes.

A summary and explanation of the testing system and procedures used was given by W. McIntyre, executive officer and chief examiner of the Driver Improvement Division of the Department of Transport. He pointed out that the tests ensured uniformity of testing and had been devised after considerable study and consideration of the reports of traffic study groups at Northwestern University.

Actual testing is currently done by two examiners with a third to be added presently.

ALL THOROUGHLY TRAINED

Tests are given only on Mondays through Fridays and appointments can be made by calling WOodland 2-8985. The staff examiners, Mr. McIntyre said, were all trained thoroughly in the proper handling of the Ontario road test and the additional written and vision tests. It was not necessary for a person to have a full command of the English language in order to pass the test, he noted, providing they were able to show they knew what the various road signs and signals required them to do.

Elmer Sandercock, MLA for Hastings West, introduced the Minister, Mr. Yaremko. Other Members of the Legislative Assembly in attendance were Norris Whitney of Prince Edward-Lennox and Jack Simonette of Hastings-Frontenac, both of whom spoke briefly.

Major Haig expressed the greetings of the city and said that there was great local interest in highway safety in this area. Warden Earl Sager of Hastings County also expressed a welcome to the visitors on behalf of the wardens present.

The opening addresses were held at the Hotel Quinte prior to the official opening at the new department of Transport office on St. Paul Street. Following the cutting of the ribbon by Mr. Yaremko, a buffet supper was held for the guests and official party at the hotel.

This morning the new office, under Frank Seymour, the Senior Examiner, opened for business with several people taking the 28-minute test.

Annual Show Planned by Stamp Club

The fourth annual intercluh meeting and exhibition of the Quinte Stamp Club will be held in the city. Saturday and Sunday the Kiwanis Centre will open at 1.30 p.m.

Interest in stamp collecting as a hobby continues to grow and advance reservations have been received from collectors and dealers in Oakville, London, Kitchener, Toronto, Brockville, Ottawa, etc.

The program includes open competitions for stamp displays, an auction sale of stamps, dealers bourse, philatelic quiz and door prize draws.

Hans Reiche, well known philatelic writer from Ottawa, will address the group at 8 p.m. An expert on the "Admiral" issues of Canada, Mr. Reiche's subject will be "The Stamp Collector". All local collectors or others interested in the hobby are invited to attend.

Chairman Issues Appeal

A. S. Robb, campaign chairman of the Belleville United Appeal, today issued the following appeal to local citizens to give their whole-hearted support to the 1960-61 campaign.

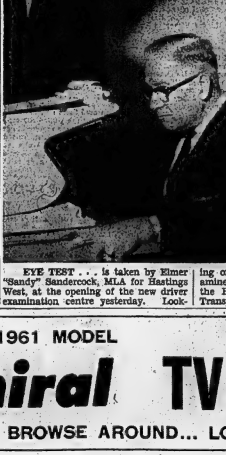
The 1960 campaign of the Belleville United Appeal will open on Monday, October 17th. As campaign chairman, I earnestly request that all citizens give this campaign their wholehearted support.

This year there are eleven agencies which are participating in this campaign. These eleven agencies have joined together, they have united in their appeal to the public, because they believe that in this way they are showing consideration for the citizens of Belleville in that they are giving us all an opportunity to contribute to these eleven agencies through one campaign. Had these eleven agencies not united, there we in Belleville would be faced with eleven campaigns in addition to the many other services we are faced by those organizations and agencies who do not choose to appeal the United Way.

What do I mean by wholehearted support? I mean that if you are a businessman, professional person, a canvasser or one who is being canvassed in the first place believe in the need for United Appeal; at every opportunity when meeting with your friends or vocquaintances, advertising and promote the United Appeal; and above all, in a spirit of willingness generously support the United Appeal. We are often asked, "How much should I give?" The answer to this can only be found in our own hearts and conscience but we should not forget that the appeal is for eleven agencies and therefore, we should not give less than we would give if each agency appealed separately. The Campaign Committee suggests that everyone who is able should seriously consider one day's pay as a minimum contribution. In fact the slogan for this year is "Give a day's pay the United way".

For those of you to whom the privilege has been offered of contributing through your payroll savings plan, we sincerely hope that you will take advantage of this opportunity, because in this way you can make a generous contribution with very little noticeable affect in your pay, but with a tremendous effect in the work of the agencies.

For those for whom the privilege of contributing through the payroll savings plan is not available, you may still contribute by installments throughout the year. This may be done by giving post-dated cheques, or by indicating on the pledge card presented by a canvasser, what instalments you wish to make and how frequent. The United Appeal office will send you a reminder in accordance with your instructions.



Yes, let us all give this campaign our whole-hearted support. . . . . it possible for these eleven agencies to do their to the best of their ability

. . . . . Then to reduce or even eliminate the services or lack of funds caused by the lack of support of the citizens of Belleville.

(Signed) A. S. Robb,
Campaign Chairman 1960-61
Belleville United Appeal

Coyne Speaks Bluntly

As Governor of the Bank of Canada, J. E. Coyne not only has a right but a duty to express himself publicly on various phases of the Canadian economy. This Mr. Coyne has been doing for some time past. His latest address was to the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Calgary. Included in his observations on that occasion were several passages dealing with U.S. domination of Canadian industry. This is not a new theme. We have heard this problem discussed by many people in the past, including Mr. Coyne himself, but in his Calgary speech we think we can note a rising tone which lifts his remarks above the level of polite admonition and makes it evident that he believes this situation is urgently in need of correction.

"No other nation so highly industrialized as Canada has such a large proportion of its industry controlled by non-resident companies," to quote the restrained language of Dominion Bureau of Statistics publication," said Mr. Coyne. "I prefer to put understatement behind us and suggest that no country in the world with anything like our relative state of development has ever had such a degree of foreign domination, or even half or one-quarter the degree of foreign domination."

"The preponderance of foreign ownership in many industries has created great difficulties for the operation of monetary policy in this country," Mr. Coyne asserted. "Whenever inflationary conditions develop and monetary restraint is needed its application may bear more heavily on domestically-owned businesses than on foreign branches or subsidiaries because the latter have access to financing abroad. More generally, many observers in Canada have spoken of the ever increasing incidence of competition of big business against small business, which usually means of foreign-owned businesses against domestic businesses, with small Canadian businesses under a handicap in relation to technology, supplies of materials and access to markets as well as finance."

Let there be no doubt about Mr. Coyne's belief that U.S. domination of many branches of our industry is an undesirable situation. "Ours is in many important lines a branch plant economy. One result has been that research has been slow to develop in Canada, research facilities have been provided elsewhere and the Canadian industry allowed to copy the results achieved by the parent company, sometimes after a time lag. Rarely is there genuine Canadian participation in the introduction of new ideas or development of new products and projects. Important management decisions are for the greater part of our industry taken outside Canada by foreigners, whether they be Americans or Europeans, and taken for reasons which have little or nothing to do with the outlook or aspirations of Canadians. In most such circumstances Canadians are discouraged to have new ideas, cannot put their ideas to the test, and cannot assume responsibility for proving and carrying out their ideas."

These are not the soap-box ravings of some radical, but the carefully considered opinions of the head of Canada's central bank, a man with years of training in what is generally considered the most conservative of professions.

Finally, a warning: "No other country would, in relation to its own affairs, have regarded such economic dependence as desirable. And whatever benefits it may have conferred in the past the danger now exists that it may produce stagnation in Canada, falling in the parade of modern progress for Canada and for the people of Canada."

Some may not agree with Mr. Coyne, but surely none can deny his devotion to Canada.

When Senator Kennedy appeared at one of his campaign meetings a young woman ran from the audience to kiss him. Those who are concerned about the presidential candidates' youth will say, no doubt, that political baby-kissing is now being done by the voters. (Ottawa Journal.)

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

BEYOND THAT HORIZON

Christophe Columbus—a historical character who was wrong about almost everything except he had discovered the islands of a big one very important matter. Columbus was sure that the circumference of the earth was 8,000 miles. He figured that he could sail just beyond the horizon. He would encounter the islands which he should find southeastern part of Asia. His opponents scoffed at his theory declared that the circumference of the earth was 20,000 miles and they were correct within 5,000 miles. Furthermore, they said that if Columbus tried to take as many ships and sail the tremendous distance to Asia it would certainly run murder and suicide. What neither party knew, however, was that the two great continents of North and South America, completely unknown to the world of that time, would be the first true secret of their faith.

Diplomas Require Rewording

Purely Personal Prejudices: "Democracy's worst enemy is not dictatorship, but the undisciplined desires of the people themselves which a dictator can be compelled or overthrown, but no man can subdue the appetites of an irresponsible citizenry.

One of the apparent injustices of the human condition is that the lucky man does not need intelligence, but the intelligent man needs luck.

Why do I tend to react so unfavorably when I hear the thinking phrase, "gracious living?"

Perhaps colleges and universities should carry out the ironic recommendation of Prof. Conway Zirkle that all diplomas be reworded to read: "The Blank University certifies that John Doe does Not Know Anything but Biochemistry — so please pay no attention to his appearance when he may make on any other subject."

People who applaud a witty line in a play would not think of interrupting the actor to applaud an especially beautiful phrase in a symphony; but isn't the situation, rather, the other way?

Speaking of music, no other entertainment-form is so overpraising as a recital by a once-good singer who has lost his or her voice. I shall all these cases the ravages of "that bloody tyrant, Time."

Has anyone ever actually stored a pair of gloves in the glove compartment of his car?

A sound touchstone for young people in choosing friends, and what it's infatuation or the real thing: is Saint-Exupery's perceptive remark that "love does not consist of gazing at each other, but in looking outward together in the same direction."

Nothing makes a man feel so old as lecturing at a teachers' convention (as I did last week) and discovering that all those earnest, pretty young things in the audience were born after the high school juniors are schoolmarms.

It is the easiest thing in the world to "get" the "freedom of the press," as long as we lack the power to curb it; like John Milton, who wrote the famous essay, "Areopagitica," brilliantly defending freedom of expression, and then lobbied the government to suppress the most pervasive censor of British opinion in his time.

No matter how I spell it, the word "apparell" always looks wrong.

Bobby Proves Kindly Chap

St. Thomas Times-Journal

A lot has been said about the London bobby; what a helpful and kindly fellow he is, particularly to strangers within his reverence, but what may be said about the London bobby applies to members of the force throughout the British Isles. And their helpfulness extends to local citizens as well as visitors.

A Liverpool man reports that he left the keys in the ignition of his car while he made a call. Returning some 20 minutes later he found a policeman standing beside the car and thought to himself, "I'll get it for this." "You're lucky, my policeman, "you really shouldn't leave a car like this, sir. I had to wait for you to come back. You see—you left your ignition keys in place. If I hadn't stayed the car might easily have been stolen."

A Canadian bobby would not be so obliging. His would just stick a ticket under the windshield and pass on.

Three thousand, two hundred and forty-four pupils, students of the five public schools and the Belleville Collegiate, took an average time, of one minute and three seconds to empty schools in fire drills held this week. Fire Drill was also held at the O.S.D. and the time taken there for 200 pupils of the institution to reach out of class rooms in the approved orderly fashion, compared very favorably with any of the city schools.

Fire loss costs every man, woman and child in the Dominion of Canada an amount of $2 per year, W. J. Scott, Fire Marshal for the Province of Ontario told the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon on Tuesday and the speaker expressed the conviction that cooperation was greatly needed between the Fire Chiefs of the various municipalities and the citizens in order to considerably reduce this cost.

Harold Carruthers, chairman of Boy' and Girls' Work in the club, reported that $23 had been awarded for the numerous essays that had been submitted by the public school students on Fire Prevention. The contest was directed by Fire Chief Lynch, an active member of the club.

Happy Medium For Salesmen

Cape Breton Post

The rare salesman, but perhaps not so rare as he sometimes seems, is the one who puts the interests of the purchaser first One meets him occasionally. Customers, to be sure, are often trying persons and they seem to know their own minds and are too easily unnerved by some salesmen.

The happy medium in which a salesman is eager but not too eager to make a sale calls for a high degree of ability. One is put off equally by the salesman who doesn't seem to care a hoot and by the one who seems frantically termined to sell you something whether you want it or not.

The ideal is the salesman who almost has to be shouted at and caught by his sleeve to make him aware you are in the store, and the other head driven by excessive zeal, there is indeed the happy medium. He should not be hard to find.

Goldfish Visas

Hamilton Spectator

According to a Hong Kong newspaper, goldfish and tropical fish bred there now need "visas" to enter the United States. Special permits are required to prove they have not been raised in Communist China. We're easier in Canada, of course — we'd let them in if they had relatives here.

Beards Again Losing Favor

Hamilton Spectator

When Queen Victoria was asked to give her assent to men wearing beards in the Royal Navy she pondered the matter for a week and, being weighed the risks of wielding a "certain" razor on a stormy sea, agreed. But she added a rider to the comment that there must be no moustaches. Only beards.

Those were the days when a man with a flowing face ran the risk of being mistaken for an actor, something that was rather like being a criminal. Novelists wrote with a touch of contempt of "bearded pirates," while a handsome beard, particularly a white one, added authority to a man's appearance.

It looked, a year or two ago, as though the fashion would return in full force. One could walk along Bay Street almost any day in the week and pass four or five carefully cultivated beards and feel confident that their possessors were neither in the cough drop business nor escapees from Castro's revolutionary forces.

Now there seems to be a decline in the number of converts. And it is not hard to find reasons for it.

The bear-growing habit has, we are told, increased with the price of razor blades, despite the ability of many users of shaving "trimming" a beard. But we are told, is quite an art and requires a lot of attention. Scraggy-ing and time as several morning shaves. Also, as noted elsewhere for reasons why this promising fashion seems to be withering on the vine.

It is unfortunate that "beatniks" and Castro's brash youths made beards their emblems and so deprived them of much of their authority and status. All fashions begin as a form of non-conformity but if they are to survive they must appeal to the field of wide popularity they must have the sanction of respectability. Even Castro, for the beatniks nor Castro have lost their partiality for beards has influenced those males who, finding it a holiday in the north country, have braved the envy and amazement in the home town by growing a beard home with a "Kaiser Wilhelm."

But there are some who regret that the beard fashion has faltered because the opposite sex has objected. It is jealousy, they charge, that arises in those days when women can do almost anything else and well as men, the growing of a beard is denied them.

But most of the cynics are beardless . . .

New Battle Of Trafalgar

Calgary Herald

Ruthless and cold-hearted men, the British admirals who fought Napoleon's navy in London, England, in the year with the Battle of Trafalgar decided to use a weapon which will terrify almost all the human race-leaders.

For a long time now the statesmen, kings and rulers have had the centre of the great world conflict under control.

The statuary which honors the services of many great men has its favorite place in the city of the winged lawsuits. The pigeons are the little night and daytime messengers from birdbrain Britons and tourists. They say so far are they waddle about at the base of the monument of Admiral Lord Horatio Nelson, standing on a column age and insult that no great statesman ever able to do in his lifetime.

At night in a swirling cloud the starlings descend on the city, flaying flown in from the outer regions of the city to make a station on the buildings which offer warmth.

This is the land where clever men have developed radar, electronic engines and other great strides in the harnessing of destructive power for peaceful uses. But they have not been able to find out the secrets of our ones who are only bird-brained. They have tried chemicals and electronic shocks without Falgar Square remains strictly for the birds. But Britain is not customed to losing every battle but the last one. The thin red lines of British fighting men managed to hold and turn the tide of battle and it is a fact that while called upon, the men who rule the nation's destinies have identity nerves and iron flats. Their ruthlessness extends even into using feathered fiends against the enemy.

Now, unless the UN hails such an unfeeling action, the powers that be have not yet found a way to plan. The pipes and drums of the 51st (Highland) Division have been heard on the streets of the square. It is reported only as a concert (although the Scotsmen an Englishman) has realized the small pigeons of London can dispatch declarers, this will clear the birds away.

If not, an English expatriate in Calgary observes, it will eliminate the problem in another way, surely it will drive all the people, other than the stone dead, into the heart of London and there will be nobody left for the boys to bother.

To Your Good Health

CHRONIC GASTRITIS AN IRRITATION OF THE STOMACH LINING

A reader complains that she has written me before, but has received no answer. She asks, can chronic gastritis be cured? It is serious? Just what does "chronic" mean? Can you suggest a diet? Is B-12 injection helpful?

In my own humble defense, may I say that I have answered this before — and, dogmose it, some readers is more malignant than strangers things so that people are out of town, or attending a funeral, or have had a Grimaldo's birthday or something the day the letter of particular interest appears in the newspaper. So they miss it, and in time I tackle the subject again and bring it up to date.

Chronic gastritis is an irritation of the stomach lining. This doesn't mean that a person having or "flatulence", or gassiness means gastritis, although with bad gastritis, this gas is usually present.

Even a upset stomach isn't chronic gastritis". But chronic gastritis is an irritated and upset stomach.

The most frequent causes are improper eating, especially highly-seasoned foods that are irritating, excess smoking, excess smoking. I don't know whether you drink any alcohol but if you do, that can be a big stop entirely. The drinking habit is the cause of C. G., is a frequent and important one.

Geezy stomach is only one of the symptoms. It and others may be minor ulcer, gallbladder trouble, or even cancer. There can be pain or soreness in the upper stomach, nausea, vomiting (with or without blood), and poor appetite.

Exact diagnosis can be achieved only with a specialist using the gastro-scope by which the physician can examine the stomach lining itself. X-ray is much information; other tests involving the amount of stomach acids help.

Treatment? Stop use of alcohol, tobacco, highly seasoned foods. Eat a bland diet — low in roughage. Complete resting habits is important, too. Take your time. Eat slowly. Chew. does taking Vitamin B complex in quantities.

Although in some ways the treatment may resemble that for some of the other conditions I mentioned, there are also certain differences. It is important for your doctor to be sure. If you have, for instance, an ulcer or have gallbladder trouble he wants to be sure of that before he starts considering the treatment that are necessary, as well as the medicines, one of which he will be watchful in case, for example, you might re quire surgery and need medicine in treatment. I mention this to explain to you why your doctor isn't going to offer a quick, easy judgment, but is going to make further observations and perhaps require some specialists tests to be made. Remember you have chronic gastritis, gall bladder trouble, a peptic ulcer, or one or another of the other annoyances that can bother our digestive system.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have three cysts on my left breast. There is drainage most of the time. At first it was clear, but it seems to be a little darker in color. Do you think I should have the cysts removed? — Mrs. D. J. B."

One word: Yes.

Note to Mrs. R. H. and Mrs. N. R.: There are two types of cysts or erythematosus, the "discoid", which involves the skin, and the disseminated", which involves other organs of the body.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both generally and physically, by reading my booklet "The Way To Stop Constipation". Need Minimum Speed Limit

The Times of London

There is a strong case for a minimum speed limit on roads other than motorways, and perhaps on occasional notice boards "Don't Dawdle". The main road at holiday weekends is the place for sight-seeing, at any rate by the driver of a family car.

The mingling of motorists, travelling at a fast pace and those dawdling in order to admire the scenery has become acute on the Great Alpine passes, and on the Automobile Club of Switzerland has issued a special government signs on the Golhard Pass in an endeavour to cope with the problem.

The sign indicates the turn into a valley of the Gotthard road; carries the wording in English; "Dangerous! Let Others Pass! Use the Laybys!"

One likes to think that the sign is in English because the most widely taught language in the world because English motorists are most in need of its use.

A final point about the 50 m.p.h. speed limit worth considering is that the Road Research government admits officially that the aim is to enforce the speed limit of 100 k.p.h. (62 m.p.h.) on public holidays has proved a failure. Even in the German countryside Frankfurt and Heidelberg, where the limit is also enforced generally, traffic jams were reported to have been caused recently by drivers going slowly "sightseeing" and with malice".

Such accidents as did occurred in two days, injuring 39 people, police said, and called upon urging drivers to move more rapidly, although not faster than the limit.

In view of the German experience, the question that many are asking is whether it would not be better to use the few police patrols ordinarily available to check bad road discipline generally than to try to enforce a limit of a speed that may not necessarily be dangerous in many circumstances.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LEARN TO WRITE

The things that we make ourselves do and see, are to us more lasting and impressive to us.

This is especially true — if you are impressed with a beautiful thought in your reading and you write it down, you are much more apt to remember it and it will become a permanent part of you.

To even a greater degree will you benefit, if you develop yourself by learning to express your thoughts in writing.

For this reason the keeping of a diary is a good thing. In the proportion that you learn to express yourself are you increasing your sphere of interest and enthusiasm.

After you have been impressed with a beautiful scene, write down your thoughts about it. In like manner, when you are finished with a book, express in language your own language your own about it that made it of interest to you. Do not worry about thinking happening, try to visualize the dominating points about it you write it down, you are much more apt to remember it and it will become a permanent part of you.

There is a great deal of satisfaction in learning to express yourself. Anyone who is able to talk, may learn as well to write.

Good literature is expression; whether good or bad. This history of literature is the story of how people thought. You are a part of the literature of the world to the degree in which you are able to express yourself.

The better you write, the better will you talk.

But write simply. Use words that the largest number can understand.

THE PACKSACK

My Oilbway guide came into my office with me, at the end of the day's duties, to see that the lobby with me by the birch fire and have a drink before I went to their outboard skiff. The TV was on in the lobby, and a few of the African delegates to the UN were being interviewed.

"What do you think of those fellows?" my guide asked.

"Well, they're educated men," I said, "they talk intelligently and seem to know what is going on. But they wouldn't be human unless they harbored some resentment against the Belgians, the British or the French, or whoever has been their political guardian in master during the past century. Russia is lucky in having no colonies to set free and to fully sweet."

"I don't feel," said my guide, "that you are forgetting it they're Africans or any other colonial people are likely to risk saddling themselves with another tribe of them. I think why Khrushchev sets he frisky is he is trying to pretend he isn't white."

Then he offered me a cigarette, to indicate that present company is always excepted.

Smoke Problem Is Discussed By Health Bd.

TRENTON — "East Trenton is fed up to the teeth," said Miss Marjorie Gothard at yesterday's Board of Health meeting, referring to smoke from a local factory.

Miss Gothard said that complaints from east-side residents were coming in thick and fast.

"A woman left my house the other night, and in a minute she was coughing and strangling," she said.

"Until we get a by-law I don't see what we can do," said chairman H. S. Pane.

Deberdt Kipling agreed that it is no use trying to clean or paint houses while a smoke problem persists.

"What chemicals are they putting into the air?" asked town engineer Walter Murray.

"It's what comes from the smoke stack," explained Mr. Pane.

"It wouldn't hurt to write and ask them," said health officer Dr. E. W. Dow.

Mr. Pane said that if gas is coming from the soft coal being burned by the plant, then the coal cannot be burning properly. It is understood that the matter is to be presented to Council at the regular meeting Monday night.

"If there is no by-law, East Trenton people will see those responsible do not get in again," said Miss Gothard.

Board members turned their attention to the disposal of sewage sludge.

"Nobody wants it," said Mr. Murray. He said he has reserved a place 200 feet square at the sanitary land fill area on the town dump and will spread the sludge there, avoiding the property of the Community Gardens. It may be he grows crops there in the future, he thought.

He said he had advertised the sludge without success. Mr. Topping thought it might be salvaged for garden fertilizer, but when he enquired about this in Toronto, he was told that the quantity of sludge from the Trenton plant was too small to consider.

PAYS $20

Mr. Murray said that Frankford pays a man $20 to remove sludge from the village. It was finally decided that Mr. Pane will write to his son who lives in Sandusky, where there is some special kind of method of sludge disposal, and ask for details.

Board members, on hearing that the home of Miss Lena Coleman, 73 Front Street, is now unfit for habitation, agreed that the town solicitor should write a letter to the owner, Arthur Morgan, that Welfare Administrator, Gordon Davis, should list the contents of the house, and these should be stored, and that Mr. Morgan should have the house demolished. This he has already agreed to do. Miss Coleman is at present staying at Pandas Villas Rest Home in Trenton. Her father was a former Trenton chief of police.

Town clerk O. W. Larry, present in his capacity as secretary of the board, advised members to be careful in dealing with this case.

Last item on the agenda was a request from five residents for the installation of plumbing in their houses. The town is to finance this, which will include installation of laterals and toilets only, and will be paid for in taxes over the next five years.

Get Approval For Addition To High School

TRENTON — The Board of Education met last night in the board room at North Trenton school. In attendance were chairman S. E. Ketcheson and members Lew Phinney, George Greer, F. J. Ash, Frank Fillen, Paul Tripp and appointees Dr. T. J. McNally, Bill Bowerman and S/L A. A. Proctor, representing the RCAF. Also in attendance were W. N. Houston, principal of Trenton high school, W. E. Stewart, government appointee, and V. P. Carswell, secretary of the board.

The Trenton Drama Group had written to ask that a night course in drama be held in the high school. The group secretary said that the group could not be available at Easter time in dramatic art and asked that the board allow a weekly two-hour class to meet in the school auditorium. The drama group is also requesting the use of the auditorium to practice for its upcoming play.

The principal said he would contact the secretary and discuss the matter with her. He said it seemed a little extreme to allow the group to use the auditorium to practise for its Greer wanted to know why the group that no smoking would be allowed in the auditorium.

At the request of S/L T. Spear, supply officer of 173 Air Cadet Squadron at Trenton high school, Mr. Phinney was elected to the position of chairman of air cadet activities.

At the suggestion of the principal, Mr. Spear was appointed director of the night school at the last Board meeting.

The secretary told the board he had received final approval for the government grant for the erection of an addition to the high school. The addition will accommodate an additional 200 students.

A request from Miss Eva Baker that the Trenton Air Rangers be allowed to use the high school gym for a dance November 3, will be considered by the principal.

"We shouldn't rush to allow people in the gym for dancing," said Mr. Houston. "The floors take a beating with that sort of thing."

GETS KITCHEN

The board voted "not over $400 to provide kitchen facilities at Marmora Street Senior Public School. The facilities had been requested by the home and school club. A cupboard will be built and a sink installed in one small utility room at the school.

The nurses' report, tabled by Mr. Carswell, said that there had not been one case of polio in Trenton this year.

Mr. Carswell said that the board's finances were in good shape, and that from all indications they will still be "in the black" at the end of the year. He asked for $1,500 to be spent on library books for the various town schools. The board members agreed to vote this sum.

Mr. Houston reported that 793 students were in attendance at the high school. He said that when the number of students from the town, Sidney township, the RCAF Station and elsewhere were added up, the figure came out to 793. However, he said there actually are 793, and efforts are being made to locate "the missing link."

Mr. Houston assured the board that "The Spotlight", the yearbook of the high school year book will be published this year. Publication was suspended last year. Several businessmen have indicated that they would be interested in knowing where their "ad" money for last year's Spotlight had gone and they have said that they would appreciate being given credit in this year's edition.

Board member Paul Tripp suggested that the secretary write to the Minister of Mines and ask that a fence be placed around the open gravel pit near Dufferin Drive Public School. Mr. Tripp said that the pit was 100 feet deep in places and that a child might be killed if he fell into it.

Mr. Tripp will look into the cost of fencing town property adjacent to the high school and seeding or sodding it. He said that many residents complained about rag weed growing in this area.

Elect Officers

TRENTON — The College Street School and Home Group met Wednesday night and elected the following officers for 1960-61:

Claims School Children Damage Her Property

TRENTON—Mrs. J. Blaschke of Dominion Street has written to the Board of Education reviving her complaints about a tree which she says "leans" over from the yard of the Marmora Street Senior Public School on to her property.

She said that limbs and branches falling from the tree have damaged the roof of a shed on her property. Some years ago, board members examined the location of the tree and reported that it did not seem to be too near the shed.

Mrs. Blaschke suggested that the members had not taken a good look at the tree. She said that school children threw stones and batted baseballs through the windows of the shed. She enclosed a bill from a hardware store for $1.32 which, she said, had been spent to replace the shed windows. She said this was one of many bills she had paid over a 10-year period, and that she would send the next bill to the board for payment.

Board members decided to take no further action until the next bill arrives.

School Board Members Resign As Agreed

TRENTON — At last night's meeting of the Board of Education, members F. J. Ash, Frank Fillen, George Greer and chairman T. S. Ketcheson, in accordance with the resolution made last spring between Education Minister Roberts and the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, tendered their resignations. The stipulation in the agreement was brought about by a controversy between the Federation and the Trenton trustees over a vote of non-confidence in last year's high school principal E. S. McIlwain. Ordinarily, the four board members would have served a two-year term. Members Robert Barlow, Paul Tripp and Lew Phinney, will automatically end their terms at the end of this year.

The resignations of the four members and the expiration of the terms of the other three means that an entire new board will be elected in the December elections. None of the board members has indicated he will run again this year.

The controversy over the vote of non-confidence in the principal split the town wide open. Few citizens were neutral in the issue. Fourteen high school teachers resigned as a result of the battle between the board members who supported the non-confidence vote, the principal and the federation which took up cudgels on behalf of the principal.

The federation 'pink-listed" the school for weeks so that any high school teacher applying for employment with the Trenton board could expect no support from the federation.

Finally, the minister of education was asked to step in and settle the issue. An agreement proposed by Mr. Roberts was accepted by the board and the federation. W. R. Stewart was appointed by the Minister to sit in on all board meetings until the end of this year, and the board members agreed to resign and stand for re-election if they saw fit. Members George Greer and Robert Barlow did not support the vote of non-confidence.

Statements by the teachers and board members appeared in the press. Publicity concerning the board-federation feud was re-printed in papers all over Canada.

Members of former boards, resenting a remark by S. G. Robinson, secretary of the federation, to the effect that that organization "had always had trouble with the Trenton boards," issued a statement decrying the attitude of the federation. Several angry petitions signed petitions condemning the board members who had supported the vote of non-confidence and asking that they resign immediately.

Midway through the controversy, principal McIlwain tendered his resignation.

Reasons for the vote of non-confidence have never been revealed. Mr. McIlwain accepted an appointment at Sault Ste. Marie. A number of the teachers who resigned now are teaching at Petroborough.

Incidence of whooping cough in Canada in 1958 was the lowest recorded, with 6,932 cases and 40 deaths.

Parents Dislike Children's Move To Other School

TRENTON — Parents of a number of small children, who started school this year in the new Prince Charles Public School, and became of overcrowding in that school, have been transferred to Dufferin Area, school, have voiced their dissatisfaction at the state of affairs.

At last night's meeting of the Board of Education, a letter from Mrs. Don Bell, mother of one child, was read by the secretary of the board, V. P. Carswell. Mrs. Bell said that she had understood the school had been built south of Highway 2 to stop small children from having to cross the highway. She said that while other parents were as upset as she was about moving their children back to the older school, she was demanding that her daughter be moved back again to the new school.

Board chairman T. S. Ketcheson said that the board had reported Mr. Carswell 100 per cent in his decision to re-locate the children in Dufferin school when the lower grades in the new school were found to be overcrowded.

"Miss Black had 54 in her room at the start of the year," said the chairman.

Mr. Carswell said the children were where he thinks best".

Mrs. Bell replied that the move was not compulsory", said Mr. J. Aziz: "I understand that Mr. Carswell was going to try to get parents to agree on the change."

"What will you do if they all say their children can't be moved?" asked Mr. Carswell. "If they agree to let Bell child move back to the new school, next week we'll have half a dozen parents wanting the same thing".

Board Briefs

TRENTON — At yesterday's meeting of the Board of Health, Miss Marjorie Gothard, board member and a former Trenton high school teacher, said, "The board of health's inspection of schools is nothing but a frame-up. When the janitors hear that an inspection is imminent, they pass the word around and everyone cleans up. Not all the janitors are delinquent, just those who haven't been trained."

At last night's meeting of the Board of Education, all principals' reports stated that the caretakers "were doing a very good job."

Board of Education members have lodged complaints with the contractor about conditions in the new Prince Charles School. There are loose wall tiles, loose floor tiles, cupboard doors that won't close, cupboard doors that won't open, classroom doors in the same condition, exit lights are placed so high on the wall, and behind beams, that they might as well not be there at all, there are no electrical outlets near the teacher's use near the washroom area, and the walls of the building are not thick enough to permit the installation of the proper type of fire extinguishers.

Chapter 55 O.E.S. Sponsors Delightful 'Rainbow' Tea, Bazaar

A glowing rainbow arch in all seven colors spanned the white, wide-open gates, and contained a lovely autumn-tinted flowers adorned the white picket fence which enclosed an equally delightful, decorated tea room yesterday afternoon in the Masonic Temple for the tea and bazaar held under the auspices of the Order of the Eastern Star, Belleville Chapter, No. 55. The day was ideal with its bright sunshine and balmy breezes, and many patrons and guests availed themselves of the opportunity to make purchases for the Christmas season, which is just around the corner.

ATTRACTIVE TEA TABLE

The long tea table was centred with a golden bowl of orchid and yellow blooms, bittersweet sprays and feathery asparagus fern. Tall purple candles in silver candelabra, and gleaming silver services completed the attractive setting, bearing out the rainbow color theme, as did the little guest tables, each centred with a gold-coloured pot with yellow and mauve baby 'mums, while little rainbow-tucked serviettes added their pleasing complement.

Those who presided at the silver tea services were: Mrs. Audrey Elliott, WGM; Mrs. Ila Clapp, Mrs. Dorothy McGlashen, PDDGM; Mrs. Mary Wheeler, PDDGM; Mrs. Maude Elliott, PM, and Mrs. Martha Armstrong, WHP of the White Shrine.

The tea room hostesses were: Mrs. Margaret Shaw, PM; Mrs. Thelma Liddle, PM, and Mrs. Lillie Law, PM.

The convenors of the tea room were Mrs. Lois Chaplin and Mrs. Ila Clapp, while the overall conveners were, Mrs. Jean Adkins and Mrs. Luella Brickman.

COLORFUL BOOTHS

The several booths were each colorfully adorned with wide bands of rainbow hues, and included the candy booth, conveyed by Mrs. Irene McMartin, and Betty Yeoe, assisted by Mrs. Bobbe Locke; Mrs. Cleia Elliott; Mrs. Eileen Martin; Mrs. Minnie Hilbeck; Mrs. Rita Pinder; Mrs. Beverley Shaw; Mrs. Marion Wrenshall; Mrs. Mabel Stewart; Mrs. Beasie Warren, and Mrs. Orress Adams. The display of packaged candies was most alluring; there were red, candied apples; little green containers with samples of chocolate fudge, coconut balls; maple creams; little fancy cups with orange bands of the same and pointed paper containers in green and yellow also added their appeal, as did a box of assorted chocolates which would be drawn for.

PRETTY APRONS

The apron booth was conveyed by Mrs. Pearl Kerr and Mrs. Clara Ironside, assisted by Mesdames Marie Barlow; Gladys Grey; Grace Brown; Ruth Charter; Helena Darvell; Claudia Frith; Hazel Insley; Ruby Juby; Jennie Smith; Hazel Lawlor; Jean Moon; Dorcas Westover; Peg. The homebaking table, conveyed by Mrs. Freda LaRue, and Mrs. Jean Bell, as convenor, with their assistants, Mesdames, Margaret Payne; Rebecca Carmen; Helen Goodman; Myrtle Vivian; Isabel Boulton; Flossie Laycock; Edna Lee and Olga MacDonald, was well patronized and the large array of potato salads, doughnuts; fruit cakes, layer cakes in white and dark; pumpkin, apple, lemon and berry pies; tarts of all kinds; dainty cup cakes; relishes and conserves, soon were sold.

A lovely white sweater in heavy cable stitch was an added attraction, as also the table of flowers, plants and bouquets filled to overflowing with pantry needs, canned goods and other supplies such as sugar, salt, flour and canned fruits.

The conveners are to be commended for an exceptionally attractive and successful tea and bazaar.

(Photo by William E. Riley, Belleville.)

ORR — KENNEDY

St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Belleville, was the setting on Saturday, October 1st, at 11.00 a.m. for a very pretty autumn wedding when Marilynn Rae Kennedy, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Leo Kennedy, became the bride of Russell Nelson Orr, of Hornepayne, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell William Orr. The Reverend J. J. Buckley officiated before a lovely background of yellow and orange gladioli and 'mums.

The Reverend Sister Joan of Arc presided at the organ console, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. W. M. Mann of Belleville, in his rendition of "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," before the ceremony, and "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiantly lovely in her bridal gown of brocaded satin featuring a fitted bodice with Queen Anne neckline and long sleeves "V"-pointed over the wrists. The floor-length gown, which extended into a chapel train, was accented by a bustle back. She wore a Queen Anne headdress and waist-length veil of silk tulle illusion, and carried a cascade bouquet of red Sweetheart roses, with white satin, rose-bead dusted streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Brooks of Belleville, and as bridesmaids, Miss Lois Petherick-Reg. N., of Campbellford, and Miss Helen Little, Reg. N. of Shelbourne, Ontario, classmates of the bride at Toronto Western Hospital. All were gowned alike in moss-green peau de soie, fashioned with molded bodices with Sweetheart necklines, short sleeves, short gloves and floral headdresses. The skirts were in bouffant-ballerina style and they carried bouquets of bronze 'mums, centred by yellow roses.

Mr. Fred Orr of Toronto, uncle of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and Mr. James Kennedy and Mr. Frank Kennedy, brothers of the bride, ushered the guests.

The reception was held at Club Canara, where the bride's table was regally appointed with white damask linen and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a china angel was used on the wedding cake of her maternal grandmother, and misted about the base with tulle and red roses. Crystal candelabras with tall white candles, and the bridal bouquets added an additional nuptial accent.

The bride's mother, for her daughter's marriage, chose a gown of royal purple peau de soie with lace bodice, and street-length skirt, elbow gloves, matching flat hat, and shoes, with corsage of white carnations.

Assisting in the receiving line was the bridegroom's mother, wearing a navy Chantilly lace gown with Bonnegarr sleeves, pink hat, and corsage of pink carnations.

For travelling to Montreal and other eastern points, the bride wore a royal blue two-piece suit with matching flower hat with veil, black accessories, and corsage of pink 'mums.

Guests attended from Belleville, Toronto, Hornepayne, Kapuskasing, Wellington, Campbellford, Shelbourne and other neighboring districts.

Mr. and Mrs. Orr will reside in Hornepayne.

The Experts Say

People Tend to Neglect Hair, Hygiene Says Stylist

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)— People wash their faces two or three times a day but often neglect to wash their hair for two or three weeks.

They seem to forget their hair is exposed to the same dirt and grime that their faces are, says Kenneth Ryde who operates a Toronto hair salon under the name of Kari of London.

"Hair beauty is not only good styling but it is achieving and maintaining good hair health," he says.

Brushing is important and he recommends a bristle brush which polishes the hair. Wash the brush in lukewarm, never hot, water.

Two things that irk him are women with long hair and women who snip off stray strands of hair. Women over 18 should never wear long hair, he says. Chopping off bits and pieces of hair can ruin a style. Cutting and shaping are the most important facets of a hair style.

SLEEKER STYLES

This winter's style is smoother and sleeker. The sides are flat with curls often brought forward over the cheeks. Ears are either totally exposed or covered up. The length is 1½ inches at the nape, three to four inches on the crown and 3½ to three inches at the sides.

The hair at the neckline can be worn up, down or swivelled to one side. The soft wide waves are reminiscent of the 1930s. Although the styles are simple, they are easily converted to evening wear by the addition of hair ornaments.

One of Kent's favorite tricks is to use a sweater clasp as an ornament. The clips can be fastened to follow the chain portion to lie between the waves at the back. Although he approves of ornaments for evening wear he frowns on them for daylight hours.

The English-born stylist says Canadian hairdressers are more original than those in the United States.

USES BEER

When he wants to give hair more body, he uses beer as a wave set. 'I'm against thick wave sets.' He found beer was effective and didn't smell after it had dried.

Backcombing was effective if done properly. It gave bulk and the elegance of the style was maintained even after the hair relaxed from frequent combing. If not done skillfully, however, backcombing could cause split ends.

Current styles should always be adapted to the individual. A good style highlights a persons good features and minimizes the poor features.

Women should change their hair style every six to eight weeks, he says, but they shouldn't tell the stylist what they want.

"They are paying for his knowledge and they are not taking advantage of this by telling him how to do his job.

River Valley W.I. Members Hear Talk on Home Nursing

FAIRLING—The October meeting of River Valley Women's Institute was held Thursday at the school kitchen with 23 ladies in attendance.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Gerald Brooks and Mrs. Stapler Irvin. A vase of roses from the president's table. Mrs. Roy Tucker opened the meeting with Mrs. ... ...resort.

The home economics and health group, with Mrs. Ernest Carr as chairman, was in charge of the program.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks read the motto which had been prepared by two 15-year-old girls on the kerosene, paint, and household theme. "Domestic peace can never be preserved in jars." The places, she said, main thought was that domestic happiness must be shared. They bottles should have correct save valuable keywords as a guide to a happy life in any home.

The guest speaker was Miss Grace Heasman a member of the River Valley branch W.I., who is on duty as a nurse' aid in the Belleville General Hospital.

She gave a message on "Prevention", and read articles from "The Home and Country" magazine regarding "Accidents in the Home", and "Unsafe Electrical Appliances". She also read a folder on plastic film, and another on "The Value of Vaccination".

From her own record books as a 4-H Club girl, she stressed the 31st. Those appointed to attend were Mrs. Gerald Brooks, Mrs. Ernest Carr, Mrs. Ross Holland, and Mrs. Percy MacMullen. The leaders of the 4-H Club were given permission to rest two portable sewing machines for the fall course.

The correspondence included a program of the Trent Valley Area Convention; a letter on safety from the provincial chairman of F.W.I.O.; a folder on National Immigration Week; a letter from F.W.I.O. president regarding the Opera Festival; a message on "Mental Health"; a letter from the home economist, Miss Julia Lane; and a message regarding the essay contests.

Mrs. Roy Rush gave a few brief items from the September issue of "The Countrywomen". She also read a message from Ceylon, telling how the various projects in agriculture, education and health, will further the progress of the nation.

The new A.C.W.W. tea towels will soon be available, she said. At the annual meeting held July the need for "pennies for friendship" was stressed. The U.N.I.C.E.F. greeting cards help the children of the world. The sale of one box of cards provides enough B.C.G. vaccine to protect 35 children from tuberculosis. Five boxes will provide anti-biotics to cure 10 children of trachoma and thus save them from blindness.

Delegates appointed to the Trent Valley area convention at the Club Canara, Belleville were: Mrs. Roy Rush and Mr. Percy MacMullen, alternate, on Tuesday, and Mrs. Ernest Carr and Mrs. Jack Boals, alternate, on Wednesday. Cars were arranged for transportation.

The card parties will resume in November and the secretary was authorized to purchase new cards.

The new teacher at the River Valley school, Miss Marlene Blackburn, was introduced by Mrs. Phillip Conley. Miss Alice DeBruyn played two accordion selections.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, the friendship link secretary, displayed a letter-card view of Snowdonia in Wales, and read part of an airmail letter received October 5th from the link secretary at Abbots' Leigh W.I. in England.

In her public relations report she gave a message from Mrs. E. J. Roylance, F.W.I.C. president, who said: "Canadian women can help prevent traffic accidents by suggesting frequent stops for rest, and a wife should pay special attention to the children, and thus keep them quiet and in happy mood while travelling."

WOMEN CAMPAIGN

The F.W.I.C. was one of 19 groups who recently met in Ottawa to supervise "The Freedom from Hunger Campaign in Canada." This was launched in July 1st by the Food and Agriculture organization with headquarters in Rome, and the campaign will continue for five years.

The "Countrywomen" magazine will have a new format in October and if its meets with approval by the societies, it will be adopted in April, 1961.

Dr. Adams of Canada, will undertake extension work in the Caribbean area and in Colombia, and he has been allotted a special sum for his work.

The A.C.W.W. executive have accepted Mrs. Cullen's generous offer to provide an A.C.W.W. flag —white with the badge in green and white. They also are highly honored that the A.C.W.W. president, Mrs. Van Beekhof, was chosen as the only woman to sit on the F.A.O. committee in Rome.

The "Lady Aberdeen scholarship" has already given grants to a couple of women. This is to help women who are desirous of taking a course in agriculture.

Mrs. Percy Craighead expressed thanks for the hospitality and program.

Don MacKinnon Gives Talk At Avondale H-S Meeting

"Aspects of the Juvenile Court" was the subject of an interesting address given members of the Avondale Home and School Association by Don MacKinnon of the Juvenile and Family Court.

Mr. MacKinnon was guest speaker at the October meeting of the Association held Tuesday evening in Avondale School and he liberally interspersed his talk with many humorous anecdotes.

He briefly outlined the history of the Juvenile Delinquency Act, which was passed several years ago for the whole of Hastings County.

The purpose of this act is "to deal with and reclaim, if possible juvenile offenders against the law". Without the act juveniles would be dealt with as adults, he said.

PROVISIONS OF JUVENILE ACT

Under the act the juvenile is tried in the town or village nearest his home; his case is heard in private, and no publicity which may identify the offender is allowed; and he may not be incarcerated in a penitentiary or reform school except in special circumstances.

However, if a juvenile's offences are "enormous", he may be declared an adult and dealt with under the Criminal Code, even in an area where the Juvenile Delinquency Act is in effect.

Mr. MacKinnon explained the Judge has wide powers in dealing with juveniles. He may suspend his decision, impose a fine up to $25 (which may be paid in instalments), commit the juvenile into the custody of the Probation Officer, have him placed in a suitable foster home, or commit him to the charge of the Children's Aid Society. The Judge may also impose any further conditions which he may deem advisable.

He explained the main duties of a Probation Officer are to investigate the juvenile's background after he has been found guilty, to supervise the juvenile placed on probation, and to act as the juvenile's "best pal" during his appearance in court.

CAUSES OF DELINQUENCY

Mr. MacKinnon said the chief causes of delinquency are lack of parental control, influence, or interest, lack of outside interests or of the money to provide them, and poor reading habits. He advised parents to check on the type of material their children read, and on their TV viewing habits.

He also emphasized parents who were sufficiently interested in their children to attend Home and School meetings were not likely to be faced with problems of juvenile delinquency, and that there were few juvenile delinquents among Sunday school members.

In conclusion Mr. MacKinnon reported encouraging figures for juvenile delinquency in Hastings County. Juvenile delinquency cases, he said, were down to 42 from a previous high of 106.

Reports were read by the Association president, Mrs. D. C. Harvie, and by executive members, Mrs. H. Heslip, Mrs. J. A. McCullough, Mrs. J. M. McLean, Mrs. G. S. Woonacott and Mrs. V. DeWeil. Mrs. C. Wilson volunteered to act as room representatives chairman.

The Association voted to sponsor the UNICEF campaign on Hallowe'en and a bake sale which will be convened by Mrs. G. Shaver.

Mrs. Bristol's room again won the Home and School banner.

Mrs. Wheeler of the Belleville Home and School Council discussed the problems of citizenship and civil defence with members during the refreshment period.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. L. Pearce, assisted by Mrs. R. Price, the grade 8 representatives, and by Mrs. W. Cameron.

Women's Activities

ST. MARK'S A.G.

DERRONTO — The regular meeting of St. Mark's afternoon Guild was held in the church hall on Thursday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Dorothy Parrott, opened the meeting. Eleven members answered the roll call.

The treasurer's report on the supper held recently showed a nice balance for both Guilds after all expenses were paid.

On the motion of Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Ralph the Guild decided to turn a sum of money over to the Wardens.

A discussion followed on the ways and means to raise money during November. The members decided that because of the Christmas bazaar to be held late in November, all would be busy with preparations for it so no further activities were planned.

The secretary was asked to write firms in Toronto for a donation of goods for the Christmas bazaar. These firms have always been generous in past years.

The business closed with prayer.

Mrs. Alvina Topping was hostess for the afternoon and served refreshments. A social hour was enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Clegan offered her home for the next meeting to be held on November 3rd. Her offer was accepted by the ladies.

Mother of 17 Says Costs Rise With Each Child

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Children are not cheaper by the dozen.

The authority for this statement comes from two mothers who attended a Roman Catholic social life conference at Banff — one expecting her 18th child and the other with an even dozen.

Mrs. Gilbert Harry Thompson of Edmonton, the youthful-looking wife of a real estate salesman, is expecting her 18th child.

She and Mrs. Victor Arduini of Kamloops, B.C., agreed that, no matter what the theorists may say, the cost of the family soars proportionately with each new member.

Mrs. Thompson said that from her experience, in large families the older children tend to look after the younger ones in such matters as feeding themselves, getting dressed and getting off to school.

One of the points on which they differ is in the question of washing. Mrs. Thompson prefers an old - fashioned washer, saying the automatics are too slow for her, while Mrs. Arduini says she wouldn't be without her automatic.

Mrs. Arduini has a system of clothes identity that, she says, keeps things simple. At the beginning of each year each child, including her set of identical twins, chooses a color for his or her socks. This color is repeated throughout the wardrobe by tagging.

Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Moyses entertained at a party at their home in honor of Mrs. Moyses' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carman, of Belleville, who celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on October 8th.

The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Carman and six grandchildren, were present, namely: Mr. and Mrs. Leveryne Carman, Bill and Ann, of Madoc; Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Carman, Catharine and Stewart of Point Anne; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kelly of Belleville. All enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner.

The table was tastefully appointed with a Scotch lace cloth and a beautiful bouquet of Baby red carnations, baby's breath and fern and centred by a large white anniversary cake, flanked by tall white candles. The rooms were decorated with pink and white streamers an dpink bells.

The bride and groom were presented with a beautiful oil painting of winter scene and a handsome walnut ottoman, by the family.

The evening was spent in reminiscing and showing moving pictures.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Pamela J. — My husband is too emotional for a man.

Victor J. — That's wrong with showing your feelings?

Pamela J. — I was born and brought up in England, and my husband is of French parentage. We were married two years ago and have a son. What worries me is that whenever my husband is gripped by a strong emotion like great joy or great sorrow he is literally moved to tears!

This is something I'm not used to in men. The men in my family and, in fact, in my country were taught to keep a stiff upper lip. For a man to weep was a disgrace. Plain unmanly!

The strange thing is that I was drawn to my husband by his sweet considerate nature. I still bless him for his kindness and warmth to me. I guess what pushes me to try to make him "tougher" is my desire for our son to have a real masculine he-man father around, as a good example.

Victor J. — I don't see where it's done the British any good, or the male sex either for that matter, to keep up that big-lip-cheerio business no matter what. I don't see why women should be the only ones permitted to show their real feelings, while men have to get ulcers and heart attacks from keeping it all inside.

This has nothing to do with courage and diligence and the other "manly" virtues. There were plenty of rough, tough Frenchmen, brave soldiers and industrious civilians.

Pamela admits that there are many more tears in England, and it's not just from the fog. It's from repression, too much of it.

I like honesty. I like calling a spade a spade. I believe in laughing until you cry, if you feel like it, and crying until you laugh, if possible. And Pamela will find this a better example for our boy than for us to clamp the lid on our feelings so much that they are bound to boil over violently in different forms later on.

The Council: Pamela can relax. The stereotype of the man of iron is no longer the model our age aspires to, for we have seen, through wars and rebellions and physical and mental breakdowns, that this man must crack in the face of great stress. He cannot bend. And Victor's behavior is clearly to the human ideal as defined by psychiatrists and anthropologists.

A Florida doctor has said flatly, "If men could cry they'd live longer". This doesn't mean being soppy and maudlin, or giving vent to hysterical displays which are exaggerated and quite disabling. It simply asks that men be permitted to respond naturally to an understandable stimulus, instead of "plowing under" the upswell of feeling.

Other scientists remind us that men, no less than women, have surges of tender feeling which need outlets and need not be neglected for. We see it in an old man's solicitude for a grandson, in a boy's tenderness towards pets, babies, the handicapped.

Pamela's son is fortunate in that his "soft" side will be nurtured and encouraged along with his backbone, muscles and gallantries. "Men has not really survived through toughness", says Dr. Loren Eiseley, the eminent anthropologist. "Man has survived through tenderness toward his kind".

More important, perhaps, than being a man is being a "human". Pamela and Victor, in unashamedly cherishing and comforting each other and their children, male and female alike, will approach a human, resilient, and responsive family life. No robots, no phoney facades. From honest emotion all good things — works of art, healing, discovery, even moral stalwart sons — get a healthy start.

Arctic Char

by Mary Moore

As I promised I bought another Arctic char and this time asked the fishman to fillet it. He kept the filets joined by the skin at the centre back. It cost me $2.50 and there was plenty to serve 3.

BROILED ARCTIC CHAR

Spread a piece of foil as big as the fish on the broiler pan and brush it with butter or margarine or cooking oil. Place fish on foil, spread top of each fillet with about 1 tablespoon tartsauce mayonnaise and sprinkle sparingly with paprika. Place under very hot broiler and broil 4" from burner, about 10-12 minutes. Important Note: When I heated the broiler I turned both elements on so that the oven would be hot all over. As soon as I put the fish in I turned off bottom burner. This way the underfilets of the fish was cooked without having to be turned over.

Slide the fish, foil and all, onto hot platter, and fold edges of foil under fish so that they are hidden. This way fish is not broken by transferring to platter and, best, of all, the broiler pan is not fishy.

After having cooked and served Arctic char twice, I have decided it is a perfect fish. It is firm and close-textured and a pale salmon color. I think that the general principles of cooking it should include moisture or fat and that you must not overcook it. Besides the two ways I have suggested it may be stuffed with a moist stuffing and baked whole at high heat; it may be cut, into steaks and sprinkled with fat of some kind and broiled or crumbed and fried; and it may be steamed and served cold under mayonnaise aspic.

Now I want to tell you some trivia about my little grandaughter Sue. Do you remember that I mentioned to you earlier this year that I have a very heavy aluminum saucepan that is 8½" in diameter and 3½" deep? When I am preparing the adult breakfast before Sue wakens (she is a grand sleeper — sleeping 11 to 14 hours at night, praise the Lord) in this saucepan I put on to cook on "simmer" her little bit of rolled oats porridge. It slowly cooks, with a minimum of attention because of the thickness of the saucepan, until she arrives on the scene. I make it quite thick, so I can cool it with milk, and yet have it thick enough for her to feed herself.

You young mothers may be saying "So what?" I've been doing that for all my babies for years." But some may still be cooking porridge in double boilers as I am reminding you that if you have one of these heavy saucepans the double boiler method is not necessary. After her porridge she eats, directly out of the pan, with a spoon. By dint of perseverance I help players in the garden by 8.00 her drink about 4 ounces of milk. By determined organiz- about 4 sections of an orange cut from one half. Then ation I can have her in her work at this desk.

QUESTION BOX

Question: I have two problems concerning my wedding, which is soon to take place. I have five girls in my wedding party. Would it be permissible, since there are so many, to have two pairs walk together down the aisle, the maid of honor to walk alone? On leaving the church they each will be walking on the arm of an usher. Is this right? Would it be all right for the taller girls to wear lower heels than the shorter ones, who will be wearing three-inch spikes? The dresses are to be floor-length. — Miss A.D. - Chicago, Ill.

Answer: Your plans for the girls in your wedding party for placing them in the processional are absolutely correct. The bridesmaids, two by two, follow the ushers, who also walk in pairs, down the aisle. They are followed by the matron of honor walking alone just in front of the bride and her father. As for the heel situation, I would suggest a medium French heel for all of your attendants. Height really doesn't enter into it, except that in going down the aisle it makes a better picture to place together those of approximately the same height.

Question: My husband and I attended a dinner at the home of friends the other evening. It was the first time we had been guests in their home. Both of us smoke and we both enjoy a cocktail before dinner. Because of religious beliefs we were not served cocktails nor were we asked to smoke. There wasn't an ashtray in the place. We didn't mind the drink part of it, but we certainly would have enjoyed a smoke or two during the evening. Do you think hosts should forego their religious restrictions when they entertain those whom they know do not do as they do?—Mrs. T. C. S.

Answer: This is a very difficult question to answer. No matter which way I answer it, I will be in the middle! If the host stick to the restrictions imposed on them by their religion, I think a guest should respect their stand and take it gracefully.

I have several friends who do not smoke or drink; yet when they entertain, always provide for guests that do one or both. They themselves do not imbibe or smoke, of course, but as hosts, they feel that they are doing no wrong when they consider the tastes of their guests. It seems to me that this is a problem to be decided by the individual himself.

Question: How do you handle the recessional when the wedding takes place in the home? We are having a pole-dieu in front of the fire-place, with an aisle made of white ribbons leading to the door of the living room. Getting to the pole-dieu is simple, but how do we leave it?—Miss M.E.P., New York, N.Y.

Answer: A recessional is not necessary at the home wedding. Immediately after the ceremony is over, attendants should remove the aisle ribbons. The bride and her husband stand before the pole-dieu and are joined by the rest of the bridal party, thereby forming a receiving line.

Question: I have received a silver cup as a gift to my month-old baby. Her name and date of birth are engraved on it. The date is wrong and I am wondering if it would be rude to send it back to the giver and ask her to have it changed? It says August 10th instead of August 11th. I would like to have it right, but I don't want to hurt my friends.—Mrs. C. B., Baltimore, Md.

Answer: Rather than take the chance of hurting the giver, why not take the cup to a jeweler? Or take the cup to a jeweler? He will be able to change the date, at very little cost to you.

Question — Please let me know as soon as possible if it is correct for the bridegroom's father to give a toast at the reception which follows a formal wedding? — Mrs. N.S.G.

Answer — There is nothing out of line for the bridegroom's father to offer a toast, but it is to be remembered that the best man has the honor of giving the first one. Just a reminder: guard against too many toasts. Two or three are plenty.

Question: My son will be getting married soon in Mexico. Since he is using the Pole-dieu I was thinking of sending a gift to the bride and to her mother. Will this be all right?—Mrs. C.V. - Chicago, Ill.

Answer: I would suggest writing a note to the bride-to-be, welcoming her into your family. I would follow this up with a particularly nice gift. It is not necessary to present a gift to her mother. It is perfectly proper to write her a note, but I would not send her a gift.

Question: I have a friend in school who is continually borrowing clothes from me. I don't have many, and she has lots of her own. She says she just likes to ad the time. Would I be wrong in refusing to lend her anything?

Miss KTS—Hartford, Conn.

Answer: Your most certainly would not! This young friend of yours has a lot of nerve to take advantage of you like this. Naturally you want to wear young own clothes yourself. Just politely tell her that you are sorry, but no more lending. If she doesn't like it, that's just too bad!

I have received several interesting letters from ladies arguing for and against the wearing of hats. They ask my advice on this matter and I am glad to give my opinions, but goodness knows I am no fashion expert.

During the past few years, the custom of going without a hat has definitely grown in favor. However, it seems to me that presently modes, stressing the "French kiss look," will tend to bring hats back where they belong—on a lady's head.

One authority has been heard to say that it is worse to appear on the street bareheaded than bareheaded. This seems to be a little extreme! There must be a happy medium that can be arrived at by using common sense.

Actually, the matter of wearing a hat, or going without, would seem to be dictated largely by personal preference and local custom.

One reader wrote to announce that she simply doesn't like to wear hats, and she wanted to know the occasions on which I thought they absolutely must be worn. The only "absolutely must" occasion is when attending church. Today, however, even this traditional rule has been modified, and in some churches it is permissible to attend without a head covering. So it would seem to be up to the individual.

Personally, I think a hat should be worn whenever a woman wishes to appear well dressed. This would include shopping, lunching, dining in a hotel or restaurant, and going to and from work. Obviously, I think a hat should be worn!

After all, aren't we all agreed that a hat completes an ensemble? It completes the picture and adds an appearance of smartness and good grooming that a wind-blown hairdo can never manage to accomplish. Those who wear a becoming hat can't be wrong. This knowledge will give them better poise and dignity.

To sum it all up, wearing or not wearing a hat comes into the same category as removing or not removing one's gloves. One must be swayed more by personal preference than rigid adherence to correct form. However, no woman can expect to have "that well-groomed look" if she spends with the hat or gloves, particularly for those dressed-up occasions.

Don't forget that hats, aside from completing a costume, can be good conversation pieces!

Question: I have three married friends and want to have them all in my wedding party. Can I ask them all to be matrons of honor? If I don't, I'm afraid there will be hurt feelings.—Miss F. W., New York, N.Y.

Answer: Since only one Matron of Honor is considered proper, I would suggest that you choose the friend you have known the longest to serve in this capacity. The others can be asked to be bridesmaids. They really should not feel any jealousy about this. They would be very unfair if they didn't accept in good grace the honor bestowed upon them.

Question: Is it proper for the groom's parents' names to appear on a wedding invitation? For example "Mary Jane to Mr. John Doe, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Doe." The last three wedding invitations I received were worded in this manner. I have never seen this done before. Is it correct?—Miss D. P., Norridge, Ill.

Answer: It is sometimes done. However, I do not think it should be. The invitation is issued by the bride's parents and only their names should appear. Placing the names of the parents of the bridegroom on a wedding invitation or announcement flouts age-old tradition.

"Lines on Life"

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

We sat and talked about serious things, ultimate things. There were 10 of us and each man was asked to tell us "what he wanted out of life."

As each rose to report his hopes and dreams a connecting thread was woven between all. Their desires seemed to be made of the very same cloth. Ideas repeated themselves in different ways. But over and again we heard the same words: health, happiness, security, peace of mind.

And then suddenly the discussion moved to a different level, a level these busy businessmen had somehow forgotten. Someone said: "Isn't it strange that all of us are speaking the same language; we're talking of the pursuit of personal happiness as our major goal, and yet even as we speak these words we are conscious that there must be more to living than just this."

"Perhaps," said this man, "perhaps, the reason we are giving these strange answers is because we've put the wrong questions."

"How would you put the question?" shot back one of the men.

"I'll tell you," the first answered. "It is not so important to ask 'what do I want out of life' as it is to know what life wants out of me!"

And then he went on to explain his position. The Greeks, he said, were the inventors of the philosophy of "eat, drink and be merry!" This was, and is, the attitude which believes that what's good for me is good for the world. But the ancient Hebrew prophets looked at life differently. They put the equation the other way: what's good for the world, what's good for the community of men, should be good for me, too.

Micah, the speaker reminded them, formulated this position in a classical way. The prophet asked "What doth the Lord require of thee?" He didn't say: "What do I require of the Lord?"

When we seek only the fulfilment of our personal ambitions we end up in frustration: often in despair. When we go about life asking ourselves what our duties are, what our commitments must be, we develop a way of living which gives us buoyancy and inner strength. We can never be satisfied with ourselves because we know that there is not enough of us to go around. There is too much in the life of others upon which we depend.

Atlas, the speaker concluded, was permitted the opinion that he was at liberty, if he wished, to drop the Earth and creep away. But this opinion was all that he was permitted.

BETHEL - ZION WMS

BETHEL - ZION — The regular meeting of Bethel - Zion WMS was held at the home of Mrs. Karle Ray with a fair attendance.

The president, Mrs. John Ketcheson, presided and opened the meeting.

There were 38 cards sent and 25 calls reported made.

It was decided to have an open meeting on October 14 at the church hall. Miss Connie Sills has kindly offered to show slides of her trip. Members were asked to bring two items for the bake table and apron or novelty and plants or slips for the various booths.

Mrs. Percy Ray, Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Ish and Mrs. John Ketcheson were nominated to collect for the flower committee.

Mrs. Simmons offered to take the Mission Band till the end of the year.

Mrs. Laurison Ketcheson was in charge of the worship service. The theme being, "To Shoulder Responsibility".

Scripture was read by Mrs. Percy Ray. Mrs. Ketcheson gave a reading.

At this point, Mrs. Cecil Ketcheson introduced Mrs. Nichols, who gave an inspiring address. Mrs. Simmons thanked Mrs. Nichols.

After the meeting closed a social half hour was held.

And so with all of us. We think we can seek our own fulfillment without regard to our responsibilities to others. But this is only a wishful motion if we drop our commitments and run away we may think that we have achieved happiness or peace of mind. In reality we'd be left with nothing; everyone else will have deserted us, too.

To get the right answer learn to put the right question. To find your own happiness, learn to seek it in others.

Church Holds Special Service

JOHNSTOWN — Thanksgiving Sunday service at Johnstown Church was celebrated with a large attendance. The church was decorated with baskets of flowers, branches of colored leaves, and the produce of the farm. The junior choir sang "We Thank Thee Lord."

Mr. Thrasher's topic was "Think and Be Thankful," stressing that originally Thanksgiving was a Jewish festival; also that our forefathers decorated their churches on this day to show their thankfulness to God for all He had done for them. It ignites within us a spirit of good will toward all men, he said. He asked how many had ever thanked their school teacher for something she had taught them. One such had did when he got older. He was so glad she had taken such care with his education that he wrote and thanked her.

Some time later he heard from this old lady who had taught so long and was now living in one room, lonely and somewhat forgotten.

She said: "Willie, I taught school for some fifty years and of all the children I had, you are the only one who has written and thanked me. You will never know how happy you have made me." She had done more than the job called for.

"Some of us have someone we should, be grateful to," said Mr. Thrasher. "Why not write and tell them so?"

The seed of gratitude must be cultivated to grow. Let us all share with the rest of the world what we have.

Navy Using Mock-up Hulls In Compulsory Training Program at NBCD School

By JOHN MATTERS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ESQUIMALT, B.C. (CP) — Torch and Tumult, names of mock-up hulls on the naval establishment here, mean hell and high water.

The installations are used in compulsory training programs at the navy's nuclear, biological, chemical and damage control school. All of the establishment's 5,000 service personnel have to go through the mill.

Torch is an engine room built of reinforced concrete and sheet iron. The only difference between a fire in it and a fire aboard an actual ship is that instructors ignite 1,000 gallons of fuel oil in a pit under the floor level.

Tumult is a slice of a typical naval vessel. Water rises to chin-level when instructors open all valves and students splash around inside trying to find a make-believe "hit," a hole punctured in the hull.

EMERGENCY DRILL

Before the instructor opens the drain valve they must repair the damage and seal the area to prevent flooding other compartments of the vessel.

Lt.-Cmdr. Norman Eversfield, officer in charge of the NBCD centre, is no zealot but he directs a program which teaches personnel the basic drills for emergencies which may occur in peacetime or wartime.

Courses are also given in the detection of radiation and protection against contamination in biological or chemical warfare.

"The basic lessons in fire and damage control are meant to instil confidence in a ship's crew, to show them ways of saving themselves and their ship," says Cmdr. Eversfield.

NO ACCIDENTS

"We could teach the dangers of fire and flooding for days, but experience in the mock-ups accomplishes the same thing in a few hours."

Slid students on two hoses usually bring fires in Torch under control in a few minutes. They have the experience of using heat-resistant clothing, self-generating oxygen masks and other equipment in the middle of a real scorcher.

Does Cmdr. Eversfield ever worry that black smoke which pours out of Torch may not all be from burning oil? Never. There has not yet been an accident at the installation and instructors always follow students into a fire.

The detection and control of radiation is also part of the curriculum and radioactive sources are used to determine the levels and areas of contamination.

FALLOUT HAZARD

Nuclear fallout is the greatest hazard aboard ship. New ships are being built with sprays which would wash the contamination overboard.

Cmdr. Eversfield, a member of a selected group of Canadian armed forces personnel that watched atomic blasts on Nevada deserts, says fallout is a hazard that all personnel should be aware of and able to detect with special equipment.

Most research and training in the fields of chemical and biological warfare are classified but students are warned that they are among the most potent weapons an enemy could use.

The navy's Stadacona establishment at Halifax has a similar school, built since the Esquimalt training centre was opened in 1957.

Members of civil defence and militia organizations, sea cadets and WRENs are given abbreviated versions of the courses.

Recommends Ice Water for Burns

TORONTO — A radical treatment for burns has been recommended by a doctor in Los Angeles.

Dr. Alex G. Shulman says ice-water is the best first aid measure for any burn covering up to twenty per cent of the body. His method is to place the buried area immediately into a basin containing tap water, ice cubes and a disinfectant, hexachlorophene. If immersion of the area is impractical, apply towels chilled in a bucket of ice water.

Dr. Shulman said his experience indicates that, whatever the subsequent management may be, those patients who receive initial ice water treatment fare better than those who do not. His method was described in a release sent to the Health League of Canada by the American Medical Association.

Passenger Ships Hardest Hit f Pilots Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Passenger ships and vessels using e St. Lawrence Seaway will ardest hit by any prolonged ork stoppage by St. Lawrence ilots, shipping officials said today.

The Pilots' Federation announced Tuesday it will call its 00 members off ships starting Friday to attend a series of meetings—a move that in effect is a strike to back demands in a regulations dispute with the federal government.

Shipping officials said all ocean vessels probably will stop using the Seaway until the pilots return to work. Upbound vessels probably idle anchor near Quebec or Montreal, while ocean ships in the Great Lakes will head for the nearest harbor, they said.

Most freighters coming in from the Atlantic probably will continue to operate, although restricting their sailing to daytime, agents said.

The work stoppage—the first in St. Lawrence history—would pull pilots off ships along the Quebec-to-Montreal section of the Seaway between Massena, N.Y., and Montreal.

VOTE FOR COLLEGE

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's largest Salvation Army training college may be housed in suburban North York. With Ontario municipal board permission still required, the township council voted Tuesday night by a majority of one to approve construction of the $1,500,000 college.

Hon. Earl Rowe Is Oldest Member of Seven Left After Bennett Govt. Beaten in '35

By KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Twenty-five years ago Canada wallowed in the depression. Bread lines formed and hundreds of jobless rode the rods.

Against this background Canadians voted in a general election Oct. 14, 1935. The Conservative government of R. B. Bennett was defeated. Mackenzie King started a Liberal dynasty that was to last 22 years.

Now only a corporal's guard of the 245 persons elected in 1935 remains in the House of Commons. Their ranks were thinned to seven with the appointment to the Senate this summer of Alfred L. Brooks, New Brunswick PC who became minister of veterans affairs in the first Conservative government after the Liberal era.

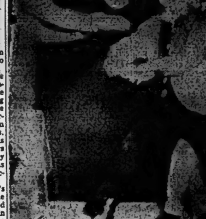
THREE MINISTERS

All except Mr. Rowe and Mr. McGregor formed Canada's parliamentary bepitan in that 1935 election and three of them—Mr. Chevrier, Mr. Martin and Mr. Green — were to become cabinet ministers. All still now have served on both the government and opposition sides of the Commons.

Mr. Rowe was a cabinet minister in the Bennett government turned out by the 1935 election.



Mr. McGregor was first elected to the Commons in 1936, a year later than Mr. Rowe, because his service has been continuous since he was first elected in the House of Commons for several months as a Conservative before its Ontario in 1936-37.

Known as a "dry" both in the Commons, Mr. McGregor has a reputation for remarkable personality. He has spoken only a few times in the House in his long career. One of those rare instances — a 41-word effort last session — was spiced with the McGregor recipe for parliamentary longevity:

"If a great many honorable members made fewer speeches in the House, they would last a lot longer."

SPORT PERSONALITIES

Mr. Leonard is one who has, for the most part, followed this practice. He also speaks rarely but in his opposition days he could be a biting opponent with his interjections. He is a former

STARRING DURING POLITICAL RALLY IN TOKYO — Inejiro Asanuma, chairman of Japan's Socialist Party, clutching his chest from first wound stands helpless as his assailant whirls to thrust knife for second time as restrained onlookers rush in to subdue assailant. The attack came during a political rally in Tokyo, Japan. Otaya Yamaguchi, 17-year-old Rightest fanatic, identified as the assassin, was arrested. Asanuma died of the wounds.

Hydro Must Triple Capacity In 20 Years

ST. THOMAS (CP) — In the next 20 years Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission must more than triple its generating capacity, and nearly half this increase will come from nuclear power plants, Energy Resources Minister Macaulay of Ontario said Wednesday.

Mr. Macaulay said failure to develop nuclear plants will mean the purchase of $30,000,000 worth of coal a year, Ontario has no coal, he pointed out, but it has large deposits of uranium.

He was addressing the annual conference of District 7 of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association.

The minister said Ontario Hydro's present generating capacity of 6,000,000 kilowatts must by 1980 be increased to 20,000,000 kilowatts. Up to 2,000,000 kilowatts can be provided from water power; the balance must come from fuel and uranium.

Mr. Macaulay said a Texas company seeking exploration permits to drill in Lake Erie has been given no guarantee that it will find oil or will get development permits.

While exploration and development of wells in Lake Erie is allowed at present, he said, this situation could change after a commission studying lake drilling hands in its report.

The report is expected some time this winter.

Mr. Rose Gillie, of Bowmanville Hydro, first vice-president of the province's newly initiated Ontario Hydro will be able to keep its power rates low in the next 10 years. He added that if an increase in power rates is necessary, municipal utilities will get at least six months warning.

Workers Hired For Winter Work Must Join Union

TORONTO (CP)—Local 43 of the amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada (CLC) said Wednesday it would take the city of Toronto to arbitration unless workers hired for the city's unemployment relief project this winter be forced to join the union after 60 days.

The union told board of control it demands are based on a case of this kind in a case of the union against the city of Peterborough last May.

During the last two years Toronto has agreed to give workers laid off the first chance at winter employment. In return the city has agreed not to require union membership from other persons hired.

Union official William Overholt said the position had changed with the Peterborough decision and the union cannot go against the position established there.

City solicitor J. Palmer Kent said Toronto's agreement with the union differed from that in Peterborough and the precedent would not apply here. The board voted to continue last year's policy.

Membership of agricultural co-operatives in South Africa increased from 11,500 in 1912 to 251,000 in 1958.

Canadian Mechanic Thought Luluas Fooling When They Fired up Huge Water Kettle

Bernard Dufresne, Canadian Press reporter with the UN force in the Congo, is visiting Canadian detachments in various parts of the country.

In this story, he tells of Luluabourg, which "could become a rope and an ominous-looking kettle."

LULUABOURG (CP)—Charles Bernier thinks a bunch of Luluas, who have a recent history of cannibalism, were just fooling when they tied a rope around his neck and lifted up a huge water kettle.

But he'll never be sure.

The 27-year - old electronics technician from Montreal is the only Canadian United Nations employee in the capital of Kasi province, in the south part of the Congo.

And ever since he arrived in the Congo Aug. 6, on a three-months contract with the International Civil Aviation Organization to set up ground - to - air communications at Luluabourg, Bernier has been living in a slight-built, bespectacled Lulua's shadow.

Bernier's three-months engagement ends about Nov. 1 and he plans to leave for Canada. His wife and three small daughters live at Terrebonne, which is about 20 miles northeast of Montreal.

Labor Congress Urges Session On Jobless

OTTAWA — The 1,100,000-member Canadian Labor Congress yesterday called for a special session of Parliament to deal with unemployment. The Congress also issued a lengthy policy statement seeking a revival the co-operation of management, labor and all levels of government in providing jobs for Canadians.

The policy statement was a prelude to views the CLC plans to express Oct. 24 and 25 at a conference in Ottawa called by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker to discuss unemployment.

The labor group's policy statement said the country had long entered a new recession.

It forecast that unemployment this winter would undoubtedly be the worst for 25 years since the Second World War and probably much worse than the biggest previous postwar recession, three years ago.

Included in the CLC's proposals were large-scale Government investment in the public sector of the economy, the adoption of a full employment act with appointment of a council of economic advisers, and expansion and relaxing of the Labor-Department's status.

The statement, issued by President Claude Jodoin, urged Canadian unions to exert the "strongest possible pressure for shorter hours, without reduction in weekly pay, and for higher wages; for supplementary unemployment benefits, guaranteed annual wage, severance pay and other collective bargaining clauses designed to help stabilize employment and lessen the impact of unemployment."

Canadian Trek To U.S. Shows Sharp Increase

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—The trek of Canadian migrants to the cities and towns of the United States rose in 1960, reversing the sharp decline of 1959.

Officials in the U.S. immigration service, now preparing the annual report, said Wednesday the report will show that the number of native-born Canadians emigrating to the U.S. totalled 30,900 in the fiscal year which ended last June 30.

This is an increase of 7,908 from the 23,092 who moved across the border in the previous fiscal year. Canadians tend to move mainly into such states as Massachusetts, Michigan, New York and California.

The report also will show that the number of immigrants giving Canada as their last place of permanent residence before their arrival was high of 46,689 in the fiscal year ended last June, a rise of 12,099 from the previous year.

REASON UNKNOWN

The figure also includes the Canadian emigrants and European immigrants who left Canada for residence in Canada for a short period before shifting to the U.S.

Immigration officials said they do not have sufficient details to determine why immigration from Canada has perked up but they surmise that the mild business reaction is still higher-paying jobs and employment opportunities.

During the last 150 years, about 1,800,000 residents of Canada moved to the U.S. The U.S. census determined that 1,000,000 of them were almost 1,000,000 native-born Canadians residing in the U.S.— mostly in Northern states and California. A new census compilation will be published next spring.

The flow of native-born Canadians to the U.S. declined in the 1930-50 period but tended to increase during the 1951-59 period rate of 23,000 or 30,000. The postwar high in Canadian migration to the U.S. was in 1957, declining thereafter to 20,055 in 1958 and 23,092 in 1959. These figures do not reflect the place of last residence totalled 29,954 in 1957, dropping to 42,143 in 1958 and 34,590 in 1959.

Society Drops Custody Claim For 3 Children

TECUMSEH (CP) — "Thank God we have our children back," a stim housewife said Wednesday as three of her children played happily in their backyard.

A four month long legal battle for custody of Gordon, 15, and Glenda Lorraine Lewis, 14, was dropped Wednesday by the Essex County Childrens Aid Society. Their brother, 16, was not sought because her age put her beyond jurisdiction of the CAS.

The children gained headlines when Mrs. Gordon slipped out of the house and told neighbours she and his sisters had decided 11 years.

Mrs. Shirley Dickerson Leach said the children, all by a previous marriage were hidden because she feared they would be ridiculed because of a "kind condition" of their father's mental growth.

The Children's Aid Society asked in family court Wednesday that the whole matter be dropped and that the children be allowed to live with their mother and step-father.

"We feel the situation has improved," Judge Gordon Hall said was, "and it is in the children's interests they be at home. We will not make an order but will so hold."

Mrs. Leach promised everything she and her husband can do for the children.

"The doctors know what we have to do to help them all we can," she said. "We're going to give them everything. We want them to have a little life. No one laughs now and they can live their own lives."

U.S. Steel Consumers Use More Steel Than Being Made At Present Time Is Report

By FORBES-RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Steel consumers in the United States now and for the last few months have been using more steel than is being produced, Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board of United States Steel Corporation, said today.

He said the national industrial conference board, that American steel consumption this year is expected to substantially exceed that of the last two years, and to approach the record levels of 1955-1957.

Steel ingot production, however, will range between 100,000,000 and 105,000,000 tons, compared with a record of 115,000,000 tons in the period 1955-1957.

The explanation of high consumption and relatively low production, Mr. Blough said, lies in changed inventory policies — a "fundamental change" that could be expected to start a rise of 12,000 tons in inventory cutting since.

EXPLAINS CHANGE

He ascribed the following reasons for the change:

"Capacity in the steel industry that assures ample and quick supply; the assurance of long life and peace for some time to come; foreign sources of supply; the domestic shortages develop; better management of inventories; control and planning of inventories; the cost of funds for carrying inventories; and the increasing squeeze on profits which makes the carrying of even normal inventories burdensome."

Mr. Blough believes in inventory cutting "has gone about as far as it can go," and he expects some improvement in the fourth quarter.

Two Govt. Depts. Endorse Course for H.S. Drivers

By DON BECKETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial assistance for high school courses in driver instruction was announced by the Ontario government Wednesday.

The government will provide money equivalent to $5 per pupil, text books and some equipment.

A cabinet meeting Wednesday, Education Minister Robarts and transport Minister Yaremko said all courses in driver instruction must include outside regular school hours and must not reduce or interfere with regular school work, and also must be approved.

The new program is completely voluntary.

There is evidence to substantiate the statement that young people trained in comprehensive courses in driver instruction are officially fewer accidents and traffic violations," Mr. Yaremko said.

He said insurance companies have indicated they will give a discount to young drivers who take the courses.

LOCAL CONTROL

The organization and supervision of courses will be under the control of the principal and subject to the approval of the local school board, Mr. Robarts said.

"So that boards may be eligible for provincial assistance, proper standards will have to be provided in the organization and operation of the classes, he said. The minimum would include 25 hours of classroom instruction, eight hours of practice driving with a car as well as a dual control vehicle.

The transport department would supply a program co-ordinator to help boards and organize courses to train instructors; test books in driver instruction and also would train traffic-control mechanisms for each vehicle.

WILL PAY GRANTS

The education department would pay grants to the school board for the classroom part of driver instruction courses in the after-school classes.

Both departments, Mr. Yaremko said, have been assured by the major automobile manufacturers that their dealers will provide cars wherever possible.

Some 24 boards have already give driver instruction courses, with some assistance from the education and transport departments. The new program will provide more aid.

Amendments to Labor Relations Act Effective After October 22

TORONTO (CP) — Regulations of Ontario's Labor Relations Act, amended during the last session of the legislature, will become effective Oct. 22, Premier Frost said Wednesday following a cabinet meeting.

The new regulations will be printed in a special edition of the Ontario Gazette before the end of the first of next week.

One new provision gives the labor department authority to demand audited reports of union expenditures and welfare funds at request of the department of insurance.

"We might want these in regard to the work we are doing in portable pensions," Mr. Frost said.

A special government committee is studying portable pension schemes.

Another new provision controls union trusteeship and gives the labor department authority to call for the names of trustees and an indication of how long local unions will remain under the trusteeship of international unions.

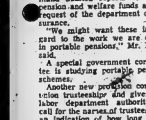
But Mr. Frost said the new regulations will not conflict with past labor rules and practices. The old regulations were repealed because "it was the easiest way" in the light of the amendments during debate.

The labor department will hold a three-day meeting with employer and trade unions to outline the new regulations.

The regulations also cover:

A special mediator jointly selected by the parties to a dispute who can be used in place of a conciliation officer or conciliation board and who would discharge the functions of both.

The conciliation procedure by allowing the labor minister to replace a member of a conciliation board if proceedings are delayed.



The rights of any party concerned to complain to the minister that a conciliation is in the event of undue delay.

Jurisdictional disputes, most frequent in the construction and printing trades, are settled by boards and strikes created when there is a conflict of working interests in a particular trade.

The strike vote, which must be taken by secret ballot.

The amended labor relations act has only applied to the Labor, Liberal and CCF members charging that the government welfare legislation and benefit employers.

"This matter is under considerable turning point in labor law," Mr. Frost said. "We have learned from experience . . . if these regulations don't meet the situation, we will alter them."

DESERONTO

Mutual Aid Plans Counties' Foam Bank

DESERONTO — The Deseronto Fire department was host to the monthly meeting of the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Mutual Aid Association on October 5th.

There were some fifty-five present for the meeting which included some instruction as well as business. Among the guests were two officials of the Fire Marshal's Department, Chairman Howard of the local fire committee representing the town council, Chief Patten from Napanee, and some representatives of firms selling fire supplies.

The evening began with a demonstration of a new portable pump of U.K. design which is being placed on the Canadian market, and a display of foam fire fighting equipment by the representative of the La France company.

The business session was held in the fire hall and among the important issues discussed were the formation of a foam bank for the two counties, and traffic hazards for fire equipment travelling to a fire.

In regard to the foam bank the meeting decided to approach the county councils as soon as enough departments were equipped to do their share. The amount of foam to be kept on hand by each department was set at ten gallons.

The discussion regarding traffic hazards was a lively one with argument both for and against drivers of fire trucks. The meeting decided motorists, as a rule, do not afford the fire trucks the courtesy required by the traffic act. This hampers apparatus going to a fire. It was emphasized that under present regulations, apparatus has only the right-of-way but must conform to speed rules and stop at all stop streets even when all other traffic is compelled to pull to the side of the road and stop when hearing an approaching siren.

The meeting finally decided to have Instructor H. Mallory of the Fire Marshal's office ask for a traffic expert from the Provincial Police to attend the next Mutual Aid meeting to answer all questions of attending departments.

Following the meeting the Deseronto Department served refreshments and were hosts at a social half hour.

Reports Show Year of Activity In Various District Institutes, Slate of Officers Approved

By GLADYS WARD

On Wednesday morning the Trent Valley area of the Women's Institute reconvened with Mrs. S. R. Beatty of Maple presiding. Mrs. Herbert Wallace and Mrs. Elliott of Plainfield received the guests as they entered.

After the opening ceremonies a report on Agriculture and Canadian Industries was given by Mrs. Don Chisholm of Roslin, which showed a year of activity and study. Tours were taken by the members through the Bell Shoe factory at Belleville; to the Smithfield Experimental Farm; to Petersfield to visit Canada Packers, Quaker Oats and other industries; and to the botanical gardens at Hamilton and Toronto. Some of the interesting radio calls included a verse of Scripture pertaining to agriculture; different ways wheat comes to our table; reasons why young people should stay on the farm; a product of Canadian industry I am wearing, and a safety measure practised on the farm. Some mottoes used were our cherished way of life never cast it without the dairy cow and the top six inches of soil; industry keeps the body healthy, the mind clear, the heart whole and the purse full; made in Canada by Canadians for Canadians. There were many and varied topics and papers given, farming yesterday and today; from beet to sugar bowl; paper making from log to paper; one meeting was held in the form of a travelogue through European countries, comparing their industries with our own.

The use of demonstrations was advocated for the meetings as they proved more interesting than just hearing about it. Some that were used were the preparation of summer salads; wrapping and preparing meat and vegetables for the freezer; 4-H Club exhibits and wrapping Christmas gifts. Guest speakers were invited to a number of programs. Among these was an engineer from Northern Electric who showed pictures on the plants in Belleville and Montreal; a representative from the Bell Telephone who showed films of the DEW line from its inception to its completion. A representative from a flower shop displayed different flower arrangements, then the flowers and containers were donated to the shut-ins and sick. A talk on life at MacDonald Institute was given by a student there. Under special projects the ladies catered to banquets, served at community sales; entered exhibits at local fairs, sponsored homemaking and calf clubs.

MANY VIEW DISPLAY

...A display or neat covers was on view arranged on a table at the front of the room. These showed interesting designs and good workmanship.

Miss Jayne Gay of Ivanhoe, convener of public relations, presented her report showing that a year of much activity which included assisting in the tuck shop, hospital auxiliary; delivering re-conditioned radios to homes for the aged; collecting stamps for British cancer fund; assisted parks board in finishing a kitchen and supplying a complete set of dishes; maintaining road signs; many branches reported entertaining families at pot luck suppers; canvasses were made on behalf of the Red Cross, the C.N.I.B., and cancer society; one branch put $500 aside towards building a community hall; another branch paid for the adoption of a refugee; one branch engaged a tea-room for four days during a centennial celebration, and also entered a float with the members dressed as early settlers and won first prize.

A number of branches had friendship links in other countries; ladies of the community were invited to the short courses, and, non-members were asked to assist with material for the Tweedsmuir history. It was suggested that the institute magazine, Home and Country should be placed in branch doctors' and dentists' offices.

Branches have shown thoughtfulness in many ways by entertaining in homes for the aged and bringing them special treats; gifts of jam were sent to children's homes; gifts to fire victims; clothing to needy families; and assistance to a young boy in need of an artificial leg. Charitable donations were made to the children's aid, mental health, the arthritic society, crippled children, C.N.I.B. polio fund, Salvation Army, March of Dimes, Elizabeth Fry Society, Educational donations were made to the home for retarded children, prizes for public speaking, scholarships to local schools, music festivals and citizens. Health donations went to Prince Edward County Hospital, a wheel chair, Women's hospital auxiliary among others. Gifts of insurance for a community hall, cemetery care, upkeep of parks, teen town, museums, gloves for firemen, clothing and layettes for needy families. Sanitarium services were among the many contributions made.

BROADCAST CONTINUES

The Women's Institute broadcast is continuing over CJBQ in Belleville. The past year guests included public relations officials of the district level, area directors, Mrs. Bernard Brooks and Mrs. M. B. Weese, first president of the area. Items of interest sent in by the branches were broadcast, and a report of the Guelph convention. The value of the donations totalled $10,129.55.

Miss Helen McKercher of Toronto, director of Home Economics Service, addressed the convention, urging support of the programs of the Women's Institutes in the province and in Canada.

"The basic interest in extension work is in the development of people," said Miss McKercher. "There is strong evidence that we are getting new members from inviting people to the new courses. In participation people grow and develop. Local leader training schools are a great help. Some comments indicated there was interest in night classes, but our reasons for not having them were that leather work and sewing require better lighting than most halls have; the women are too tired after their day's work. We do not want to turn into a night school, you can get these things in rural night schools. We do try to meet some special requests.

"We appreciate your participation in the farm home survey. You have taken part in something important. It is the most intensive survey ever done on farm homes. This up-to-date information has been requested from many sources and governments. The survey included half, who were Institute members and half who were not. The Institute is not just for farm women but should include those who are living in the fringe areas. The reasons women gave for not belonging to the Institute were that they were busy with small children, or church work, or had not been asked.

"Our survey showed our public relations were good. Institute members were a little better educated with an average of Grade X. Women are taking a big share in the operation of the farm. Two-thirds of farm women were involved with farm finances. There is a strong partnership between husband and wife, and it is a big business operation.

BIG CLOTHING PROBLEM

There is a big clothing problem today with new textiles and the drip-dry fabrics. Department is trying to give information and help. The best source of information is not the sales clerk, but Home Economics which has consumer information, with subject matter which is clear and precise on type for right. There is material available about automatic washers and dryers and household equipment. Many women have gadgets on their appliances which they do not use. Try to buy with value in mind, not unnecessary frills. You can save dollars by making your own mixes and sauces. The farm wife is buying too many prepared foods, and they should question whether the time they save is money or not.

"Farm wives need bookkeeping courses because many of them are keeping books. Women are operating farms because they are living longer than men. Home crafts help you with the kind of home furnishings you buy. Articles used in the home must be not only functional but good in color and design. A course will be available after the first of the year for those interested in home furnishings.

"The survey showed that you are looking after the children well, and have them well immunized. One question was asked, 'Are there any mental defands on teen-aged children?' Some thought there were not, and some thought there were not enough, while others said to just let them alone. Young people cannot do everything that is available, and still keep up with Grades XII and XIII. A basic education is important, and should precedes any change in the advancement of people for solving their own problems".

FOOD PROGRAM MATERIAL

Reporting for Home Economics and Health, Convener Mrs. George Stephens of Ballycroy congratulated the members on the variety of the program material. Some of the roll calls were answered by: a good way to relax; some of the hobbies of picnic basket; tips on first aid; how to relieve fatigue and my figure; my worst mistake in cooking; favorite ways of using oranges; and what I serve to unexpected guests. Mottoes included: Give the old age an youth, fifty is the youth of old age; a little of the best for all diets; health is wealth, treasure it dearly; happiness is to perfume you cannot pour on others without getting some of it on yourself; it takes 64 muscles to frown, only 13 to smile; health is God's gift, your part is to keep it. Some of the topics used were dental health; posture; care of the skin; you have to be sharp to shop; caution in tranquillizers; safety rules in the home; freezing of meat; diet; diabetes.

Exhibits and demonstrations were given of table settings and service; different ways of handbagging; how to make Christmas decorations by a lady's menu for a diabetic; care and styling of hair.

Short courses were given in hospitality; how to save dollars and make sense; treasures in your attic; rug making; catering to crowds, and fashion highlights.

The 4-H Girls' Club work was encouraging with much interest shown in the projects. "Clothes closets up-to-date" and "Meat in the menu." After completing their courses, their achievement days were well attended. Those who completed their courses received silver spoons or crystal along with their individual certificates.

A lunch of turkey a la king was served to the delegates at noon in the dining room of the Club Canara.

At the afternoon session of the "friendly convention" Mrs. Harry Shearer of Buckhorn presided. After assembly singing the girls' work directors, Mrs. Marian Smith, Miss Juna Lillgrove of Lindsay and Miss Julia Lane of Napanee, presented the girls in several demonstrations. The Lakefield Kitchen Kutups showed different ways of preparing one cut of meat, in this case a pork butt, and suggested ideas for thrifty and appetizing meals, using all parts of the animal. Even the bone was used to make a bud vase.

DEMONSTRATIONS SEEN

The Helping Hands Club of Hastings County demonstrated how the club girl stands on guard to keep fit physically and mentally. First Aid in the home was shown by the Melrose club. A bow was used, painted white with a red cross on the lid, and a list of the contents pasted inside the lid. A properly equipped box should have a small bottle of Detinl, bandages, small scissors, adhesive tape, surgical gauze, absorbent cotton, bandaids for minor cuts, and a sterilized needle for slivers. The girls demonstrated how to apply bandages for different kinds of injuries, but warned that this was done before going to the doctor's, and that treatment should not be given that needed a doctor's skill.

The Bury Bodies from Bloomfield, Prince Edward County, took as their topic, a wool skirt and its companions. A skirt in any fabric should be used for tailored or casual wear achieved by accessories in shoes, gloves and blouses.

Sandra Goodsell who was a delegate from Northumberland to the junior girls' conference at Guelph, gave a report of that meeting. The theme was yesterday, today and tomorrow. They were told the value of the 4-H clubs could not be measured. They were taken on a guided tour of MacDonald Institute. A talk was given on the value of money, with the subtitle, save some, spend some and give some. A demonstration on flower arrangements was given in the Horticultural building. The 4-H and homemaking clubs were laying the foundations of the young people's careers.

Carol Morgan of the Community Club in Northumberland gave a demonstration on how to preserve vegetables three ways, by storage, canning and freezing. Storage needed cool air and space; canning needed steam vegetables and airtight containers, and freezing was a simplified way to preserve color and freshness and needed speed and care. Samples were given to each way of preserving.

The question box was in charge of Mrs. Lymburner and Miss McKercher and brought out several points of interest. The Provincial board had decided that there would be only one fall age on the plowing match which is being held in Belleville next year, and the women who were giving meals made it a local effort with whatever money that was made belonging entirely to the local institutes.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Procedure will be contained in the new handbook which will probably be out early next year. To interest new members, it was suggested that they should be invited to join, shown friendship and members should offer to take new prospective members with them.

The report of the nominating committee was brought in by Mrs. E. Irwin of Campbellford and the election of officers was conducted by Provincial President, Mrs. Lymburner. The following slate was presented and duly elected: Honorary president, Mrs. M. Rutherford, Grafton; president, Mrs. Ronson Roberts, Ballaway; 1st vice-president, Mrs. John Reid, Trenton; 2nd vice president, Mrs. S. R. Beatty, Madoc; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. H. Shearer, Buckhorn; secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Percy Ray, Hallaway; assistant secretary, Mrs. John Whitehouse, Brighton; Conveners — resolutions, Mrs. W. A. Goodfellow, Codrington; citizenship and education, Mrs. W. Harris, Havelock; historical research and current events, Mrs. George McCrimmon, Eldorado; home economics and health, Mrs. Harold Minifie, Cold Springs; agriculture and Canadian industries, Mrs. Don Chisholm, Roslin; Junior Institute activities, Mrs. Gordon Fox, Bloomfield; public relations, Miss Jayne Gay, Ivanhoe; auditors, Mrs. Roy Brickman and Mrs. Jack Parrott, Belleville; home and country reporter, Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Belleville; provincial board director, Mrs. Sherman Foster, Hillier; alternate, Mrs. Clifford Barber, Belleville; director for subdivision No. 6, Mrs. Edgewell, Warsaw; alternate, Mrs. G. Three resolutions were passed to be sent to the provincial board for approval or rejection. The first of these read, whereas the retail outlets for wall covering, consumers are protected from the inconvenience of double rolls of wallpaper, when for economy and convenience single rolls are desired, therefore be it resolved that the Women's Institutes and associated selling organizations produce and provide for purposes of economy and convenience, single rolls in addition to double as advertised. The second one was, whereas the printing on coiles sugar bags is almost impossible to remove, and whereas many people use the cotton sugar bags for various purpose, therefore be it resolved to petition the powers that be, in charge, to treat sugar bags similarly to flour bags, to have the printing on paper strips attached to the sugar bags.

The third resolution was whereas we believe that it is false to classify margarine as a dairy product and whereas it is being placed on grocery shelves in the dairy section and whereas we believe this to be a misrepresentation of the product as being of the dairy industry, therefore be it resolved that we do not buy these, whereas the retail outlets for wall covering, consumers are protected from the inconvenience of double rolls of wallpaper, when for economy and convenience single rolls are desired, therefore be it resolved that the Women's Institutes and associated selling organizations produce and provide for purposes of economy and convenience, single rolls in addition to double as advertised. SAY U.S. CONSPIRACY

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban press printed a Tass story Wednesday from London reporting rumors in the British capital that Americans are recruiting Spaniards for an invasion of Cuba. The Tass story said the rumors allegedly are being sent by way of Majorca to an unnamed Caribbean island that is serving as a staging area for an invasion.

Sport Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A few years ago Hec Crighton blew the whistle on Canadian pro football when he wrote in a national magazine that American coaches in the Canadian game are "95th-parallel blind." In effect he said they bypassed the homebrews in favor of the well-paid, much-ballyhooed imports.

That was in 1954, and Hec hit the issue right on the nose. Team operators didn't like it a bit and it didn't take them long to ease him out of the football picture. He had been a football player and official for 40 years, had rewritten the Canadian Rugby Union rule book and was a top authority on rules.

Today, he's on the fringes of things in anything pertaining to the Big Four and Western Conference.

At the time of his writing, one of the guilty parties was Coach Frank Clair, who had piloted Toronto Argonauts to Grey Cup victories in 1950 and 1952. Clair figured Americans should call the signals, carry the ball and Canadians should labor at the unglamorous job of making the holes or playing strictly on defence.

CHANGED MIND

But Clair, given a five-year contract by Ottawa Rough Riders in 1958, has changed his mind —or maybe Canadian players did it for him—because the Roughies right now are the terrors of the Big Four. And a lot of the credit can go to his Canadian ball carriers.

He has a flock of outstanding Canadians, and stickouts on offence are a couple that no pro club in the country could buy—quarterback Russ Jackson and halfback Ken Stewart. Each has been with the Riders three years and Jackson is the only Canadian-born first-string quarter in the East.

Jackson, a 32-year-old six-foot one native of Hamilton, came into his own last year when the Riders narrowly missed winning the Eastern title. Football writers are named him the outstanding Canadian player in the country. He won the Big Four's passing title with a completion percentage of .506 and directed the club's ground offensive, one of the best in Canada.

And Stewart? Well, he's something special. Just five-foot-eight and a mere 175 pounds, he runs like a frightened rabbit. He could barely reach up and touch towering linemen on the helmet but he doesn't back off from anybody and fights for every yard he gains.

SECOND IN SCORING

He had to fight for his job, too. Clair used him only sparingly when he joined the Riders in 1958 probably thinking the big bruisers would manhandle the little scatback. Stewart got a little more work in 1959 and this season has been carrying a big offensive load.

Statistics can be pretty dull, but not to Rider fans when they apply to the 24-year-old Stewart.

He is second behind George Dixon of Montreal in the scoring list with 84 points on 14 touchdowns—13 of which were scored on running plays. He is second behind team-mate Dave Thelen in rushing. He leads the punt-return men and is third on kick-off returns. And of course, he owns the Big Four record for rushing in a single game with 267 yards, made on Monday when the Riders humiliated Montreal 51-21.

OTHER CANUCKS

If you want to know about other Ottawa Canadian-born offensive threats, there are end Bobby Simpson, a 10-year veteran with the club, and halfback Davey West, a 32-year-old who has broken up a couple of games this season.

There's also Gary Schreider, a Queen's team-mate with Stewart. The 26-year-old Schreider, a fine defensive half who can also carry the ball, is the convert and placement kicking specialist for Riders.

Other clubs have a fair share of native-born ball-carrying and pass - catching Canadians, but you've got to hand it to kingpin coach Clair for giving his homebreds a chance.

Somewhere along the line, between Crighton's criticism and Clair's appointment to the Ottawa job, he has learned a lot about Canadians.

In the Dressing Rooms

By ED WILES

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"What do I think about Mantle's drive? It looked like a drive to me," he said. "The pitch just came in on me."

Blanchard admitted he was nervous, but only for the first two hitters. "Then I felt all right. I called the game, because I've worked with Whitey before. But I was telling myself 'Don't mess it up' when I came in from the bullpen."

NOT QUITE HOPPING

Over in the winner's smelly hopping in the Pirates' clubhouse, Said Murtaugh shout the Yankees: "They were hitting some pretty good pitches off Friend, and when they're hitting, they're tough to get out."

Talking the hour hardest was Friend, who had been looking forward to pitching again after being lifted for a pinch-hitter while getting tagged for three runs in the 16-3 defeat.

"I had good stuff," said the big right-hander.

"It makes me feel worse when they hit me like that than when I don't have anything. But I had it this time, my curve ball was good. I was better than the first time I pitched."

"I really feel bad," he said. "It's a shame."

"I want you to throw a lot of bean balls today, kid. In other words, think a little!"

Bombers Face Lions Tonight

WINNIPEG (CP) — British Columbia Lions, one point behind Calgary Stampeders in the race for the final Western Interprovincial Football Union playoff spot, could use Winnipeg Blue Bombers as a stepping stone tonight but they may find it hard.

The Bombers will be going all out for the victory, even though they have all but wrapped up their third straight conference title.

The Winnipeg players and fans will be celebrating "Buddy" Tinsley Night," in honor of the 11-year veteran ex-tackle. Coach Bud Grant says the club wants to win for Buddy. The team has requested a special players' meeting, without the balding Buddy, in preparation for the game.

Coach Wayne Robinson of B.C. will be using Jim Walden as quarterback, hoping Walden can duplicate his performance of last Thursday when he directed the Lions to a 21-13 win over the second place Edmonton Eskimos.

Robinson says his club is healthier than they have been all season and they're in "jolly good spirits".

Grant, meanwhile, is having problems—he has too many good imports. He said, however, that Ray Jauch will play at halfback, in place of Carver Shannon, and Mike Wright will be back at tackle, relieving Dave Davis. Kenny Ploen will be the starting quarterback.

Grant, after seeing films of the last B.C.-Edmonton game, said Lions are looking like a new and more dangerous team since that victory.

Mild weather, with temperatures in the high 40s, is expected. Lions have nine points in 12 games, while Stampeders have 10 points in 14 games.

GREAT INDUSTRY

Yearly production value of Australia's plastics industry increased from $3,653,000 in 1946 to $112,700,000 in 1960.

Series Notes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Figuring the series:

The Yanks' Bobby Richardson, who hit two triples in Wednesday's game to tie a series record, had only three triples in 150 games during the regular season. His also raised his runs batted in output to 12, another series mark, as compared to 13 by Babe Ruth in 1928.

Roberto Clemente of the Pirates is the only player to take part in all six games who has not scored a run.

Whitey Ford's five strikeouts Wednesday gave him a total of 43, most in series competition. Allie Reynolds, a former Yankee, held the previous mark of 42.

The victory was Ford's seventh in the series and ties him for the most games won with Red Ruffing and Reynolds. The start was his 14th, extending his own record for most starting assignments.

Pittsburgh pitcher Bob Friend hit two batters—Elston Howard and Tony Kubek—to equal the record for most hit batsmen in a game. It has been done nine other times. It was a tough record for Howard to share in. The other from Friend broke the little finger on his right hand.

The series has gone to seven games in five of the last six years with the Yankees involved all five times.

The Yanks' Yogi Berra is the only player among those to see action in all six games who has not struck out.

Bill Mazeroski of the Bucs had seven assists Wednesday, one short of the record for a second baseman.

Cleto Boyer of the Yankees started two double plays to tie the mark for most double plays started by a third baseman in a nine-inning game. Fred McMullin of the 1917 White Sox, Oscie Bluege of the 1934 Senators and Whitey Kurowski of the 1946 Cards previously turned the trick.

The Yankees accounted for 32 assists Wednesday, two short of the record by a club in a game. The Red Sox made 21 against the Cubs Sept. 9, 1918.

COUGHS CUT FIELD

NEWMARKET, England (AP) — Lord Derby's Alcove won the 119th running of the Cesarewitch Handicap — the horse race that went into the record books as the Coughing Cesarewitch — Wednesday. Sea Wolf was second and Hoy, third over a 2¼-mile turf course. A coughing epidemic cut the field to 20.

Hull Shades Kingston 5-4; Beavers Tie

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Undefeated Hull-Ottawa Canadiens battled from behind twice Wednesday for a 5-4 victory over hard-shooting Kingston Frontenacs to narrow by one point the gap from Eastern Professional Hockey League leading Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers.

Beavers only just kept their hold on top spot as Sudbury Wolves held the undefeated leaders to a 2-2 tie.

Canadiens rookie Cliff Pedington tipped in the tie - breaker from Bobby Rousseau with only two minutes and 10 seconds remaining before—2,346 Kingston fans.

GOALIES HOT

In Kitchener goalie Gerry McNamara stopped 35 of 37 Beavers shots before a crowd of 1,337.

Beavers went into the lead after a scoreless first period when Dan Bellio connected on a three-way passing play. Sam Bellotte sank a screened 30-foot shot to tie the game at 13:35.

Mel Pearson gave the undefeated Beavers the lead again in the third. Cummy Burton tied it up for good at 14:36.

Hull - Ottawa's Terry Gray scored twice to tie up the game while Gilles Tremblay and Rousseau added the others. Kingston goaltenders were Buddy Boone with two, rookie Tom Williams and Don Blackburn.

Frontenacs got good service from goalie Norm Jacques who warded off Canadiens as they outshot Frontenacs 37-27.

Jim Matthews Again Heads Booster Club

The slate of officers for the 1959-60 Belleville Mac Booster Club was swept back into office as a body as the organization held its annual meeting for the '60-'61 season last night at the city hall.

Heading the club for his second term will be Jim "Snipe" Matthews. Vice-president will be Harry Rollins, who chaired last night's meeting in Matthew's absence, while Mary Garvin is the secretary and Barbara Graham the treasurer. Dick Beare is honorary president and Arnold Duffy past president.

Named to the executive body were Joan Gander, Len Mason, Tom Neill, Edna Miller, Wally MacGillivray, Clayton Fyench, Doc Daugherty, Borden Lee, Cecil Cherry, Bert Miller, Ranger Jim Morre, Clarke Potter and Jim Ingle.

Rollins thanked the executive and everyone else who had helped run the club last year, prior to opening nominations for the new season, congratulating the various committee chairmen for a job well done.

Treasurer Barb Graham gave a detailed treasurer's report that showed the club had a balance on hand at the present time of $3,871.94, including net receipts from last year's operation of $684.33 and a cheque turned over to the club by Rollins for $81.89 left over fro mthe club's overseas fund of two years ago.

The club has received $1,515.59 last season, including $783.02 from the Squaw Valley draw, while spending $831.36 for operating expenses. Largest item on the debit side of the ledger was $455.09 for general expenses. Membership last year brought in $432.36.

The club has started its sale of membership cards for this season at the usual $1. mark. Memberships are available from all members of the executive.

A draw has also been started for two season tickets to the McFarlane Express' 20 home games at the Memorial Arena. Tickets for this draw are 25c each or five for $1, and are available from Len Mason or any member of the executive.

Team coach Gordie Bell spoke to the 37 persons in attendance during the latter part of the meeting.

Wilf Greaves Is Reinstated

QUEBEC (CP)—The Canadian Boxing Federation announced Wednesday night it has reinstated middleweight boxer Wilf Greaves of Edmonton, suspended last month for failure to defend his British Empire title.

National commissioner Gene Lecourneau said Greaves was reinstated after he agreed to defend his title against challenger Dick Tiger of Nigeria in Edmonton Nov. 12.

Greaves, who is also Canadian middleweight champion, won the British Empire crown from Tiger earlier this year.

Law To Rescue After 3rd Yankee Rout

Wacky Series Ended Today

By JOE REICHLER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The weirdest of all world series comes to an end today in the seventh and final payoff game, both New York Yankees once again a 13-to-10 favorite to defeat Pittsburgh Pirates, but as they stood at the start of the activity eight days ago.

Vernon Law, who defeated the Yankees 10 to 9 in first and fourth games although he failed to last nine innings in either, was Danny Murtaugh's choice to bring Pittsburgh its first world championship in 33 years. The big right-hander, who won 20 games during the regular season, also fought to become the 11th three-time series winner and the first since Milwaukee's Lew Burdette flamed the Yankees thrice in 1957.

Casey Stengel, seeking his eighth world championship, wasn't sure of his starting pitcher, but odds favored Whitey Ford today following Whitey Ford's steamrolling 12-0 shutout before 38,580 fans, his second white-wash of the Pirates in four days, the 32-year-old portsider now being the masterminding his last game as Yankee manager should above the din:

"I may pitch Bob Turley, then again it may be (Bill) Stafford or it could even be (Bobby) Shantz. I haven't made up my mind yet. I'll let you all know before the game tomorrow."

WON SECOND GAME

Turley was credited with the second-game victory last Thursday, Stafford pitched five scoreless relief innings, allowing only three hits in the 10th-game loss last Monday, Shantz appeared twice in relief, permitting no hits in 1⅓ innings.

Both managers announced shakeups in their lineups. Murtaugh benched Dick Stuart and Gino Cimoli, inserting Rocky Nelson at first base and Bob Skinner in left field. Stuart has hit safely only three times in 20 at bats and Cimoli has four of 19. Neither has an extra-base hit.

Skinner, the team's best left-handed hitter, has an injured left thumb but the Pirates need more punch with only 49 hits in six games, Bill Mazeroski has the only home run.

Stengel planned to keep Yogi Berra in left field and Johnny Blanchard behind the plate where he took over Wednesday after Elston Howard suffered a fractured hand from a pitch thrown by Bob Friend. Blanchard had three of the Yankees' 17 hits, two doubles and a single.

The Yankees have amassed series record totals of 78 hits and 46 runs. That's an average of 11 hits and 7.4 runs per game, compared to the Pirates' average of 8.1 hits and 2.5 runs per game. The Yankees have outhomered the Pirates eight to one, have outscored them by 29 runs and have the only two shutouts pitched. Yet the Pirates could win the championship by taking today's game.

Pittsburgh outfielder Roberto Clemente, whose English sometimes is difficult to understand, probably explained the strange situation best.

"When we no have the good pitching, we fall apart," he said. "We look like minor league club today but tomorrow Law is pitching and (Elroy) Face is in bullpen. We win."

That's the way it's been. Law has won two; Face has saved three.

The Pirates saved Face Wednesday, sending Tom Cheney, Vinegar Bend Mizell, Fred Green, Clem Labine and George Witt to the slaughter after Friend failed for the second time against the Yankees.

The Yankees didn't hit a home run but eight hits went for extra bases. Little Bobby Richardson banged two triples and drove in three runs to establish a series record of 12 runs batted in. That wiped out the old mark of 10 by Berra in 1956 and Ted Kluszewski of the Chicago White Sox in 1959.

Cletis Boyer, replacing Gil McDougald at third, also had a triple and Roger Maris, Bill Skowron, besides Blanchard, had doubles. The counters, to all intents and purposes, was over in the third inning when the Yankees shelled Friend from the mound with a five-run assault that boosted their lead to 8-0.

Ford, pitching with three days' rest, after the 190-pitcher last Saturday, yielded seven hits, all singles, walked one and struck out five. No Pittsburgh runner reached third. It was his first series victory on enemy soil, his seventh in all to tie Allie Reynolds and Red Ruffing, former Yankees, for most series victories.

WALK STARTS SCORING

The scoring started in the second inning when Berra drew a base on balls, advanced to third on Bill Skowron's single to right and after Howard had been hit, filling the bases, Berra came home on Ford's hit.

In the third, Tony Kubek got on base when Friend also hit him, went to third on Roger Maris' double and both runners scored on Mickey Mantle's single to centre. Then Berra singled Mantle to third from where he scored on Skowron's fly to right.

Blanchard singled to centre and both runners scored on Richardson's booming triple to left-field.

In the sixth, Cletis Boyer opened with a triple to right and scored on Kubek's single to right. Kubek went to third on Maris' single and scored on Berra's single.

The Yankees added two more in the seventh when Blanchard opened up with a double to centre and scored on Richardson's triple, Richardson came home on Ford's sacrifice bunt.

In the eighth Mantle got to first on a fielder's choice, took second on a wild pitch and came home on Berra's third single. Berra brought home the 12th run on Blanchard's second double of the game.

Little Bobby Series Hero?

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—To paraphrase Shakespeare upon Napoleon dealt little Bobby Richardson feed that he hath grown so great?

"No bar bells, no pep-up pills. No secret potions," the 166-pound New York Yankee second baseman said in explaining his transformation from a puny .232 hitter to slugger who has erased some of the proudest and oldest batting records in world series history.

"I guess it was a tip from Ralph Houk that did it. Ralph Yankee coach told me at the end of the season that I should spread my stance some more and concentrate on just meeting the ball.

"He told me to quit trying to kill the ball or hit home runs, but just try for placed base hits. He thought it would help me next season. I guess the returns have come a little early."

Richardson said he couldn't believe he had set the record for most runs-batted-in in a series. Three RBI Wednesday in the 12-0 rout of Pittsburgh gave him a total of 12.

Richardson hit a grand slam home run and batted in six runs, also a record, in the third game in New York, won by the Yankees 16-3. He slammed two homering triples Wednesday.

Richardson's current series batting mark is .360. By contrast, his season's average was .252. In the 154 regular season games, he had only 26 RBI—little more than double what he has in the current series—and he had batted in only seven runs since the all-star game in July.

Report to Camp

Six Dutchmen For Galt

GALT (CP)—Galt Terriers of the new Eastern Senior Hockey League opened training Wednesday with 24 players. They play their first home game Oct. 25 against Windsor Merchants.

In camp are 12 holdovers from the 1959 senior B team of last season and six from the defunct Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Ontario senior A loop.

Former Dutchies are goalie Bout Burley, defencemen Ted Maki and Daryl Sly and forwards Wiggie Wylie, Bob McKnight and Butch Martin.

Holdovers include goaltender Ron Boomer, defencemen Frank Carroll, Butch Kneeling and Joe Ethier and forwards Joe Hogan, Abner Martin, Pete Kowalchuk, Gene Cook, Howie Hopp, Larry Musselman, Lloyd Mercer and Bob Dobble.

Bears Shade Indians 4-3

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Claude Laforge's breakaway goal midway in the third period gave Hershey Bears a 4-3 triumph over Springfield Indians in an American Hockey League game Wednesday night. It was the Indians first loss.

Willy Marshall, Hershey's leading scorer, opened scoring in the first period with his fourth goal of the season. However the Indians made it 1-1 at 16:49 on Harry Pidhirny's goal.

Before the one-minute mark of the final period John Hanna shoved Springfield ahead 3-2 but Larry Zeidel tied it minutes later, Laforge came up with the winning goal at 8:59.

98TH RUNNING

NEW YORK (AP)—Forecatcher Farms' Berlo, stepping the 1¼-mile distance in a snappy 2:30 2-5 won the 90th running of the $59,700 Ladies Handicap at Belmont Park Wednesday. The filly beat Woodlawn by 2½ lengths. Who's Ahead ran third.

By GEO H CARVER, Sports Editor

The posting and closing and subsequent re-opening of the more popular duck hunting areas in this area of the Bay of Quinte met with varied reaction from the trigger-pulling fraternity.

Some hunters waxed indignant over the fact that some of the local populace with an eye for a fast buck for a dead duck, had heralded their unwary prey into the happy hunting grounds with shore-line and marsh buffets of tasty grain.

Others apparently "in the know" that illegal baiting has been going on for years took the Royal Canadian Mounted Police closing edict with more or less reserve. "What did those fellows expect?" they asked. "They knew it would come sooner or later. They didn't use their heads"

Some who had rented some of the closed areas, were "just plain mad." Not a few were for seeking legislation with teeth that would bite heavy fines out of guilty parties.

An RCMP investigation squad under Corporal R. E. Muir, had a duty to do under the Migratory Birds Act—and they did it very effectively. They posted and closed certain areas in this district and Prince Edward County.

It was within their realm of authority under the laws of the season to close the areas for the duration of the season. In fairness to them, they also exercised their authority to open the areas at a date within their discretion.

This they did, under the assumption that a "great many of the innocent had suffered enough for the actions of the guilty few.

Perhaps unwittingly they did a lot more thorough job than was anticipated. A prominent duck hunter told me the other day that when he returned in his haunt after the re-opening "not a damned feather did I see—or have I seen."

In his opinion the ducks had gobbled all the available food during the period of restriction, and since there was nothing left they sought other sources of nourishment.

"Whoever did the feeding didn't use common sense," Corporal Muir told this department. Conservation officer Claude Winters echoed the opinion.

The officer pointed out that it is not illegal to place feed for ducks up to a certain date prior to the seasonal opening. It was 14 days up to this season when new legislation written into the Migratory Birds Act, called for a non-feeding period seven days prior to opening.

"The feeding parties did not use their heads because they should have stopped placing the grain, say three weeks prior to opening date. By this time the ducks would have eaten the placed feed and there would have been no evidence of illegal baiting," Corporal Muir said.

Officer Winters who acted as guide for the investigating Mounties, said that in some places large mounds of grain were discovered. A lot of it had been there so long it had sprouted or fermented. Other grain was fresh. Some had used buckwheat, a grain hard to discern in marshy areas.

Fermented grain was found in some small potholes. Said the officer with tongue-in-cheek, "Had the ducks taken a few shots of the water in these holes, you might have seen bleary-eyed blacks chasing the hunters out of the area."

However, some light will be shone on the matter at the October 18th meeting of the Belleville and District Fish and Game Club. The topic will be discussed by a panel of men who have personal knowledge of duck hunting and haunts of this district.

Russell Whitfield, biologist of the Tweed office of the Department of Lands and Forests, will give a professional opinion on the relative merits or disadvantages of baiting. RCMP Corporal Muir also will be on hand to outline federal legislation on the subject.

There will be discussion asked from the floor. Hunters of the city and district should not miss this important meeting at the Club Canara, starting eight o'clock. There will be films, a "coon raffle" and valuable door prizes.

Argo Coach Shuffles Team For Ottawa

TORONTO (CP)—Argo coach Lou Agase is doing some pensive homework this week — trying to figure a way of making his vaunted Scullers hit pay dirt when they get inside their opponents' 10-yard line.

He wants to get his studies finished in time for Sunday's key test for the Big Four football league's top spot against the Ottawa Rough Riders here.

Argos have the best total offence record in the league with a game average of 442 yards—325 in passing.

But time and again in recent games the Toronto club just hasn't been able to get those touchdown points after marshalling the length of the field in a spectacular fashion on the strong passing arm of quarterback Tobin Rote.

Wednesday night Agase announced tackle Bobby Jack Oliver and offensive guard John Casey will miss the Sunday tilt. Linebacker Don Caraway will make his first start of the season with the other job going to Dale Klaasen, former Hamilton Tiger-Cat tackle.

He Bet The Hand That Fed Him

LETTERKENNY, Alta. (CP) Alex Thorn says he is giving up betting.

The winner of $140,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes earlier this year was fined $25 this week for selling lottery tickets in connection with a world series betting pool.

"I'm not buying any more tickets and I'm not selling any more," said the 30-year-old pool hall operator.

Chicago Black Hawks, aided by goalie Glenn Hall and left winger Bobby Hull, moved into first place in the National Hockey League Wednesday night.

Hull, the 21-year-old all star from Point Anne, Ont., matched Hockey's three - point performance by scoring a goal and two assists as the Hawks shutout the last-place Toronto Maple Leafs 3-0 in the only scheduled game. Hall, who finished only two goals behind Montreal Canadiens' Jacques Plante in the Vezina Trophy race last season, stopped 23 shots to post his first shutout of the campaign.

It was the 22nd shutout for the Humboldt, Sask., native who has never missed an NHL game in his six-season career. Wednesday night's gang was his 354th.

Hull's linemate Bill Hay, winner last year of the Calder Memorial Trophy (rookie of the year), assisted on two goals to climb into a seventh-place tie in the scoring race with Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal Canadiens. Hay has four assists.

UNASSISTED GOAL

One of Hull's assists came in the third period less than a minute after he had scored an unassisted goal against Toronto's Johnny Bower.

He swept in from the right side, drew Bower over to the corner, and slid the puck across the goal mouth to Murray Balfour, who eased it into the cage.

Tonight, second - place Canadiens will seek to increase their unbeaten streak when Detroit Red Wings visit them in the only league game.

Since Toronto Maple Leafs scored two goals in the final period Sunday to tie the Red Wings 2-2, coach Sid Abel has shuffled two of his players into new posts.

Centres Norm Ullman and Gerry Melnyk have switched lines, Melnyk will fill Ullman's post between Gary Aubom and Howie Glover while Ullman centres Alex Delvecchio and Brian Smith.

Canadiens are not expected to make any changes in the lineup.

Yogi Admits Yanks Better

By JOE REICHLER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Yogi Berra sat in his sweaty shirt in the hot, suffocating New York Yankees clubhouse Wednesday, shook his head from side to side after the sixth game of the world series against Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I dunno," he muttered. "This game is getting funnier and funnier. We do everything but punch 'em in the noes and here we are all tied up in the series.

"We flatten 'em by scores of 16-3, 10-0 and 12-0 and we still need one more to win. How do you figure that?"

The squat catcher-outfielder put an arm around a reporter and whispered in his ear:

"Don't write this but even if they beat us tomorrow, we've got much the better club."

"Why shouldn't I write it?" Yogi was asked.

"I dunno," he replied. "It just don't sound right for me to say it."

Turning to Mickey Mantle, sitting to his right, Berra asked:

"Hey, Mick, what do you think? Should he write what I just told him?"

"Hell, it's true, isn't it?" retorted Mantle. "If you don't want to be quoted on that, he can quote me."

"Okay," agreed Yogi. "Go ahead and quote me. After all, that's the way I feel about it."

Debbie Reynolds Will Not Lend Name to Candidates

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Among the movie stars who are not campaigning for a favorite presidential candidate this Autumn is a girl named Debbie Reynolds.

It's not because she isn't asked.

"My phone is ringing all the time," she said. "Friends call me up from both sides to appear for his candidate or just lend my name for that candidate. I tell them, 'just me to do a benefit; no politics—no'.

"I don't object to campaigning by stars. It's fine for those who want to do it. But it's not for me. I have my own feelings about the election; I'll express them on election day."

This year, Debbie has managed to achieve a degree of private life after a couple of years in the goldfish bowl. In the Debbie-Eddie-Liz triangle, she lived under public scrutiny. But 1960 has been different.

"I've hardly worked at all," she said. "I've done half a picture—The Pleasure of His Company, which was interrupted by the strike and which we'll go back and finish next month. I've done my TV show. The rest of the time I've been with the children. I've been three months at the beach and I've loved it."

The only intrusion in her placid life has been the fan magazines. She is a hot item with the flicker mags, most of them requiring a Debbie article monthly. Some of them wax quite fanciful.

One of them had a story titled 'Debbie is the woman for Glenn Ford,'" the commended. "All the story said was that Glenn went for my type."

As a matter of fact the tycoon Harry Karl appears to be the one for Debbie, at least on her current social calendar.

"Marriage? I have nothing to say on that because I haven't made any decision. If I do make a decision, I'll let everybody know about it. Right now, I'm happy the way my life is."

Bell Talks on the Macs

Belleville McFarland coach Gordie Bell told the Mac Booster Club last night that he expected to have "12 or 13 players in our lineup this season who have played Senior "A" hockey during the past couple of years."

"We don't want the fans to get the wrong idea because there is no more senior "A" but rather just senior hockey. We will have our limit of eight players who played senior "A" last year, but there are a number of other fellows, such as Floyd Goegan, Billy Colvin, Mike Bukachevki, to mention a few, who were out of our loop last year, but are established Senior "A" players," Bell said.

Goegan, Colvin and Bukachevski were among the names Bell brought out during the course of the evening. He stressed that no one has been signed as yet, but he has a pretty good idea what he will have when the Macs open their schedule here against the Oshawa Generals. Goegan and Bukachevski have been working out with the club and Bell said he would be talking to Colvin today.

"Right now we need a top notch defenceman and two centres to go with what we have and if we get them I think I can promise the fans a good, exciting hockey club," Gordie said.

Questioned as to who will be playing goal for the Macs, Bell said it looked right now that Bobby Senior would be the man. "I know some of the fans were down on Bobby last year, but remember he had been out of hockey for some time when he came to us in January. He came along well and was great in both the playoffs' final games. Playing a full season this year I know Senior can handle the job. Remember, too, that the club Senior had in front of him last year was nothing to boast about," added Bell.

Don "Turk" Barclay will be the club trainer and Micky Bell sub-goal once again. Bell also said that he hopes to bring Barry Bailey up from the Kingston Frontenacs pro club for a tryout at least. Bailey played with Kitchener Memory last year and has been sub-goalie for Kingston this year-up until John Henderson joined the club last week-end.

Asked about goalie Merv Edwards, Bell said he had talked to him on five occasions and was told each time that he (Edwards) would some here. He has never shown up or contacted the club and Bell says he feels Senior will provide a better goalie than Edwards with regular play.

Speaking on the defence, Bell said that Lionel Botley, Flort Goegan, Mickie Marleau, Pat Asselstine, Barry Tillerson and Jerry Mann were working out with the club now. The first three are considered pretty sure starters and Bell added that the latter three, all over-age juniors, look good and cannot be counted out of the running.

However he stressed the need for more experienced rear guard and disclosed that the club is working on this at the present time.

The Booster Club pledged its financial aid to help the team secure the defenceman it wants.

Another of the forwards at the club camp, Bell mentioned, is Hildebrand, Dave Jones, Wayne Hillier, Ron Bowen, Lou Sentke, Ted Toppazzini, Roy Patrick, Bukachevski, Lou Brunet, Gary Goyer, Duke Dorzan and Bob Brooks. If Colvin can be obtained he will be one of the centres Bell says he has been out of hockey for.

Bell told the gathering that the agreed salary limit will be in force here. "Last year was a disastrous one financially but I think we have things in line this season," he said.

The club, which has helped secure players for the team in the past once again promised its financial help in the team and sponsor H. J. McFarland. Bell thanked the club and its members.

Naked City Comes Back For Hour Better Than Ever

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—A good police action series, Naked City, dropped out of television after the 1958 season, but made a comeback on ABC Wednesday night, expanded to an hour, and better than ever.

The first episode was about a rogue policeman pulling off a box office hold up in a fight arena. It was fast moving, exciting and well acted. Much of the action unfolded in New York City locations which added color and realism and validity of the drama.

There was also quite a lot of it —but not a gun was fired nor a blow struck merely for violence's sake. The story developed logically as police officers focussed their attention on one of their own. Paul Burke and Horace McMahon are the regulars. It was a good show, up to the standards of The. Untouchables.

I'd like to make as glowing a report on NBC's new Peter Lawford Mary, but honesty forbids it. It is one of those situation comedies and ill fated Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy, a talented and charming couple, into the treacherous mine fields of the series.

The opening show got the family, including two children and a housekeeper, into a rural setting. And that's about all it does do.

It's probably too late to help the current crop of politicians and their TV make-up problems, but a New York manufacturer has come up with a special makeup table with a built-in television monitor so that performers can preview themselves while they are getting close to their cosmetics boxes. And it only costs $1,850, complete.

SEEKS CITIZENSHIP

OTTAWA (CP) — Dave Theien, Ottawa Rough Rider star fullback, has applied for Canadian citizenship and plans to make Ottawa his year - round home. Theien, 32, a key man in Ottawa's Big Four hopes, will probably by a Canadian by 1965.

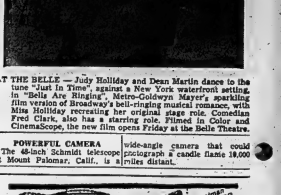
Contest is judged in all seven bodyweight classes on the three standard Olympic lifts. The press lift, the snatch lift, and the two-hand clean and jerk lift.



Also, the Paul Mercier Trophy will be at stake for the club accumulating the highest number of points, 5 points for a first, 3 points for second and one for third place.

Lifters may enter unattached or under the name of a club.

AT THE BELLE — Judy Holliday and Dean Martin dance to the tune "Just in Time" against a New York waterfront setting, in "Bells Are Ringing", Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's dazzling film version of Broadway's bell-ringing musical romance, with Miss Holliday recreating her original stage characterization. Fred Clark, also has a starring role. Filmed in Color and CinemaScope, the new film opens Friday at the Belle Theatre.

POWERFUL CAMERA — The 48-inch Schmidt telescope at Mount Palomar, Calif., is a wide-angle camera that could photograph a candle flame 18,000 miles distant.

Shipping Season At Churchill Ends Wednesday

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—The 1960 shipping season at this northern port 616 miles north of Winnipeg on Hudson Bay ended Wednesday, two working days earlier than last year and with the same vessel taking the final cargo.

The SS La Salle, carrying a cargo of 331,266 bushels of wheat, left at noon for the United Kingdom. It was the 48th grain vessel to call this year compared with 58 in 1959 and 55 the year before.

The total shipment of wheat to foreign markets from the port was down from 1959 at 19,650,000 bushels compared with 21,700,000. In addition, 106,377 bushels of mixed feed oats were shipped.

The decline in the number of cargoes shipped is due in part to the larger ocean vessels arriving at Churchill, the Canadian Wheat Board said. Cargoes this year averaged 410,000 bushels, compared with 378,000 in 1959 and 354,000 in 1958.

The smaller shipments were due to the delayed and wet harvest in Europe, which has caused a rush of European domestic wheat to mills because of high moisture content, the wheat board said.

The Swiftsdreth of Rotterdam registry, sailed with the largest cargo ever loaded here—601,066 bushels of wheat.

A total of 87 ships, including coastal vessels and four ocean going tankers, called this year, two fewer than in 1959.

During the season, the SS Deshwood made eight trips to the North Rankin Inlet Nickel Mine at Rankin Inlet, N.W.T., 320 miles north of here. It brought more than 25,000 tons of nickel ore for rail shipment to the Sherritt-Gordon smelter at Fort Saskatchewan, Alta.

Another ore ship, the Ilaska, ran aground 23 miles east of here Sept. 14, the only casualty of the season. It was abandoned after its 34-man crew was taken off.

The C. A. Pitts Company, in charge of dredging operations to enlarge the harbor, said Wednesday the work may take another two years. About 190,000 cubic yards of mud have been dredged out and dumped at sea. Next year's plans include widening the main channel by 190 feet.

Damage Suit Against Tobacco Companies Fails

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A jury composed of smokers and non-smokers returned a verdict in favor of two major tobacco companies Tuesday in a $150,000 damage suit contending a 65-year-old man died of lung cancer because of cigarets.

The jury—six men and six women—deliberated one hour and 40 minutes.

Mrs. Victoria St. Pierre Larigue brought the suit against the Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, and the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

She claimed her burband died of lung cancer in 1955 and contended cigaret smoking was responsible for his affliction.

SWIFTS PROTEN TENDERED BEEF
Questions and Answers about Swift's ProTen Tendered Beef

1. Question: WHAT IS THE TENDERED PROCESS?
1. Answer: It is a scientific process for developing tenderness in beef by the addition of natural vegetable protein to meat tissue. The activity of these vegetable proteins (enzymes) supplements enzymes already present in meat, and produces tenderization during cooking. Beef tendered by this process will carry the trademark "Swift's Premium ProTen Tendered Beef".

2. Question. ARE THESE ENZYMES THE SAME AS THOSE CONSUMED IN OTHER FOODS?
2. Answer: YES: They are consumed daily in most of the foods we eat.

3. Question: IF THESE ENZYMES TENDER MEAT TISSUE, WHAT EFFECT DO THEY HAVE ON A PERSON?
3. Answer: NONE. Since the vegetable proteins used are the same as those normally found in many foods we enjoy everday. These enzymes do not effect live tissue.

Khrushchev Gone But Echoes of His Thunder Linger

Gives Verbal Walloping To UN in Last Speech

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev has gone from the United Nations but the echoes of his thunder linger on.

The Soviet leader, tasting defeat and victory, flew home to Moscow after giving another verbal walloping to the 15th General Assembly Thursday night.

Practically nothing in the West escaped Khrushchev's denunciation during his 25-day stay. Canada was singled out for being called a "colonizer." Britain was called an imperialist bloodsucker. And the United States had taken the world a step beyond the brink of war, according to Khrushchev.

"President Eisenhower, by implication, was a fool, as was UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold. The UN Security Council was a "mockery." The West inclined disarmament negotiations with such a stench that "no honest man can breathe."

CAN GET TO WORK

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, in Khrushchev's valedictory, said that perhaps yesterday's thunder will blow away and the assembly can get down to work.

Khrushchev threatened to wreck the UN—he repeated the threat in his final appearance on the UN rostrum—and pictured Russia as the savior of emerging countries whose people are black.

Khrushchev rose to the peak of his debating prowess over proposals ordered him at the UN, but defeated on his ideas on disarmament, he was on colonialism ground. He had spun his charges of sky-spying aggression by the U.S. All votes were on procedural issues.

CLAIMS VICTORY

Departing from New York's International airport Thursday night, Khrushchev claimed a victory on the point that the assembly gave unanimous support for a hearing in plenary assembly session, on his demand for immediate independence for all colonies.

He boarded his big Russian turbo-prop plane at Idlewild just before midnight, saying "we are leaving in a good mood."

Despite Khrushchev's threats against the UN, he said there are signs "which allow us to hope for solutions of the major international problems through the United Nations organization, and through the efforts of the General Assembly."

On many important issues, most new African nations in the 99-member assembly turned their backs on Khrushchev when the roll call was taken on procedural issues. They have built into East-West prestige items.

OUTLINES STAND

Khrushchev's words at the airport followed the pattern he outlined earlier:

There must be three groups at the UN — Western, Communist and neutralist. The structure of the UN should be changed to accommodate representatives of each.

HAD NO HEART BEAT

TORONTO (CP) — Jury Graham, 41, was revived by a six-man hydro crew after he took the impact of 27,300 volts of electricity Thursday. The crew applied artificial respiration for 90 minutes to revive Graham, police said. He had no heartbeat and was not breathing. He is in fair hospital in critical condition.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Warm air from the southeastern states has entered southwestern Ontario and is spreading slowly northeastward. Unsettled weather is expected to continue over northern and central regions today and Saturday, while showers or thunderstorms will likely spread into Southwestern Ontario by late Saturday.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) The impact of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's visit to the United Nations has been that world tensions have become worse rather than eased.

One thing is certain: Khrushchev is a master of the panacea—the terrible threat of nuclear destruction. Russian are the leading people in the science of "exterminating people," he says.

There was the Khrushchev who watched Khrushchev at work for the last two weeks from the struck with his ability to shift from one position to several others without causing confusion.

There was the outrageous Khrushchev charging that the West was causing an unbearable tension when the opposite was concerned. There was the Khrushchev standing on his dignity at the height of one of the world's most powerful nations. There was the Khrushchev shrugging off his shoe and banging his fist in the air in frustration.

Frightening threats, cajolery and charm were only a few of the tools in the kit of Nikita Khrushchev.

Khrushchev projected an image of a man of immense vigor. willing to work for UN and peace to Communists alms.

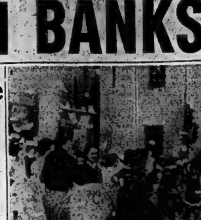
His apparently terrible temper dominated his UN performance because it was fantastic spectacle in an international forum accustomed to rules of fair play even when diplomatic wrapping becomes intense. But few now believe that Khrushchev is not in control of his temper.

The first fact about the 15th General Assembly is that it will be remembered was the person who demanding the resignation of heads of government—and had his wish.

Khrushchev, it is generally agreed, laid bare the face of Communism more openly than ever before—and he openly professed contempt for the UN and its Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold for his actions in the Congo crisis.

Censuring UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold for his actions in the Congo crisis. 70 to 11, with 11 abstentions.

2. Campaign to elect Jiri Nosek, Czechoslovakia, president of the assembly—lost, 46 to 25. with nine votes for a third candidate.



3. Demand that the question of Hungary be put on the agenda—lost, 13 to 69, with 25 abstentions.

4. Demand that the question of China be put on the agenda—lost, 34 to 62, with 22 abstentions.

5. Demand that the debate on disarmament before the plenary assembly 1960 be referred to committee—lost, 13 to 54, with 31 abstentions.

6. Demand to put the debate on colonialism before the plenary assembly and to refer it to political committee—won by unanimous consent.

500 Turks Face Mass Treason Trial Including Former Premier Menderes

YASSIADA ISLAND, Turkey (Reuters)—A mass treason trial of nearly 600 persons opens today on this island fortress under a strict security blanket.

Every precaution has been taken to ensure no incidents occur when the prisoners are recalled for the death penalty against 38 accused, including ex-Premier Adnan Menderes and 16 former cabinet members.

The prisoners face charges of abusing Turkey's constitution, misusing state funds and political corruption arising out of the Bayar - Menderes' regime which ended its stormy 10-year rule in a bloodless military coup last May.

Details of the charge sheets issued Thursday show that Menderes is facing 19 charges, on which the death penalty automatically on conviction could be death.

Bayar, 77, former economist and veteran politician, is reported to have twice made suicide attempts—once by wrist-by carving a diffusers in the uprisings which brought the Gursel junta to power.

Immense public interest has built up over the trial. The Turkish press had billed it as "the greatest since Nuernberg"—where Nazi leaders were tried for war crimes.

The night - member supreme court has the power to issue a judgment against which there is no appeal, but where the accused is acquitted, the national unity committee must confirm it before execution.

Ivanhoe and Crookston Men Killed When Car Overturns

Two Belleville district young men, one of them the father of a year-old son, were instantly killed early Thursday evening when the car in which they were riding went out of control on Highway 14 at Ross' Corners, two miles north of the city limits, and slammed into a tree.

Killed in the accident were: John G. Adams, 19, of Ivanhoe, and Raymond Robichaud, 22, of Crookston. Both were thrown from their car when it ripped out three guard posts, slammed into a tree and then bounced back onto the highway, coming to rest on its top.

One of the occupants was found in the ditch, while the second man was found pinned beneath the overturned car on the highway.

Provincial police said the accident occurred shortly after six o'clock.

The death car was northbound and had just passed another northbound car when it went out of control as it entered the curve ahead. The driver then lost control and the car slammed into the guard rails before rolling into the east ditch and striking the tree.

Police said the owner and driver of the ill-fated car was John Adams. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Adams of Crookston.

An independent witness of the accident, Eric Rolfe of Belleville, said he was driving north on

Man Who Set Time Bomb Heard Blast, Inquiry Told

QUEBEC (CP) — The man who made the time-bomb that accidentally killed one man and injured two others during the 1957 Gaspe copper workers' strike said Monday he heard the premature blast and knew immediately the explosion that was to destroy company plant talling line had been muffled.

Lucien Lacourse, 36, electrician and member of the Murdochville local of the United Steelworkers of America which struck against Gaspe Copper Mines Limited, testified under surrounding the July 12, 1957, dynamite blast.

Gaspe Copper is suing the USWA, whose headquarters are at Pittsburgh, for $5,200,000 in damages resulting from production and material losses.

Testifying in superior court St. Laurent said that when the explosion was heard he and Roger Redard, a USWA representative, "Our fellows have been blown up."

He said the clock used in the bomb because the three men who were setting it up had no time to make the installation and leave.

Hites said the clock used in the time mechanism belonged to him at a high rate of speed.

14 Highway when the car passed.

As the car went into the turn ahead he saw dust rising at the side of the road and then the car went into a roll.

Mr. Rolfe said he found the body of Mr. Robichaud, who is survived by his wife and their year - old son, in the ditch at the side of the road. The driver of the ill-fated car was found pinned beneath the over-

NIXON CHARGES KENNEDY POLICY SURRENDER-PLAN

Quemoy-Matsu Issue Main Debate Point

WASHINGTON -(CP)—Richard Nixon happened John Kennedy with charges of advocating a "surrender to the Reds" policy Thursday night as the two major presidential candidates met in their third television debate of the campaign.

The big issue was Quemoy and Matsu, the tiny Nationalist Chinese islands at the shore of Communist China and Kennedy again maintained he would not be responsible as president for the bloody-shedding of any U.S. soldiers in the defense of Quemoy and Matsu.

The Democratic presidential candidate argued that the best way he would respect the United States' pledge was to defend the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa and its nearby Pescadores islands.

Vice-President Nixon countered that abandoning Matsu are a "symbol of freedom." If the Chinese Reds got them through Kennedy's "surrender," it would put rebel their appetites for Formosa and force the U.S. into another war.

AGREE ON TWO

The wide - ranging argument found the two candidates agreed on only two points: Disarmament is a goal and condemning religious bigotry.

A questioner suggested Nixon, in his Quemoy-Matsu policy, seemed to go farther than President Eisenhower—who never has made clear whether he would go to a fight for these islands. Nixon flatly sidestepped by saying Eisenhower maintained there should be no concession to a dictator at the point of a gun.

Both agreed the islands should not be yielded under threat of Communist force.

Kennedy spoke from New York and Nixon from Los Angeles in the third encounter of their four scheduled tele vi s i o n debates. Both showed a fast command of fact but there seemed to be a lack of some of the fire of the first one.

NEITHER LOSES

The issue of Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion was brought into the discussion by Fred Hart, a reporter quoted Representative Adam Clayton Powell, New York Negro congressman, as saying that "The Roman Klan is riding again in this campaign" in opposition to Kennedy.

Kennedy said he had seen a similar report. He said he didn't suggest in any way that the vice-president has any connection with or involvement with the Klan.

Nixon, a Quaker, said he welcomed Kennedy's stand as "splendid in repudiating the Klan or anybody who uses the religious issue.

BUYING AMERICAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev and his party evidently like American products, even if they don't like Americans. The Russians prepared to leave for home Thursday, great numbers of crates, boxes and packages of all shapes and sizes were carried out of their Park Avenue hotel headquarters. Among other things, reporters noted automobiles, tires, anti-freeze and auto batteries.

All Other Banks Are Nationalized By Sweeping Law

105 Sugar Mills Among 382 Companies Seized

HAVANA (Reuters)—The government today nationalized all banks in Cuba except two Canadian banks, the Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Nova Scotia.

In a sweeping law the government also nationalized 382 companies including 105 Cuban-owned sugar mills.

Several American-owned companies are involved in the nationalization measure.

This was the first nationalization of Cuban-owned property, but the government previously had nationalized the bulk of U.S. investments in the country, including 36 sugar mills and banks, estimated to be worth a total of $1,000,000,000.

The new nationalization decree was hammered out in the cabinet during the night and signed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro and President Osvaldo Dorticos. It included 50 textile factories, eight railways in the chain, 10 department stores, 18 rice mills, six distilleries and 11 coffee companies.

The government issued a note of protest Thursday night charging U.S. authorities with complicity in the bomb attack on the consulate in Miami Thursday by a band of about 50 Cuban exiles.

The note said "gangsters" carried out the attack, "encouraged by General Abelardo Leon Blanco was beaten and the consular files were robbed of blank passport forms. The raid was staged under the suspicious indifference and manifest complicity of North American authorities", the note charged.

Two other protest notes issued at the same time claimed U.S. planes dropped a load of arms to counter-revolutionaries in Cuba's mountain on Sept. 30, and that the United States was the base for an armed expedition that invaded Cuba last week.

Three Space Mice Alive and Well

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) Three black mice named Sally, Amy and Moe rode a missile nose cone 700 miles into space Thursday and a sure Cadillac ride, weightlessness and a blazing dive back through the atmosphere. All three mice were recovered alive and in good condition.

The men who launched the mice appeared to have suffered no ill effects after their 18-minute journey in an Air Force cone, making them the first living creatures ever sent alive from this distance in space.

The mice were placed in the radiation ride in a miniature model of the nose cone used in the experiment, which took the mice into the dangerous Van Allen radiation belt at altitudes up to 18,000 miles an hour, was another step toward man's eventual leap into space.

Diefenbaker Gives Success Formula Study, Work, a Goal, Perseverance

PRINCE ALBERT (CP) — John Diefenbaker, who rose from parity pay boy to prime minister of Canada, gave this success formula to more than 2,500 students and children Thursday:

"Study and hard work; set yourself a goal and keep after it."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker spoke during a 200 - mile whistlestop tour of the eastern end of his Prince Albert riding—his first swing through the area since the 1958 general election.

It was campaigning at tenderest of grass roots.

Despite a raw, cold day with overcast skies, the prime minister received a warm reception at each stop. On the return journey, the prime minister's car drove through a heavy snowfall at speeds up to 60 miles an hour to get back to Prince Albert in time for an evening engagement when he was made a member of the Prince Albert branch of the Canada Club.

He is making a similar swing through the western section of his constituency today.

The 10-hour tour took in eight communities between the hamlet of Hemyburg—three grain elevators and 73 people—and the town of Nipawin, a vigorous, expanding community of about 4,000.

At each of the centres, all situated north of the North Saskatchewan River, the adults took a back seat to the youngsters for

U.S. Makes Hot Reply to Castro Speech to UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States gave a blistering reply today to Fidel Castro's speech in the General Assembly It accused the Cuban premier of trying to undermine the inter-American system and of welcoming Red intervention in Cube's affairs.

In a 9,000-word point-by-point rebuttal of Castro's four - hour speech, Sept. 26, the U.S. delegation put forth some of the strongest official language ever used against Castro. It depicted him as a tyrant who has denied his countrymen the right to free elections and deliberately tried to worsen relations between the United States and Cube.

It accused him of:

1. Seeking to provoke an incident over the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo.

2. Refusing to pay a single American land owner for property seized by the Cuban government.

3. Pushing the United States into a sugar embargo so the Cuban regime could charge its neighbor with economic aggression.

4. Branding all who disagreed with his regime war criminals.

The lengthy statement, submitted to Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold, described Cube as a totalitarian state where freedom of expression is suppressed, freedom of religion hampered and the right of free trial denied anyone who differs with the government.

About Castro's complaint that he was subjected to travel restrictions during his stay in New York, the statement said this was necessary since he had made so many enemies with his anti-American blasts that there was fear for his safety.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowbotham were taken to hospital for treatment.

Accused's Plea Just Like Unions Cadi Remarks

An 18-year-old Belleville man who said he was drunk "just like the unions" when he asked Magistrate T. Y. Wills for a judicial explanation after he was sentenced to three months in jail, got his wish.

George Wesley Barton asked that his sentence be dated back to when he was arrested, June 27.

"You're just like the unions which ask for 1,000 things and then they don't get them," said the magistrate. "What kind of man do you want; don't you think you're lucky?"

Barton originally pleaded guilty to car theft but Magistrate Wills said today he believed the evidence only supported a conviction of joy riding.

Woman Found Dead Had Not Eaten in 2 Months

DETROIT (CP)—Richard Turner, bewildered and confused, could only tell police Thursday how he didn't remember his wife or welfare aid as his mother starved to death.

Mrs. Elsie Turner was found dead in her downtown Detroit home Wednesday. She had not eaten for two months, was 50, said he had lived on bread and water, scrounging in back alleys for pop bottles and scrap for food.

Saturday Mrs. Turner will be buried beside her husband who died 30 years ago—The funeral will be conducted by a Detroit funeral director.

Turner told police he had last worked since 1956 because of a heart ailment. He and his mother had been on welfare but were struck off the rolls when they refused to move from the upstairs of her home.

He said he didn't have a roomer in the house, "he ate somewhere."

Turner said he did not want more welfare.

"I want to find some kind of work I can do," he said.

With some difficulty he put sons who sympathized with his plight, Turner planned to get a haircut his first in 10 months —a pair of shoes and food so that he will have strength to seek a job.

Exclusive Residential College Planned by York University

TORONTO (CP)—An exclusive $13,000,000 liberal arts residential college for 1,000 students is planned here in an effort to stop the flow of top high school graduates to U.S. universities.

Dr. Murray G. Ross, president of York University, which opened this fall, announced Thursday at a press conference that by 1967 York will have about 18,500 students.

The new university had only 100 students when it opened its doors last October in an Old University of Toronto building downtown. Next year it will move to a 200-acre site in suburban Downsview.

Dr. Ross told the press conference that after five years at Downsview, construction will start on a main university building, close to the downtown area. It will include liberal arts faculties, with arts, science, professional schools and graduate studies.

A second project on the suburban Downsview site, will be a residential college which will attract Canadian private school graduates. Dr. Ross said Canada has not been able to compete with "ivy-league" universities such as Harvard, Princeton, Yale and Columbia.

Glendon Hall, a scenic 96-acre estate in the Don River valley, was originally presented to the University of Toronto and has now been turned over to York.

The third phase of the program, a degree-granting evening college for 3,000 part-time students will have a separate campus close to industrial and commercial centres. Dr. Ross said this college would explore a new concept of adult education in which the students will have supper and spend the evening on the campus.

Within two years, the evening college should be operating, Dr. Ross hopes. Within five years, students at Glendon Hall should move to a large 300- to 400 acre campus at the main university.

Construction will start immediately at Glendon Hall. This centre will serve all three divisions of the university at present.

Canada Needs New Methods Parley Told

By FORBES RHODE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP)—Canada will have to develop new means, methods and policies to cope with the future, Dr. Frederick John J. Deutsch, vice-principal (economics) of Queen's University said Thursday.

Dr. Deutsch, as outlined by Mr. Deutsch in an address at the National Industrial Conference Board, told a scientific revolution now only in its infancy is creating a trading world of large blocs.

To meet these challenges, Canada must develop a flexible and adequate rate of scientific technological growth and create conveying serious trade negotiations with specialties in products which would be competitive both at home and abroad.

Dr. Deutsch also have to find a way to provide the necessary capital for the huge industrial projects to meet such problems as education, and congestion and pollution arising from population growth.

NO STALEMATE

It is not good enough, Mr. Deutsch stated to say the government should spend more money out of general revenue. The functions of the government, he said, are "increasingly complex" and new choices would be taken at their structure.

There were too many increases in "hidden taxes" in the form of "you pay the price," and he suggested a system under which such costs would be paid by those who get the benefits and not by the general taxpayer.

Thought should also be given to how to lessen the fluctuations in private investment and interest. The residence who had originally had to pay $120 a month but had failed to do so. Mr. Harvey, chairman of the council to protest the continued presence of a truck on the said property, adjacent to his own property. The wheels have been removed from beside the truck. The truck is owned by a neighbor who also leases the land for garbage can on the street from the week to another, said Mr. Harvey.

Town solicitor Roderick Campbell suggested that the present situation be turned over to the Board of Health, and that the owner of the truck be notified that it is illegal to park the dismantled vehicles on town property and that unless it is removed, the truck will be taken to the town sheds and rental will be charged.

ASKS FOR GRANT

The Chamber of Commerce had written to council, asking that the town enter a float in the Santa Claus Parade Dec. 10. The chamber also asked that the town give a grant towards the parade.

Council viewed the idea of entering a float in a more favorable light than the giving of a grant. The general opinion was that the merchants, who, in the long run, will benefit from the parade, should provide the funds.

Council Hears 18 Items Including Protest of Town's $200 Yearly Sewer Fee

TRENTON — Council met in committee-of-the-whole Thursday, with Mayor W. Ash who presided the acting secretary in the absence of Clerk-Treas. W. Lavery. Present at the meeting were Councillors H. G. Aziz, C. V. Hicks, Fraser and N. J. McMale.

Eighteen items were on the agenda. Forty-five minutes of the meeting were taken up with the complaint of F. W. Aziz who protested the annual $200 sewer fee charged to residents of Devere Gardens, just west of town.

Councillor Fraser said the residents have been paying this fee for 10 years and have already earned their livelihoods in Trenton and had deliberately built their homes outside the town to avoid taxes. He said council had decided on the high sewer rate recently $25, for the use of the Trenton sewage plant as a measure to "even things up."

"If the residents object, I advise the new petition council to have the area annexed into the town," suggested Councillor Hicks. "It's time Murray township people in the area to pay their minds whether their area is urban or rural. They do not have a planning program. Now the town is losing out on new borders. We are supplying them with fire protection at a loss to the town. We are not guilty of discrimination as this man charges. I think he should pay it. He has an obligation to the town."

Mr. Aziz also claimed that council was allowing one resident to use town land in several different locations. He said the businessmen had his place of business, parts of which encroached and that he had also installed a curb and hedge on town property adjacent to his property. He was referring to Gerald Weaver, he said.

NO AGREEMENT

Mayor MacDonald told Mr. Aziz that the matter was considered into any agreement with any citizen to allow him to use town land. He said that Council proposes ad infinitum. He said that the land on the town line fell with the property, it would simply go ahead and use it.

Councillor Fraser suggested that council could charge per-grinding town property for a nominal rent and have ownership established in a legal manner, in order to protect the town when and if the town wished to buy the property.

Several other items on the agenda were dealt with briefly.

Great Increase In Life Insurance

TORONTO — Canadians' income after taxes has increased substantially since the mid-1950's. Yet in the same period their life insurance in force has increased tremendously.

These facts are among the highlights presented in the sixth edition of "Canadian Life Insurance Facts" published by The Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association and just off the press.

The average size of new ordinary life insurance policy purchased during 1959 was $4,389, according to the Fact Book, and the average size of the ordinary policy owned at the end of the year was $3,810. The total amount of life insurance in force on every eight million Canadian lives was $18,000,000,000 at the end of last year, an increase of about $4.3 billion over the previous year.

As life insurance ownership in Canada has increased and the number of persons in the force increased, so policyholders and beneficiaries have grown materially. The Fact Book states, in 1959 benefit payments in Canada totalled $615 million, of which $151 million were death benefits and the balance was paid to living policyholders. In comparison 1950 benefits amounted to less than half these totals.

three at the top and Hammarskjold's job should be abolished. Recent Soviet moves in movements were limited by U.S. control during his stay of almost four weeks at the UN, but he said he was thankful for the courtesy extended to him by New Yorkers.

The Soviet leader, who banged on the table with his shoe when Communist colleagues threw the UN assembly into uproar Wednesday night, returned to the subject of disarmament in his airport speech.

"The Soviet Union is ready to do its utmost to achieve disarmament," said Khrushchev, adding that he had made "concrete proposals" in his final speech before the assembly. This had to include his plan for global disarmament which has been knocking around for a year without progress between East and West on inspection and control.

Regarding the UN itself, Khrushchev charges that high secretariat officers are acting on behalf of Western powers — he said events in the Congo showed the inconsistency of UN actions.

ALL ARE 'FOOLS'

In his final speech to the assembly, he had said that Hammarskjold is a fool and a tool of imperialists.

Launching into an involved parable about Russian and German grazing, he left the implication that Eisenhower is his opinion the fool.

Specifically, the last argument Thursday was about whether the Soviet's charge that U.S. reconnaissance flights were aggression should be debated in assembly plenary rather than in committee.

The Soviet proposal was rejected by a vote of 54 against 10 in favor and 33 abstentions. Only Cuba voted with the Soviet Union. Most of the delegations were absent.

CRITICIZED PICKETS

Khrushchev called those who picketed him "hired hands" and "lackeys" and said that Hammarskjold is a fool and a tool of imperialists.

Khrushchev called those who picketed him "hired hands" and "lackeys" and said that Hammarskjold is a fool and a tool of imperialists.

Smiling and clasping his arms above his head in the victory posture of a prize fighter, he went up the ramp and entered his plane.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Janos Kadar, Hungarian Communist party chief, accompanied Khrushchev on the two-stop flight.

The Russian premier is scheduled to visit Communist North Korea soon. Observers generally believe he will visit Peking as well for conferences with Mao Tse-tung, Chou En-lai and other Chinese leaders.

Khrushchev's last day in the assembly was marked by most of the others, a mixture of rocket-rattling and amiability. He was on the rostrum three times. He told the United States, "If you want war, you'll get war."

Lawyer Given Year in Jail

Gordon and Tong were the first to be sentenced following RCMP crackdowns across Canada this summer on illegal Chinese immigrants.

Quinte Curlers Ready to Start Another Season

The members of the Quinte Curling Club were out in full force last evening at the clubhouse to make plans and preparations for the coming season and from the enthusiasm displayed it will be a good one. The new president, Harry Trepanier, was in the chair and it was his first opportunity to address the members and he thanked them for the honor conferred and requested the co-operation of everyone to make the club one to be proud of.

The budget was presented by the efficient treasurer, "Jerry" Jarrett and it was practically the same as last season. By the budget, $9,000 will be retired this year and there will be left only $17,000 as an estimated capital of $85,000 and it is expected this amount will be paid off in the next four years. "This is a fine record," said the president, "and it is due to the splendid work at the executive body."

Bruce Caswell, chairman of curling events and activities for the year, has done a tremendous job in arranging a schedule and he presented his program to the delight of all the members. Mr. Caswell has appointed various captains to handle the different events and in this way everything will run smoothly and efficiently. John Pevenny will be captain of league curling; Bill Riley for Saturday one-day spiels and special night; Pete Acton for mixed bonspiels; Ernie Williamson for ladies' and spiels; Pat Mouzon for invitation nights; Ben Corke for Quinte Cup and senior curling. The captain for junior curling, which will be a provincial feature of the club this year, has not been appointed. Mr. Gowsell has also stated that everyone will get the maximum of curling. The prize winners in the club games will be decided on a point system instead of a percentage basis and there will be a prominent feature.

NEW ICE FOR

The clubhouse has received a new coat of paint, the women's locker room has been remodelled and the floor of the rink has been levelled and filled in and is ready to receive the first flooding.

Steve Flintoft, ice chairman since the club was started, declares there will be no runs like last year, while Art Beanlon states the ice plans was in perfect shape for the winter's work. Dick Beare, in-charge of the men's locker room, requested assistance of all the members and this was promised. Curling will open on November 7th with ice-making to start on October 25th. After the meeting adjourned two films of the recent Brier competition in Quebec were shown, which the members enjoyed. Taking shop was in order for the social evening which followed.

"There is no one in this hall who cannot become a leader, if you are willing to work," he told 200 students assembled in the Chelcoland community hall. He repeated it, standing barrelchested with his topcoat collar turned around which stood another 200 students.

He emphasized there was no easy road to success. "It takes hard study, hard work."

At Smeaton and again at both the Nisbett public and high schools, where the students' surnames reflected origins in more than 20 European countries, Mr. Diefenbaker said that when he was A young man one of his dreams was to eliminate discrimination because of race, color or creed.

"Keep your dreams," he counselled. "I kept mine and at the last session of Parliament saw it come true through passage of the Bill of Rights."

In late results Thursday Vian Degger of Mount Albert won the match for tractor - mounted models of two or more furrows. In open competition for tractor-mounted models William Bradman of Hagersville took first place.

W. J. Watson, Ontario live-stock commissioner, presented trophies at the match they have become the dependent on government in the last 40 years. He said they should regain their old spirit of independence and not rely on government supports as a cure-all.

Ontario Plowmen's Association president Alex Black announced that next year's matches to be held at Belleville will begin a week earlier than this year.

Agriculture minister Goodfellow said major changes in the arrangements for the match, particularly in the field of farm machinery, would be considered for next year.

Nikita Does Not Believe In a Deity But Often Uses Biblical Terms in Speeches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—The world's strangest bibliolat is Nikita Khrushchev, who has just ended another visit to North America.

He says bluntly that he doesn't believe in a deity and he displays all supernatural aspects of religion, yet he can't seem to keep the age - old, fallowbrede phrases out of his talk.

"I attended church school as a boy," he says, "I won a prize from the priest for knowing the gospels by heart."

It might be that this early training immersed his subconscious and vocabulary in biblical allusions and proverbs.

"You may say that I personally am an atheist," he affirms.

Yet he refers repeatedly and favorably to Christ and his language often is sprinkled with words such as "heaven," "preaching," "spiritual," "heaven," "hell," "God," "sacred text" and "the devil."

Borrowing a saying of Jesus' parables about the sower whose seed fell both on stony and good ground, he told a group of Americans visiting to the United Nations that his government is working for peace and friendship among nations "like the sower who sows so that man may have a good harvest."

Upbraiding a New York newspaper woman for allegedly writing unfair stories about him from Moscow he told her:

"Despite this, I do not harbor any ill will and in fact, when the Communist heaven is established, I will say a few words for you. She misunderstood us."

When he spoke on UN Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold, seeking his ouster, Khrushchev said: "We are not an old sage that there neither are nor have ever been any saints on earth."

He added, with another scriptural figure of speech, that the situation had "filled the cup at a Union Jack on a Union Jack to another: "We are bearing a heavy cross."

GOD HELPS BOTH SIDES

The paradox of Khrushchev's religious phraseology has long been noted, his use of exclamations such as "good heavens" and "swear on the Bible." On his tour of the U.S. last year, he said to News farmer:

"God has helped you a lot. He's given you good land, but you mustn't think that God is helping only you. He's helping us, too . . .

At a Los Angeles luncheon, he said: "We're all friends and brothers before Christ."

Even in his country advocates peace, he quoted one of the Commandments. "Thou shalt not kill." And in soothing over a spat, he said: "Even Christian religion tells us to forgive trespasses of others. . . .

Once, during the invocation at a Pittsburgh luncheon, Khrushchev's lips pursed for a moment along with the prayer and later he complimented the minister.

South Africa and the Commonwealth

The recent referendum in South Africa produced the expected result—endorsation of the proposal by the Nationalist Government that South Africa become a republic.

This change, when it becomes effective, will present a problem for all the Commonwealth nations: should the republic of South Africa be permitted to remain in the Commonwealth?

Had that question been asked a few decades ago, it would have been generally considered that there was only one answer. Allegiance to the Crown was then generally regarded as the real tie binding the independent nations of the Commonwealth to each other. Since that time, however, there has been a striking change in outlook. There are now many republican members of the Commonwealth and the tie is now considered not to be allegiance to a common Crown but to a common heritage of law and traditions.

Can a republican South Africa which embraces apartheid be said to share in this Commonwealth heritage?

The answer surely must be in the negative. But this alone does not provide us with an inevitable answer to the question of whether South Africa should be permitted to remain within the Commonwealth. The very fact that South Africa's suffrage is limited to the whites, and that these comprise only a minor portion of the total population, provides a basis for argument.

Britain, as the mother country and nominal head of the Commonwealth (if an association of free and equal nations can said to have a head), will wield great influence in the final decision on this point. Opinion in Britain seems to be divided. The other day the London Times came out against expulsion of South Africa from the Commonwealth. The Liberal News Chronicle, on the other hand, takes the opposite view.

Here in Canada the Montreal Gazette has presented the case for permitting South Africa to remain in the Commonwealth. The Winnipeg Free Press argues, is not the whole of South African society. "Why should the black population and the English population be penalized because of the actions of the Nationalist government?"

The Ontario Intelligencer has, in the past, taken a similar view, opposing suggestions that South Africa should be expelled from the Commonwealth on the grounds that this would be abandoning the Bantu to the none-too-gentle mercies of the Nationalists and urging that these natives were just as much entitled to whatever protection the Commonwealth could extend to them as were any other residents in Commonwealth lands.

We cannot, however, escape the unhappy conviction that the republican referendum has materially altered the situation. Before this vote was taken, it could be argued, as we did, that as long as South Africa was a member of the Commonwealth she might be persuaded for other Commonwealth lands to use their influence to ameliorate the harsher aspects of the apartheid policy. The Nationalist Government, though, conducted the referendum in the full knowledge that a change in the republican status of the government might result in South Africa being refused the right to continue in the Commonwealth. This possibility was spelled out very carefully at the most recent conference of Commonwealth prime ministers. Before the referendum Prime Minister Diefenbaker hinted that Canada might oppose continued Commonwealth membership for South Africa if it became a republic. The manner in which the Nationalists disregarded this danger shows just how much they value Commonwealth membership —it is something to be retained, if possible, for the material advantages it brings to the country of trade for instance, but not something for which the Nationalists are prepared to moderate their policies by one iota.

Does it not inevitably follow that it is highly questionable whether the Commonwealth countries can assist the Bantu in any way through the Commonwealth association? And, if this is granted, does it not also follow that the Commonwealth has much influence to ameliorate the harsher aspects of the apartheid policy.

Historic Hastings

Thurlow Had Library In 1847

(Article 139 in the series sponsored by the Hastings County Historical Society)

Did you know that there was a second library of 84 books in the Belleville area as early as 1847?

According to the printed report recently uncovered, this library, which was known as the Thurlow Circulating Library, was in operation in 1847-48 for the years subscriptions.

The librarian was Eliza Clapp, whose principal duty seemed to be to prepare a list of books available and to collect the fees paid by members to peruse the books. For those interested in borrowing from the library, membership could be obtained for an annual fee of five shillings. This entitled the member to choose from a collection of about 190 volumes.

No member was allowed to borrow more than one book at a time, and any member "voluntarily meneing with the first volume of a set shall not be supplied with the remainder kept in reserve for him".

The by-laws had this to say about the length of time books could be kept: "All books of a medium size shall be returned within six weeks, and those of a larger size within two months under a penalty of 3d a week."

Library officers for the year 1848 included Samuel Ketchum, president; David Clapp, treasurer; Eliza Clapp, librarian; and W. S. Bigg, secretary.

In the first annual report published on January 4, 1848, the board noted the many difficulties and rewards of commencement:

"At the commencement of the undertaking to establish our Library, but few of the inhabitants seemed willing to render any assistance, and had they been content to rest there, it would have called forth no comments from us, but they were not, assistance was known and the success not only withheld but they were actively antagonistic to our every standard.

"Commencing therefore under these unfavorable auspices we have an increased satisfaction in ascending from them to complete success has attended our efforts, far exceeding even our most sanguine expectations. With the assistance of our Belleville friends, joined with your own subscriptions and donations the Library at the present time numbers 190 volumes besides a valuable set of the transactions of 2.1.e.3d.

"Thanks were extended to a number of Belleville gentlemen for their kind assistance and encouragement, namely, Messrs. Edmund Murney, Francis McAnany, Dunbar Moodie, William Smart, Benjamin Dougall, John Ross, George Henderson, Alexander Hamilton, Holden, R. F. Davy, and Alexander Wood, Jnda., all of the town of Belleville residents, several of them lawyers and county officials.

"Although this library has only been in operation for a few months it has proved a source of much pleasure to many of the inhabitants of this town and neighborhood, and we have no doubt that in a few years it will be the means of conferring a great deal of benefit on its members."

Strictly Personal

Happiness Eludes Its Pursuers

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A man I know lost his job a few months ago, and went to a friend of his, who happens to be an executive in an advertising agency.

"I could hire you," the executive confided, "but I advise you against it. You won't be happy here."

"I'm not asking for happiness," the man retorted. "I'm asking for a job."

It seemed to me a sensible reply. Happiness is not to be pursued by looking for it, and is more of an accident than a matter of planning or design. If young people were told fewer lies about happiness, and more truth about the realities of life, it would save them a great deal of disappointment and disillusion as they get older.

To the poor man, happiness is money; to the sick man, health; to the lonely man, love; to the weak man, power; to the homely man, charm. Yet we have abundant evidence that the rich, the healthy, the lonely, the powerful and the charming are often just as miserable as their envious followers.

Archeologists, many years ago, dug up an inscription written by Ramses III of Egypt in which went as follows:

"I have now reigned about 30 years of victory on peace, beloved by my subjects, dreaded by foreign countries respected by my allies, Riches and honor, power and wealth have waited on my call, nor does any earthly blessing appear to have been withheld from my wish. In this situation, I have carefully counted the days of pleasure which have fallen to my lot — they amount to 14."

On the other hand, Marcus Aurelius, the Roman ruler, lived in a dreadful period of history: his public life was torn by war, famine and insurrection; his private life was bitter and unsatisfying. He wrote the famous "Meditations," which show that he was able to attain a calm acceptance of the conditions of his life, and to surmount these conditions — because he did not "expect" happiness.

Colton pointed out in a book some years ago, that Mark Antony sought for happiness in love, Brutus in glory and Cato in dominion. Yet "the first found death, the second defeat, and the last ingratitude, and each despair."

Learning to recognize one's own abilities and limitations, to live within them, to transmute the common "meditations," which show that we are all subject to

Home and School Club at Q. A. Installs Officers

The Queen Alexandra Home and School Club held their final meeting of the season in the school auditorium with Dr. R. Williamson, the retiring president, in the chair.

The new executive was introduced by Mrs. Drumm and installed by Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. W. H. Downing, the new president, then took over the meeting. The officers are:

President, Mrs. W. H. Downing; first vice-president, Mrs. Fisher; second vice-president, Mrs. H. Graham; recording secretary, Mrs. W. Gray; treasurer, Mrs. B. Greer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. B. Latimer; executive, Mrs. J. Lennox, program convener, Mrs. P. J. Bateville, Mrs. H. W. Chevalier, Mrs. D. McFerrin, Mrs. H. Burns, social convener, Mrs. J. D. Buchanan.

Bursaries of $5.00 were presented to five students by Mrs. Downing for the Home and School Club.

For mathematics Corrine Pyverley, Larry Laquette, for grammar—Susan Allen. For spelling—Lynn Armstrong. For writing—Johanna Houle, Douglas Richards.

The principal, Mr. M. M. Hackett, then introduced the teachers to the parents and Mrs. Fisher presented gifts to former teachers of the school.

UNICEF was briefly explained by Mrs. H. H. Clarke and she asked for volunteers to help their homes as distribution centres for the tags and cans for Hallowe'en.

Sergeant Blatchford, the safety officer of the Belleville police department, gave an address on safety instruction for the children. Sergeant Blatchford is responsible for this instruction in the elementary schools of the city. He asked for co-operation of the parents and citizens because behavior in traffic is largely learned from adults by their good example. The basic safety rules must be learned by the children.

Mrs. H. W. Cavaller thanked the speaker.

A lunch was served by the mothers of Grades Six and Seven students.

Pat Baverstock, Although Blind, Efficient Typist at Hospital

You might see Miss Pat Baverstock almost any day at the Belleville General Hospital where she works as a dictaphone typist.

Pat, who is in her early twenties, lives with her mother and father on Bonneil Avenue. She is the youngest in a family of four; she will not see you, for Pat is blind, and has been blind since she was eight months old.

Pat went to school in Brantford at the Ontario School for the Blind, and later attended night classes at the Belleville Collegiate where she learned to use all typewriters, including electric ones. Her work at the hospital is typing medical reports for the doctors.

Although Dr. Bruce Crook was not directly responsible for Pat getting this position, she thinks the fact that Dr. Crook saw a pool of blind typists at work at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore and told Mr. Kenneth Bell about it, made it easier for her when she applied for the position. LIKES TO SEW

Pat likes to sew and uses a machine which has a hand guide fastened to the foot lever of the machine. She uses the washer and steam iron, which her father has marked with a pin for temperature control. Mrs. Baverstock proudly says Pat is an expert ironer and gets every crease out. Also she never burns herself. Her father has used the same marking device to control the heat of the stove so Pat knows how to judge the heat.

The home teacher for the blind taught Pat leatherwork. Among the articles she has made are key cases, belts, sewing kit, and laced purses.

Pat does not care for athletics but has used the same marking device on a White Star Line clock and takes the minutes in Braille.

Like an ordinary typewriter, but has six keys. She also has a Braille watch.

When Pat applied for the position as dictaphone typist, the C.N.I.B. loaned her a dictionary of medical terms so Pat would be familiar with the medical terms she is required to use.

She is also secretary of the White Cane Club, and takes the minutes in Braille.

The C.N.I.B. is a member of the United Appeal in Belleville and needs the support of everyone to insure these services to the people with this handicap will continue.

Adult Members Of 'Y' Open Active Season

The physical education program for adult members at the YMCA officially started this past week. An active and interesting program is available for all adult members.

The men's physical fitness class with Joe Roddy, physical director in charge, meets on Tuesday at 8.15 and Monday and Wednesday at 12.15. These classes feature the 10 Plan designed to get you in trim and keep you there, also volleyball.

The family swim has started on Friday evenings from 7.30 to 8.30. This is a time when "Y" members may bring the rest of the family and enjoy an hour in the pool.

The Weightlifting Club has got off to a good start this year in the newly-painted room. It is having its first meet on Wednesday, Oct. 26th, the Belleville and district championship.

Last Thursday the "Y" was overrun by the fair sex when the ladies' "keep fit" and the swim instruction started. Thirty-eight women were put through their paces on the gym floor by Miss Carolyn Taylor, the women's and girls' secretary. Seventeen women have started on their way to becoming good swimmers under the instruction of Pat Fr[illegible]ershoe.

The student nurses' class started last Thursday with over 40 up and coming Florence Nightingales using the facilities of the "Y".

"Ladies' Day Out" a new feature that started last year is out underway on Tuesday. The program runs for 10 weeks of an active one, from 10 a.m. 'till 3 p.m. Every Tuesday ladies include light exercises, volleyball, swimming, interesting speakers and fellowship. The ladies, a baby sitting service is provided for the ladies' day out program.

A.A.N. HUNTER

Sally was busy sorting the buttons in her mother's workbasket. "I've got five different sorts, a hundred and fifty altogether, Mom," she said. "Different numbers of each."

"Fine, dear. I'll need seven buttons each for the shirts I'm making Dad," her mother told her. "Make up some sets of seven all the same."

"I've done all I can," the girl declared some minutes later to say the sort you want. There's between twenty and forty of each. It's funny that I got the same even number left over on each of two sorts and the same odd number over on each of the others."

She didn't say how many she had of each sort, but maybe you'll figure it out.

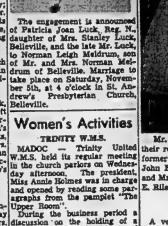
Women's Activities

TRINITY W.M.S.

MADOC — Trinity United W.M.S. held its regular meeting in the church parlors on Wednesday afternoon. The president, Miss Annie Holmes was in charge and opened by reading some paragraphs from the pamphlet "The Upper Room".

During the business period a discussion on the holding of a joint bazaar with the W.A. and the Ladies' Aid was planned and is to be held on November 18th. The report of the summer bazaar was received, the receipts being $74.50.



Mrs. E. Empey dedicated the offering. Mrs. Empey, in the absence of Mrs. Morton Calahan, had the calls and visits made during the month.

Mrs. Bennett was in charge of the program and worship service, assisted by Mrs. Frank Parker, who gave a paper on "Steward-ship". The hymn "Take My Life and Let It Be Consecrated" was sung, after taking part of "Where Is Begin?" Mrs. W. McCoy, "How Long Are We To Practice Stewardship" and Mrs. Empey, "The Privilege of Stewardship".

An appropriate hymn and prayer closed the meeting.

Mrs. Bennett introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Frank Parker, who during the past summer, spent some time abroad, visiting the Mothers' Auxiliary in many important places in Europe, and had the pleasure of attending the "Passion Play" at Oberammergau. She gave a very interesting account of the play throughout, and it was much enjoyed by the members.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Parker. The November meeting will be in the evening at the home of Mrs. Percy Napier.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Richard Le Brash are pictured following their recent marriage in Christ Church, Belleville. Riley, Belleville.)

LA BRASH—BURKITT

A very pretty wedding was solemnized recently in Christ Church, Belleville, before an altar banked with autumn flowers. The guest pews were designated by white satin bows. The Rev. Everett P. Smith united in marriage Joy Joanne Burkitt, of Belleville, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burkitt, and Kenneth Richard La Brash, son of Mr. and Mrs. George La Brash, also of Belleville.

Mr. John Croyden Withers, the church organist, provided the wedding music and accompanied the choir of six boys in its rendition of appropriate bridal music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her white bridal gown of net over white satin with fitted lace bodice embroidered with iridescent sequins. The long, sheath-like skirt ended in lily-points across the wrists. Her crown, encrusted with seed pearls, held a three-quarter-length veil of net embroidered with iridescent sequins and she carried a cascade bouquet of red sweetheart roses interspersed with ivy.

The maid of honor was Miss Diane Irvine of Belleville and the two bridesmaids were Miss Lynda Moore and Miss Carol Anne Davis, both of Belleville, cousins of the bride.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids, Miss Lynda Moore, were lovely in their romance blue organza gowns, fashioned with chiffon and sweetheart bodices accented with thimble boleros and completed with frilly bouffant wide-brimmed skirts worn over many crinolines and enhanced by large bows and cummerbunds. Their headdresses were in match-ing color, designed as bandeaux with delicate velvet petals, topped with seed pearls and worn with over-the-face circular veils.

Little Miss Carol Anne Davis, was charming in pink organza with full skirt, caught at the waist by a sash and a large bow. She wore a matching headdress. All were matching gloves and shoes, and carried bouquets of colored mums and green fern.

Mr. Harry LaBrash of Manitoba, brother of the bridegroom, acted as groomsman and Mr. Wayne LaBrash and Mr. Jim Burkitt, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The reception was held in Christ Church parish hall where the bride's table was appointed with white damask, white and pink candles in silver holders, and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, and misted about the base with pink bells and flowers.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, attired in a moss green lace sheath with beige accessories and corsage of yellow roses. Assisting in the receiving line was the bridegroom's mother, wearing a flowered dress with navy duster, while accessories and corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

For the wedding trip through the United States and Niagara Falls, the bride wore a blue gabardine suit with pink accessories and corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Her lavender bride presented her bridal bouquet to her grandmother.

Guests were present from Stirling, Bonarlaw, Harold, Springbrook, Toronto, Campbellford, Belleville, Buffalo, Manitoba, Frankford and Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. William Norman Stephens are shown signing the register in Christ Church, Belleville, following their recent marriage. The bride is the former Miss Sandra Jean Brodie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Brodie of Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. J. E. Stephens, Sr., of Belleville. (Photo by William E. Riley, Belleville.)

STEPHENS — BRODIE

White baskets of pastel-tinted gladioli and chrysanthemums adorned the sanctuary and white satin bows the guest pews in Christ Church, Belleville, for a recent lovely autumn wedding when Sandra Jean Brodie, of Belleville, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Brodie, became the bride of William Norman Stephens, also of Belleville, son of Mrs. J. E. Stephens of Belleville. The assistant rector of the church, the Reverend Everett P. Smith, officiated.

Mr. John Croyden Withers, church organist, provided the wedding music and accompanied the choir of six boys who rendered during the processional, "O Perfect Love"; "The Birds of Aristophanes", during the signing of the register, the choir sang, Psalm 67, and "Love Divine", at the recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her floor-length bridal gown of pure white silk organza fashioned with molded bodice having a deep portrait neckline and short sleeves, complemented by long, elbow-length lace and organza mitts pointed over the hands. Seed pearls and crystals accented the bodice and mitts, and the gracefully full skirt cascaded into a chapel train. She wore a crown-type headdress encrusted with seed pearls and crystals, with scalloped, pearl accenting shoulder-length veil of white silk illusion, and carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart roses mingled with white gladioli.

Mrs. S. Schrieder, of Belleville, as matron of honor, was attired in the bride, wore a moss green lace and silk organza gown in street-length, with matching hat and shoulder veil, and carried a bouquet of white mums.

The two little flower girls, Misses Susan Brodie and Barbara Schrieder, nieces of the bride, were lovely in floor-length white lace frocks, Debra with a mauve headdress and basket of white mums and Barbara with a green headdress and basket of white mums.

Mr. J. E. Stephens, of Belleville, attended his brother as best man. Mr. L. Brodie, brother of the bride, and Mr. D. Stephens, brother of the bridegroom, both of Belleville, ushered.

Following the ceremony, the reception took place at Club Canara, where the guests were received by the bride's mother wearing a beige lace sheath dress with brown accessories, and corsage of red roses. Assisting her in the receiving line was the bridegroom's mother attired in a blue flowered sheath dress with jacket, blue accessories and corsage of white carnations.

The bride's table was prettily appointed in the traditional manner, a three-tier wedding cake topped with a tiny bride and bridegroom beneath an arch of white flowers, and misted about the base with pastel gladioli. The bouquets of the bridal attendants lent an extra pastel accent.

For the honeymoon to the eastern United States, the bride wore a green and lime green check walking suit, with green hat and beige accessories with white orchid corsage.

Guest were present from Lindsay; Belleville, Oshawa, Stirling; Bethesda, Toronto; Port Perry; Cobourg; Toronto; Rochester; Niagara Falls and Barrie, Ontario.

The bride was the honored guest at several showers prior to her marriage; a kitchen shower held at the home of Mrs. John R. Sherry; Belleville; a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. William Lott and Mrs. Margaret Lott, at their home by the neighbors held at the home of Mrs. Lott, and a shower at a rehearsal tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Brodie.

HACKETT — BRICKMAN

Tall standards of yellow gladioli and bronze chrysanthemums adorned the chancel rail, and white satin bows designated the pews in Tabernacle United Church, Belleville, on Saturday, October 1st, at high noon, for a lovely daughter's wedding when Anna Marilyn Brickman, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brickman, became the bride of Allen Henry Hackett, son of Mrs. John Miller of Belleville, and the late Mr. Bernard Hackett. The Reverend Morgan McFarlane, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mrs. J. Leddingham rendered the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Douglas Shaw of Belleville, in her rendition of "The Lord Is My Shepherd," by John Prindle Scott, before the ceremony and "At Dawning," by Charles W. Kassman, during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Gerald Brickman, the bride was radiantly lovely in her bridal gown of silk miramist taffeta and lace, featuring a smoothly-fitted bodice having an inset yoke of lace accented with seed pearls and sequins, and long sheath-like sleeves ending in lily-points over the wrists. The floor-length regal skirt cascaded into a chapel train. She wore a pillbox of scalloped lace and seed pearls, and a silk tulle illusion veil edged with a border of lace, which lace matching the gown, and carried a cascade of white Shasta 'mums and stephanotis centred with a shower orchid and trailing ivy. A necklace of cultured pearls with matching earrings completed her bridal costume.

She was attended by her cousin, Miss Joan Brickman, of Belleville, as maid of honor, wearing a gown of gold peau de sole with Bertha collar and pleated, bell-shaped skirt, with gold feather hat, matching accessories, and carrying a bouquet of yellow roses encircled by bronze 'mums.

The bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Hackett, sister of the bridegroom, both of Belleville, were attired in gowns identical to that worn by the maid of honor, in the attractive fall hatch pattern and fitted bodices having Bertha collars and pleated bell skirts. They carried bouquets of yellow feather mums.

Master David Moon, of Belleville, cousin of the bride, was ring-bearer and Miss Susan Brickman, of Toronto, cousin of the bride, as flower girl, was demure and sweet in her white taffeta frock with gold colored sash of peau de sole and back bow. She carried a basket of yellow and bronze mums and matching floral bandeau, and wore white gloves and shoes.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Lionel Hovey of Belleville, and the guests ushered by Mr. William Lott, and Mr. Garth Hackett, both of Belleville.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Gerald Brickman, received the guests in the church parlor, where the reception was held, wearing a gown of brown peau de soie with matching jacket, brown and green accessories and corsage of tawny-gold roses. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. John Miller, assisted in the receiving line, attired in navy lace crepe with accessories and corsage of Caralamling roses.

For the wedding trip through the Adirondack Mountains and Middle eastern United States, Mrs. Hackett wore a dark-brown ensemble with fur collar, with green accessories and corsage of bronze and yellow 'mums. Mr. and Mrs. Hackett will reside at 613 Dawes Road, Toronto.

Guests were present from Belleville; Coboconk; Toronto; Rochester; Niagara Falls and Barrie, Ontario.

The bride was the honored guest at several showers prior to her marriage; a kitchen shower held at the home of Mrs. John R. Sherry, Belleville; a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. William Lott and Mrs. Margaret Lott, at their home by the neighbors held at the home of Mrs. Lott, and a shower at a rehearsal tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Brodie.

The bride's gift to her bridegroom, an electric shaver; to her attendants, pearl earrings; to the flower girl, pearl bracelet. The bridegroom's gift to his bride, a gold wrist watch and to the attendants, gold cuff links and ties.

Grandma Edwards Turns Meet Into Sort of Family Gathering

By ELIZABETH MOTHERWELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The presence of Grandma Edwards turns meetings of the Canadian Dental Nurses' and Assistants' Association into a sort of family gathering.

A spry 76, Mayton Edwards of Oakville, Ont., co-founded the organization in 1945 and became its first honorary member at the 13th annual meeting here renewing old acquaintances and welcoming newcomers.

Grandma Edwards still has the spring in her step that kept her on the go for 40 years with the Canadian Red Cross and then in Toronto, soothing upset children as receptionist for the dentist.

Explaining why she promoted the association, she says it encourages the girls to feel they have a profession. "It shows the dentists we're interested."

LEARNED TO TYPE

She wrote letters to longhand to dentists across Canada to encourage their assistants to form city and provincial associations. These led to formation of the national association.

Three years ago she taught herself to type in order to speed up her job of editing the association's quarterly, sent to some 600 members across Canada.

She insisted this was to be her last convention. However, she said the same thing when she celebrated her 75th birthday at the 1959 meeting.

She originally set out to be a bedside nurse and in 1906, at Marion Hampson, graduated from the New York School of Nursing.

Widowed early in her marriage and with two young daughters to care for, she found the more regular hours of dental nursing better suited to a family routine. Seven years grandchildren, and Grandma Edwards in fact as well as in the affectionate regard of association members, is a mother.

At conventions she wears a badge identifying her with the pins of dental nursing associations in which she holds honorary membership. She is also an honorary member of the American organization as well as of associations across Canada.

Mrs. Edwards says she misses the children she worked with in Toronto schools where she used to josh the youngsters out of their pains.

She recalls that just before her retirement a mother told her youngster: "Now don't you be upset. This way my nurse when I went to school."

Southwest Hastings W.A. Rally Meets In Holloway United

By MRS. ALBERT JONES

WHITE'S DISTRICT — South West Hastings held its annual Women's Association rally on October 5th at Holloway Street United Church, Belleville.

Mrs. R. H. Smithson, president, welcomed all present, and noted the theme was "Where the Holy Spirit Is, There Is the Church."

Centenary W.F. presided for the devotional period using "Thanksgiving" as their topic. Mrs. Byron Harder as leader opened with the hymn, "Make Us Thankful People, Come."

Mrs. Mac Nobes read Psalm 100; Mrs. Harder spoke on "Forget Not All His Benefits," and Mrs. Nobes led in prayer. Mrs. Sutherland lavoured with a solo, "I Shall Not Pass This Way Again" with Mrs. Harold Hancock as accompanist. Mrs. Harder closed with a poem, "We Thank Thee Lord, For All Blessings."

Mrs. Ross Conner, of Holloway St. W.A. welcomed the ladies, hoping it would be a profitable day. She said the new programme was a challenge. "It gives us a responsibility, not only for ourselves but for the whole world. Our hearts must be right with God." She asked "Have we consecrated ourselves, putting first things first?"

Mrs. Spafford of Alton's, acknowledged the welcome for Mrs. Conner. She said they expected a day of uplift and thanked the Holloway Street United ladies for their welcome.

Mrs. Peter Davidson, of Belleville Presbytery W. A., extended greetings. She had attended her first W. A. meeting in Holloway St. United Church. It amazed her how a few people could accomplish so much. "We should go into the new year with optimism, without a chip on our shoulders. Let us go into the new organization, only nice things to think about."

Mrs. Cameron Holmes of Belleville Presbyterial W. M. S. said, "Once again it is my pleasure to bring greetings from W. M. S." She enjoyed working with Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Nobes. It is a "must" to prepare ourselves to go into this work together. Rich and poor must work for it. In the work of the Lord. The prayers of W.M.S. come to the W.A. prayerfully that the day of His coming may be hastened.

TO GIVE EXPERIENCES

Mrs. G. E. Dobbs, president of Bay of Quinte Conference W.A., kindly offered to give her experience as General Council at Edmonton. She felt it was the highest experience she had had. When she arrived at Edmonton her feelings must her at the station and found that two more conferences were scheduled there.

The council opened on Wednesday at McDougal Church one block from the centre of Edmonton and situated on the North Saskatchewan River. Beside it stands the former old church which is still kept in repair.

The inside of the church is beautiful with a choir of 50 voices, and these, male, who rendered many selections. Every hour the chimes ring out and every half hour a hymn is heard.

On Wednesday, the Moderator, the Right Rev. Angus ""-Queen, addressed the council, and his message was "Service." He spoke on "Africa," saying in part, "We must accept the fact of Him as a child of God, and rid ourselves of our prejudice accepting him as a brother and friend. We must give him our support and our love. If this is lacking all our work will not progress."

DEVOTIONS

The devotions each day were taken by: Dr. Bonnell of 5th Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York. The reading of the Bible was a challenge. His theme was: "We Must Witness." He compared Christian life to a ship, "We all need to be members of the crew rather than passengers. Women had a unique part in the General Council because of the work they had done in the past. Some 'more than 300 miles to attend the Thursday night meeting 'On the Service of the Women in the Church' and would return home that night.'

There was time for questions because the report went to a sectional committee. These committees are appointed by the General Council and there is one layman and one minister from each conference on these committees.

When a report is given it is referred to the sectional committee to make necessary changes and then to be approved or thrown out. Mrs. Dobbs was the sectional committee for overseas missions.

The sectional committee approved the theme of the work of the women in the church and also of overseas and home mission work. Home missions was accepted as the name for mission work carried on in Canada and the name for the new organization will be "The United Church Women." The same of the new board of women would be the Board of the United Church Women, and their purpose is to unite all women in the United Church.

REPORT

Mrs. Patterson, in her report for W.M.S., gave an interesting account of the work of the early beginning. Mrs. McKinnon reported for the Board of Education Council since it was organized. This was important because it will be the last report of W.M.S. and W.A. and these will be replaced by C.W.A. "As we go forward women must be willing to accept offices and share responsibility with men. We must be willing to say, 'Lord, what would Thou have me do,' and then be ready to do it.

Mrs. Jones was a bit ashamed of the Bay of Quinte Conference would have been represented at General Council. This is because local women did not attend Presbytery.

Nominations came from the Presbytery and these are sent on to conference.

If Mrs. Sopher and Mrs. Dodds had been there they would be commissioners. It is not likely the Bay of Quinte Conference would have been represented.

On Saturday they visited Lodge of Ten Virgins, a home for aged women, also a visit to the Provincial Museum and Mrs. Alberta. In 1905 Hobart Dowler, a homesteader, gave a quarter section of land including the present site of the city and it to the church. Here, a beautiful building was erected as a retreat for ministers and this was dedicated by the Right Rev. Hugh McQueen. A barbecue supper was served here to all who visited the museum.

PAGEANT VIEWED

They returned to the auditorium to see a pageant depicting the arrival of the missionaries in Edmonton and their work to the present time. The costumes had been made by the Women of the United Church and the cast was girls helped by painting the decor on them. On Sunday night there was a mass service in the church and Monday night was Missionary night. Although it rained, the church was packed with people. The United Church people do care about others.

Mrs. Dodds kindly offered to help say church if they needed her as she had more information if time had permitted.

Mrs. C. W. Sine, literature secretary, gave concise reports on three books, the first being "Leadership", the book telling steps to leadership and helps to those people they have in leadership and how to use them; the second book was, "Adventures in Reverial Joy", by Jane Scott, depicting adventures by love and faith. It helps Christian to grow.

The third book was a devotional book on "Bible Women." Martha is called the misunderstood woman of the Bible. Martha is a character analysis, story in a nutshell and prayer.

The ladies met in the dining hall for a box lunch at noon and tea and coffee served by the Holloway St. ladies.

CHURCH REPORTS GIVEN

Following the lunch hour, encouraging reports were given by ten churches, showing funds raised by bazaars, banquets, donations, quiltings, potluck dinners, bake sales, catering and travelling apron. Devotional services were interspersed with necessary reports on parsonages, churches, supplies, manses, furnishings, libraries and other needy causes. The visiting committees were appointed.

Mrs. Burke of Grace Church, Trenton, presided at the devotional, also using Thanksgiving as her theme. Hymn, 6 "Through All the Changing Scenes of Life" was sung following by a prayer of Thanksgiving. Luke 17: 11-17 was read. Mrs. Johnston closed by the hymn "Thanks Unto the Lord for He Is Good." Her topic first was because Thanksgiving was so close and secondly because by 1963 all will be one body of the United Church Women. "In the East or West," was sung and prayer closed the service.

The hymn was dedicated by Mrs. R. McMullin of Stone Mills.

Mrs. Dobbs, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Dodds and Mrs. Davidson answered questions directed to them by buzz groups. "Breathe on Me Breath of God" was sung.

Mrs. Sparge, of King Street United Church, Trenton, introduced Mrs. Jan Fleming, guest speaker, of Georgetown. It was a great pleasure in introducing Mrs. Fleming as she had spoken to them at King Street, Trenton, in 1956. Mrs. Fleming was originally from Wales, coming to Canada in 1948. At first they operated a farm but when Mr. Fleming decided to go into the ministry, Mrs. Fleming took correspondence to Kingston, where he entered university. They have since served at Napanee, Kingston, Cherry Valley and Georgetown.

Mrs. Fleming thanked Mrs. Sparge for her lovely introduction and was so happy that there were ladies present from Cherry Valley. As an introduction, she told an amusing story of the Prince of Wales, his Duke of York, an English Bobby and a small boy, who climbed to be the Archbishop of Canterbury. She said she would not be guilty of being a report of Mrs. Dodds' highlights at General Council. She said the new name is similar to the one produced by love, prayer and dedication to the hope and life of the church lies in this new organization. It will deepen the fellowship. "We are being offered a new opportunity to work with Christ and Jesus Christ. We must constantly pray to guard our reputation."

She finished with a story of a young man who went into the church and sang a sign, "Room Fish for Sale Here." "We must have room in a weak church; we must concern ourselves about the spiritual need of our women."

Mrs. Fleming made how do we spend on making money? Are we willing to give true hostesses of the Church or Jesus Christ? Are we as concerned of the youth groups as we are of W.A.?

Mrs. Ross consented to be a delegate at the fall on November 7th, at Centenary.

A poem, "Look Up," was read by Mrs. Cook, who dedicated the offering.

Following the benediction, refreshments were served by the Ross' group. A social time was spent.

Mrs. Charles Wood took subscriptions for the "Missionary Monthly." The thanksoffering was still open and donations can be brought to supper or given at the November meeting.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

CANNIFTON - CORBYVILLE W.M.S.

The Canniffon - Corbyville W.M.S. met last Thursday in the Sunday School room. Mrs. Douglas Sexton, president, opened the proceedings and welcomed the guests and visitors. Mrs. Sexton in the W.M.S. circle again after a lengthy absence. Mrs. Hall played.

The business session consisted mainly of the nominations and plans for the forthcoming rally to be held in Canniffon United Church, Thursday, October 20th being an all-day rally, registration at 10 a.m. Devotions will be with the morning service at 10:30 and the afternoon service at 1.30 p.m. Mrs. two guests, Mrs. Miss Ellsen M. Bates, and Miss Miranda Brown, are public missionaries, so their visit should provide to be most interesting.

INVITATION

Mrs. Hall reading the worship service over to Mrs. Roy Pound, Mrs. Brunton read a letter from Mrs. Ray Bird, Mrs. Pound extended a cordial invitation to Mrs. Bird, Mrs. Gilead and W.M.S. to visit the Pound's on Oct. 18 at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Clarence Holmes would be guest speaker.

Mrs. Roy Pound chose, "A Service of Thanksgiving" for the theme of the worship service, as printed in the September issue of the Missionary Monthly. Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Furmidge rose to deliver a few words on "Dependability" the highlights of her talk were as follows: "Although sympathetic these words of consolation are not enough, the heart prompts, us to use the words of Christ—like Martha to comfort the one who bears a grief. It is question. Do it graciously without counting the cost. This is the urging of God, as he ponders and installations the love and compassion which God has for us. Christ gave Himself away on the words of "I" "Myself" and "because".

"In yielding to a Christ-like impulse, we often propagate and share a Christ-like wisdom. Paul urges "He who hesitates is lost" may well be applied to those who smother a beautiful opportunity to do good with the cold words of reason. We call it practical and common sense at times."

TURNING WORLD

Mrs. Clarence Bird read a chapter from "The new study book "Turning World", by Betty Thompson. This book largely records the author's experiences while working in Geneva, and New York on the staff of the World Council of Churches, during a recent trip around the world. Eaton's Notes: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a doctor, a social worker, a writer and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been solved with sympathetic agencies and counsel.

Barbara M.—My parents never ask about school.

Mr. F. M.—School is up to Barbara and her teacher.

Barbara M.—I have all kinds of problems in school. Last week my teacher sent me to the guidance teacher because I'm failing in social studies and gym, of all things. I never have been a clean uniform.

I hate my social studies teacher. We're studying Japan now. When I brought an old to class —the sash for a kimono which my uncle brought when he got out of the war—she called it junk, sarcastic. She said, "Don't think this is going to help you mark. You better start doing some homework." I do homework, but she gives me about 10 pages a day.

Last week, friend's mother always asks her what's 'new in school.' I told her one thing, what books she's reading. Her father and mother aren't the least bit interested in what I feel, what's going on in school, and I'm not happy or unhappy, I'm sad.

Mrs. F. M.—Barbara is 12 years old. When I was 12 I also had six younger brothers and sisters to look after. Barbara has only herself to look after, and I'm sure she could get at least wash and iron a simple gym suit!

I have my husband and I go to business. We have plenty of headaches, believe me, and we have no one to go crying to. Barbara has trouble in school, she has all her homework and exercises there to help her. That's her job, and Mr. Thomas is not what we pay taxes for.

Of course we love Barbara and want her to be happy. But she's a big girl.

We try not to bother her with our troubles, but she ought to be able to handle her own problems herself—between her and her teachers. If she's not, home, pretty clothes and a generous allowance. What more does she want? If she's not satisfied with her parents, she's plain ungrateful.

The Council—The age of 12 is indeed a tender one for facing those difficult years that come with sex, adolescence. Mrs. M. and her husband are obviously fair too soon.

I hate my social studies teacher. We're studying Japan now. When I brought an old to class —the sash for a kimono which my uncle brought when he got out of the war—she called it junk, sarcastic. She said, "Don't think this is going to help you mark. You better start doing some homework." I do homework, but she gives me about 10 pages a day.

Last week, friend's mother always asks her what's 'new in school.' I told her one thing, what books she's reading. Her father and mother aren't the least bit interested in what I feel, what's going on in school, and I'm not happy or unhappy, I'm sad.

Mrs. F. M.—Barbara is 12 years old. When I was 12 I also had six younger brothers and sisters to look after. Barbara has only herself to look after, and I'm sure she could get at least wash and iron a simple gym suit!

I have my husband and I go to business. We have plenty of headaches, believe me, and we have no one to go crying to. Barbara has trouble in school, she has all her homework and exercises there to help her. That's her job, and Mr. Thomas is not what we pay taxes for.

Of course we love Barbara and want her to be happy. But she's a big girl.

We try not to bother her with our troubles, but she ought to be able to handle her own problems herself—between her and her teachers. If she's not, home, pretty clothes and a generous allowance. What more does she want? If she's not satisfied with her parents, she's plain ungrateful.

The Council—The age of 12 is indeed a tender one for facing those difficult years that come with sex, adolescence. Mrs. M. and her husband are obviously fair too soon.

Barbara M.—My parents never ask about school.

Mrs. F. M.—School is up to Barbara and her teacher

Blue Bombers Tame Lions By 49-21

WINNIPEG (CP)—British Columbia Lions ran out of steam in the second half of their Western Intercollegiate Football Union game against Winnipeg Blue Bombers Thursday night and received a sharp setback in their battle for the third and final league playoff position.

Lions, trailing Calgary Stampeders by one point, held Bombers to a 21-21 tie after two quarters, but then lost the game 49-21 as four Bomber linemen celebrated Buddy Tinsley Night by scoring touchdowns.

A crowd of 14,775 roared as Tinsley, an 11-year tackle, went in at fullback late in the fourth quarter, took a handoff from quarterback Kenny Ploen and ran over from the one-yard line for Bombers' last touchdown.

Bombers picked up three of the four Lion fumbles, with a lineman running the ball for a touchdown on each occasion. The performances came from centre Garland Warren, guard Cornel Piper and linebacker Jack Delveaux.

Other Winnipeg touchdowns were scored by fullback Charlie Shepard, end Ernie Pitts and Ploen. Gerry James converted all of Bombers' points.

GIVES ONE-MAN SHOW

Halfback Willie Fleming put on a one-man show in the first half, breaking away for two brilliant 56-yard touchdown runs and catching a 25-yard pass from Ploen. Walden for Lions' other touchdown.

Statistics told most of the story as the Bombers rolled up 349 yards rushing and 92 passing for 21 first downs. The Lions had 12 first downs on 122 yards rushing —102 by Fleming—and 136 yards passing. Bombers intercepted two B.C. passes.

Sweep Doubleheader
BCI Defeats Trenton

By PETER CARVER

Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School swept a double-header against the Trenton Tech Eldorado Tigers football squads yesterday afternoon at Memorial Park. The BCI hunters took a 13-9 victory in a very close game. The seniors followed up with a decisive 34-6 victory in a wide-open affair.

JUNIOR GAME

Trenton began battled through a scoreless first quarter. Trenton threatened several times on Belleville's end, but could not click. Several good runs by BCI's Ralph Berry and Larry Soule brought the ball to Trenton's 30-yard line. The Tigers then intercepted a BCI pass but a series of penalties gave BCI the ball on the twenty-five and within scoring range. Soule then drove to the four and Bob Lidley plunged over on the next play. The convert attempt was wide. Trenton's football gave Belleville a 6-0 lead at half time.

BCI's Soule made another spectacular run, this time his longest pigskin 30 yards to Trenton's 20-yard line on the pass and run play. Soule then threw a pass and went over but the touchdown was nullified by a penalty. However on the next play Adams pointed and the Tigers were rouged for one point. An interception gave Belleville the ball on the Trenton 30. Soule ran around the end for a 43-yard touchdown. Again the convert attempt was no good. The three-quarter time score stood at 13-0 in favor of BCIVS.

The Tigers intercepted a BCI pass on the homester's five yard line, but Belleville got a break when they were set for a fumble.

Soule was tackled behind the BCI goal line giving Trenton two points. Another interception put Trenton in scoring position on the Belleville fifteen. Quarterback Wannamaker ran to the seven and on the next play he hit Clements in the end zone for Trenton's major. The convert was good, leaving the final score 13-9 for Belleville.

SENIOR GAME

Early in the first quarter Trenton showed a good offensive team in plunging from mid-field to the Belleville five on a series of crashing ground plays. Fullback Ron Kerr then plunged over for the touchdown. The try for the extra was no good. Peter Wood attempted a 30 - yard field goal, the kick was wide.

Trenton was rouged for one point. This gave the Tigers a 6-1 lead at quarter time.

Belleville began to move and a good ground attack moved the ball to the Trenton 30. Moe Hunter took a short pass and drove to the three-yard line. Brian McKenzie then drove through for the major. The convert attempt was wide. This left the half-time score at 7-6 BCI.

McKenzie ran from mid-field to the Trenton twenty on the next play Hunter drove to the two. Again McKenzie went over for the touchdown. This time the convert was good. A Trenton fumble gave Belleville the ball. Bill Latimer charged up the middle for a fifteen-yard touchdown. Wayne converted, giving Belleville a 20-6 lead at quarter time.

Belleville's Bill Latimer kicked a field goal in the fourth quarter to finish the scoring. Brian McKenzie, with two majors and Bill Latimer with one were BCI's scorers. Ron Wannamaker kicked a field goal, a single and two converts. Kerr had Trenton's lone touchdown.

Royals Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was a battle of cellar-dwellers when Montreal Royals and Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds met Thursday night in an Eastern Professional Hockey League game and the Royals made it out of the basement with a 6-4 victory.

A hometown crowd of 1,356 watched the Thunderbirds shorch their third loss in a row. It was the Royals first victory in four starts.

In the only league game scheduled, Roger Sawicki scored two goals for the Royals while the singles went to Terry Harper, Walter Bradley, Jim Roberts and Wayne Connelly.

Sault goals were scored by Fred Hillis, in his first game since rejoining the Thunderbirds from Buffalo Bisons, Ed Kachur, Cliff Schmautz and Marvin Kurylak. Hillis had 36 goals last season with the Thunderbirds.

A strong third - period Sault rally was thwarted by Montreal goaltender Charlie Hodge, who had 32 of his 36 stops in that frame.

Every Pirate Was a Hero Says Manager

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Danny Murtaugh, the smiling Irishman who led Pittsburgh Pirates to their first world baseball championship in 33 years, says "every Pirate is a hero."

The usually fight-lipped Pittsburgh manager lavished praise on all his players Thursday after the Pirates' sensational last-half home run in the bottom of the ninth inning gave the Pirates a 10-9 victory over New York Yankees in the seventh and deciding game of the world series.

"What a terrific way to win the series," chuckled the 43-year-old Murtaugh. "It was just typical of my ball club. A fighting ball club all the way. There are no particular heroes to me. Every Pirate is a hero.

MOMENT OF DOUBT

"When Bill Mazeroski hit that ball into the ninth I doubted just for a moment that it would go over the wall. When Yogi Berra (Yankee left fielder) stopped I knew we had the world series and when it was caught was ... I'd like to kiss my wife."

Murtaugh was asked by newsmen by reporters in the Pirate clubhouse, Murtaugh said:

"I thought Berra had a chance to get the ball. But that thought was in my mind just a fraction of a second. Everyone stood up on the bench, and I don't even remember who was beside me. I couldn't get to Mazeroski at all."

Murtaugh began his baseball career in 1937 as second baseman for Cambridge in the Eastern Shore League. He later played with Philadelphia Phillies until he went into the army during the Second World War.

AT SECOND BASE

He played second base for the National League Pirates from 1948 to 1951. Murtaugh took his first shot at managing in 1952 when he piloted New Orleans of the Southern Association. Three years later he became manager to Charleston, W.Va., of the American Association.

Murtaugh moved up to the Pirates in 1956 as a coach. He was named manager in the middle of the 1957 season after Bobby Bragan was fired.

"Golly, what can I say," Murtaugh said. "This is just the biggest thrill any manager can have. Now I'm going home and relax in my old rocking chair."

FIGHT POSTPONED

MILAN (AP) — The Oct. 29 title fight between Duilio Loi of Italy, world junior welterweight champion, and Maurice Auzel of France was postponed Thursday because of Loi's illness. The promoters said they were told by Loi's physician the Italian was suffering from intestinal flu.

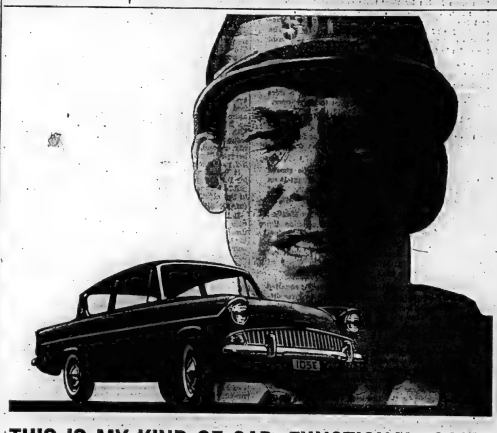
Come, Senor This Is Too Much

TORRION, Mex. (AP)—An overenthusiastic Pittsburgh Pirate fan Thursday shot and killed a painter who said the New York Yankees threw the game.

Gasper Sanchez, a barkeeper, had listened to the world series game by radio, and when the Pirates won 10-9 he grabbed a pistol and began shooting into the air.



Antonio Duenas, a painter, called him a "lunatic" and belittled the Pirate victory by saying the Yankees "gave the Pirates every opportunity to win."

Sanchez turned his still smoking pistol on Duenas, and shot him dead.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"HE WHO LAUGHS. . ."

There, they said, he is out on a limb.
The buck o' our hand to the likes o' him.
The Pitts, and the Herringtons, Pat O'Mears,
Alexander, Macaro and Tim O'Hara.

The Noakes and the Dolans, the Dinsty brothers
And the rest of the clan of the Yankee lovers
With jaws adroolin'; all set to go
To watch Uncle Georgie eat series crow.

I called it in six, and so help me heaven,
My heart stood still when it went to seven,
It pittered and pattered like a leaf in the ducks.
But I still had faith in those rallying Bucs.

They laughed, I laughed—then discovered with zest
That he who laughs last usually chuckles the best.

* * *

The weakest, weirdest world series wound up on a note that even the movie script writer couldn't dream up in his wildest moments.

The Pittsburgh Pirates won it, if you didn't know it you were lip-hunting in Ubangi territory or wondering what the extra taxes tab will be next month.

It was weird in a fantastic way. Finally, the Yankees were beaten by their main offensive weapon, the home run. Equally crazy, it was one it that way, in the fact the Yankees with their mighty batting power accounted for 57 runs over the seven-game series. The Pirates posted 52 runners across the plate. Yet they won the series in four games of seven.

Of course, a home run is as effective as it is timely. That happened several times during the series—but as Yankee and Pirate addicts must admit—that kind of Buccaneer Mazeroski was the pick of the pack, besides it occasioned the bag of bucks that goes to the winner.

The Pirate second baseman was the hero of yesterday's heart-throbbing 10-9 thriller. He hit the first and last circuit clouts for the Bucs in the series but he'll never forget (who will?) his last one, a 406-foot clout over the centre-field wall.

Mazeroski said when Terry threw him the second ball, a high and fast one—that was it. "I caught it on the fat of the bat and I knew it was well hit. Had Terry tossed me a change-up I would still be swinging."

Some fantastic things happened, too. Mickey Mantle set a world series record for strikeouts, fanning nine times against the Pirates and raising his total for eight series to 34. Duke Snider held the old mark of 33. Mantle also led both clubs in slugging averages with .800 on 20 total bases in 25 times at bat. BUT Mazeroski paced the Tigers with 16 total bases in 25 trips for a .800 mark.

The resiliency of the Pirates has never been equalled in a world series. Smashed brutally to earth on three different occasions by the mauling monsters of the Yankee heavy artillery, they got up at the count of nine, and roared back to taunt their three-game conquerors and earn equalizing decisions.

Yesterday's final jousting was no affair for anyone with cardiac trouble. Pirate fans sitting pretty with a 4-0 lead at the end of two, were suddenly jolted and reminded in no uncertain manner that the game was far from over. Yankee supporters, likewise, felt the series was in the bag when the Bombers led 7-4 later in the game.

Then it was up and down with tension terrific and both sides waiting for the inevitable after the Yankees tied the score at 9-9 in the top of the ninth.

It came with startling dramatic suddenness with the second ball pitched to Bill Mazeroski—and you know the rest.

Line Gets 8 Points

Jabs Nip Detroit 4-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens' first line of right winger Bernard (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, centre Jean Beliveau and left winger Marcel Bonin has firstly made its presence felt in the young National Hockey League season.

The trio picked up eight points Thursday night to lead the defending champion Canadiens to a 4-3 victory over the winless Detroit Red Wings in the only NHL game.

Beliveau and Geoffrion each scored a goal while Bonin picked up three assists. In addition to their goals, Beliveau set up two others and Geoffrion one.

Geoffrion, leading Dickie Moore, last year's old Montrealer, added one more goal to his total to increase his scoring lead by two points.

TO POINT LEAD

He now has five goals and four assists for nine points, two more than second place Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks.

The other Montreal marker went to third-string right winger Jacques Provost.

Winger Val Fonteyne scored two of Detroit's goals, while centre Norm Ullman notched the third.

Two games are scheduled for Saturday. New York Rangers play at Montreal and Toronto Maple Leafs host Boston Bruins.

LEACH NOT HAPPY

Toronto coach Punch Imlach isn't too happy with his players three days. Thursday night, he announced he would take them to task for the movies. The Leafs will see films of their four previous games, none of which they have won.

"I want them to see what kind of stupid mistakes they made," Imlach said.

In four appearances, the Leafs managed only one tie, a 3-3 game with Detroit Red Wings.

HYPERION RETIRES

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—Hyperion, outstanding sire of 20th century British racing, was retired Thursday. He is 30 years old and won the Epsom Derby and St. Leger stakes, two of England's top events for three-year-olds, in 1933. His offspring have won 742 British races and more than 200 in other countries.

Pirates Win It In Dramatic Thriller

Yanks Beaten By Own Weapon

By JOE REICHLER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Years from now when they look back at the 1960 world series, they won't believe it.

They'll look at the statistics and all the records that were smashed and they won't be able to understand how Pittsburgh Pirates ever managed to defeat New York Yankees, four games to three.

They'll thrill at the final game heroics, climaxed by Bill Mazeroski's home run in the bottom of the ninth inning that won the most dramatic finale in series history, 10-9, and sent Pittsburgh into one of the wildest and maddest celebrations ever staged.

They'll admire the courageous comeback of the underdog "beat 'em Bucs," but they'll also wonder how a team batting was humbled in the layout by a bed - bog 18-3, 16-0 and 12-0 would take the proud and mighty Yankees into the seventh game and then beat them with their own weapon—the home run.

OUTHIT, OUTRUN

They'll look with awe at the all-time record totals of 55 runs and 91 hits by the Yankees, and then note that the Pirates scored less than half as many runs and collected less than two thirds as many hits, and were outhomered 10 to 4, yet won the series after 35 years of frustration with a world championship.

"Its not the number of runs you make," said winning manager Danny Murtaugh during a lull in the wild clubhouse celebration, "it's the number of games you win. And we won more than they did."

"I've said all along that this is the fightingest ball club I've ever seen," chimed in captain Dick Groat. "Our guys never know when they're licked."

That's the way it was Thursday. Pittsburgh had staked Vernon Law, five-time winner over the Yankees, to an early 4-0 lead against Bob Turley and Bill Stafford but the American League champs bounced back with a run on Bill Skowron's homer in the fifth and shelled Law from the mound in the sixth with a four-run assault, featured by Yogi Berra's three-run homer off reliever Elroy Face.

It looked as if it was all over for Pittsburgh when the Yankees clubbed Face for two more runs in the eighth to take a 7-4 lead.

CHASE BRANTZ

But the Pirates, having good days for on pitching, defense, timely hits and breaks, refused to be pronounced dead. Handcuffed by Ralph Terry, who hurled five innings, during which they managed but one hit, the Bucs struck together three successive hits to get one run back and drive the little left-hander from the mound in their half of the eighth.

With Jim Coates on the mound, Roberto Clemente drove in another run with a two-out infield single and reserve catcher Hal Smith drove a three-run homer over the left field wall to regain the lead for Pittsburgh 8-7.

The Yankees, showing comeback qualities of their own, rallied for two runs off Bob Friend, making his second appearance in two days, and Harvey Haddix, winner of the fifth game last Monday. With the score tied at 9-9 Mazeroski led off on Ralph Terry's second pitch in the bottom of the ninth and crashed it over the left field wall to send out the crowd of 36,683 into a delirious state.

It took a break to keep the Bucks alive in the eighth and paves the way for Pirate' departure. After pinch hitter Gino Cimoli singled, Bill Virdon, the defensive hero of the series, repped a hard grounder to short. It looked like a sure double play. But the ball took a bad hop, struck Tony Kubek in the throat, and went for a single. The short stop was taken to a hospital for treatment and the play only was in full bloom.

It was a bitter defeat for Casey Stengel and in some ways a sad one, since it might be his last series. The 70-year-old pilot here is reported ready to announce his retirement.

Dad and Pal

Mazeroski and Mantle

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "Dad would have been very proud of him if he could have been here today."

The tears in Bill Mazeroski's eyes Thursday were half from joy and half from sad memories as he sought to resurrect the drama of the ninth-inning home run which smashed New York Yankees 10-9 and gave Pittsburgh its first world series championship in 35 years.

"Dad always wanted to play big league baseball himself," the 24 - year - old Mazeroski reminded. "He was disappointed he never got a great prospect. Once he was ready to sign with the Cleveland Indians but they had a look out off in a mine accident.

CANCER VICTIM

"Then, then on, all his hopes and ambitions were wrapped up in me, because I was an only son . . . There's a year and a half ago he died of lung cancer."

Mazeroski, who hit the first and last home run of the wild 1960 world series, said he remembers tossing a baseball around and swinging a bat since he was big enough to walk.

A slender six-footer, he was a shortstop and pitcher in high school but was converted into an infielder to take advantage of his hitting.

REGAN AS SHORTSTOP

"I was 18 when I broke in with Williamsport in the Eastern League as a shortstop," he related. "It wasn't until I went to Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League in 1956 that I was moved into a second baseman.

"I came to Pittsburgh in 1956, batted .211 right in 1957 and 1958 but I had a bad year last year. I hit only .261 and batted in only 19 runs.

"Maybe these two series home runs will sort of balance things out."

Toronto, Ottawa Focus On Stewart

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two big questions may get an answer this weekend as the Big Four, top and bottom teams pair off to begin the final battle for the league's three playoff berths.

One is—can little Ron Stewart of Ottawa Rough Riders' incredible halfback, run as well against Toronto Argonauts as he did in a record rushing performance against Montreal Monday?

If he can, Frank Clair's well-organized squad could use Sunday's Toronto game to settle the question of first-place which the teams hold jointly with 8-4 win-loss records.

In Montreal the question will be whether Hamilton Tiger-Cats, the 1958 champions, can keep on winning after overturning Toronto 36-18 Monday.

THELEN BACK

Defensive linebacker Dave Thelen will rejoin the Cats with squad for Sunday's crunch, but most eyes will be on the blocky five-foot-eight, 175-pound Stewart who gathered 207 yards rushing as Riders' bruising 31-21 victory over Montreal Thanksgiving Day.

Girding for the Sunday fray with the powerful Toronto squad coach Frank Clair will have to drop an import to make way for Thelen's return to the lineup.

This will put either Larry Uteck or Ron Knes out of the game. Rough Riders also have end Jim Reynolds and halfback Ernie Up from London Lords to replace injuries in the game.

OLIVER SIDELINED

Toronto will go into action with tackle Bob Oliver sitting it out, coach Lou Agase announced. It will be the first game Oliver has sat out in seven seasons of pro and college football.

Rugged tackle Don Carraway will be in for his first action of the season in an effort to contain Stewart and Thelen.

In Montreal coach Perry Moss says he will bench his only centre, Milt Crain, in an effort to put more speed into his defensive backfield after watching Stewart's runs through it Monday.

Crain will sit out the game with tackle Ron Murphy, who has never played snap, Moss said.

Dick Cobes will go into the backfield on defence and Wes Gidney, centre, will replace injured linebacker George Deldrich.

"We need speed back there on defence," Moss said.

Hockey School Opens Here Tomorrow

The North American Hockey Schools Limited will open a two-day session at Belleville Memorial Arena tomorrow morning for a number of young local hockey enthusiasts.

Classes will be held from 8.00 a.m. to 4.00 p.m. Saturday and Sunday for boys between the ages of nine and 15 years. The boys will be divided into into groups according to age, will work out on the ice with separate coaches, receiving instruction and tips on all phases of the game. They will be given "chalk talks" and view hockey instruction films.

Included among the school's group of professional instructors are former National Hockey League players Bo Hilderstand, "Chief" Clapper, Bob Goldham and Jim Thompson and referee Gord Fevreau.

An instruction fee of $3.50 per day for each boy is charged.

The Intelligencer sets out this week that any boys who have failed to fill out registration cards, available at Memorial Arena, can still get in on the school. If's not too late kids, you can still register at the door.

Dennis Hull Looks Good With St. Kitts

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—St. Catharines Teepees, 1959-60 Memorial Cup champions, have cut their new squad to 26 from a total of 30 players in camp two weeks ago.

Coach Max Kaminsky and Chicago chief scout Bob Thorpe have framed a team they hope again will take the Canadian junior hockey championship.

Ontario's leading junior point scorer, Chico Maki, will be missing from this season's line-up. Also gone are six-star defencemen Pat Stapleton, Terry McGibbon and possibly Vic Hadfield.

The Teepees still have their top goaltender Roger Crozier, and 45-goal scorer Ray Cullen.

Promising newcomer is Dennis Hull, 19-year-old brother of Chicago Black Hawks' Bob Hull.

The St. Catharines' team opens a six-game exhibition series in Guelph tonight.

Macs Sign Lamerande

Four senior "A" players signed contracts with the McFarlands last night, Coach Gordie Bell announced today.

Three were members of last years squad — the other a former McFarland.

Inked to the papers are Lionel Body, Dave Jones, Eddie Marinesu and Jean Paul Lamirande.

Most noteworthy perhaps is the acquisition of "Lammy" who will plug a big hole in the McFarland defence corps.

Jean-Paul — player - coached the Windsor Bulldogs last season but could not come to satisfactory terms with the Dogs' management.

He was reported as being signed to coach the Blair-managed Clinton Comets of the Provincial Senior League but this proved a grapevine rumor. Irwin Greene, Lamirandes are centre of the 1959 Bulldogs got the job.

Then Lammy tried out with the Kingston Frontenacs of the Eastern Professional League but apparently he and Blair could not see eye to eye and nothing developed.

So the sturdy hard-rock is back again with his former buddies of the McFarlands some of whom he played with when the club won the 1959 world championship at Prague.

Incidentally Lammy was lodged behind bars defencemen of that tournament— and has the silverware to prove it.

— Carver.

JEAN PAUL LAMIRANDE

A likeable chap, Lammy made a lot of friends during his last sojourn here and they no doubt will welcome him back.

Coach Bell said he expects Billy Colvin starrr centre player to report to the Macs either tonight or tomorrow night. The Macs practice tomorrow night starting at o'clock immediately following the hockey school.

Incidentally tickets for the McFarland games went on sale today at Bill Cook's Tobacco Shop.

COSSA Football

Moira, Picton Share Wins

Moira Secondary School, hosting Picton in the A Division of COSSA, earned a split in the two football games played yesterday afternoon. Moira started the afternoon off with a 30-7 win over the Prince Edward County team. The Picton seniors took the second game 40-7.

In the junior fixture Collin Allenby and Jim Rutherford each drove for good gains from their halfback spots. Allenby picked up 2 touchdowns while Rutherford got one. Little Gerry Jones nabbed the other from Harold Vens for the remaining 2 touchdowns. Also pulling in quarterback Uens' passes for good gains was end Murray Angus. The active Moira defensive unit played sound ball throughout the piece. Best for Picton were Gord Dewan with a touchdown and George Sainsberry who kicked the convert.

The second game saw the Picton team open up with long passes mixed nicely with strong punches up the middle. All Picton touchdowns came from pass and run plays with Gary Burr and Bob Kennedy scoring 2 each.

Richard Lee, Howard Prouse and Don MacNaughton gained one each.

Moira showed potential power when they opened the 2nd half with several long bursts by Doug Bell and Don Skinner, the former scoring Moira's touchdown on a 40-yard run while Tech 9, Waterloo 6 and Osgoode Hall 1.

McMaster had three double winners, Bruce McKague took the broad jump and hop, step, and jump, Bill Mitchell, a tackle with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football League, took the shot put and javelin, and Chuck Wilde won both 100-yard and 220-yard sprints.

Pittsburgh Went Wild After Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Horn honking, whistle-lighting Pittsburgh Pirates' fans celebrated until the early hours today in what police said was the biggest, craziest mass demonstration ever witnessed in the steel city.

Baseball fans who had seen world series celebrations in other cities said this one beat them all.

The celebration began exactly at 3:36 p.m. Thursday when second - baseman Bill Mazeroski clouted a lead-off homer in the ninth inning to give the Pirates their 10-9 victory over New York.

Fans who had waited a long time to celebrate let go with a vengeance. Sirens yelled, firecrackers boomed, air raid sirens screamed, confetti rained and church bells pealed.

In a few hours traffic was jammed hopelessly. Extra police were called out. Beer bottles littered main streets.

Girls grabbed strangers and kissed them. The men got into the act by kissing strangers. That caused a few fist fights.

By 1 a.m. more than 60 persons had been arrested on various charges as a result of the celebration.

The situation got so bad police requested radio and television stations to ask residents to stay away from the downtown area.

Retains Track, Field Title

HAMILTON (CP) — McMaster University chalked up 102 points Thursday to defend their Ontario Intercollegiate track and field championship.

Ontario Agricultural and Veterinary College, Guelph, was second with 38, followed by Assumption, Windsor, with 25, Ryerson Tech 9, Waterloo 8 and Osgoode Hall 1.

TORONTO (CP)—King's Newton, a three-year-old colt owned by Viscount Hardinge of Montreal, ran the fastest race of his life as he won the featured Canucita purse at New Woodbine Thursday.

King's Newton, with Charlie Boland in the saddle, scampered six furlongs in 1:10 flat to defeat Credit Curb by two lengths in the seven-horse third six lengths behind the winner.

A Canadian foal bred by Frank Dupre of Paint and Mouf real, King's Newton has won four times in his 10 starts as a three-year-old.

The colt paid $22.90, $6.50 and $4.20. He combined with Credit Curb for a quinella of $196.60.

A daily double of $139.10 was posted when Impelo and Nelson's Lady won the first two races.

TORONTO (CP) — Owner-trainer Willie Morrissey announced Thursday that Jacques Contreras will ride the unbeaten colt, Grampy Pride, in Saturd a y's $50,000 Coronation Stakes at Greenwood. The Coronation Stakes, at 1 1-16 miles, is Canada's richest race for two-year-olds.

Victoria Regina, the filly which has dominated the juvenile division this season, will be ridden by Avelino Gomez, North American's leading jockey. Victoria Regina, a half-sister to Victoria Park, is the property of her breeder.

Jockey Contreras was brought from New York by trainer Horatio Luro to ride Stratus in next Saturday's $50,000 Canadian Championship.

ARRIVES FOR PREMIERE — Michelle Lerner, wife of Broadway lyricist Alan Jay Lerner, is a law graduate from Sorbonne University, Paris. She was called to the Bar in France at the age of 20 but gave up her career before her marriage three years ago. She and her son Michael, 2, are shown arriving in Toronto for the opening October 1 of the musical Camelot for which Lerner wrote the lyrics. (CP Photo).

Micheline Lerner Loves The Two Men in Her Life, Her Son and Husband Alan

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Micheline Lerner has two men in her life. One is her song-writing husband, Alan Jay Lerner, and the other is her two-year-old son Michael.

"I cannot resist either one," she says. This means she is up early in the mornings to see her son and up late at night to see her husband who is busy all day preparing for the New, If Broadway opening of Camelot.

The Corsican-born beauty was here with her husband for a three-week pre-Broadway run of the musical about King Arthur's court.

Lunching on salmon salad at a hotel a few blocks from where the play was in rehearsal at Toronto's new O'Keefe Centre for the Performing Arts, she remarked that this was her first opportunity to see her husband at work.

MET AT PARTY

She also saw what the birth pangs of a new musical can do to the people bringing it to life. A few days after the play opened here on the hospital with an ulcer condition that delayed revision of some of the songs and book, Lerner was almost constantly at his bedside.

She married him three years ago after My Fair Lady, on which Lerner collaborated with Frederick Loewe, had become an established hit.

They met in New York at a party given by Rex Harrison, star of My Fair Lady, and the late Kay Kendall, continued the romance in Paris where Lerner was doing the screenplay for the film Gigi, and were married in New York.

"Now we are ir'spies but we still have a home soon." She is converting her husband's family home in New York to French decor.

Although she now finds herself the wife-mother of her husband's growing fame as a lyricist, Micheline is a personality in her own right.

At 20, Micheline Murelli Pozzo di Borgos had her master's degree in law from the Sorbonne and was admitted to the bar. She was involved in a series of interviews until she was told she had to make up her mind whether she was a lawyer or a movie actress.

She immediately embarked on a serious law career. Her first case was defending a man who had slain his wife and chopped the body into pieces.

"He had to die," she recalled sadly. She visited him every day for six months before the trial and, at his request, every day for two months after he was condemned to die.

"It is hard to talk to a man who is going to die but I was very conscientious." However, when he was executed she sent a friend to take her place.

Aces Defeat Providence 4-1

QUEBEC (CP) — Sparked by Garry Collins' scoring outburst, Quebec Aces knocked off Providence Reds 4-1 Thursday night in an American Hockey League game before a crowd of 6,100. The victory gave Aces a two-way tie with Springfield Indians for the league's leadership.

Collins, a hard - working defenseman, netted three goals. He put the Aces ahead 1-0 midway through the first period, scored again early in the second and rounded out his sparkling effort at 8:33 of the game frame after Red Sadd had fired their lone goal at 8:24.

Maurll Morrissette was the other Quebec marksman, his goal coming at 7:38 of the second period.

Danny Pollsiani counted Providence's tally.

Als Protest Thrown Out

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canadian football commissioner G. Sydney Halter announced Thursday he has disallowed a protest entered by Montreal Alouettes following a game at Montreal Sept. 24, won 21-8 by Toronto Argonauts.

The protest was against a third-quarter decision by a game official which wiped out an Alouette touchdown. The protest claimed the decision changed the complexion of the game.

Alouette halfback George Dixon scored a touchdown which made the score 13-8 for Toronto. On the convert attempt, an official ruled that Alouettes breached the rules by trying to draw Argonauts offside. The convert was wiped out.

Movie Column

Bob Newhart Well on Way To Amassing Big Fortune

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A year or so ago, Bob Newhart was a $40-a-week accountant with a knack for adding up figures wrong.

"It was the petty cash that legged me," he recalls. "At the end of the day, it would come out $1.50 short, so I'd put in the amount from my own pocket. They tried to tell me I couldn't be that careless, but I seemed better than spending three hours trying to find a mistake."

Today, Newhart is well on his way to a blooming fortune and finds himself president of a corporation, the principal asset of which is himself.

Newhart, 31, medium - sized, sandy-haired and pleasant-looking, scored a hit with his album, The Button-Down Mind.

FAST RISE

Six months ago, Newhart was booked into his first night club date at a Hollywood spot, for the precise purpose of recording an album for Warner Brothers.

Newhart is here for a date at the Cameo-Parkway, a top movie and TV deals. He discussed his rise to fame with an accountant's keen eye of detachment.

"People ask me if I've always been funny," he said. "I guess I have. I used to do routines for friends at parties. But I never realized that such things could be commercially successful.

"I suppose a lot of the new comedians were that way. We had our way of looking at things, which was different from the standard forms of comedy. It wasn't until Mort Sahl became successful that we realized that our approach might go over with the public."

TOP TENNIS TEAMS

MONTREAL (CP)—University of Montreal and McGill University, boasting some of the best young tennis players in Canada, are certain of deciding the eastern intercollegiate tennis championships between them. Thursday is the second day of a three-day tournament among five universities, McGill led with 17 victories and U of M was second with 14. Montreal is led by Frank Godbout, 22-year-old member of Canada's Davis Cup team, who has not lost a match. University of Toronto has eight matches, University of Western Ontario five and Laval University three.

No Seat For Player

PITTSBURGH (CP) — Elston Howard, catcher of New York Yankees, had no chance of getting into Thursday's deciding world series game against Pittsburgh Pirates because of an injured finger.

Nevertheless, he wore a uniform and sat in the dugout during the entire nine innings.

He couldn't get a seat in the stands.

"Yes, it's okay to get your Uncle Tweedy to play spook with you, but don't use the sack I put garbage in."

If your child is born today — he, or she, will inherit a very warm nature which will endear your progeny to all about, plus possessing the ability to think on a high level and be ambitious to a great extent. Give the benefit of a formal education which will also assist in bringing to the fore the fine capabilities imbedded in the subconscious. But it is important that through religious education you teach your child to have greater love for fellow man.

Sunday School Lesson

Our God Is Very Clever

By ROY L. SMITH

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON for October 16: "Trust in God."—Psalms 91; 121; Matthew 4:5-7.

In view of our engrossment with economic affairs, we need not suppose that we lack the faith with which to meet the frightening prospects of the nuclear age. GOD STILL ON DUTY

There is a very great need in American life for a vigorous faith in God. This is not to say that we need to believe that He exists. The actual atheist is a very rare individual. But we need to believe so much more.

In the face of war, political chaos, the economic revolution, the racial tensions, and the industrial strife with which we are surrounded, we need to be reminded from time to time that our God is still on duty. We do not live in a deserted world. Of this the ancient Psalmist was very sure, and we have a right to live by his faith.

There is no better text in all the Scripture, from which to preach a modern sermon, than the words of the old Hebrew who sang, "The Lord is your Keeper."

HELP WILL COME IN TIME

A little group of old women had been discussing the world's political situation, reviewing its complexities and its threats in all their sombre details. Finally a rather timid little woman spoke up to say, "But I believe God will come to our help: He will not desert us." To which another woman replied, rather tartly, "Yes, I believe that too, of course, but the thing I am wondering is, will He get here in time?"

No matter how black the skies may appear to be, and no matter how dense the fog, God still knows how to get about in this world of ours. And no matter how brilliant the enemy of righteousness may seem to be, our God understands the basic laws, conditions, and facts a little better.

The righteous man lives by his faith. It keeps him alive as long as he lives.

Implement Dealers Demand Permanent Site, June Date, For Ontario Plowing Match

SPRINGFIELD (CP) — Plowmen from 15 counties pledged wearily home Friday night from what many considered the most successful international plowing match in 30 years.

With four days of warm sunshine tasking the Elgin County earth, a host of new exhibits and inventions and attendance records of more than 100,000, organizers feel sure the match will appear next year in the same format.

Doubts of this came in an ultimatum from farm implement dealers to the Ontario Plowmen's Association. The dealers demanded a permanent site, a fixed date and other changes.

The ultimatum indicated many of the exhibits, main financial support for the match, would be withdrawn if these requests were not met.

The dealers had complained of the loss of sales opportunities involved in an autumn match. If held in the spring, farmers would look at exhibits at a time they are interested in buying.

Agriculture Minister Goodfellow of Ontario, attending the match Friday night, was to have a meeting of match officials, the dealer representatives and agriculture department officials has been called for Nov. 4 to discuss the situation.

"But I think the success of this match may convince them that the present set-up is a good idea," he said.

Alex Black, president of the association, said next year's match will be at Belleville and is scheduled to start a week earlier.

Oxford County's Keith Fried and Ray Dedman, both of New Dundee, captured the Ontario Plowmen's Association Trophy in the intermediate competition. They scored 255.3 points to edge out Lee Peel County pair, Les Wilkinson of Malton and Frank Duck of Mono Road.

In the four-secondary school competition, top place went to Galt collegiate's Howard Brown and David Rife. Caledonia high school was second and Waterford District high school third.

Cecil Wells of Paris won two evening with his team. He won the junior plow class limited to contestants who have not taken first place at the match before this year, and the horse show, open to teams used by competitors in the match.

After Torrent Of Words From 23 Chiefs Of State, UN Ready To Start Work

U.S., Britain and Italy Present Own Plan for Complete Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Groggy from three weeks of oratory by Nikita Khrushchev and 22 other chiefs of state and government, the UN General Assembly cleared the way today for work on a crowded agenda packed up by rival East-West disarmament plans.

The world body must deal with 40 questions including four separate items on disarmament, the top issue of the session.

Rivalling the arms proposal Premier Khrushchev put before the assembly, the United States, Britain and Italy put in a resolution Friday night calling for resumption of East-West disarmament negotiations.

Like Khrushchev's proposal, the Western draft calls for agreement on general and complete disarmament under strict international inspection and control.

DIFFERENCES OUTLINED

The competing plans, due to go before the UN's top political committee next week, have three key differences.

1. The Soviet resolution calls for quick conclusion of a treaty for general and complete disarmament. The Western draft would have agreement first on aims measures "capable of early implementation."

2. Khrushchev makes disarmament negotiations conditional on a revamping of the UN secretariat, with a three-man board made of Communist, Western and neutral states replacing Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold. The Western plan calls for no such change.

3. The Western plans calls for more specific control requirements. It specifies that controls should guarantee that armaments are reduced as agreed and reductions realized. The Soviet proposal calls only for controls "from beginning to end," of the progress of the work of disarmament.

BRITISH PROPOSAL

Britain also submitted a separate resolution under which the assembly would recommend that technical experts be named now to work out systems for checking on various steps in the disarmament and report back to the disarmament commission within six months.

The assembly has 10 separate African items on its record agenda. Heading the African list are the explosive question of Algeria's six-year struggle for independence and the UN Africa program for African development and Dag Hammarskjold's demand for an end to all colonialism.

With the 16 new African countries in the UN and the Soviet organization, the thorny question of racial policy in South Africa is expected to generate more heat than usual.

Diefenbaker Renews Friendship With Constituents After 2 Years

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker bagged a duck, addressed about 1,500 school children and shook hands with hundreds of adults Friday on the first day of a two-week tour of his constituency.

Throughout an action-filled day that started at 4:30 a.m., the 65-year-old prime minister set a pace that left younger aides wilted and gasping.

Relaxed and smiling, Mr. Diefenbaker appeared to draw fresh energy from each encounter with his constituents, who, for the most part, he was seeing for the first time in about two years.

"I've known John for more than 30 years and he's always been the same," said Charles Watt, owner of a hardware store at Canwood in the western section of Mr. Diefenbaker's Prince Albert riding. "He's a human dynamo."

Canwood, a tiny agricultural village hacked out of the bush some 50 miles northwest of Prince Albert, was one of three communities on the CNR's Big River branch line visited by Mr. Diefenbaker Friday. He spent most of his time talking to school children during the day's stops.

At Shellbrook, a community of scores of adults jammed the community's Legion Hall to hear him and hear the man who was introduced by high school principal George Richter as "one of the greatest statesmen Canada has ever had."

The students gave the prime minister a 50-second ovation when he rose to speak, rose and clapped him out of the hall, then surged around him again, each laying his departure 20 minutes while they sought autographs and handshakes.

The day started with a predawn drive to Debden, about 70 miles northwest of here, for a spot of duck hunting with friends before starting the day's official engagements. The prime minister brought down a big mallard with a difficult high-angle shot on his first attempt.

Steady Worry May Prevent Heart Trouble

MONTREAL (CP)—Worry hard enough and you may be preventing heart trouble, Dr. Hans Selye said Friday night.

Dr. Selye, University of Montreal research scientist, said the constant stress of worry may build up a buffer against heart disease.

He told a post-graduate cardiology course for general practitioners here that by pre-stressing themselves the usual heart troubles were often prevented. It was too early to say whether similar effects would occur in humans.

Mom Whyte Will Leave for U.S.

SUMMERLAND, B.C. (CP) — Mrs. Bertha (Mom) Whyte, who unsuccessfully tried to establish a home here for the needy after similar efforts in Ontario failed, is leaving for the United States.

Mrs. Whyte was refused a British Columbia license to operate a welfare institution. She said her Mountain View home was inspected recently and was up to standards required, but provincial Welfare Minister Wesley Black told her he would "never give her a license for anything."

Mrs. Whyte came to B.C. more than a year ago after Ontario authorities rejected her bid to maintain a home in Bowmanville.

STATISTICS SHOW U.S. OUTPUT DOWN IN SEPTEMBER

Figures Boost Fear Recession Starting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question whether the United States is moving into a business recession sharpened today following announcement that the output of mines, mills and utilities dipped to a 1960 low in September.

The federal reserve board reported that its index of industrial production moved down in September to 107 per cent of the 1957 average, a drop of four points from January's peak of 111 per cent. In August, the board further disclosed, the index sagged two points instead of one as previously estimated.

A possibility of further decline in October was suggested by the fact that steel mill operations, an economic bellwether, have failed to show the usual autumn seasonal pickup.

However, Roger Blough, chairman of United States Steel Corporation, predicted this week that "some improvement" in steel output will develop in this last quarter of the year. For the last few months more steel has been consumed than was produced, he said.

ECONOMISTS DIVIDED

Government and private economists have been divided for weeks on the question of whether the country was on a "high plateau" with some improvement in prospect, or had entered the beginning stage of a mild recession.

Friday's commerce department report on total personal income in October, it showed unchanged in September from August was up and salaries had dropped but this was slightly offset by gains in the social unemployment pay, veterans' benefits and other, social insurance payments.

The federal reserve board report Friday gave no conclusions. It began:

"Industrial production declined further in September, while construction activity increased. Total employment and personal income changed little and sales of retail stores declined. Bank credits, both loans and investments, increased substantially."

SUES MITCHUM

NEW YORK (AP)—New York lawyer Arthur Jacobs filed a $500,000 damage suit Friday against actor Robert Mitchum in Supreme Court, charging that the actor beat him up in the lobby of a London street corner. No motive was indicated in papers filed in Brooklyn Supreme Court. Jacobs's lawyer, John E. Halgney, said the actor denies the charges.

Dog Dominates Turk Officials' Court Hearing

YASSIADA ISLAND, Turkey (AP) — A shaggy Afghan dog dominated proceedings Friday at the trial of Turkey's former government officials who face death penalties on charges of violating the constitution.

The prosecution charges ex-president Celal Bayar, 76, immediately took a chance to aid the dog—a gift from the king of Afghanistan—by the Ankara Zoo's 20,000 Turkish lire ($1,800).

Bayar, who faces far graver charges, interrupted the testimony told the court Friday to "go get the dog from the prison and put on me. My worst punishment is being here."

The prosecution's stress on the dog court plainly is for the purpose of building up evidence for scoring an impact on the peasant masses in Anatolia's bleak interior.

URGE EXECUTION

The prosecutors are demanding the death penalty for Bayar, former premier Adnan Menderes and 12 others in the fallen government, overthrown by an army coup last May. Imprisonment for 365 parliamentarians in Menderes's outlawed Democrat party also has been demanded.

Tarik Rona, director of a government-owned state bank, testified today that several hundred million lire had been lent money to buy the dog for the zoo.

Bayar denied pocketing the money from sale of the dog and said he spent it for a fountain in a village.

The court adjourned until next Wednesday to permit defence counsel to consult with the defendants in the cramped island prison.

Court President Salim Bashoglu adjourned Friday to deal with complaints from prisoners about conditions of their five-month-long imprisonment. Defendants complained they had no chance to see lawyers.

"For five months I have lived in a single room under constant guard," Menderes complained. "I have been given no exercise nor investigating commission."

American Rescues Congolese Official From Knife-Wielding Lumumba Fanatics

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters) — An American businessman rescued a Congolese government official, from a knife-wielding supporter of Patrice Lumumba Friday as they kidnapped two other officials.

George Whitman of Pittstown, N.J., went to the rescue of Albert Ndele, vice-president of the pro-Lumumba Mobutu's government, when 20 Negro supporters of the ousted premier attempted to abduct him outside a theatre.

The gang slashed Ndele's face with knives and tried to drag him into a car. Whitman pulled him back into the hotel and the staff doctors grabbed two of Ndele's assistants and drove off with them.

A crowd of Congolese afterward gathered around Mr. Chanan Unified Nations guard who had been on duty nearby and asked why he had not protected Ndele. The soldier looked bewildered and did not reply.

12 ARRESTED

Mobutu's troops later picked up a dozen angry Congolese from the nearby, sidewalk cafe, bundled them into the back of a truck and made them fist in their stomachs. The soldiers, screaming and shouting, kicked several of them in the stomach.

Earlier some 200 pro-Lumumba demonstrators marched with police outside the UN building in Leopoldville, about a dozen persons were injured when police used rifle butts and sticks to disperse them.

The demonstrators had been parading in support of the UN, which is protecting Lumumba—holed up in the premier's residence.

The kidnapping of Ndele's assistants was the second attack on the student commissioners since they were appointed three weeks ago to administer the country until the year's end. Two were also kidnapped previously and Mobutu complained that UN troops and guard security had not intervened.

UN labor consultant Henry Raymond told a press conference Friday that almost half of Leopoldville's labor force was unemployed at the end of September and most of the jobless were living at "near-starvation level."

Today's Chuckle

If you can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, don't try to push your luck.

SOUTH RHODESIA BANS GATHERING TO QUELL UNREST

White Troops Move Into Negro Districts

SALISBURY (Reuters)—A ban on public meetings came into effect throughout Southern Rhodesia today in the latest government move to prevent "another Congo" in this tense Central African nation.

The ban, due to last a month, was announced Friday as Rhodesian troops moved into Negro townships around Salisbury, Bulawayo and Gwelo in a major show of strength. The ban excludes only sporting, religious or cultural meetings.

The Salisbury movements caused tension to mount throughout this internally self-governing British colony where bloody riots and strikes have erupted in the last week.

The general secretary of the African Nationalist Democratic party, Enos Nkala, told reporters Friday: "This is a state of war . . . It could lead to something disastrous.

"If Britain does not want another Congo, she must agree to African demands."

FOR PROTECTION

Before the soldiers went into the township at Salisbury—scene of riots which killed seven Negroes and injured 80 Negroes and whites last weekend—a spotter aircraft dropped leaflets saying the troops were to give peaceful citizens and stop looting and looting.

White militiamen armed with rifles and machine-guns drove in after the Rhodesians and set up platoon posts. About 2,000 troops are being used.

Both Candidates for White House Have Spot for President in Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both presidential candidates have a place for President Eisenhower in their future plans.

In Los Angeles Friday night, the Republican candidate, Vice-President Nixon, told the world newspaper format:

"I am happy to be able to tell you today that . . . I would have available the wise guidance and rich experience of President Eisenhower . . .

"He will remain ready—after leaving the White House—to continue his heroic work for peace and freedom."

Then, in Grand Rapids, Mich., on side said that Senator Kennedy, the Democratic candidate, believed "the next president of United States, whoever he is, should use the talents of President Eisenhower in the area of world peace."

And the aide, press secretary Pierre Salinger, said Kennedy also believed the talents of other former presidents should be used. The living former presidents are Republican Herbert Hoover and Democrat Harry S. Truman.

In the Los Angeles speech, Nixon said, if elected, he would call conferences with (1) defence leaders, (2) average American men and women, and (3) the leaders of the world's free nations.

Kennedy, whistle stopping through Michigan, said that, if elected, he would call a conference of industry and labor leaders to deal with "the growing crisis of automation—the replacement of men by machines."

Liquor Permit Holders to Fight Extortionists

MONTREAL (CP) — Harry Blank, Liberal legislature member for St. Louis riding, has called holders of liquor permits in his riding to a meeting next Wednesday to combat extortion and influence-peddling.

He said Friday as soon as many people have tried to extract money from holders of permits that he has sent registered letters to all holders notifying them of the meeting.

"There has been an increasing number of incidents . . . in which various persons have attempted to extract money from permit-holders in return for such favors as guaranteed renewal of their license and permission to remain open after curfew hours," he said.

"I don't know who they are at present, but I fully intend to find out."

Mr. Blank said his ward has the highest concentration of liquor permits of any district in Quebec.

Truck Accident Kills Five

WAINWRIGHT, Alta. (CP) — Five soldiers died and two others were injured in a truck accident near here Friday night.

Canadian Army Western Command headquarters here refused to identified one of the dead as Sgt. R. Moody, with the Royal Canadian Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, in Edmonton.

Names of the others were not released.

It was believed the truck in which the men were riding, most of them in the back, overturned on a gravel road.

Woman Shot, Man Charged

OTTAWA (CP) — Mrs. Jean Chartrand, 44, is in critical condition in hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen and the man with whom she was living, Raymond Herbert Hoover, is charged with attempted murder following the shooting at their west Ottawa apartment early this morning.

Mrs. Chartrand was shot with a 32-calibre revolver following a domestic argument at 2 a.m.

Police say there had been some drinking.

First to be aware of the shooting were two ambulance attendants, Ken Aitken and Jack Lochan who were ordered to the address by radio and found a man brandishing a revolver.

18,000 Workers on Strike At Largest U.S. Atomic Plant

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — Some 1,800 workers at Oak Ridge's largest atomic energy plant went on strike early today as negotiations for a 25-cent hourly pay increase failed.

Members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union walked off the job and threw a picket line around the plant despite plea by Atomic Energy Commission in Washington that the strike be postponed, pending further mediation efforts.

E. F. Hitchcock, a federal mediator, said that while no definite talks had been scheduled for today, negotiations would continue "until this thing is settled."

The plant, one of three installations here, produces, among other things, enriched uranium, principal explosive for atomic bombs.

Workers at other two plants here are not affected by the strike, union officials said. They are represented by the Atomic Trades and Labor Council which rejected the Friday night proposal, a nine-cent hourly increase Wednesday.

The plants operated for the AEC by the Union Carbide Nuclear Co.

Meanwhile, at a similar plant in Paducah, Ky., production continued and a union spokesman said no immediate strike threat existed.

The negotiations were conducted under a wage reopening clause in the present contract.

The current hourly pay scale at the plants ranges from $2.25 for common labor to $3.15 for skilled technicians.

Good Citizens Being Developed In Two Corps

Activities at both the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps 'Quinte' and the Navy League Cadet Corps have been enlarged this year to accommodate the increasing interest of local boys in their activities.

Both these corps are supported by the Navy League of Belleville with funds obtained through the annual Belleville United Appeal.

The Sea Cadets Corps' complement was recently raised to allow for 24 cadets whose training is directed by the regular officers and several volunteer civilian instructors, assisted by two chaplains and a medical officer.

Purpose of the Corps' training is to develop good citizens for Canada and the community. The courses of instruction and training are designed to develop through his own efforts, and are designed to help him develop confidence in himself, resourcefulness and determination by example.

Sea Cadets, who are boys from 14 to 18 years of age, and Navy League Cadets, from 12 to 18 years of age, are accepted into the corps on their personal application.

The local Navy League Corps, which started out with 33 boys a few seasons ago, has more than doubled its membership under the enthusiastic direction of its officers.

Both Corps use the Sea Cadet barracks on South Front Street for drill and training purposes on several nights a week during the winter. In the summer it is the Navy League and the boating and sailing activities. Also during the summer is the summer program are a series of camps and courses at RCN establishments on the east coast—which eligible cadets attend yearly.

The success of both these corps has been due to the generosity of the Belleville United Appeal and the generosity of local citizens. The dedicated support of this campaign will enable the corps to continue their service to the community by producing more and better Canadian citizens.

Prices Steady On Market

An elderly farmer at market today said this year was the first time he had ever seen frost leave his crops undamaged so late in the season.

"I think it's because the weather was so dry," he said. "There was nothing to freeze. The pumpkin and squash vines have frozen but the vegetables themselves haven't frozen. You know you have frost or who is still picking tomatoes."

The selling was pretty well general among the farmers that had produce. Reports that frost occurred left vegetable and fruit prices unchanged.

"A little frost is good for corn," said another farmer. "It improves their color."

Most of the vegetable crops have been harvested, and some farmers said they have already finished harvesting their beets.

Prices were, for the most part, unchanged. Eggs hung on at 60 cents a dozen with the price 60 for large and 45 for mediums.

Potatoes were still around $2 a bag. Cauliflowers, cabbages, squash and lettuce sold for anywhere from 10 cents to 25 cents. Onions — and there were some standing — sold from 10 cents to more than $1.

Fruit prices, like the vegetables, were also unchanged. McIntosh apples were 75 cents for 6½ quart, depending on which vendor was patronized. Pears were $1.15 a basket, while grapes clung to $1 to $1.50 a basket.

Geese and ducks were reported to be making more frequent overnight calls on farmers who have harvested their field crops. Farmers noted fewer partridge this year and a larger number of jack rabbits.

Hear History Of Flying Training

TRENTON — Fit.-Lt. James Stockdale this week outlined the history of flying training from the beginning of the centenary until the present day, to the Kiwanis Club.

F/L. JAMES STOCKDALE

Early experiments in flying training were helped by men like Alexander Graham Bell, Glenn Curtis, Thomas Baldridge and J. A. McCurdy.

Airplanes were manufactured as early as 1907. The first training efforts along this line crashed on their first flight.

In February, 1909, J. A. McCurdy flew the silver dart in Nova Scotia. The aircraft weighed 750 pounds and Mc-Curdy flew 3 miles, which was considered quite a feat.

Fit.-Lt. Stockdale said there were no trained pilots in Canada at the start of World War I. Many young people went overseas to England for training and by the end of the war, 3,000 airmen had been trained in Canada, 2,000 of whom were members of No. 27 World War I aces, with at least one "kill" to their credit, 10 were Canadians. Leading air ace was the late Billy Bishop, V.C. of Owen Sound.

The Canadian Air Force was disbanded in 1920. Between 1922 and 1939 training was stepped up and by the beginning of the Second World War there were 4,000 men in the RCAF, which was trained in 1234. Before the end of the war, 206,000 persons were attached to this branch of the armed services. Following the war the ranks shrunk to 23,000. However, with the Cold War and the Korean War, expansion again took place and 51,000 persons were attached to the RCAF.

The present training scheme calls for flexibility whereby additional men would be trained quickly and efficiently.

The trainees receive 39 weeks training with such subjects as mathematics to training in jet flying. Many now continue their academic education while in the service.

The speaker was introduced by past president "Nick" Fraser and thanked by Norm Davis.

The X-ray department handled 205 in-patients and 152 out-patients. Minature chest films numbered 152 and 26 diathermy treatments were given.

Correction

TRENTON — Miss Marjorie Gothard of the board of trustees was misquoted in an item which appeared in Thursday's Ontario Intelligencer.

Miss Gothard was quoted as saying that inspection of schools is nothing but a rumpus. When the janitors know an inspection is coming they pass the word around to clean up".

Miss Gothard actually said this situation existed until the Board of Health insisted on more frequent inspections. Miss Gothard said she is entirely satisfied, as are the other members of the health board, with the work of the present caretakers.

The Ontario Intelligencer regrets any embarrassment the error may have caused Miss Gothard.

Moira Secondary School Holds First Commencement

Members of the first graduating class of the new Moira Secondary School were told they are "entering a much more competitive employment period" than their parents did on their graduation, and they must develop their abilities to the maximum to compete successfully for the better and more highly skilled jobs available today.

Guest speaker at the first commencement held at the new school was A. O. Drydale, superintendent of Canada Cement Co., Point Anne, and chairman of the Bay of Quinte High School Board. The theme of his address was "The Future Belongs To Those Who Prepare For It."

Mr. Drydale said the graduates they must also prepare themselves for the "social readjustments" that are inevitable and should take every opportunity to acquire new knowledge and skills, so they will be prepared to fill the fewer jobs available.

"This is a commencement and the future holds promise for those who have the wisdom to grasp its opportunities," he said, in noting that the graduates will be faced with high unemployment in a country rich in natural resources and with an expanding economy.

While painting a glowing picture of Canada's economy, Mr. Drydale emphasized the seriousness of the national unemployment picture.

He noted there has never been less than 300,000 unemployed in Canada this year and during June unemployment was twice the average level of the early 1950's.

"It is not considered seasonal or cyclical and it is widely believed unemployment will reach 500,000 this winter," he stated. "The prospects for full employment during the sixties is not encouraging."

He cited some of the reasons for this grave problem are: the unprecedented rise in population, the fact Canada is rapidly itself out of world markets, and importing more goods than it exports, and automation in industry.

Mr. Drydale, who is also president of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce's educational committee, explained that population projections show there will be 100,000 more graduates who will reach job hunting age each year during the "Sixties," as compared with a yearly average of 3,100 during the 20-year-period ending in 1960.

"You are obviously entering a much more competitive employment period than some of your parents did on their graduation," he said.

Mr. Drydale was introduced by Gerald Boyce of the Moira Secondary School staff, and was thanked on behalf of the graduates by Sharon Flindall.

PRINCIPAL SPEAKS

Mr. H. C. Seldon brought greetings on behalf of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board. In his brief address Mr. Seldon noted many of the graduates are from the vocational courses and stressed the importance of skilled workers in Canada's economy. He also told students they have been given "a first-rate school, stated with well qualified teachers," but it was up to them how he used these opportunities.

A capacity audience of proud parents, relatives and friends of the graduates and students receiving intermediate certificates attended the first graduating exercises, held in the new school's gymnasium.

It was a red-letter night for the 32 graduates who received their secondary school graduation diplomas and for the 59 students who received their intermediate certificates. It was a particularly memorable night for those awarded scholarships for their high scholastic achievements.

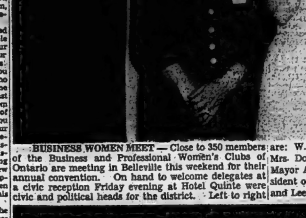
Gary Bassett Valedictorian At Moira S.S.

Following is the text of the valedictory address given by Gary Bassett, a member of the graduating class, last night at the first Moira Secondary School commencement exercises.

"You are assembled here tonight to do honor to the first graduating class of Moira Secondary School. For each member of this class, it is a significant moment, first because each one has partially realized the fulfillment of some dream, and secondly because we are being feted by you, our friends.

"This audience is composed of some of the finest people whom we shall ever know—our parents, our relatives, our neighbors, our classmates. We are indebted deeply to you all, especially our parents who have given much of their time willingly to help us. The past years have slipped away from us, unmindful as we were of the many sacrifices that you have made for the benefit of our interests. Our petty misdemeanors, which may have caused you worry, we hope are overlooked by the glory of this single hour in the splendor of this new school. We confess how happy we are that you have been with us, our parents; we trust that this feeling is mutual.



"To our teachers comes the pleasure of seeing us progress from uncertain, timid childhood to the threshold of maturity. The ideals they sought so hard to share with us, the truths they sought so hard to teach us and the example they set so hard to give us, have all left their imprints on our hearts. We go forth on our various roads of life armoured with this teaching, guidance and thoughtfulness, and as we look backward and forward we see kind beauty and brilliant prospects on every hand.

"And to our schoolmates may we say that in your future s like-glorious sight awaits you. This hour of parting from you is but the severance of a happy and rewarding past from a promising future of the rich fulfillment of our dreams.

"To you all, let me voice the assurance of our class which joins me in vowing to you publicly that the fervor and zeal with which we clasp and hold our ideals, our ambitions and our golden thoughts of you will never tarnish."

Fallout Shelters For Cattle Urged

TORONTO (CP)—Metropolitan Toronto's civil defence organization has been advising Ontario farmers about nuclear fallout shelters for cattle and sheep, Coordinator R. H. Atkinson said Friday.

Three Different Policies

It is a long way from Quemoy to the White House, but, such are the tangled affairs of the world, the decision as to who shall be the occupant of that Washington mansion may depend partly on public reaction to the candidates' views respecting Quemoy and Matsu.

Senator Kennedy argued that Quemoy and Matsu are strategically indefensible, that neither is essential to the defence of Formosa and that the U.S. should endeavor to prevail on Chiang Kai-Shek to abandon them to the Communists. This is in keeping with a viewpoint frequently expressed in the past by many well-informed statesmen in countries allied with the U.S.

Vice-President Richard Nixon, on the other hand, came out flat-footed against surrendering an inch of the "area of freedom" to the Chinese Reds. Harold Morrison, Canadian Press staff writer, in an interpretative article has suggested that Nixon may have a difficult time selling this policy to Canada and other allies. The pledge by Nixon, if he points out, is much stronger than any given by Eisenhower on the question. Eisenhower's policy has been that the fate of these islands should be decided at the time of any Communist attack on them, on the basis of whether this attack is basically aimed at Formosa and its nearby Pescadores Islands.

There are always two sides to every question, and good arguments can be mustered to support either Kennedy's or Nixon's stand. Surely, though, either of these policies is preferable to that followed in the past. Both Kennedy and Nixon would draw a clear-cut line—Kennedy at Formosa and the Pescadores, Nixon at Quemoy and Matsu— beyond which the Communists could not step without precipitating a war. Eisenhower's non-committal policy, on the other hand, carried with it the possibility of war by miscalculation. It kept the enemy guessing. It may be argued, effectively, that keeping the enemy guessing is one of the keys to success in wartime; but there is a difference between following this policy once war is underway and trying the same strategy when war is merely a threat. In a very important sense Nixon and Kennedy stand on common ground—they believe in a clear-cut statement of policy, although they disagree as to precisely what this policy should be.

How It Looks to Russians

According to "Progress," published by Pacific Gas and Electric of San Francisco, "an effective antidote to the vehement pronouncements of America is now or will soon become second rate" has been provided. The antidote was contained in an address by Bryce N. Harlow, deputy assistant to President Eisenhower, to the Southwest Electric Conference in Chandler, Arizona.

According to "Progress," Mr. Bryce declared that "in order to enjoy the glories of the Soviet Socialist system" U.S. citizens would have to abandon three-fifths of their steel capacity, two-thirds of their petroleum capacity, 95 per cent of their electric motor output, two-thirds of their hydro-electric plants, 14 out of every 15 miles of highways, two of every three miles of railway tracks, eight of every ten cargo-going ships, 19 out of 20 cars and trucks, 40,000,000 television sets, and nine of every ten telephones.

To show how the military situation would appear to residents of the U.S. if they were in the same situation as that which Russians find themselves in today, "Progress" says: "We'd see hostile troops maneuvering in Canada and Mexico, hostile air bases in Canada, Mexico and Puerto Rico, hostile missiles poised in Canada and Mexico, hostile submarines menacingly gliding off New York and Los Angeles, hostile aircraft carriers ready to launch planes armed with nuclear explosives of paralyzing power."

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Great Britain recently said the West must realize that the Communists may really fear an attack. In the light of this observation, the sentence quoted above becomes doubly interesting.

STRENGHT FOR THE DAY

—DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

INTEREST IN LIFE

Recently a college freshman, required to write a composition about an interesting event in his life, protested that nothing interesting had ever happened to him. His instructor questioned him and found that he had recently graduated from a preparatory school, had held several different summer jobs, knew how to ski, swim, sail, ski and play tennis and golf. He was sure, however, that nothing interesting had ever happened to him!

Whoever we are, we live surrounded by interesting people and events. The person who does not finds existence unbearably dull. He should find fault with himself, not with his environment. Life is full of opportunities for fascinating work, hobbies, pastimes and activities of all sorts. Those who meet excitement and interest in their daily occupations; some get their greatest pleasure from spare-time hobbies like building boats or collecting coins. Still others find that nothing entertains them more than the endless display of personalities and events around them.

Some years ago a middle-aged man despaired of the dullness of his life. Circumstances forced him to live in a small village, where he could have quite peaceably hobbies. By accident, he observed some ants in his yard. Observation led to interest, to study, to investigation. In the end, he wrote a book about ants. He had found a lifelong interest in his own backyard.

We recall the famous lecture "Acres of Diamonds" about the man who sought vainly for diamonds around the world and at last found them—not somewhere—and bothered in their daily oc-

"Independents"... Dr. Azikiwe not country were spoken to The told his party two years ago, Sunday Times representative. "We'll be free Untold Kingdom". But they objected. "It should be your Magnificat"; they said. They agreed, he told afterwards. But they won't.

Dr. Nnamdi Azikiwe will shortly be taking in praise from the Governor-General's throne. Nigeria will become independent on Oct. 1; but he must wait until the regional elections for power. "G.G." Sir James Robertson on November 7.

The choice of "Zik" for Governor-General by the premier, Alhaji Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, and something of an inspiration. Twenty-six years Dr. Azikiwe has been agitating and campaigning for colonial independence in West Africa.

He had left Africa at 30, son of a poor clerk. When he returned 16 years later, in 1943, he had been a boxer, miner, dishwasher and lifter in America. But he had gained degrees at two American universities and had become a lecturer in political science at one of them, Lincoln.

Since then Zik has been Nigeria's formidable opponent of colonial rule.

Six-foot-three in a billowing damask robe, scion of a fortune, owner of five newspapers, master of the powerful National Council of Nigeria and the Cameroons, premier (for five years) of the Eastern region, host of the Queen, it was Zik above all who roused Nigeria to a sense of national destiny with a voice that grew hoh-with rollicking invective, and then Pentecostal fervor.

Now, at 58, he has abandoned political life, a political peer to become the Queen's representative.

By taking this office, instead of that of Prime Minister, which the northern majority as he knows will not accept, Zik is offering himself as the most meaningful symbol of Nigeria's unity his country could hope for.

And in the same gesture, he is offering himself as bridge-builder to the Commonwealth.

Nigeria's last unpronounced words to any newspaper-man as he left England on Tuesday for the last time as a member of a dependency.

Every Year Syd 'Learns' To Ride

By Sidney J. Harris

Each Autumn, I doggedly (or perhaps I should say heroically) trudge over to the local stables and take the yearly morning ride, determined that this year I will finally learn how to ride a horse properly.

And each autumn, after one or two disastrous experiments, I give up in disgust, recalled to the conviction of the fact that riding horseback are an impossible combination.

It is no lack of agility — or so I like to think. My balance is good, and I can run, jump and hit at least passable, and I am in fast (especially proud of my coordination behind the wheel of a car.

But sitting 12 feet up (or so it seems) on a horse's back, I go all limp and slack-jawed. Six feet dangle, my arms get spastic, and my head bobs on my neck like a puppet with a broken string.

What is this merely fear of falling off a horse; there are other activities I dislike, and yet am able to do with some degree of proficiency. I am convinced the explanation is more psychological, and that what inhibits me from riding is not even a fear but is a deep feeling -that the horse has nothing to do with me.

I can't sense it the minute I put my foot in the stirrup. Even the limpid eyes and the amiable old nag fares his nostrils and twitches his ears in the moment I approach. Horses, otherwise stupid, are extremely sensitive to the personality and attitude of their rider.

It is not so much that the horse detects I am nervous (for all new riders are nervous) as it is that he instinctively knows I resent him and regard him with deep suspicion. It is not my fear that inspires him to kick up, but my hostility.

He has a real conviction that I am basically a hook-to-bacco mock man who is precariously mounted on his back only out of a sense of duties to my physical fitness, and he quite properly resents and for this attitude.

Then we begin our tentative and fragmentary relationship on the worst possible footing — or none.

My annual attempts to overcome this block have quite persuaded me that no child should ever be compelled to master horseback, swimming or ice-skating, which are psychologically geared for fit otherwise, the harder he tries, the more unconscious resistance he puts up.

The physical skill must join in the mind in order to work the hands or the feet, the muscles, the nervous system — and the heart.

Deduct Gift From Pension

Vancouver Sun

Bureaucracy is a wonderful thing, as witness the case of retiring British railway workers who receive a cordial handshake and a retirement gift. Typically, the cheque for £5 — and then have it deducted from their pension at the rate of two pence (3½ cents) per week over the next 11 years.

An official of the nationalized railway explained: "It's quite unusual."

He explained: "Before nationalization it was the custom to present long-serving employees with gifts. Now, as nationalized railway, by has no power to make gifts that are not legal, but it is often felt preferable to make a formal presentation to a retiring railwayman rather than let him retire with the occasion unmarked.

"We have to comply with regulations the cheque has to be regarded officially as an advance against his pension."

No, not unusual at all — for a bureaucrat.

Australian willingness to share ownership in big British companies is the key to much of the present time in Australia.

Several very large British companies have developed their interest in Australia, and are now busy buying more plants and build branches, or are now already in the country.

United States companies are also eying the southern land, and are ready to invest money there. One of them (the Union Carbide Company) found the conditions so favorable it plans to double the capacity of its Australian plant. It has been actually started production, and this will give some idea of the growth and immense prospects in the newly developing chemical industry in Australia.

Australians like the idea of foreign capital in these ventures and, with the wool industry booming, there is seemingly unlimited capital available.

They say it produces goodwill and "good fertility," and both sides appear to have much to gain from a local partnership.

Taxes are high in Australia but the whole scheme attracts about, as now everything has to be started to take care of the big influx of people who will be at work for these.

The Treasurer of Public Affairs has stressed the danger of inflation, but the government's attitude is that now that the foundations for the present boom are better and more solid which has now passed the twelve million mark, and is steadily moving upward, there seems something to be said for either side. In the meantime Australia is booming, and flexing its muscles for still greater things directly ahead of it.

THE PACKSACK

BY GREGORY CLARK

Mankind is divided broadly into two groups: those who want money to keep, and those who want to spend.

Those who want it to keep are in the minority. They include the thrifty housewife, the saving, the investors, as well as those inconspicuous collectors of money in small quantities who live in fear of poverty or a penniless old age.

There used to be far more of both these types of money keepers fifty years ago. As for the spenders, improvidence, extravagance, they used to be able to really keep the money they amassed. Fortunes, workers and inheritance duties make spenders of many of the simblest of them. And as for the newspaper group, the fear of poverty has diminished measurably in the past generation.

Those who want money to spend are in the vast majority. They have full employment, and are loud with them; the bright busy merchants who are always trying with them; our home- going buses are crowded with them; our newspapers are fat with advertisements addressed to them; and our homes ringle and live with the TV and radio giving them the latest in the latest surroundings of the living room. Our entire economy would collapse if we didn't all want and use more and more goods.

Says Germans 'Buttinskys'

Vancouver Sun

Nobody in Canada will feel more than mild annoyance at a West German newspaper's complaint that Prime Minister Diefenbaker let Germany in the lurch by not condoning U.N. his speech to the United Nations General Assembly.

One detail of the complaint, however, touches on a subject of more-than-mild annoyance among non-Western diplomats. And that is the Germans' proclivity for trying to get in by the window to international affairs from which they are excluded at the door.

The paper said Mr. Diefenbaker's stance caused many sensitive efforts by the West German government to move him to say a few words.

Germany is not a member of the United Nations. Had that high-powered "observer delegation" sometimes seen at U.N. been there it is not content to sit in the gallery observing. It is down on the floor of the house.

It was the same at last May's Summit Conference in Paris. The Bonn government said rather testily that Chancellor Adenauer's dignity did not permit him to stay on there during the meeting since he hadn't been asked. But he left his foreign minister, Dr. Heinrich Von Brentano, deputy foreign minister, the whole of the chancellor's information service, and a virtual army of secretarial experts.

They were there, supposedly, to observe. But they admitted quite freely that they considered it their job to keep an eye on German interests by intervening with "advice" if the Western powers on any subject touching Germany.

A good deal of the fault for this sometimes clumsy gate-crashing undoubtedly rests with the late John Foster Dulles, who was inclined to treat Dr. Adenauer's views as almost only to Holy Writ.

If the State Department would feel that leadership were for good and all, now that Mr. Dulles is gone, some echoes of the Dulles policy, particularly from United Kingdom, would be more than happy.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

MOST SPINAL CURVATURES ARE HARMLESS

"Dear Dr. Molner: Where can I go to have spinal curvature corrected? There used to be a hospital in New York where they would make a brace for you and then a corset but I can't recall the name. Do you know? — E. B."

Whoa! This isn't a problem that only one hospital can treat. Since you ask me about this special hospital that you have in mind, I can't remember. I think I can surmise correctly that you have not fully discussed your curvature with your own doctor.

Many people have a curvature of the spine, to some degree. In fact, it is natural for the spine to be curved. It isn't supposed to be straight.

But if the spine deviates too much from one side to the other, or if, in a forward-and-back direction, it is greater than the normal curved shape, then you have a "curvature."

Most of these curvatures don't do any harm and don't require any treatment at all. In spite of this, there are, of course, a few some self-styled "experts" and "authorities" of pseudo-medical, who are pretty glib about telling healthy people that they have curvatures, and that, in fact, there isn't anything that needs to be done, from the point of view of curvatures, just as there are perfectly normal feet which have a) mildly flat feet which aren't going to do any harm and should be prescribed.

Note to Mrs. B.: Generally, a glass or two of milk during the months of pregnancy cannot survive — and not all seven-month babies do. The woman who told you that three-month babies survive at seven months is the one to trust to what she said.

"You Can Stop Worrying About Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. Getting What Belongs to Us

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

"I want what belongs to me." How often we hear that remark. And is it not a legitimate demand? Each of us has a right to what belongs to him.

Jesus was a champion of human justice. He denounced the pious hypocrite "who devoured widows' houses and for a pretense made long prayers." Nevertheless, we must remember an interview He had with a certain man who came to Him saying, "Master, speak to my brother that he divide the inheritance with me." It might have been expected that Jesus would enter into the merits of the case and correct any wrong.

But Jesus replied to the supplicant: "Man, who made me a judge or divider over you? . . . Take heed and beware of covetousness for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he possesseth." Jesus did desire that every person should get what belongs to him. But He was ever warning men against the covetous spirit and the deceitfulness of riches. Suppose this man had received full restitution from his brother. If he remained covetous, he would still have been dissatisfied. Riches are deceitful because they promise so much more than they deliver.

AN ELUSIVE GOAL

For instance, the possession of property promises security. And that is man's desire for security is a basic concern. We desire to have enough savings laid by to keep us from anxiety over immediate necessities and future rainy days. As we say, we want enough money so that we do not have to worry. But the point where security ceases seems to be an elusive goal, for we go on worrying about whether we have gotten enough so that we don't need to worry.

Herbert Agar in his "Time for Greatness" declared that we are in a fear - haunted people, and that strangely enough those who have the most "securities" seem to feel the most insecure. The modern age has lessened our sense of security in our possessions, for the values of what we have depend on such varied, distant and fluid contingencies.

Down in Mesa, Peru, the natives wonder I was told that the people had no little confidence in the future value of their money that they were investing in land to the point where they were getting it out of reach of those who need it most.

Another promise which wealth makes is that of recognition. A normal person desires to be respected as competent by his fellows. Walter Whiting has had considerable experience with delivery workers. Rockefeller some years ago that the maligning motive which turns the wheels of much public hunger is not to be a "person" among other persons. A man wants to be somebody, to have his children able to look other children in the face and feel no inferiority. And money does indeed help to secure such recognition.

But when our sense of personal worth depends on our social standing, we are started on a course of competition which is headed for unhappiness. When we feel we must "keep up with the Joneses," we may catch up with John Jones on our street but then we discover Sylvester Smith across town. And when the bigger house further up the hill. He is the Jones, and when our happiness depends on keeping up with the people of any group, we are never satisfied. Thus covetousness leads to the deceitfulness of riches by promising a social recognition which it cannot sustain. "Status" finders.

A GROWING GIANT

But another satisfaction which possessions promise to give is that of power. Most persons are human enough to like the power which money gives — the power to get what they want, to do where they wish. But this desire for power which possessions seem at first to satisfy is a demonic appetite that drives men into greater and further excesses. As Emerson said, "Want is a growing giant whom the cost of Have was never large enough to cover."

Emerson and his neighbor Henry Thoreau sought to check this tendency. Thoreau tells us in one of his writings that after he had cut down and sawed up so many trees to keep him warm, he put to himself the question, "What did I do when I was warm?" Thoreau was here pointing in the right direction as was Jesus when He answered the man who wanted aid in getting a larger share of his inheritance. the Master of Life tried to lead men below the desire for things to the deeper question of what they would do with life after they got what belonged to them. One of the basic questions we as individuals and as citizens must think over in this Do we want money for use or for power?

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

TANAGERS CAMOUFLAGE

When the word "tanager" is part of a bird's name we naturally expect to see red. However, at this season an adult male scarlet tanager is entirely, or largely green. The green female is never red.

Although it is not unusual in autumn for other male birds to moult their bright plumage of spring and early summer and don costumes similar to the females, it is unusual for them to change in the spectacular way that makes a scarlet tanager look like a harlequin while the change is in progress. By late summer the ruffs of green feathers are sprinkled prominently through the red plumage. Of course this makes for splendid camouflage, while still dazzling. By mid-October the majority should be wearing full suits of clear green on the back than the female, top of head yellowish, underparts almost orange. But instead of growing duller, she becomes brighter above and deeper yellow below. The parents are now most alike, but her wings are never as dark as his.

After the end of this month we Canadians are most unlikely to see a scarlet tanager. They have started on their journey to Colombia, Bolivia, or Peru where they spend the winter.

BABY TANAGERS

When first out of the nest baby tanagers are olive green above and dull white below (yellow tinged on the tail) streaked with grey. They have two yellowish green wing bars. Both the little boys can be distinguished from the little girls, because they require jet-black spenules. By the following spring they have lost their green feathers, and look greatly like their fathers, except that the black is paler and has an orange tinge. If you see a bird in this changing next May or June you will know he is just about a year old, but may shortly be the father of a young family.

The unfeathered probably think it still the very easy to see such a brilliant eye-catching bird next spring. Actually, the experience is sufficiently rare to give anybody a thrill. This is also an extremely common species in Canada, and remember that the males (when in spring) are green, blending with spring foliage. Also, you could be fooled by the song of another, well known bird. The scarlet tanager is described in the bird books as sounding like a robin with a sore throat. Food is leaf-eating insects found in treetops. We nearly break our necks gazing up into the newly-leafed trees while mosquitoes do their best to distract us.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Mrs. Nora MacDonald, assisted by Mrs. Glenna Black, was in charge of the grocery booths at the recent OES Rainbow tea and bazaar, while Mrs. Pearl Johnston and Mrs. Myrtle Cross convened the refreshments.

Miss Esther Rice, of Clifford, Ontario, is attending the Business and Professional Women's Club Convention being held this weekend in Belleville. She is a retired school teacher, having taught at Hanover Public School for several years. Miss Rice, and Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Shelburne, R.R. 3, have been pen-pals for over 40 years and have written many letters during that period. This morning at Club Canara, these ladies will meet each other for the first time.

The many friends of Mrs. Fanny Simpkin will regret to learn that she is a patient in Belleville General Hospital, due to an eye surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Menzies of Preston, Ontario, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Willem, of Foxboro, for the past week; also calling on old friends before going to their winter home in central Florida.

St. Michael's PG CWL Introduces New Members

St. Michael's C.W.L. parish council held its monthly meeting, on October 11th in St. Michael's Academy, Mrs. Herbert Brown chaired the meeting, greeting all the 66 members present and introducing the new members.

Mrs. A. Gallagher gave the treasurer's report. There are 312 paid-up members. Mrs. K. Soden, education convener, reported on the recent graduation dance held in St. Michael's auditorium. Mrs. J. Boyd sent in her report stating that she had sent 250 pounds of used clothing to the Indian Mission of Sioux Lookout, and she had received a letter of appreciation from the Rev. Father Lynch St. John, the Indian Reservation. All members are to send their used clothing to her residence at 36 Oak Street.

Mrs. A. Wilkinson was appointed citizenship and immigration convener. She reported that she had obtained 200 names for the United Appeal Drive Campaign.

Mrs. H. Brown, chairman of the C.W.L. Civic Action Committee of this city, reported that plans be for the official opening of Nicholson Catholic College will be sponsored by the committee. Mrs. Brown also stated that a Rosary for Nicholson Catholic College will be started and that the three parish councils will contribute to the bursary.

Rev. R. Rathotte, gave an interesting report on the C.W.L. retreat from Mrs. Taylor, national president, and Miss Lee of the League Magazine. "Television is the projection of the human word to the world — I think is the best. At a moment's thinking is worth an hour in person, so, if we have the ability to think things through we will do more for the Glory of God and the Church of every soul."

PARENTS' RESPONSIBILITY

At the 20th annual national convention speakers stressed the need on the responsibility of each parent being an individual center of family life and unity. The national convener feels this is a most important factor as well as the importance of letters of appreciation or of censure where indicated.

There has been a change in classification by the Department of Decency. There are three divisions under which A-42 has been added. The films in this class are morally unobjectionable for adults and adolescents. The Ad is a step to help the adolescent become mature — education must be both liberating and restraining. It is a way to guide them to the extreme to the detriment of the adolescent. Catholic educators recognize the dangers involved in excessive restraint and also the strongly against such herbalism is allowing the adolescent "to grow up" a thing he desires indiscretely to do. The "Juvenile" section can prevent this. The result of over-protection deprives society of real leaders.

Mrs. P. Lewis gave the Bible report and opened a new pack of Brownies at Our Lady of Fatima School. Mrs. Jack E. Logan reported on the regional meeting recently held in Trenton. The members were advised that the National council of the C.W.L. would help financially — Father Way's Good Thief Apostolate (the women's prison in Kingston).

Mrs. C. Reed, bazaar convener, reported that all projects for the coming bazaar in November were progressing nicely.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. B. J. Flagler and her councillors.

STACEY — CARLISLE

A very pretty double-ring ceremony was solemnized at high noon on Saturday, September 24th, in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, with Rev. Arthur Stirling officiating, when Mary Marion, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Carlisle, Stirling, R. R. 3, became the bride of William George Stacey, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stacey of Newtonville, Ontario.

Fall standards of varied colored gladioli, with yellow predominating, were used at the altar and the guest pews were designated with white satin streamers and bows.

Miss Grace Pitman, A.T.C.M., rendered traditional organ selections and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. James Pollock of Stirling, who sang "I Will Walk Beside You", before the ceremony and "A Wedding Prayer", during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length bridal gown of chantilly lace and nylon net with molded bodice, Sweetheart neckline and long sleeves ending in lily-points at the wrists. The back was adorned with a bow of net and satin buttons. A billowy overskirt of gardenia petals, scattered with crystal beads, with large white roses enveloping the hips.

A shoulder-length veil of silk illusion deeply embroidered in pearls and crystal beads was draped on a bandeau headdress of pearls and crystal, simulated pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of Regal gold roses with frosted ivy, and wore a strand of pearls.

Mrs. Gerald Russell, Harold, R.R. 2, was matron of honor for her sister, and was gowned in a street-length frock of copper-brown crystal organza, with matching hat in leaf design. She carried a semi - cascade of bronze roses and chrysanthemums with wide satin streamers.

The bridesmaids were Miss Pat Hastings, Oshawa, Whitby, Bowmanville, Newcastle, Newtonville, Belleville, Springbrook Bonarlaw, Stirling, Havelock and Campbellford, Peterborough. Ted Hope, Orono and Wellman's.

Previous of her marriage the bride was entertained at Newtonville, to a miscellaneous shower with Mrs. Michael Kuhn as hostess and Mrs. Gerald Clancy of Wellman's, entertained to a linen shower.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were pearl necklaces and matching earrings, which were worn at the ceremony; to the flower girl, a yellow gold locket; to the ring-bearer, white gold tie clip and matching cuff links; to the soloist, costume jewellery, and to the organist, a pen.

The bridegroom's gifts to his attendants and ushers, were white-gold cuff links and tie pins.

The bride's mother received the guests in the reception room of St. Paul's United Church, wearing a sheath dress of figured sateen have pure silk with beige picture hat, matching accessories and a corsage of pinkish gold Talisman roses.

She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, gowned in a sheath dress of navy blue tissine crepe with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses and white feathered carnations.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. M. R. Neal, Belleville, was also in the receiving line, wearing a dress of Navy blue figured silk and a corsage of pink and white feathered carnations.

St. Paul's W.A. catered for 120 guests in the church dining hall. The bride's table was appointed with a cloth of white damask and lace, centred with a tiered wedding cake, decorated in pure white with regal gold rosebuds and green leaves. The cake was topped with a bridal basket centred with two white doves in miniature frame surrounded with white bells and mated about the base in white tulle. The nuptial table was centred with a silver Lettered wedding serviettes and souvenirs in silver trim added festive beauty. The other tables were decorated with matching heart-shaped rose trees with silver trim and centred with yellow marigolds.

Miss Charles Carter, Burnbrae, uncle of the bride, was toastmaster and proposed a toast to the bride to which the bridegroom responded. The bride also proposed a toast to the attendants and the groomsman replied. The bride's father also spoke briefly.

The bridegroom chose for her wedding trip to North Bay and northern points a dress of royal blue wool flannel, with matching short buttoned jacket, a white-white feather hat and gloves with black suede shoes and matching purse. Her corsage was of white feather-tipped carnations.

On their return they will reside in Newtonville, Ontario. Out-of-town guests and friends were in attendance from Niagara Falls, Toronto, Hamilton, Kitchener, Port Perry, Preston, Hastings, Oshawa, Whitby, Bowmanville, Newcastle, Newtonville, Belleville, Springbrook Bonarlaw, Stirling, Havelock Campbellford, Peterborough, Ted Hope, Orono and Wellman's.

Librarian Gives Monthly Report

The record of books loaned to library borrowers is an interesting one. It is an indication of growth or lack of growth. It indicates, too, the reading interests of the borrowers and for that reason serves as a partial aid in book selection.

In September, 17,046 books were loaned to library borrowers. In 1959 the September total was 13,940. At that time there were five branch libraries. This year there are only three and the circulation of the books placed in the 21 public school classrooms has not been included in this total.

BOOKS AND READING

In the adult section of the library, 3,280 of the books read were non-fiction titles. The titles of interesting men and women, both past and present, were most popular. Next in order of popularity was the "Useful Arts" section of the library, which contains the "do-it-yourself" type of books, books on advertising, accounting, secretarial, etc.

Borrowers who are unable to find the book they want from the shelves are allowed a "reserve service". The record system shows the variety of interests of the library members. In September some of the titles "on reserve" were as follows: "Indians Can Be Rescued From Illiteracies"; "Good Housekeeping's Complete Book of Needlecraft"; "Good Circle" by Jeanne Gerlach; "This Is Hollywood" by Beth Day; James Fenimore Cooper's "Deerslayer"; "The Electronic Experimenter's Manual"; "Adoption and Foster Care"; "Art Masterpieces," "Marineland Diver," "A Journey to Samarkand"; "Lee Henderson; "How To Build Boats" and "My Story" by Theodore Rosevelt.

BOYS AND GIRLS

BOOKS AND READING

Boys and girls read 5,904 books during this month. A total of 2,000 6,474 books were borrowed from the main library, 2,570 from the Queen Elizabeth Branch, 786 from Queen Mary Branch and 450 from the Prince of Wales Branch.

A complete re-registration of the borrowers will be made the first of September in order to bring our membership file up to date. All boys and girls are encouraged by the end of September.

Saturday, Sept. 20th was "Party" day at the library for successful contestants of the Children's Reading Contest. Children were required to read twelve books to qualify for this honor and were judged on the quality of the books read. Winners in the senior division were Victor Sikurai, Robert Reynolds white bells and mated about the base in white tulle. The nuptial table was centred with a silver Lettered wedding serviettes and souvenirs in silver trim added festive beauty. The other tables were decorated with matching heart-shaped rose trees with silver trim and centred with yellow marigolds.

Twenty long-playing records were circulated in September. There is a great interest in language records; Spanish, German and French records are frequently have been added to the library. The 16 mm film library has been in use this month and many films have been booked for special occasions by various organizations using the Film Library very much. Service Clubs, Kiwanis Club, St. Lawrence Automobile Club, King George Home and School, Parkdale Women's Institute, Hinde and Dauch Paper Company, Trenton; Belleville General Hospital, Quinte Secretarial Club, Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School, St. Joseph Separate School, Christian Reformed Church, Trenton; Ontario Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The Library Board has been asked by the Belleville Rotarians to give some assistance in setting up a library in the Belleville hospital. Some work has been done on this and it expected that it will be ready for service by November.

The Queen Mary Home and School Association has shown great interest in receiving further service in that area. Ways and means of providing additional service to those residents in the outlying areas—both west and east have been discussed. The school boxes in the classrooms in all the public schools provide a partial service. Keen interest shown by the Bayview Home and School Association brings with it the realization that some further service is impersive.

Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Haggerty are pictured signing the register following their recent marriage in Eastminster United Church. HAGGERTY — MATTHEWS

Eastminster United Church, Belleville, was the setting for a recent lovely wedding when Nancy Elaine Matthews, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Matthews, was united in marriage to John Richard Haggerty, of Barrie, son of Mrs. Donald Haggerty of Belleville, and the late Mr. Haggerty by the Reverend Alexander McDowell, pastor of the church, in a double-ring ceremony. Tall white standards of pink and white gladioli and Canadian Centennial chrysanthemums, interspersed with fern, formed the beautiful background for the nuptial vows.

Miss Reta Vincent, of Belleville, was soloist and sang before the ceremony, "The Wedding Prayer", and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register, with Mrs. J. H. Reed, Belleville as organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a charming, full-length bridal gown of parchment silk organza having a molded lace bodice sprinkled with seed pearls and a skirt gracefully draped to a Victorian back bustle. She wore a seed pearl studded headdress with a fingertip veil of tulle illusion, and carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white carnations mingled with gold-toned ivy leaves.

Miss Douglas Bastedo, of Frankford, attended her sister as bridesmaid; and Mrs. Allan Macfarlane, of Ottawa, and Miss Joan Macfarlane of Belleville, and Mrs. Ross MacKenzie of Kitchener, nee Donna Macfarlane, of Belleville, were bridesmaids. All wore gowns of golden glow gold-tinged satin, the matron of honor in thesh style, and the bridesmaids in styles featuring full ossillion skirts. They wore matching feathered headdresses and carried crescent shaped bouquets of yellow Shasta daisies with gold-sprayed centres.

Mr. William Hough, of Tor- Sarnia, Ontario.

onio, cousin of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and Mr. Robert Hough, Hallaway, also a cousin of the bridegroom, and Mr. Gordon Lane, of Toronto, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the church parlors, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a Rene original gown with nutmeg-brown lace top accented with white waistline, and beige-silk skirt. She helped her gown with beige elbow-length gloves, nutmeg-brown purse and wore a yellow rose corsage. Assisting her was the bridegroom's mother, who wore a blue-sapphire pure silk with fitted bodice accented by a jewelled brooch at the waistline; mauve hat, white gloves and accessories, and corsage of white gardenias.

The bride's table was appointed with white damask, and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped with silver leaves and misted about the base with tulle and yellow Shasta Daisies. Tall crystal candelabra with yellow candles and the bridal bouquets completed an attractive setting.

For the wedding trip through the Adirondacks, New England States, New York City, and Ottawa, the bride chose a dress of French wool crepe, candlelight beige and brown accessories and corsage of bronze 'mums.

Guests were present from Sarnia, Toronto, Kingston, Ridgeway, Gananoque, Stirling, Kitchener, and Napanee.

The bride, previous to her marriage, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Patrick Melchior; at a kitchen shower and tea at the home of Mrs. Earl MacDonald, with Mrs. Arthur MacFarlane, of Belleville, as co-hostess; at a presentation at the home of Mrs. Arden Sprague, Belleville, and at a trousseau tea given by Mrs. Donald A. Matthews.

Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty are residing at 294 London Road, Sarnia, Ontario.

This and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

We are told that the admonition of "Go west, young man, go west" has now changed to "Go north, young man, go north." But how many of us know much about our north, its possibilities, its people and its problems. We are also told that education is one of the most pressing and important problems today all over the world in varying degrees and aspects.

Education of the people in our north is a great challenge to Canada today. In the October issue of Imperial Oil Review, an article entitled, "Arctic People in A Changing World," by Abraham Ospik shows us the problems as seen by one of the people involved.

He says, "For my people today I feel education is one of the most urgent needs in our changing life.

"Of course the education needs in each Arctic area are different. In the east you have people who were hunters just a few short years ago and some who never had any more than an igloo to live in, in the winter, and a few possessions for his livelihood, still wandering and searching and seeing some day they might find a better hunting place . . . He knows how to live off the land and his mind does not go beyond the things that surround him.

"One of the travels along a hunting trail he suddenly comes to another Eskimo camp and wonders, "What is happening here?" He does not know that a change is in the making.

"First of all money, which he did not know much about in the past. He begins to earn it and spends it. He also has to secure work on time, which he never had to do before. He does not really know or understand what he is asked to do. He is put up with this for a short time, then decides to leave his job.

"His problems now begin. Then other problems start. He knows if he is going to be employed steadily he has to have something better to live in than an igloo, but where does he get the material? . . . All this is happening in just a few years.

"He then finds out his children should have to go to school, but what is that supposed to accomplish in life? . . . We are faced with these problems because we were never taught in schools and never lived in large communities before.

"In the past some of the so-called first class schools left things sort of unfinished and this left some fairly intelligent pupils with little to go on in life but holding the bag that they did not want to live as their parents did . . . This is how some of the problems in the north were created.

"This is why I feel we should never forget to start intensified education programs in the small communities, starting with a community teacher to try to get every adult interested in learning. We must be sure the parents of the children understand what the goal is. Some people ask: 'What are we educating the children for?'

"One of the goals is to establish them in jobs after they are through school!

"And the answer would be to let us educate them and see that they can be the leaders in the future."

This seems to be the conclusion reached by the large field of undeveloped peoples. But our problem is the same problem in one for all the people of Canada, and Canada alone.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and one attorney. Each article is a summary of an actual panel hearing. The identities of persons and problems have been changed with by reasonable concealed to conceal them.

Mrs. T.L. — Does it pay to have a daughter?

Irma G. — She never acted like a mother.

Mrs. T.L. — I am an 80-year-old widow, in fairly good health and living alone, aided by a companion-attendant. My problem is that my daughter, who is 53, and also a widow, never comes to see me although she lives a few blocks away. This embarrassment, in front of all the neighbors, adds to my sorrow at the way Irma is treating me in my old age.

It's true I could never seem to hit it off right with her. She always felt I favored my son over there. I know I tried hard to make her happy, but she became as she grew older so cruel to go to work while the boys went on to college doctors.

When Irma's husband died, all I said was "Poor Bill, he had such a hard life." She took that as an insult to her and stormed out of the house telling me she never forgot I ever had a daughter.

Irma G. — I don't feel I ever had a real mother. Perhaps we took my part and could be depended on when I was in trouble or in the dumps. My mother likes to brag and she could do more bragging about her daughter-sons than about me.

I was no beauty, no big talent. I did make friends, though — enough for her to brag about my school marks and myself at all, about my being smart enough to get a governess job when I was under 18.

I see other mothers and daughters and I've stopped trying to grow close to her. It takes two. And all I get from her is criticism and sarcastic gibs. She is sorry for everybody who ever had to be near me, including my late husband. If so happens we had a very happy marriage.

The Council — Irma seems to be immobilized in her feelings toward her mother ever since her childhood and adolescence. With consummate self-pity, she looks no further than her mother for the cause of anything that displeases her. At the time when one might expect her to be more mellowed and possessed somewhat philosophical about the older woman's faults, she is a seething turmoil of her power "get even."

In pleading her mother what is Irma achieving? A small gloating, perhaps. But it is short-lived. Certainly she is not happy about the situation. And her mother is miserable. In her twilight years she is mocked by the line daughter's daughter in the room of your life." Whatever chance reasoning for a reproachful attitude there may be is rejected by Irma's ill-advised sulking.

Granted, Mrs. L. made mistakes. Let's agree that she did. She is sorry. She longs to have a fearful little girl's heart. Let's assume that she was once blind to Irma's needs. O.K. She has paid for that with interest. Nevertheless, even worse mothers have been granted the warmth of a child's forgiving kindness toward the woman who cared for them, often inadequately.

There's little Mrs. L. can do at this point. Whatever she might say to Irma is so emotionally colored that it is rejected. If Irma twists it a bit — lead to arguments. And any attempt would be equally offensive to a daughter who's looking for the right to be angry.

It's time now for Irma to step back from her corner. Lifting her eyes from the narrow sore spot she's been nuturing, Irma may find that she has been mother's perspective as just another hurdle to overcome in her right-to-criticism and sarcastic gibs. She is sorry for everybody who ever had to be near me, including my late husband. If so happens we had a very happy marriage.

Because of One Person

By ALMA MASON

The Saturday Evening Post of July 30 carried an amazing story of a Michigan housewife who has become an ardent crusader in giving new hope and life to mentally handicapped children.

Mrs. Lillian Ricker is a farth-right, brusque-talking, merry woman who has become a major force in the field of educating blind children to a better concept of living.

Mrs. Ricker was a neighbor of the Fenman family. She became a baby sitter daily for the twin daughters, Patty and Sandra Fenman.

Both children were blind. The twins were victims of well-intentioned medical procedure. They had been premature babies and became blind through the ripping of a high concentration of oxygen into their incubators. This practice of pumping large doses of oxygen into incubators was discontinued when it was found that high oxygen levels led to serious damage to the babies' retina.

Patty developed violent tantrums and became completely unmanageable. She disrupted normal life and endangered her patient mother's mental health to such an alarming degree that Mrs. Fenman's doctor advised her to seek temporary relief in the home for a time.

Doctors decided that Patty's rages, her bitterness, her uncontrolled attacks on those about her, stemmed from brain damage — and decided she should be committed to institution for hopelessly mentally retarded children.

The Fenmans were broken-hearted. Mrs. Ricker, however, would not believe Patty was beyond help. She is a strong-willed person, fearless and determined. She felt certain that if Patty would respond favorably to patient teaching. Everybody she waged an almost single-handed fight to save and enhance the spark of sound mental equilibrium she was sure the child possessed. Mrs. Ricker won her fight in a matter of weeks.

Last December a blonde, happy Patty Fenman was queen for a day at her ninth birthday party. She had become a physically sure-footed, mentally well-adjusted child.

GREAT DAY

To the parents that ninth birthday was a day of unadulterated joy. To her emancipator, tutor, beloved friend and neighbor, Mrs. Lillian Ricker, it was a day celebrating a colossal victory.

Like all concerned, loyal and brave soldiers in this vast human army Mrs. Ricker's satisfactory victory did not stop with Patty.

Today Mrs. Ricker has become the founder and director of the Pearlcrken Nursery School for Visually Handicapped Children in Taylor, Mich. The main purpose of the school is to save blind children from permanent residence in homes for the hopeless.

The school is well-staffed with nurses, doctors, therapists and teachers. The school roster includes on its advisory committee such names as that of Dr. Robert H. Thompson, superintendent of the Michigan School for the Blind.

Dr. Thompson and other learned medical personnel speak of Mrs. Rickers achievements in glowing terms of praise.

Mrs. Ricker works 13 hours daily without pay at the nursery. She manages her own busy household. At 47 years of age she has become ill with a serious blood disorder...and inevitably has developed a painful and progressive eye disease. Despite her illness, she labors on, continually forgetful of her distress as she tends to her little blind brood with joy and gratitude into a lovelier promising world of new hope and endeavor.

Yet another noble concerned person has carried a torch high and sure and steady that may illuminate the pathway to a brighter horizon for suffering humanity.

Mrs. Ricker does not possess a college degree, but she does possess the respect of many high ranking doctors. Through her unselfish devotion to a God-propelled task she has personally done much to change for the better the mental health of many children and hopefully because they merely look and behave normally.

ANOTHER FLORENCE

Here we have another Florence Nightingale, another Madame Curie. Surely God will singularly bless and honor such unselfish, courageous people.

Only of a mother heart but of a mother's intelligence, of mind and soul and even, if necessary, of life itself is the cause of alleviating human suffering.

She does not vision human need And worldly woe and weal With full's hands and cringing heart

But with a martyr's zeal -

The takes the tangled strands of grief

And plants them—not in vain. But swiftly, sweetly smoothes them out

And plucks away the pain;

QUESTION BOX

Question: My son was married recently in a church. His mother was never divorced many years ago. Since then I have remarried and have three children by this union. His mother also remarried and my son has made his home with her and his stepfather. We have all been on speaking terms during this period. I was quite disturbed when my wife and I and our children were seated in the fourth pew at the wedding, while my first wife and her husband were placed in the first pew. I claim that, being the father of the bridegroom and host, that I should have sat up front with them. Am I wrong in this assumption?—Mrs. J. P., Hamden, Conn.

Answer: These mixed-up family situations always cause trouble when a wedding comes along. Especially when it is for the mother of the bridegroom and his stepfather to sit in the front pew at the wedding. Not only is he placed in the second position, but also in the embarrassing predicament of having to sit between the two families in a church pew. Actually, there is nothing wrong for all of them to be seated together in the front. This would of course be subject to the wishes of the bridegroom himself. It would seem all right if he was agreeable. You are not wrong in your assumption that you and your family should not have been placed as far back as the pew. This must have been a thoughtless oversight on someone's part, so I wouldn't worry about the slight too much. Harboring resentment can only lead to hard feelings in the future. Is it worth it?

Question: My mother-in-law writes to my husband and starts her letter with "Dear John and family." Doesn't this leave me out? I thought the proper way would be "Dear John, Sue and family". My husband says his mother is right. Maybe I goofed?—Mrs. F. F. W.

Answer: I'm afraid you did. When your mother-in-law addresses a letter to her son and his family, she is certainly including you, isn't she? If you aren't a big part of the family, what are you?

With loving heart and mind she walks
Where anguished feet have trod
And step by step she leads them back
To hope—to love—to God.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

"IMMORTAL LOVE, FORSAKE FULL, FOREVER FLOWING"

Immortal Love, forever full,
Forever flowing free;
Forever shared, forever whole,
A never-ebbing sea.

We may not climb the heavenly steeps
To bring the Lord Christ down;
In vain we search the lowest deeps,
For Him no depths can drown.

Through Him the first fond prayers are said
Our lips of childhood frame;
The last low whispers of the dead
Are burdened with His Name.

O Lord and Master of us all,
Whate'er our name or sign,
We own Thy sway, we hear Thy call,
We test our lives by Thine. -

The verses of many of Christendom's favorite hymns were written without any thought of its publication in religious songs.

John Greenleaf Whittier, the American poet, had no idea when he penned the lines quoted above that they would one day be sung in the churches of the world.

The verses which compose his hymn, "Immortal Love," were taken from his poem, "Our Master," which had thirty stanzas and which first appeared in a collection which he published in 1856 under the title, "The Panorama And Other Poems."

"I really am not a hymn writer," Mr. Whittier said on one occasion, "for I know nothing of music. Only a very few of my poems were written for singing. A good hymn is the best use to which poetry can be devoted, but I do not claim that I have succeeded in producing one."

Whittier lovers the long haves sung and cherished the song which appears here, and some of his others including the ever-popular "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind," will claim other wise.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

"In this great drama of life every Theatre has its Green room."—O. H. Leyre in The Life and Works of Goethe.

* * *

Just about everybody knows each other's last name at a picnic held this summer.

For it was a bi-annual reunion of a family. Their ancestor fought beside the leader whose very statue, known to all as Brock's monument, rises loftily above the trees at Queenston Heights, near Niagara Falls, where the gathering was held.

A piece of the uniform worn by this ancestor in the battle of 1812 is on hand to prove it. A child of really to the meaning of this relation. A scroll on which was written the names of all his descendents to the present time, when unrolled, stretched the length of a six picnic tables, placed end to end.

This was our first attendance at such a family reunion. There was something exciting about the fact that everyone present had a blood, either by marriage or blood with this one man. It gave an atmosphere of warmth and friendliness which seemed this and group of nearly a hundred persons, represented by all ages ranging from tiny babies to great grandmothers. A lovely corsage was given the lady who was the dear lady in her 90's. A prize was presented to the one who had come from the greatest distance (someone from New York City). A telegram was sent by a descendent who lives in British Columbia, unable to be present. Descendents, however, came mostly from Ontario, and the picnic basket-lunch games were enjoyed by old and young alike all settled in little groups to talk and visit.

One member, a middle-aged lady, with whom we spoke, was really interested not only in the genealogy of this family, but in people.

"Anything that had to do with history and geography at school always made me happy," she recalled. "Though I married into this family clan, I doubt anyone is more interested than I. Together, my husband and I pasted unlined pages of foolscap on that bolt of cotton which unfolds a good 14 yards. To me the names written on those pages represent living life, and out-distance fiction by far.

To me every family represents a theatre wherein is enacted a play by its members, and each descendents know how it is behind the scenes. You get more understand how or why these characters spoke and acted as they did. This unmotivated interest in others has taught me that the finest use of ourselves in everyday living is to relate to others; to care about other people and other things. It has been a spleendid training and discipline. I have learned that some lead very unusual lives; some very simple lives, but most every case each leaves a message, a truth learned to pass on to others.

TWO TONS OF FURY — A few seconds after this picture was taken one of the two buffalo bulls in background charged the horseman. Reporter Jim Whelly was thrown to the ground as his horse bolted. But the buffalo chased the horse and ignored Whelly, who stood frozen while the second bull glowered at him 10 yards away. A guide finally calmed the horse and returned to rescue Whelly. This photo was taken by photographer George Goerzel. (CP Photo).

Hard Way to Learn About Ton of Buffalo Is to Face A Charge Flat on Your Back

Reporter Jim Whelly took a camera instead of a gun when he joined a party hunting buffalo in Wood Buffalo Park just north of the Alberta - Northwest Territories boundary. In this story he relates one of his experiences.

By JIM WHELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FORT SMITH, N.W.T. (CP)— When hunting wild buffalo with a camera, a shot from 50 yards won't move the buffalo but it tempts the photographer to edge just a few yards closer.

It was at some 60 feet that the bull charged me, probably because he was backed up against a ridge of willows. My terrified horse bucked violently. Before hitting the ground I could see my guide-protector going hell - for-leather across the prairie on his runaway stallion. That's the best way to learn respect for a ton of irritated buffalo.

It's just one of many things to be learned from a visit to the buffalo hunting camps on the Slave River between 30 and 50 air miles north of Fort Smith, N.W.T.

RESPECT FOR BULLS

Even some of the professional big game hunters arrived thinking that this hunt would be like shooting cows in a pasture. After their hunt their cookhouse tales sparkled with new-found respect for mighty bulls which were still on their feet when the sixth and seventh bullets from a .300 Winchester hit them.

The idea that the buffalo is an easy kill probably springs from the fact that it is easily stalked. Approaching downwind to within 50 yards of a buffalo is an easy matter, even on the open prairie, but it's at about 30 yards that the fun begins.

A lone bull may move slowly away or stand and stare at an intruder. A bull with his harem stands his ground with tail raised and will brook no interference.

The first rifle shot may alert the bull running toward the hunter. The beast weighs over a ton, is capable of 35 miles an hour, and on a 30,000-acre prairie it may be two miles to the nearest tree. From here on the buffalo hunter requires the same steel nerves and quick thinking he needs when facing a charging bull elephant or a grizzly bear.

TOUGH SKULL

A rifle bullet can hit a bull's forehead without getting through the skull. A .30-30 bullet would twist to a stop before it got through the six-inch mat of hair.

When my horse threw me and bolted, the buffalo chased the horse, whose name was Clarence. Clarence set some kind of record for bolting saddle horses and the bull soon gave up, satisfied that his pasture was protected.

My next concern was with a second bull who stood only 10 yards away. But to run was to invite a chase, So we stood staring at each other across the waist-high grass until the guide had quieted the horses and eased them back to where I stood.

Hunting buffalo with gun or camera is great sport but the sharp tusks are far from sliding ducks.

Light Reflection Helps Plants

By FLORA M. BAVILLE

The home greenhouse is not without its problems. To heat or not to heat, and if you heat what type heating system and what fuel to use are of first importance. After that is settled the matter of sufficient light is the next problem.

You can increase light to a considerable degree by reflection. This is a great help in keeping the plants green and healthy during the dark days of winter.

For some years nurserymen have used aluminum paint sprayed on paper and various methods to reflect daylight and artificial light but aluminum foil laminated to plastic or treated paper offers a quick and economical solution.

STOPS DRAFTS TOO

By covering the whole north wall and the wood or cement surfaces on the other walls the light can be greatly increased. Not only does the foil reflect light it stops drafts and lowers the fuel bills. Then too, many plants will not tolerate a draft. During the darkest winter months it can be carried up 18 inches on the underside of the roof to take advantage of the low light angle of the winter day.

Heat and moisture mates for splendid plants unless sufficient light is present. The reflected light affords the missing element for stand growth even on the shortest days.

The amount of light does vary from year to year but even on rainiest days the additional reflected light is sufficient to keep the plants healthy provided the overcast is not too low and lasts too long. This seldom happens.

Many gardeners only use their green houses to prolong the flower and vegetable season in the fall and to start their seeds, cuttings and tubers in the spring. The use of reflected light by means of foil can aid in both periods. Plants continue to develop and bloom and vegetables to mature almost as well as soil floor in mild fall weather on into December.

HARDIER PLANTS

In spring the extra light will insure more compact and hardier plants with less danger of damping off.

House plants too can use some reflected light during the dark months. A strip of card board 18 inches wide covered with foil can be placed behind the plants at night to reflect artificial light and on the opposite side during the day to reflect the day light. On cold nights this acts as a cold barrier protecting the plants from the cold air that enters around the window. This cold air may drop the temperature down twenty degrees below the air in the interior of the room. Lack of sufficient light and the regular

Woman Lodger's Body Kept In Cupboard

RUTHIN, Wales (Reuters)—A frail, grey-haired widow went on trial Thursday for the murder of a woman lodger whose mummified body was kept in a cupboard for 20 years.

Sarah Jane Harvey, 85, is accused of strangling the crippled woman, Mrs. Frances Knight. The prosecution also alleges that she walled up the body in a cupboard, where it was preserved as a mummy because of warm drafts through cracks in the locked door.

The case came to light early this year when the widow's son broke open the cupboard while redecorating the house as a surprise for his mother.

chilling each night is the reason many house plants litterally stand still or get that wintery wary look. Guard against this with foil reflectors.

Finding Exact Source Problem With Leakage

By EUGENE S. MILMOE

Water, dust or cold air leaks into the car can be easily and quickly cured. The big problem is to locate the exact source of point of leakage. In a great many cases, the trouble occurs around the windshield or the rear window.

This may be due to improper weatherstrip installation, rough or uneven moulding, poor seal at moulding seams, or perhaps the weatherstripping is working loose, cracking or rotting.

If evidence of water leaks are found in the trunk, but the water could be seeping through behind the rear seat package shelf and dripping into the trunk.

In the case of leakage around doors, less-than-exact adjustment of the door to the opening is very often the reason.

T.W. asks: "Would you say that reduced engine compression is the most common cause where loss of engine power and speed is concerned?"

(A) No. It is my opinion that ignition defects lead all other causes.

From N.W.: "I bought a rebuilt carburetor for my car. Do you have any idea how much a repair shop might charge me to install it?"

(A) This is difficult to answer because such jobs often vary considerably. In addition, the repair shops usually furnish both parts and labor. You will probably get estimates ranging between $10 and $20.

R. R. writes: "A service station attendant checked my oil, said it was above the full mark and would cause color valves if some were not drained off. Could this be true?"

(A) Actually, the foam created when there is too much oil in the crankcase is what causes the noisy valve action.

C. S. asks: "I have a '56 small car with regular shift transmission and the clutch has started slipping. What would bring this on?"

(A) Normal wear and too little free pedal travel are the usual reasons for clutch slippage. However, there are many mechanical defects which can be responsible, so the wise move is to consult a good mechanic.

PM Mackenzie King Wrote Atlantic Charter Meeting 'Craze for Publicity, Show'

EDITORS: The following review of J. W. Pickersill's book on Mackenzie King was written by C. B. Blackburn, retired Canadian Press bureau chief at Ottawa, who as a CP staff writer reported for years on Mr. King's political career. Mr. Blackburn now is a columnist for the Toronto Telegram.)

By C. B. Blackburn

OTTAWA (CP)— When Prime Minister Mackenzie King heard of the proposed Churchill-Roosevelt Atlantic Charter meeting at sea off Newfoundland in 1941 he wrote in his diary that it was "the apotheosis of the craze for publicity and show."

Of this soon -to-be- historic meeting he also said "at the bottom it is a matter of vanity . . . there is no need for any meeting of the kind."

His reasons for this was afraid some wartime disaster might simultaneously wipe out the two great war leaders and their chief advisers.

And he resented not having been consulted and invited to attend.

He had been the great go-between uniting the two countries from the start of the Second World War and furthering the co-operation that came to full bloom when the United States was forced in by Pearl Harbor.

PONDOF PUBLICITY

But later Mr. King forgot the slight, or realized it was not a slight, and he remained the great force of unity between the two countries that he had achieved.

J. W. Pickersgill, long a secretary and adviser to Mr. King and now Liberal member of Parliament for Bonavista - Twillingate, has just brought out the first of a two-volume series on The Mackenzie King Record (University of Toronto Press) to cover the war years and the time immediately after.

The 500-page volume, to be published today, is almost entirely extracts from the astonishingly-complete diary Mackenzie King kept through the war years, and throughout most of his life.

Mr. Pickersgill has restricted authorship to knotting the excerpts together cleverly for a fascinating relevation of how governments and Parliaments act — and particularly of the problems of a prime minister.

The diary reveals that a successful prime minister, and Mackenzie King was that, has a fulltime job of the most exacting kind.

In the case of Mr. King he felt that he was surrounded by enemies, that even his apparent friends often exploited him and that, but for a tiny group, he was alone with God in whom he trusted infinitely.

HATED SOME FOES

Religious though he was, he did not hesitate to record in his diary his hatred for certain political opponents, many of them now national heroes, living and dead.

Of the late Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, he wrote: "he is the meanest type of politician." He had hateful words for the late Mitchell Hepburn, a Liberal supporter and former Liberal premier of Ontario who turned against him at the start of the war; and for the late Ian Mackenzie, the late R. B. Hanson, and belittling words for another former Conservative leader, John Bracken.

He even had criticism for Churchill and Roosevelt although he evidently and certainly revered them and gloried in the opportunity of work with them and to earn their regard.

The diary excerpts reveal a man known by few outside his cabinet and close associates in the war effort.

Virtually everything was a problem with which he wrestled mightily with himself, mirroring the progress of his thoughts in his diary.

And in the same way, he put

Solemn-Faced Five-Year-Old Squelches P.M.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) — A solemn-faced little girl put Prime Minister Diefenbaker in his place Friday— to the delight of the prime minister's wife.

Mrs. Gray, not she certainly put me in my place all right." the prime minister admitted ruefully as he told of the encounter, which occurred when a group of children clustered around a car taking Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker to a public function.

The girl, about five, peered through the window and solemnly surveyed the 65-year-old prime minister, then bestowed an admiring glance on Mrs. Diefenbaker. Then, instead of exercising a woman's privilege of keeping her age a secret, she asked the fair Aggie" L. Mac the girl.

"I certainly is," replied Mr. Diefenbaker.

The youngster gave the prime minister another long look, then shaking her head sadly declared:

"But she's so good-looking. She's much younger - looking than you."

down intimate and secret conversations with the great and near-great with whom he was associated.

Thus there is a complete record of the sad and troublesome misunderstandings at the conferences with the late J. L. Ralston and the late Air Marshal Donald and others of his most trusted colleagues.

He thought and wrote in superlatives, suspicions and superstitions.

He damned John Diefenbaker, but in the end — as the great backbencher, with feint praise or indifference in those years of the war.

He danced "up - to" with Churchill on an evening visit with the family at Chequers and he thought something of it to see.

On a day early in the war this reviewer talked to Mackenzie King about the sudden serious illness of Mitch Hepburn.

The prime minister said he was sorry to hear it; that he had often warned Mitch to take care of himself because his slight was no good to himself, his family or his country.

On the same day the prime minister referred in the diary to the same talk with Hepburn, as follows:

"I don't often wish that a man should pass away but if he would be the most fortunate thing that could happen at this time."

The late Mr. Hepburn did not oblige.

EXPECT NO QUESTIONS

For anybody interested in how "they" — the mysterious "they" — operate, the book is chock-full of it. It is the second volume will be.

Troublemaking Is Profitable

TORONTO (CP) — William Randolph Sweeney, 78-year-old troublemaker, has enriched the mining company meetings, left an estate of $200,000 when he died Aug. 1, it was disclosed Friday.

He died intestate and letters of administration were issued on the application of his two children, Theirs-at-law. He left two stepdaughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Gilfoyle, of Inverney, known as "oneshare" Sweeney, started his career as an Elizabeth, N.J., taxi driver.

Bone-Death Threatens Immigrants Afraid to Report Tunnel Pressures

TORONTO (CP) — Immigrant construction workers on underground projects who are afraid to report excessive air pressures stand a good chance of getting the "bone-death", Dr. E. H. Simmonds, an authority on the ailment (Caisson disease) said Friday.

A royal commission of inquiry into safety hazard evidence from Dr. Simmons that one underground sewer worker died of excessive nitrogen concentration in the bones and blood stream, induced by high air pressure.

Simmons said that about 50 or 60 of the 800 workers on a four-mile Toronto tunnel project stand a good chance of getting the disease. The hardest workers were the most seriously affected because of their increased air consumption.

The royal commission also received a plea from the Ontario Road Builders' Association that the department of highways conduct safer each contractor's safety attitude in awarding tenders.

In a brief submitted to the commission, the association warned against "by - a - night" contractors who invariably bid without figuring adequate overhead to keep safety measures.

R. F. Grace of the Canadian Institute of Timber Construction said 11 persons died in Ontario last year when buildings of substandard construction collapsed.

The institute recommended that the labor department inspect all plans for all timber construction in areas not covered by bylaws, just as it inspects plans for factories and office buildings.

Organizer Paid by American HQ

QUEBEC (CP)—An organizer for the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) testified Friday that he was paid by his union's headquarters in Pittsburgh and that he moved about on orders from his superiors.

Robert Bouchard, 30, called as a witness in a $3,200,000 damage suit Gaspe Copper Mines, Limited, has filed against the USWA, said he worked for the union in the Quebec mining towns and not one in Ontario.

Gaspe Copper is trying to prove that the union can be held financially responsible for the acts of its locals.

It contends the union should pay for property damage and loss of production during a bitter, violent, seven-month strike in 1957 at the company's mine in Murdochville, Que.

ORGANIZED LOCALS

Mr. Bouchard said he was not a member of two USWA locals he helped organize in Malartic, Que., in 1956, one at East Malartic Mines and one at Malartic Goldfields.

He also did organizational work at Val d'Or, Que., and Elliot Lake, Ont., he testified, and helped a union paper in Sorel, Noranda, Que.

His salary was paid by the USWA, he said.

"From Pittsburgh?" company lawyer Jean Martineau asked.

"It seems to me the envelope comes from Pittsburgh," he answered.

The USWA in its defence says the walkout was decided and carried out at local level, and that the USWA is not responsible for what its Murdochville local did.

EXPECT NO QUESTIONS

Defence lawyers Guy Merril Desaulniers and Louis - Philippe Pigeon, assisted by Mr. Martineau's questions on the witness' background.

"This is not a royal commission inquiry," Mr. Desaulniers said. What the witness and other places had nothing to do with the Murdochville affair.

Mr. Martineau said he wanted to show that a USWA representative was guilty of error at the local level and didn't just have a subordinate role.

Superior court Judge Antoine Rivard ruled out questions touching on the witness' background but said it should not stray from the case at hand.

Charge Man With Murder

QUEBEC (CP)—Lucien Richard, 32, of Barraute, Que., Friday was charged with murder less than one hour after being found criminally responsible for the slaying and mutilation of a woman in a Quebec City rooming house Oct. 2.

Richard was arrested in Trois-Rivieres, Que., Thursday in connection with the brutal slaying of Jeanne Blanchard, 38, alias Jeanne Lavallee, of St. Joachim, Que.

Eight witnesses testified at the coroner's inquest, including landlady Mrs. Robert Mooney, who discovered the body in her rooming house after a man who registered with the woman had checked out.

The coroners' jury returned a unanimous verdict of criminal responsibility. Judge Henri Jellicoeur fixed preliminary hearing for Oct. 28.

The woman was strangled. Her body was slashed with a knife, her eyes gouged and sexual mutilation took place, including some in French saying "You will no longer make me suffer."

A. Barrette Predicts Death Of Union Nationale Party Unless It Cleanses Itself

JOLIETTE, Que. (CP) — Former premier Antonio Barrette, Friday night predicted the death of his own political party unless it rids itself of "those who have led it into the valley of humiliation."

Mr. Barrette, leader of the Union Nationale when it went down to a stunning defeat in the June 22 provincial election, quit Sept. 14 as opposition leader and legislature member claiming he was under the thumb of three major party figures.

He unleashed a bitter blast Friday night at the three men he claimed forced him out of the party and stabbed him in the back during the election campaign.

He named them as Gerald Martineau, member of the province's upper house and treasurer of the Union Nationale party; Joseph Damase Begin, chief party organizer and former colonization minister, and Antonio Barrette, a legislative councillor he dismissed as a "messenger boy" for Mr. Martineau and Mr. Begin.

"While I was touring the province fighting to win a victory at the polls, Mr. Martineau and Mr. Begin were stabbing me in the back," Mr. Barrette told a meeting of Joliette County political leaders. He had called them together to offer reasons for his resignation after 25 years in the legislature.

But what work had been done in preparation for the election, he had to go on the word of party organizers while, Mr. Martineau and Mr. Begin were "traipsing" around Europe.

Mr. Begin was then colonization minister.

He also said he had been forced to accept the party leadership Jan. 8 "by pressure from the outside" after he had practically decided to retire from politics.

"I never wanted power. I have always been afraid of power. It's sometimes dangerous for a man to be a world - wide success."

Recounting the disregard after the defeat, he said Mr. Martineau and Mr. Begin had both approached him, each offering an alliance to get rid of the other. They were not interested in the Union Nationale; they were interested simply in preserving the hold they had on the Union Nationale organization."

English Farmer Owes Hired Man $22,400 Wages

CAMELFORD, England (AP) For 15 years Frederick Jewell has labored on Wilfred Fandercock's farm without collecting a penny in wages. He has had no vacations.

In return he was given his food and lodging, clothing, an ounce of tobacco a week and his social security contribution.

But there was no ill-feeling between Jewell and Fandercock. The arrangement apparently suited everybody except the ministry of agriculture. It summoned farmer Fandercock for failing to pay his employee the legal minimum wage of £3 (£22.46) plus overtime.

Fandercock, who pleaded guilty, was fined a total of £10 $28).

According to figures put forward by the ministry's lawyer, Arthur Bligh, Fandercock owed Jewell about £8,000 (£22,400) in back pay. But the magistrates could only enforce payment for the last two years.

They ordered Fandercock to pay Jewell, now 50, a total of £822 ($2,319) arrears of wages. Bligh said he expects the farm to do it," said Fandercock.

Next Session of Parliament Expected in Mid-November Following Busy Eight Days

OTTAWA (CP)—The next session of Parliament now is expected to get under way about Nov. 17, informed sources say.

The date depends on the progress the cabinet makes with details of its legislative program which will be outlined in general terms in the speech from the throne at the opening ceremonies.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, now visiting his home riding of Prince Albert, is expected to return Tuesday, for three days of preparation for a round of conferences on which the session's program will depend.

HEAVY SCHEDULE

The following eight days will witness the most concentrated and yet the busiest set of meetings the government has been involved in since it took office. It comes on top of the cabinet shuffle the prime minister made Monday before flying to Prince Albert.

The timetable:

Oct. 21-22— A meeting of some 250 Conservative party executives and organizers from all parts of the country with cabinet members on party organization and policy.

Oct. 26-25—The prime ministers' conference, a two-day session with government all 22 leaders of provincial and federal governments.

Oct. 27-28 — Resumption of July's Dominion-provincial conference of premiers and their wards new tax-sharing arrangements with expire in March, 1962.

Then, on Oct. 31, there will be four federal byelections — in Argenteuil - Two - Mountains, Labelle in Quebec, and Peterborough and Niagara Falls in Ontario.

WAIT FOR RESULTS

No moves toward a fall session are likely to be announced before the byelection results are known. It is expected that after the byelections will be almost entirely taken up with cabinet meetings leading to the final decisions on the session's agenda.

Officials of the prime minister's office say there is nothing the prime minister is committed to now which would indicate a session will not be summoned in mid-November.

For the convenience of MPs, a minimum of two weeks notice is regarded as reasonable.

Firemen Rescue Tiny Pup From Drainpipe

CALGARY (CP)—Six firemen, in a two-hour struggle, rescued a tiny chihuahua pup Friday from a basement drain pipe.

The firemen responded to Mrs. Ray Morin's call that one of the family's two four-week-old chihuahua pups was missing.

She told them she had heard yelps from somewhere under the basement floor.

Using sledge hammers, shovels, picks, crowbars and axes, the men smashed four holes through the six-inch cement to reach the drain pipe, and finally narrowed the search to one section.

A tiny leg appeared and the pup, soaking wet and frightened was pulled from his uncomfortable prison to a reunion with his mother, Penny.

Argue Paints Dark Picture In Address

WOODSTOCK (CP)—The image of Canadian society today is "private opulence, public squalor," CCF National Leader Hazen Argue said Friday.

The main task in the challenge of the 1960s is to convince the public that ordinary people will shape their own social destinies" he told a new party conference of the Woodstock Labor Council.

"We need a new government willing to mount a real and unremitting assault on the irresponsible private use of capital on wasteful want-creating advertising, and on the pollution of irresponsible power and status of the big business corporations" he said.

Mr. Argue said the existing picture is a gloomy one with the rich getting richer, unemployment 353 a month, more than 500,000 Canadian homes overcrowded or needing repair, sickness costs bearing most "crushingly" those least able to pay while the employed number hundreds of thousands.

Fewer, Better-Paid Coroners Recommended for Province

TORONTO (CP)—The attorney-general's committee on the province's coroner system reported Friday an upward revision of fees, a reduction in the number of coroners in Ontario and an enlargement of their jurisdiction.

The report, submitted by attorney-general, said at a press conference that a full text of the report will be studied by Attorney-General Dana Porter and the recommendations if accepted, will require legislative approval.

Mr. Porter said a system for the education and training of coroners be set up at once to consider the direction of the supervising coroner with the co-operation of the attorney-general's department, fires and crime laboratory.

It recommended that all coroners be given province - wide jurisdiction. A coroner now does not operate outside his county.

There should also be a reduction in the number of coroners to a well-trained and efficient system was to be maintained. At present there are some 40 coroners.

The fee schedule for coroners and their assistants covered by the Coroners Act requires upward revision, the report says. Coroners now are paid $5 for service in their own municipality and an inquest is held and $25 where an inquest is completed.

The coroner should be given full authority to order an inquest, whereas now the crown attorney has the final authority.

The committee's committee was comprised of Mr. Silk; Dr. David Gemmell, chairman of the province's section of the Ontario Medical Association, and H. Wardell Smith, director of the attorney-general's laboratory.

Dry Air Turned Lodger's Body Into Statue

RUTHIN, Wales (Reuters) — A 63 - year - old widow accused of murdering a woman lodger 20 years ago heard a pathologist Friday describe the mummified body of the victim found last May in her cupboard.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Harvey listened as pathologist Dr. Edward Gerald Evans said the mummy "looked like a statue — as if it resisted even a hammer and chisel."

Testifying at the second day of the trial here, Evans told the court the circulation of dry air from the cupboard might have led to the mummification.

"It was well-known in Egypt, where people could become mummified when buried in hot sand. Another method is smoking or kiyperine," Evans said.

Mrs. Harvey is accused of the murder 20 years ago of her cripple friend, Mrs. Frances Alice Knight, who was drawing support money from her. Local court paid by Mrs. Knight's estranged husband.

SURPRISE FOR MOTHER

Mrs. Harvey lived at her home in Rhyl, Wales, last May by Mrs. Harvey's 29-year-old son, Peter, who was cleaning the interior of the house as a surprise for his mother, who was in hospital.

The prosecutor, Sir Jocelyn Simon, said Mrs. Knight was murdered after she gave Mrs. Harvey £200 in commission in draw £2 a week on her behalf. Mrs. Knight's last visit to Mrs. Harvey went regularly to the local court for the money, drawing a total of more than £2,000, the prosecution alleged.

Leslie Thursday described unlocking the cobweb - filled cupboard and finding the body partly covered with a blanket.

Mrs. Harvey has admitted placing the body in the cupboard, but denies the murder.

"She died in my bedroom and I put her in the cupboard," Mrs. Harvey told police.

Catholics Urged to Offer Antidote To Low Movie, TV, Paper Standards

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Roman Catholics must fight an antidote to the low standard of behavior proposed by movies, television, modern novels and newspapers, Bishop Alexander Carter of Sault Ste. Marie told a conference of 800 clergy and laymen here Friday.

The first central regional Catholic Social Life Conference of Ontario and Quebec bishops was opposed at a Sudbury conference last year to study marriage and home life and children's training.

"Parents must learn to communicate more with their children," Bishop Carter said. "Too many parents abdicate their roll os educators to Catholic schools."

He proposed a parents' education program and suggested literature be supplied to parents by the clergy.

W.I. Plans Visit to County Home

STIRLING — Highlight of the October meeting of the Stirling Women's Institute was planning a visit to the Hastings County Home for the Aged.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. C. West, James Street, on Wednesday evening.

The president, Mrs. B. Reid, conducted the business. A sum of $5 was donated to the "Formosa Project" in connection with the W.I. department in Toronto. Mrs. M. Williams will be a delegate at the area convention Tuesday and Wednesday at the Club Canary, Belleville. The members decided to hold a quilting to add another quilt to the sale of clothing that will be forwarded to Scott Mission, Toronto, early in November. The quilting will be held October 20th in the Community Hall, followed by a potluck dinner. Any women wishing to assist this project will be most welcome.

Mrs. Ken Yorke, mistress of the County Home for the Aged, will be contacted regarding a suitable date for the W.I. members to visit the residents. A committee, composed of Mrs. B. Reid and Mrs. C. Gay, was appointed to arrange the visit.

Mrs. W. C. West opened the program with a reading, "What Life Does For You." An "old fashioned" contest was conducted by Mrs. Sr. Ward. A new invitation for the W.I. was a "touch and take" table.

Mrs. R. Emery, convener of historical research, gave a most interesting paper on "Canada's National Industry," the manufacturing of paper.

She traced the making of paper back to 105 A.D., when Tsai Lunn, a Chinese, soaked rags and hemp in water, pounded this to pulp—and then added more moisture on a cloth and stretched the cloth on a bamboo frame to dry in the sun. This was the first "paper."

In 1348 the first paper mill was built in France, and in 1490 it appeared in England. The first paper mill appeared in America in 1708, and in Canada in 1803. Canada now has 180 mills, she said.

Mrs. M. Ayrhart gave an outstanding paper on "Citizenship and Education."

At the close of this entertaining program, refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Appreciative thanks were extended to the hostess and her committee, by Mrs. Emery.

Formation Of Cub Pack Discussed

POINT ANNE — The September meeting of the St. Ann's PTA was held in the St. Ann's school at Point Anne. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mr. Garth Bradshaw, and opened with prayer by Father Buckley. The president expressed his hopes that the new PTA would have a good year. It was moved by Mr. Burton Whalen that social evenings be held in the Orange Hall four times a year with admission of 50 per couple, with the ladies bringing lunch. Mrs. R. Cullen seconded the motion.

Mrs. Cook suggested that the meeting discuss about a Cub pack for St. Anne's. Mrs. Charles Lloyd moved that someone be appointed to get the information on the discussion of the club for the next meeting night. It was pointed out that it is at present necessary for boys wishing to join Cubs to join packs in Belleville, and transportation was a problem.

The dialogue Mass was studied for ten minutes led by Mr. Gehan.

Father Buckley was introduced by Mr. Bradshaw, and opened his address by asking the parents to support the teachers in their task of educating the children. He also discussed philosophy, the science of ultimate causes, by use of reason, and pointed out by which one can prove that God exists.

Mrs. F. Callaghan thanked Father Buckley.

Mr. Gehan introduced the new teacher, Mrs. Callaghan, to the parents.

Refreshments were served by Hospitality Committee, while the parents had an opportunity to discuss their children's progress with the teachers.

Going Places

The Tourists Turn Colonial In This Time-Machine Town

By SHIRLEY & BOB SLOANE

Williamsburg, Va. — In Tahiti you can go native, in Hollywood you go Hollywood. But here you go Colonial.

Whether dining on peanut soup, creamed oysters and Surry ham at the King's Arm, quaffing ale with the shades of the founding fathers at Campbell's Tavern, or going back a four-poster at the Brick House Tavern, the spirit of '76 pervading Williamsburg makes it the only brick-and-clapboard time machine in the U.S.

It's the be-cameraed tourists and their buses that are out of step in this world. Guides bobble around in farthingales and knee breeches, and the streets look like a 28-flavored eighteenth century tavern, and a $1.80 ticket entitles the "potfetter" to a candlelight concert in the Governor's Palace.

All Colonial and 800 yards wide, the dazzling restoration of Virginia's pre-Revolutionary capital was the dream of a fellow here with a few past-Revolution-ary dollars to spare, name of John D. Rockefeller Jr. by the time death ended his expensive hobby 31 years later, some $68,000,000 had been rebuilt into a 301-acre bull-for-gotten tidewater town.

RECONSTRUCTION ADVENTURES

Like New York, it still isn't finished. Supported now by admissions and income from the Williamsburg-owned hotels and restaurants, purchasing and research goes on with a staff motivation and meticulousness that does proud to both the memory of Rockefeller and of his forefathers. Not long ago a dormer window was ripped out of an attic because someone discovered there's a crowd — they built them with only two in those days.

To date 320 houses have been restored or reconstructed —but mostly built from the ground up on ancient floor plans. There are 54 green acres in all, shaded by knotty paper mulberry trees, elms and maples.

Much of Williamsburg's feeling of authenticity comes from the fact that the houses and shops are completed, mostly by the project's 2,000 full-time employees. Spinners spinning and smithies smithing shed light on a dozen different crafts of another era.

Even genuine "antique" silver is turned out for use in the restaurants. In the apothecary shop a yellowed ledger reveals that Patrick Henry still owes seven shillings.

The early town was laid out by designers who were decades ahead of their time in town planning principles, and they gave grace and beauty to the wide, airy streets.

Today's planners have an equally rare respect for their heritage. The colonial ice cream parlor is no mere affectation: most of modern downtown Williamsburg's buildings are made of antique-looking brick cast by the methods of the bygone days. There are no stop light or neon signs, and there's a serious talk of banning all traffic in the restored area, perhaps in the hope the buckboard and buggy will return after all. If they do, the converted stables now used as garages would be reconverted again, and probably no one would mind.

The palpable marks of history are vividly preserved here that a stroll through Williamsburg is a lesson in the quality of an ancestral memory.

LAYERS OF TIME

The layers of time peel away readily, in the House of Burgesses chamber of the bastion-like capitol building still ring the echoes of an erratic young firebrand named Patrick Henry. And you can see where they sat listening to him, in trouble-some times, a brooding intellectual named Jefferson and a strapping colonel of militia named Washington.

In this room a Declaration of Rights was passed that would change the course of history forever, and here too it was voted that Virginia be independent of the British Empire and at one with the other colonies.

On the staff above the bell tower still flies a replica of the strange standard hopefully hoisted that day — 13 red and white stripes with a Union Jack in the corner.

And down this same Duke of Gloucester Street an ill-assorted group of landowners, rabble and frontiersmen from the distant Mississippi country marched off in the dust to make it good, led by a fife and drum that must have sounded as ludicrous as they looked.

There probably wasn't a man-jack in the crowd that would have given a continental for their chances.

Many Look to Basements For More Living Space

When families grow, as they are bound to do, many homeowners are forced to look around for additional living space in their homes. A recreation room may be needed or perhaps an extra bedroom tops the list of "musts". Then, again it may be that the man of the house needs a study. Sometimes all these needs can be met by on new room.

However, such a room can't spring from nowhere. Space must be found. Likely spots are the attic or basement, but of one or the other of these does not exist the problem cannot be converted satisfactorily, the garage is sometimes be a solution. In some districts this is may be possible to convert half of a two-car garage. Other homeowners may elect to give up their garage and either build another one or carport instead.

The size and design of recreation room will vary according to individual and needs, type of home and available space. In larger or small, much of its success depends on the use it is planned. CONSIDER FACTORS

Here are some of the elements worthy of consideration in planning yours:

(1)— Informal dining facilities, such as a snack bar or dinette set. You might even consider including a compact "kitchenette" unit (containing a range, sink unit and storage space) which can be built into a small area and concealed decoratively.

(2) A music wall, with built-in radio-phonograph equipment, hi-fi and television set, along with storage space for records and musical instruments.

(3) Storage space for hobby equipment and children's games and toys.

(4) A desk for study or work and a convenient place for books, magazines and newspapers.

(5) Plenty of lounging facilities. Comfortable, durable chairs and sofas.

(6) Built-in sleeping accommodations or sofa-bed, so that the area can provide sleeping

'Thanksgiving' Theme of W.A. Meeting

The afternoon group of Coleb's Hill United Church W.A. met in the church on Wednesday with the president in the chair.

Mrs. K. Balcom and Mrs. A. Greenwood led the devotional period, based on Thanksgiving.

It described the first Thanksgiving and feasting of the early pioneers and of their hardships, suffering and starvation. "And yet even when they had a good harvest, they were so thankful to God for his goodness to them" she said. "Then we compare our comfortable life today with theirs. Few of these pioneers' blessings are too numerous to count."

They found themselves surrounded by blessings daily, because God is always near to be with God, she concluded.

Hymn: "Now Thank We Count Your Blessings", by Mrs. Greenwood, was much enjoyed, and the hymn, "Sing to the Lord of the Harvest", was sung. The devotions closed with prayer by Mrs. Balcour.

"Marriages are arranged by the parents. these depend on the social status of the families involved, which is closely investigated and if they do not prove a good risk they are forgotten, and a more suitable one arranged. She discussed the difference between the Hindu and Christian marriages, thus giving a realistic picture of the people of India and their mode of living.

OUTDOORS with John Alden Knight

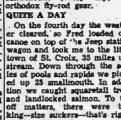
Revisiting the St. Croix River

In 1929, when stock-market profits were easily come by, three of us set up what we called a fishing account and cast off the brokerage houses. One of our trio was a member of that brokerage firm and he saw to it that the fishing account prospered and waxed fat. In late June of that year we closed out the account, took our ill-gotten gains and boarded the train for Grand Lake Stream, State of Maine.

We stayed at Brown Camp in Grand Lake Stream and mostly we fished Grand Lake Stream, which flowed not a hundred yards from our lodgings, and Big Lake, into which the stream flowed. Now and then we would load the canoes and the trailer and drive over to Kellyland Station. There, beside the paper company powerhouse, we would put the canoes into the St. Croix River and go fishing.

That, as I say, was in late June and early July. The bass were spawning and the water was still cool enough for them to be on the shore lines. Never, before or since, have I seen such fishing for small-mouth bass. We fished with fly-rod tackle and it was not unusual for us to hook, land and release more than a hundred bass in four or five hours.

AT LONG LAST



Since then I have longed to see the St. Croix once more but matters never arranged themselves so that I could get away. Then last August Mrs. Knight and I loaded our car and pointed its hood at Loon Bay Lodge, St. Stephen, New Brunswick, Canada. Loon Bay Lodge is built on a hill overlooking the St. Croix River, about 30 miles upstream from Kellyland Station. At long last I had my second look at the St. Croix River.

The guide assigned to me was a long, lean country boy named Fred Brisley. He is middle-aged, a family man, and he knows the river as he knows the back of his hand. Every rock in the white-water rapids (and there are many of them, rocks and rapids) is as familiar to him as the street signs in my home town. Fred was not enthusiastic over the prospects for good fishing.

"Your first trip to camp?" was his first query. I said that it was. "Couldn't have come at a worse time. River low. No rain. Water too warm and clear. George tells me that you fish fly rod exclusively. "That right?"

I said that I preferred fly-rod tackle but wasn't stubborn about it. Fred grunted and said that we'd see how things went.

Hurricane Carrol (the Weather Bureau grows whimsical in its labeling the big blows alphabetically with girls' names) was at that time threatening to demolish the New England coast and that complicated matters. The fish knew about this disturbance and were down in the deepest water they could find. For three days we fished shaky weather, were rained out, driven off the river by high winds, and generally handicapped.

Over some fifty-odd years we have visited not a few northwoods camps. At the great majority of them if you can go out and find six or eight cooperative bass you have had a good day. At Loon Bay Lodge, even with hurricane weather, I had no trouble picking up anywhere from six to a dozen smallmouth (every day) on orthodox fly-rod gear.

SIXTY A DAY

On the fourth day the weather cleared, so Fred loaded our canoe on top of "his Jeep station wagon and took me to the little town of St. Croix, 35 miles upstream. Down through the series of pools and rapids we picked up 23 smallmouth. In addition we caught squaretail trout and landlocked salmon. To top off matters, there were two king-size suckers—that's right: regular old creek suckers—who took those streamer flies as avidly as the trout. We had quite a day.

Two days later Fred and I took the canoe over to Kellyland. The powerhouse was there, looking much as it always had, but the rest of the area had changed somewhat. The river, however, was just about as I remembered it, prettier if possible. Those shore lines are just about as fine as any small-mouth water you can imagine. But the river was low and the water too warm. The bass were in deep water. We took four that made up in size what they lacked in quantity.

The day before we left camp the lady of my choice took me to task for not bringing in any fish. She never eats bass, so long as I can remember, but now she wanted some. Only one thing for it — fish where the bass are and give them what they want. So Fred and I picked up about a dozen minnows and went near fishing. It was murder. In not more than an hour we were back with enough bass to feed the camp. The deeper water of that river was literally stiff with bass.

Next year, along about June 25th, you know where you can find me — that's right, casting bass bugs and hair frogs along those lovely shore lines below Kellyland Station. I hope my good right arm — not so good as it once was, perhaps — can stand the strain.

Sport Snapshots

By DOUG MARENTETTE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — Are Maritimes senior hockey teams mowing down the same old road to bankruptcy or has interest in the seaside provinces revived enough to support top-flight professional hockey?

John Mullane, president of the Nova Scotia Hockey League, thinks there are signs of revival "at least on a small scale."

The league at its third annual meeting waived its no - import rule and for the first time in several years teams will be permitted to bring in three players each from outside the Maritimes.

The Cape Breton league, the other top circuit in the Maritimes, is likely to follow suit.

HEAVY PAYROLLS

From the end of the Second World War until 1951, import - studded leagues operated throughout the area. They had weekly payrolls of nearly $2,000 and a heavy schedule involving long, costly road trips.

The result: Senior hockey died, choked by heavy operating costs and unrealistic salaries. Few promoters of these days have ventured back into the business.

Mullane, a Halifax barrister, was one of the key figures in the campaign to get senior hockey back on its feet.

Spectators who had stayed away in droves after disappearance of the high-priced imports began getting interested again.

DOUBLED ATTENDANCE

Last year, attendance soared in all league centres except New Glasgow whose Rangers won first place. Halifax Wolverines, second-place club, drew 20,000 people for 15 games, an increase of 15,000.

Amherst Ramblers, a new entry, lined up players from other Maritimes centres en route to the championship. Although they had the highest payroll in the league, they finished the playoffs with a profit.

Amherst's showing in the Allan Cup playoffs also sparked fan interest. The Ramblers were the first Maritimes team to reach the eastern finals since the Windsor Maple Leafs, missing only first place in junior company, also brought in some oldtime players but still finished with money in the bank.

MULLANE CONFIDENT

Mullane believes the game is on the way up and that a limited number of imports will attract more fans and improve the calibre of the hockey.

With plans still not complete for this season, Moncton and a Truro-area team have expressed interest in joining the four-team league. They made their intentions known after the three-import rule was passed.

Some see a renewed danger in opening the league to imports. But there are league officials who say the cost will prevent clubs from thinking seriously of relaxing the rule further. And fans who saw hockey wither and die once before are hoping they won't be a repetition of the throttling effects of high-priced name players.

Virdon's 'Delayed Steal' Was Accident

Dick Groat Nearly Goat

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the first inning of the first game of the world series when Bill Virdon of Pittsburgh was booked for his surprised "delayed steal" that set up the New York Yankees they went on to drop a 6-4 decision to the Pirates?

Well, it just wasn't so. Virdon's steal of second and advance to third when there was no Yankee to cover second base for catcher Yogi Berra's franic throw, came as a result of a missed sign. And to tell the truth, the Pirates were more confused than the Yankees.

The authority of this new version is Dick Groat, the Pittsburgh captain and ace shortstop of the new world champions. He admitted he really bungled after the second game but asked that it not be publicized until after the world series.

GOOD STRATEGY

"I went along with the general assumption that Billy had surprised the Yankee infield in a delayed-steal," said Groat. "It not only made good reading but it gave the Yankees something to think about."

Groat said, however, that I fouled it all up. Virdon ran because he misread my signal. I gave it to him, too often. The latter is probably what happened.

Groat explained: "Virdon gets the inning by drawing a pass from Art Ditmar. I was the batter and I flashed the hit-and-run sign to Billy. I usually give my own signs. Billy caught the signal all right but then I noticed that Richardson (second baseman) and Richardson (second baseman) Bobby Richardson were holding a conference at second base.

SECRET SIGNALS

"I knew full well what they were discussing. They had a good book on us and they knew that I liked to pull the hit and run play at this time in the game. So I decided to cross them up. I flashed another sign to Virdon, meaning hit-and-run sign off.

"I was the most surprised person in the world when Billy ran on the next pitch. It was outside and high and naturally, I took it. Billy, I'm sure never got the second sign.

"Kubek and Richardson were blamed for supposedly becoming confused as to who should cover the bag. I'm sure that wasn't the case. I think they decided that I would hit the first pitch and they agreed not to cover second for fear Virdon might just punch the ball through a vacated spot.

"But don't blame Virdon, the ball was all mine. I fouled up the whole play. Thank goodness."

Groat modestly failed to mention that he hit the next pitch to right field for a double that scored Virdon from first. Without the three Pittsburgh runs in that inning.

Attersley Signs With Frontenacs

KINGSTON (CP) — Bobby Attersley, 17, signed a contract Friday with Kingston Frontenacs, the Boston Bruins' farm club in Eastern Professional Hockey League.

He and the most sought-after players in Canadian amateur ranks, Attersley played Junior A hockey with Guelph, then joined Ottawa Truckmen, a Senior B club. Later he moved with the team to Whitby, a club which has two Senior B titles, an Allan Cup and a world hockey championship to its record. In the last Winter-Olympics with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Attersley's career a business in Whitby and will commute to Kingston.

Dennis Hull Will Play With Teepees

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Rob Wilson, chief scout for Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, said that Pit-Boy Bobby Hull's brother will play for St. Catharines Teepees for the 1960-61 season.

Dennis Hull, 15-year-old brother of the Hawks' star winger, will be playing for Chicago's Ontario Hockey Association Junior A farm team one year younger than Bobby did.

Wilson thinks that the older Hull is the best mite of the family, but says he believes Dennis will be as great as his brother because he is starting earlier in his career.

The younger Hull is taller than his 21 - year - old brother and weighs about 175 pounds, compared to Bobby's 195.

The other Hull brothers also tried out with the Teepees but have since returned to their Point Anne, Ont., home.

Hawks Roost On Shoulders Of Canadiens

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The undefeated Montreal Canadiens are on top of the National Hockey League going into a busy weekend but the soaring Chicago Black Hawks are roosting right on their shoulders.

Canadiens clipped Detroit Red Wings 4-3 Thursday night to move past the Black Hawks with 6 points to seven in the standings.

Montreal's position, however, is tenuous at best—they have won three and tied two in five outings compared with, Chicago's seven wins and one tie in four sessions.

The Canadiens, meanwhile, have used 17 goals and had 10 scored against them—and Chicago Hawks put away 11 and had only five escape goaler Glenn Hall.

New York meets Montreal tonight while Boston Bruins visit the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Canadiens are in Detroit Sunday, with Toronto visiting Rangers and Boston travelling to Chicago.

New League Flies Suit Against NFL

BALTIMORE (AP) — The young American Football League filed a $10,000,000 anti-trust suit in U.S. district court Friday against the National Football League and its 13 professional clubs.

The AFL, and its eight teams organized last year, contends that the 30 - year - old NFL engaged in an illegal conspiracy to exclude them from a share in the professional football business.

The suit also asks the court that NFL franchises granted or withdrawn, or franchises which might be issued, not be granted, in the cases of Texas cities Dallas and Houston.

Dallas began playing in the NFL this year. Nothing has been announced about Houston.

The AFL contends the NFL sought to induce prospective members of the newer league to abandon franchises by promising them franchises in the older league.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Now that the Pittsburgh fans have got over their piratical frenzy and the Yankee supporters are doodling again, the office pools paid off and series "economics" back on speaking terms, let's see what's cooking in the realm of football.

The big game for the Eastern Ontario buffs is the anticipated thriller-diller between the Ottawa Rough Riders and the Toronto Argonauts on Sunday. Hamilton-Montreal supporters will get their kicks this afternoon when the Tiger-Cats visit the Alouettes.

An all-time record crowd is anticipated when the Rough Riders and the Argos clash in Toronto tomorrow afternoon. If Manny Ransom doesn't break a leg or gather a charley-horse the Riders should take this one by a touchdown. Down Montreal way the up-coming Rough should take a run back to Hamilton.

Stewart, the Riders' diminutive will-o'-the-wisp, who can dart through and around enemy linesmen like a scared jackrabbit, will be a marked man on Sunday. By the same token the Ottawa defence will concentrate on Ted Hand and Dick Shatto, the Argonaut speedsters, not to mention a gentleman by the name of Tobin Rote.

The Riders got two new players the other day, end Jim Reynolds from Michigan and halfback Ernie White who started with Hamilton, but it's expected Coach Frank Clair will go along with the regular line-up.

Rider fans will welcome the news that Bill Sowalsish's shoulder is responding to treatment and he is ready to go when he gets the call. Lowther and Ted Smale who was supposed to be out all season with knee injuries was given permission to start work the other day. It is expected he will be back in time for play-off action.

The Riders started full scale work yesterday dealing mainly with offense. Dave Thelen is still bothered with a sore shoulder but he will be ready for tomorrow's battle. Stan Lancaster did an extra work out in the quarter slot. Russ Jackson gets the nod.

So much for Ottawa. What about the Argonauts?...

A Toronto sportswriter admits that as a team the Riders are good, but he doubts if they are as good man-for-man.

"Would anyone really trade Tobin Rote for Jackson, Dick Shatto for Stewart, Chester Gilchrist for Thelen, Stan Wallace for Reynolds, Ron Stonehouse for Foster or Ken Brewer for Bone?" he asks.

Having spent some very pleasant weekends in Ottawa and a whole month one Sunday in Toronto, we would suggest the latter. And on the strength of the view of immediate past performances, Frank Clair would not trade Ron Stewart for any two of the above-mentioned Double Blues.

Defensively, he points out, the Argos have the league's best record, a low of 17 points a game scored on it. But Ottawa with a 19.9 average is not far enough away to tremble in the face of the Argonaut pass attack it faces on Sunday.

Down Hamilton way Jim Trimble's Tabbies booted, spurned and ready to ride, are claimed to be the most improved club defensively in the Big Four. This afternoon in Maple Leafs Stadium, Trimble will field what he calls his "twin backfields" in the hope of earning respectable running yardage against the Larks. The Tiger defensive strength was proved last Monday against the Argonauts.

Faloney will be in the slot with Howell and Grant, although on defensive backfields, the deep threats, Tiger fans says "Watch the swing pass and watch Faloney roll out."

However, the Tigers have a wholesome respect for a gentleman named Rhubarb, more familiarly known in grid circles as "The Rifle." Trimble says "Sam" does many things well and has the face for coming up with the right play at the right moment.

The Hamilton coach doesn't go along with Montreal coach Perry Moss who has been quoted as saying his team will finish in the cellar and will take several years to rebuild. Trimble's answer to that was a big snort and the comment, "Any team with Richervery, Hal Patterson, George Dixon, etc., will be tough to play against."

Gaels Bid for Sweep

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Queen's University Golden Gaels are bidding to make it a clean sweep today in the first round of the opposition teams in the Senior Intercollegiate Football League.

The league-leading Gaels, who already own wins over University of Toronto Blues and McGill Redmen, visit London, Ont., for an encounter with the Mustangs of the University of Western Ontario.

In other senior intercollegiate action today the Redmen are at Toronto.

Gaels now lead the pack with a 2-0 won-lost record. Western and Toronto are tied for second place with 1-1 marks and McGill trails on two losses.

Three sons of famous fathers will see action in the London game.

At defensive halfback for the Gaels will be Dave Sonshine, son of Harry Sonshine, former lineman with Queen's and in the Big Four, and one-time general manager of Toronto Argonauts.

Frank Tindall Jr., son of the Queen's coach, will be at a wingback spot for the Gaels. His father played tackle for Syracuse University and for Toronto Argos.

John Metras Jr., will start at centre for the Mustangs, coached by his father.

Mayor Wants Franchise for New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Baseball League expansion committee will go into its meeting in Chicago Monday armed with a letter from the mayor of New York to have a baseball ready in 1962.

Mayor Wagner, bypassed, Mayor Robert Wagner of New York sent telegrams to committee members Friday asking an "early indication" that a franchise will be granted.

It was New York's big pitch for a spot in the league and brought favorable comment from the 9-a-side all-commissioner Ford Frick and National League President Warren Giles.

The letter said:

"Well, I guess . . . If these plans are finalized, we'll finally have what we've wanted all along, another major league club in New York."

Bucs Manager Named Tops In National

NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Murtaugh, the leader of Pittsburgh's 1960 world championship team in 35 years, was named Friday as National League manager of 1960 in the annual Associated Press poll.

Murtaugh scored a clear-cut victory over Solly Hemus of St. Louis Cards in the balloting by 193 baseball writers. The Pirates' pilot received 127 votes and Hemus collected the remaining 66.

Murtaugh, 43, took over from Bobby Bragan on Aug. 3, 1957.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The moment of truth began at this weekend when the destiny of each team in the Big Four football league is placed squarely in the hands of the players concerned.

Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts—tied for first place — begin a home-and-home series that could decide which team ends the 16-game season on top with a valuable bye into the finals. Each has a 9-6 won-lost record thus far.

The stakes are even higher for Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, in the cellar with 3-8 records. At issue is their home-and-home duel for the last playoff spot.

Hamilton is at Montreal today and Ottawa visits Toronto Sunday. Oct. 22 the same casts play but the stage is switched—Montreal moving into Hamilton and Toronto journeying to Ottawa.

The regular season could still end with a double tie. In that case, the final league standing is decided on a points basis between the tied teams, not on the season's total points.

MUST STOP STEWART

Argonauts must stop the cool-cide running of light, speedy halfback Ron Stewart while containing the leside thunder of fullback Dave Thelen, who missed Ottawa's last game in order to shoulder injury.

Toronto faces less action with out tackle Bobby Jack Oliver but Don Caraway will see his first regular action of the season in an effort to stop Stewart and Thelen.

The question in Ottawa is whether Riders can contain the Argos' explosive passing attack.

Tiger - Cats fought off Argonauts 30-24 on Thanksgiving Day. With all the chips all the way down for this one, they are expected to be tough to beat.

Tommy Ivan didn't part with his senior club spot when he went under the circumstances at the Chicago Black Hawks' training camp.

Tommy was sitting on top of the National Hockey League's coach of the perennial Stanley Cup champion Detroit Red Wings, when he resigned to be accepted the general manager's job with the Chicago Hawks, practically the laughing stock of the league.

The team had reached the playoffs only twice in the previous 19 years, and in 1954-55 season, they were at about the bottom.

PLAYER PANNING

"When I went to Chicago we had a pretty bad hockey club, hockey players or our list," Ivan said Jack Evans, St. Catharines Stand ard) Galeliff the other day.

"You can well imagine that there wasn't too much life in our first training camp at St. Catharines when only 20 players were trying out for 18 jobs. It was almost a matter of keeping them healthy so we could get enough men to start the season."

Tommy was right, though. The Hawks' angel was, and still remains, multi - millionaire Bill Norris. He suffered through crowds at home games of 3,000 or so and reportedly claims they regularly reached beyond $100,000.

Success wasn't just around the corner for the Hawks. And nobody knows that more than Ivan. Since 1956, Chicago was last, the Wings first in 1956, Chicago again was last and Detroit finish second.

BUILT FARM SYSTEM

It was about the same the next two seasons — Wings first, Hawks even close to a playoff spot and the Red Wings were a league champion again in 1957 with Chicago third the following season.

Meanwhile, though, Norris's bankroll and Ivan was no penny-pincher—Ivan made deals with minor league teams and today the Hawks have about 300 players in their farm system largely-set in hockey. They have working agreements with 11 farm clubs ranging from junior C to American Hockey League affiliates.

These clubs include Calgary in the Western pro league; Seattle

TORONTO (CP)—Racing secretary Anthony Simms announced today he expects a field of at least 14 in next Saturday's renewal of the $60,000 Canadian Championship stakes at New Woodbine.

The championship, outstanding event of Canada's autumn racing, will be run at one mile and five furlongs over the grass course.

Six horses from United States tracks already are stabled at New Woodbine preparatory for the race. Six others are expected to be flown in Thursday.

The Harry - House Farms of Toledo, Ohio, has a strong three-horse entry of Merry Top II, Khaba and Martini II on hand. The famed Calumet Boy Stable has nominated Tooth and Nail but trainer Woody Stephens will wait until Sunday before deciding whether he will ship to Toronto.

Callen Showing Signs

Rookies Get Chance In Big Time

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York centre Brian Cullen—somewhat a mystery in National Hockey League circles during the last few years—has finally showed signs of being able to repay the confidence placed in him by the Rangers management.

In his second season with Toronto Maple Leafs three years ago Cullen scored 20 goals and assisted 33 others for 53 points.

The following year his output dropped sharply to four goals and 14 assists in 59 games.

The Leafs promptly traded him to New York.

Cullen's record last year showed an improvement. He tallied eight goals and got 21 assists in 64 games but this was still below NHL standards.

Rangers' front office decided to take another chance on Cullen, and from the looks of it, they haven't regret it.

IN THIRD PLACE

After four games this season, he is third in scoring alongside some of the game's super-stars.

Montreal left winger Dickie Moore and Bobby Hull of Chicago have nine and seven points respectively. Cullen is in a five-way tie for third place with Canadiens Bernie Geoffrion, Henri Richard, Jean Beliveau and Marcel Bonin. All have six points.

When the Rangers play in Montreal tonight, Cullen will get a chance to keep up with the pace. But he has a long way to go if he is to stay with the league's big guns.

The Rangers expect to have ailing centre Camille Henry available, winger Dean Prentice, back in action.

Prentice, top New York goal scorer last year with 24, has recovered from a knee operation and Henry from bruised ribs.

NEW FACES

Dave Keon, a graduate from the Leafs' junior organization and Bob Nevin, who has been up with the Leafs twice before, are new faces on the Toronto squad.

Boston will have three rookies—defenceman Dallas Smith, from the Saskatchewan junior league, and forwards Orval Tessier, scoring champion last year of the Eastern Professional Hockey League and Billy Carter, acquired from Montreal Canadiens in an off-season transaction this summer.

For Rangers, Don Jones of the Montreal Junior Canadiens and Jim Morrison, who has seen action with Toronto, Detroit and Boston are new additions.

Forwards Leon Rochefort and Norm Dalton, formerly teammates with the defunct Trois - Rivieres Lions of the EPHL, are also on the lineup.

Today's SPORTETTES . . .

McFarlands' coach Gordie Bell said today he had signed "Wiener" Brown, giving him a total to date of five senior "A" players in the fold. Gordie will attend a meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association senior "A" committee in Toronto, tomorrow afternoon. He says he will claim some of the allegedly "frozen" former Dutchmen players reported to be working out with the Galt Terriers.

That home-run ball hit by Bill Mazeroski which won the game and series for the Pirates must have travelled a long way. Yankee fan Bill Brown, father of the "Wiener," found it in his luncheon basket an hour after the game was over. Fellow employees of Delco-Sleilite who've favored the Pirates are suspected of being the culprits.

Water Mains Burst Caused By Pressure

PETROLIA (CP)—About 200 homes were without water Friday after a buildup of pressure burst water mains in a wide area lying east of Sarnia. At some points road paving above the mains literally exploded.

It was during the first quake earth tremor had occurred.

Walter Rose, manager of the Petrolia Utilities Commission, blamed the rupture on air pockets in the lines which built up pressure 10 times above normal.

Street and sidewalk pavement heaved, badly in most places, causing heavy damage. Water pouring from the broken six-inch and nine-inch mains was quickly shut off. Some places were more than four feet under the surface.

Mr. Rose said repairs would be completed late Friday night.

Lines burst at Oil Springs, eight miles south of here, at the same time. One motorist reported he was driving over a stretch of pavement when it lifted into the air like a bomb blast. His car escaped damage.

Utilities officials at first said they could not recall any other situation like this. Gas and chemical pipelines in the area were not affected.

Hint Casey Will Be Back Next Year

NEW YORK (AP) — The guessing about Casey Stengel goes merrily on.

Will the 70-year-old baseball veteran retire as manager of New York Yankees?

It long has been rumored that in 1960 would be Casey's last year with the team despite his record of 10 American League pennants and seven world championships in 12 years with the club. Now comes a report that perhaps Case will be back next year.

John Drebinger, baseball writer for the New York Times, says "pressure", including a petition from the NY baseball writers urging Stengel to get a change in a book called Rules, Items and Survival involving the question How Generals Make Comeback After Death?

This was an experiment he hoped to make after Mr. Mantle's death, Vukovich said.

Urges Firms Promote Growth Of Oil Industry

CALGARY (CP)—Oilman Carl O. McKinney has advocated a national oil policy that would encourage companies active in Canada directly responsible for the growth of Canadian oil production.

The plan, he said, should be voluntary if possible, by compulsion, if necessary."

Suggestions were contained in front-page editorials in Oil in Canada and the Daily Oil Bulletin, both published by Mr. Nickle.

The plan, he said, could be summed up as follows:

"Make all those who share in the market for petroleum products in Canada responsible on a pro rata basis for the growth of Canadian production, whether by direct use of new Canadian oil, by oil exchanges or tradeouts, or by liquidation of credits from merchandise who use more than their pro rata share of Canadian oil."

Irate Fans Want to Know 'Who Cut the Tightrope?'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Who cut the Tightrope?

A lot of TV viewers have been asking that question since the show faded from CBS a fortnight ago. It was dropped after only seven, despite good ratings and an unusually loyal following. One fan was so loyal that he picketed the network's Hollywood studios in protest.

"CBS has been flooded with letters and so have we," reported Mike Connors, who starred in the series. "One woman forced me by writing a 10-page letter."

VICTIM OF RESHUFFLE

"What happened to Tightrope? Well, it was a combination of circumstances. The sponsor was happy with the show, but CBS wanted to rearrange Tuesday night as part of its block programming plan.—Everything on that night was to be covered.

"The sponsor had had that time slot for several years and wanted to hold onto it. CBS wouldn't give in. By the time the argument was over, it was too late to line up a co-sponsor to fill the show out number night. So we got dropped."

The loss was a blow to Connors, who finally made it in the big time after years of trying.

ROUGH GOING

"The early years were rough," he admitted. "I did just about anything to get by, including selling brushes from door to door.

"In the last few years, I had been doing pretty well—averaging $12,000 to $17,000 annually. But I was in a route."

Tightrope proved a perfect vehicle for him. As undercover agent, he had to play on the side of the law during much of the show. This he could do the heavy while being the hero.

Bare-Bosom Belles Not For Kitchener

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener isn't ready to watch any bare-bosomed belles of the Ballets Africaines, members of the Kitchener-Waterloo civic commission decided Friday.

A date early in January has available for the dancing troupe from the Republic of Guinea but commission members concluded the show was not for the city community.

"I think allowing this show here would leave us open to criticism," said chairman J. W. Scott. "Some people might consider it immoral. Perhaps if all the ministerial associations in town approved we would be covered."

Mr. Scott, he said, but the girls on stage would not be," said Alderman Keith Hymmen, commission member.

The troupe was forced to don breastplates in North American centres including Toronto last year. This year, after a ruling from Britain's Lord Chamberlain that the ballet girls have not to be performed sashed to the waist.

"I'm a little afraid of it," said Ald. Hymmen. "After all Kitchener isn't a metropolitan centre like Toronto."

EAPS FLOWING MATCH

COBBLE HILL, B.C. (CP)—A dairy farmer who was one of British Columbia's representatives at the annual Canadian plowing match held near Montreal, says it was a "very poor show." Joe Saville of Cobble Hill, near Victoria, said Thursday his partners, Dick Hickman of Chilliwack, was given a tractor in such poor shape it took a day to get it running.

Paper 'De-Ink' Process Said A Success

ESCANABA, Mich. (AP) — A "de-inking" process for the restoration of newspaper for its reuse as newsprint has been found successful in a pilot operation at the Manistique Pulp and Paper Company mill, says Marshall Field Jr.

Field, president of Marshall Field Enterprises, Incorporated, said the pilot operation's success could lead to the setting up of a large "de-inking" plant in the Chicago area. Marshall Field Enterprises publishes the Chicago Sun-Times and the Chicago Daily News.

Field made his comments in an interview after spending two days at the paper mill. He met with the board of directors of the mill company. Marshall Field Enterprises last December acquired the mill, at Manistique between St. Ignace and Escanaba and on the north shore of Lake Michigan.

Newsprint is the paper on which newspapers are printed. Field said the de-inking of used paper, a chemical process, was a development of the Newark (N.J.) Evening News.

Would Copy U.S. Social Security

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario Welfare Minister Louis Cecile said Friday Canada should institute the old age security pensions after the United States Social Security system.

"The elderly person who has retired and has been able to create pension benefits for his future would be in a far more favorable and practical position to meet his needs than is possible under the system in force in this country," he said.

Canadian pensions are $55 a month to everyone 70 and over, and to those in need of pensions between 65 and 70. They are paid by the federal government, but some provinces pay supplementary pensions.

Mr. Cecile spoke at the opening of Cobden, Ont., unit of the $267,000 Carleton County home for the aged 10 miles south of Ottawa.

TIPS

by JOHN WETTLAUFER

When a rather old television set requires a great deal of repairs, we are sometimes asked if it is worth the expense of a major overhaul. This is a difficult question for us to answer, but here are several points to consider.

First of all, we are in the TV repair business and we have yet to see a set in such bad condition that we couldn't make it perform like new. Naturally, the cost could very well be high — but still a lot less than the cost of a new TV.

If you are considering trading it in on a new model, remember that the allowance will be low if your old set isn't working. After all the dealer must sell it repaired before he can sell it.

However, new sets do feature advances in engineering and modern furniture styling . . . or perhaps you feel that you can afford the luxury of the latest model. It's up to you!

We'd like to point out again that no matter how old your television or how bad its condition, CHRCLE TV SERVICE, 393 Coleman St. can make it operate like new. Phone WO 5-6781 and we'll be glad to give you an estimate.

—An associate whom you admire gives fine ideas and expresses admiration for you, in A.M. Correct the relations from the future. The remainder of the day and night is fine for getting great pleasure in entertainments — be on time.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—Live the Golden Rule in A.M. by being king and thoughtful to kin. Spend the remainder of the day planning for a happier and more prosperous future. Then set up a better-working budget. Remember that economy is riches.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure you go to services of your choice with a good friend in A.M. and renew your belief in Higher Truth. Later you can then enlighten your associates and have the most enjoyable day in a long time. Smile, be wise.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — If you fell into the so-called illness in A.M. for awhile, you will get fine intuitive flashes concerning those you would contact for assistance and loyalty. Address your desires. P.M. plan coming days ahead wisely.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Utilize medical services or contact a wise friend who can give you the help you need in A.M. However, be sure to take an associate with you. The remainder of the day is then fine for up and coming activities, dining out, conferring with right people, etc.

If your child is born today . . . be, or she, is one of those rare people who early in life will want to plan for the future and do it most thorough way. Also, there is great ability for research and fine finish. However, it is important you early supervise the emotional life to prevent errors of a serious nature being made, since there is tremendous attraction and personal fire. Give good religious training at a tender age.

High School Activities

By SYLVIA SCHWAB and JIM HAMMERFELD

On September 6, 1960 at 9:00 a.m. the Belleville Collegiate opened its doors for the 1960-61 as 891 students "eagerly" invaded its hallowed halls.

As usual, a full student assembly packed the auditorium that morning. And we were introduced to the new members of our teaching staff: Miss Brown, Miss Evans, Miss Lamprey, and Mr. MacKay. Barry Simpson, president of the Students' Council extended a special welcome to all the new members of our student body.

Almost within minutes another monument of football trophies were ported and, as a result, B.C.I. can boast of three new teams — bantams, juniors and seniors — besides the capable coaching of Mr. Townsend, Mr. McBride and Mr. Barbour respectively.

CHEERLEADERS CHOSEN

No football team is complete without its cheerleaders, and after highly competitive tryouts, the following girls were chosen junior cheerleaders — Carol Brown, Heather Dunn, Heather Mills, Susan Parker, Toni Porter and Mary Musgrove; Senior cheerleaders — Helen Malcolm, Patti Bradford, Helen Walsh, Betsy Wallbridge, Nancy Lauder, and Bev McCullough. The fact that the judges made a wise decision was proven as both senior and junior cheerleading squads led the school in a Wednesday morning pep-rally.

Assembly programs got off to a good start as Alan "Skelly" Barkley and Barry "Elmer" Simpson captivated the audience with their comical antics. In another assembly the prefects of the school for the coming year were introduced. Last week, as is customary, certificates for one, two, three, four and five years' perfect attendance were awarded to those students earning them. Special congratulations went to Judith Mott for her record of five years' perfect attendance — never absent, never late. Then BCI's gifts to politics, Barry Bennet and Malcolm Chess gave a detailed description of their experiences (Oh those parties on the roof!) at the United Nations Seminar held at Queen's University last June. Their attendance at this seminar was sponsored by the Rotary Club and the Students' Council.

DONATION DAY

On Friday, October 7, the "Initiation Hop" climaxed the days-long discomfort of the initiates of the four service clubs as they were forced to perform such initiation capers as berating for a weiner, selling buttons, and dancing the "risque" French cancan.

B.C.I.'s noon-hour activities are as varied and as interesting as in former years. Both upper and lower school students may participate in volleyball, basketball, or rugby; and those not interested in sports may take part in many school clubs.

With interform sports, athletic teams, and all school clubs in full swing, we predict that the year 1960-61 will be a successful one for B.C.I.V.S.

Say Candidate Hand-Picked By Diefenbaker

SUSSEX, N.B. (CP) — Hugh John Flemming, federal forestry minister, had a campaign furse dumped in his lap as the political dumping begins for an Oct 21 byelection in which he will seek his first Commons seat.

This issue is Hugh John Flemming.

At least, both his opponents in the riding of Royal claim it is. Their contention is that he was hand-picked by Ottawa and that the local Progressive Conservatives had no say in his nomination.

George H. Wheaton, the CCF standard-bearer, has termed Mr. Flemming's candidacy the main issue in the byelection.

It was "decided" he said, by Prime Minister Diefenbaker. This was an "insult" to the riding, which had the right to choose candidates "without suggestion from outside."

Mr. Flemming became forestry minister in the federal cabinet Tuesday. The Conservative government of which he was premier was defeated by Liberals in the New Brunswick election last June.

CLAIMS INFRINGES

The other byelection candidate, Liberal H. A. Fredericks, said it was "an infringement of the democratic process" for the prime minister to say in effect to Royal Conservatives: "This is your candidate—take him."

Mr. Flemming has said he is leaving the Royal seat only for the unexpired portion of Hon. A. J. Brooks' term. This was interpreted as meaning he might campaign in his native Carleton County in the next general election.

Appointment of Veterans Minister Brooks to the Senate left the Royal seat vacant and New Brunswick without a cabinet representative. The constituency, comprising Kings and Queens counties, has gone Conservative since 1921 and was held by Mr. Brooks since 1935.

47 Fatalities Across Canada During Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

An army truck that overturned and killed five soldiers Friday night near Camp Wainwright, Alta., led off one of the worst highway weekend tolls in the province.

A survey by The Canadian Press showed that 15 persons were killed on provincial roads between 6 p.m. Friday local time and 3 a.m. EDT Monday.

On roads in other provinces the personal died in Ontario, six in Quebec, four in Saskatchewan, two in British Columbia and one in Manitoba. The national highway total was 40.

Seven other persons died in various mishaps. A hunting fatality was recorded in Prince Edward Island, and in Quebec a child accidentally shot himself, and another died in a fall.

In British Columbia a girl was accidentally shot by her seven-year-old brother.

PINNED UNDER STOVE

In Ontario, Richard John Lawrence, 2, was killed at Blackstock when he was pinned by the stove at the discarded stove and a man was burned to death when he fell asleep while smoking.

A 13-year-old Trenton girl, Patricia Sumstad, died bravely when she threw herself over her twin half brother and sister to save them from the apartment house fire Sunday.

The other Ontario dead:

William Roy Wilson, 35, of Toronto, killed Sunday when his car crashed in fog.

Joseph Lavigne, 30, of Toronto, killed by a car while crossing the street Saturday.

CAR OUT OF CONTROL

John Martin, 20, of Talmount near Chatham, killed Saturday when his car went out of control.

Andrew Conahan, 76, of Hamilton, struck by a car Saturday.

George Lalonde, 34, of Kenmore, struck by a truck Saturday.

Douglas Mills, 8, Fort William, in a car-truck collision, Sunday.

SLEPT WHILE SMOKING

Walter Graves, 52, burned to death Sunday when he fell asleep smoking.

Donald William Ash, 27, of Toronto, when his car crashed in Oshawa.

Harold Hoffman, about 40 when his car rolled over on Highways 4 and 7 near Wallaceburg.

Fern Hilda Hunter, 11, of Haviland Bay, near Sault Ste. Marie, in a car accident on Highway 17.

Hector Morrel, 39, while clearing his fall clothes line collapsed at his home near Sudbury.

Margaret LaPorte, 29, of Actonville, when a motorboat capsized into a transport truck Sunday.

DACCA, Pakistan (AP)—Winds of more than 120 miles an hour and a monumental tidal wave have killed at least 3,000 people along the coast of East Pakistan's Governor Akhtar Hussain said today.

Approximately 80 per cent of the surviving population in the area was left homeless by destruction of 30,000 houses.

The storm struck a week ago Sunday and spread its full damage to six small offshore islands in the Bay of Bengal. The islands lie about 200 miles southeast of Jabbar, Amin, Hatiya, Bhola, Alexander and Dakhin Shahbazpur. They have a total population of 300,000, but little most of the rest of East Pakistan are extremely primitive.

TOWNS NEAR RISE

Communications with the outside world were cut. Not until Monday was the full extent of the disaster produced their report after an on-the-spot investigation. That was the estimate of the dead made. It is feared that this figure may yet be to be higher.

Governor Azam Khan, who is touring the area, placed the total death toll as high as 5,000 on the basis of reports he has received from local officials.

The governor was informed of the disaster and the ensuing tidal wave continued for six hours.

Hundreds of bodies were being recovered from areas where the tidal wave receded. A complete total of those killed may never be possible.

Such killer storms are common in this part of the world. Nearly 500 persons were killed in the same area by one in the fall of 1958.

Here rivers are called cyclones. The Pacific rivers are known as typhoons; in the Atlantic, as hurricanes. But the devastating force characteristic is high winds that roll up the sea and smash against shores.

In the storm last week many fishermen were lost on the sea. Survivors told of boats being thrown into the air by the giant seas.

The tidal wave that followed was the worst in memory.

Some villages were left a mass of mud, uprooted trees and debris. Thousands of cattle, rice crops — mostly rice — were flattened.

NEW TECHNIQUE IN CAMPAIGNING BY DIEFENBAKER

Directs Speeches To School Children

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) Prime Minister Diefenbaker may be initiating a new technique in Canadian political campaigning with a drive at the school-age level.

The most striking feature of the prime minister's first swing through the sprawling Prince Albert riding since the 1958 general election has been his preoccupation with school children.

In a two-day whistle-stop tour of 11 rural communities stretching from the town of Nipawin at the Saskatchewan border to Delisle in the village of Debden in the west, his brief off — the — cuff speeches to adults formed only half of his utterances. The rest were devoted exclusively to students.

For the most part, adult constituents had to be content with a brief handshake and a friendly greeting.

Only in Prince Albert itself—a city of some 23,000 once regarded as a Liberal party preserve—did the adults command most of his attention. Even here, in his opening address at the official opening of a new bridge across the North Saskatchewan River, he departed briefly from his prepared text to tell children in the audience that they had been the limited opportunities for them if it had not been for the bridge that it. He repeated the message at a subsequent gathering.

The warmth of the receptions accorded Mr. Diefenbaker would have gratified little comfort to political opponents.

Diefenbaker arrived here last Wednesday, there was an undercurrent of tension in some normally political circles that some of the lustre might be beginning to dim from the prime minister's name.

Although the prime minister remained aloof from the recent Saskatchewan election, this feeling may have been due in part to the failure of Progressive Conservative candidates to win a single legislative seat. In Prince Albert city and the Prince Albert provincial constituency, however, the Tory candidates finished a poor third.

Felled by Bullet, Prowler Is Given 14 Days in Jail

Thomas Anthony Woodward, 24, of 345 Herchimer Ave., Saturday was sentenced to 14 days in the county jail. He was what is found guilty at a special session of magistrate's court of prowling by night.

In issuing sentence, Magistrate T. Y. Wills said he was "absolutely satisfied" that Woodward had been on the premises of Alex Milloy, 32 Rosewood Crescent, and that he had also been a "substantial" distance from the house.

Woodward was arrested Aug. 30 when a bullet felled him as he tried to climb a drainpipe on which had closed in on the area after receiving a call from Mr. Milloy's house. Mr. Milloy complained of a prowler in his backyard.

Defence counsel Robert Temple suggested that since no land survey had been submitted as evidence, there was no real proof that the point of medicine-trespassing on Mr. Milloy's property. But the magistrate replied that Mr. Temple had not been able to contradict Mr. Milloy's evidence.

Crown Attorney John Pringle described the activity as "a hard-to-lose window peeper," but the magistrate replied that all window peepers are not harmless. "However, in this case he was quite clearly a window peeper."

The magistrate said he had arrived at the two-week jail term after "considerable consideration" and added that a "proper" term, in view of the circumstances would have been one month in jail.

"Rightly or wrongly, I believe that a period of one month in jail might be more injurious to you than the exemplary effect it would have on the protection of the public," the magistrate told Woodward.

"This sort of thing you have done is disturbing to a substantial percentage of the public. It has to stop."

Woodward was warned that in view of past convictions of loitering, in the future he is caught committing other offences of this nature "you can expect to go to a much harder institution than the county jail."

Panel of Experts Will Discuss Rheumatic Ills

A special meeting of the Quinte district branch of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society will be held Wednesday in the auditorium of Quinte Secondary School to hear a panel discussion on the subject "Arthritis and the Rheumatic Diseases."

The meeting will be open to the public and a cordial invitation to attend is extended to everyone interested in the conquest of arthritis and the spiritual aid being rendered by C.A.R.S. to those who need help and comfort to the many in the community suffering from this scourge of humanity.

Those taking part in the discussion include some of Canada's leading authorities on the subject. Dr. Wallace Graham, F.R.C.P. (C), Toronto, Dr. Harold E. Joyce, of this city, professor of medicine, Queen's University and director of the Kingston Institute of Rheumatism and Dr. Harold F. Williamson, of Belleville.

The choice of Quinte Secondary School auditorium is particularly advantageous for handicapped residents as there are no steps to the entrance from the parking lot.

Arthritis and the rheumatic diseases are among the greatest scourges of humanity. Known as the "Great Cripplers", it is estimated that one out of every 20 Canadians is afflicted to some degree. The most recent government statistics indicate that these diseases totally or severely disable 50,000 Canadians; partially disable a further 115,000; cost Canada's workers and business over 9,000,000 man days lost from work annually, with a yearly loss of well over $75,000,000 in wages.

"Great deal of suffering and loss can be attributed to neglect in early stages of these diseases" states the Medical Director of C.A.R.S., "but while no specific cure has yet been discovered, relief can still be attained by conscientious application of modern methods of treatment".

The Quinte district branch of the Canadian Arthritis & Rheumatism Society is a member of the Belleville United Appeal family. Its services are available to patients with arthritis on direct request of the patient's physician and remain at all times under his professional direction and supervision.

Gerald Boyce To Talk About County Museum

On Tuesday evening the Quinte Historic Sites and Parkway Association will hold its annual general meeting in the Napanee District Collegiate Institute library.

This association is largely concerned with the preservation of historic buildings and sites in the Quinte district and the preservation of Highway 33 — especially between Kingston and Adolphustown — as a scenic attraction.

Speaker at the meeting will be the Association's chairman, Dr. Arthur R. M. Lower, formerly of Queen's University. His topic will be "A Voyage Around the World."

The meeting is open to the public and it is hoped a number of Belleville and district residents will journey to Napanee Tuesday evening to support the work of the Association.

Among reports to be given at the meeting will be one by Hastings County Historical Society president, Gerald Boyce, on the possibilities of a Hastings County Museum.

Persons wishing transportation to the meeting or having extra space in their cars are asked to contact Mr. Boyce at WO 8-5083.

Masons Should Take Lead In Diverting Trend of World Affairs Says Hon. Earl Rowe

More than 300 members of the Belleville Lodge No. 123, A.F. and A.M. met on Saturday evening to 35 members of the Wilsonville Lodge No. 555.

The U.S. visitors arrived in this city early Saturday aboard private cars and a chartered bus. A reception was held in the afternoon in the Shrine Club.

A full program claimed the evening's portion of the program as members and guests sat down to a turkey dinner prepared by the Women's Auxiliary of Centre and Victoria United Churches at the Masonic Temple on Foster Ave. Dinner was followed by the introduction of head table guests, who included Attorney-General Kelso Roberts, Mayor Lloyd Jeffs, Hastings South; and R. W. Bro. Lorne L. Ashton, head district deputy Grand Master, Jefferson District, New York State.

R. W. Bro. Ashton's visit this year is observing its centennial. Bro. Ashton, Hon. Earl Rowe, M.P. for Dufferin-Simcoe, as guest after-dinner speaker. Mr. Rowe is a Past Grand Lodge Master, his appointment since 1936 is the oldest Belleville Mason to sit in the Commons.

Introduction for his ability as an orator, Mr. Rowe told his audience that Masons, being religious men, in their meetings can, should take the lead in civilization. "It needs the help from a possible Third World War and the world co-existence. "Masons tend to cast their burdens in their communities", he said, and among those who are found very influential men.

"Masons have the right to government to improve the world", he said. "The government can do it since it needs the help of every individual. You, as a community group, should, as a Free Masonry, should do all you can to help the world tranquil."

Mr. Rowe said Premier Khrushchev should not be un-fe-ted. "He is the head of a state and one of the smartest men in the world."

REDS FORGET GOD

"Premier Khrushchev could take off both shoes and throw them on the floor at the United Nations", he said, "but who he is trying to fool? Mr. K's recent month-long visit to the U.N. proved once and for all that the Communists have forgotten God and, "If it ever came about, they would make tyrannical dictators in the Western world.

"Mr. Khrushchev learned, I think, that he was not wanted", said Mr. Rowe. "For that matter, we don't like the Russians or any war, either. They're too intelligent for that. They should prefer to win the world without being bloodshed. They've got a tiger by the tail and they can't let go."

But the West should not lull itself into a false security in that is what the Communists want. The Communists are very subtle and intelligent and the people of the West may not want war, its leaders do not understand their aim, let the Communists take over. When the Communists see a weakness they strike like a thunderstorm. The West must become conscious.

Speaking without the notes he had left in another suit, Mr. Rowe apologized for perhaps rambling and getting too engrossed in his subject, but said Democracy is fighting the Cold War.

"We must use our influence so our neighbors if we are going to win the battle for us", he said. "We must educate the people that the physician and remain at all times under his professional direction and supervision.

Red Cross Soc. Reports on Work Accomplished

A meeting of the executive committee of the Belleville Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society was held recently at 3 Bridge St. West, with the president, Mr. Arnold Wolfenden, occupying the chair.

In the absence of the treasurer, Mr. Hugh Greeves, Mr. Wolfenden presented his report.

The committee chairmen presented reports on the various work; homemakers, welfare, loan cupboard, disaster, blood donors and water safety services.

One hundred and ninety cases involving 413 children have been handled by homemakers services.

Loan Cupboard services have been still in great demand. Mr. Cameron reported that the RCAF Belleville Wing 418 has purchased three wheel chairs to be loaned to the citizens of Belleville and vicinity.

The needs resulting from three fires involving 14 children in the district have been met by the Belleville branch.

The women's work rooms have received their supplies from headquarters with material for 3000 swabs, 25 sweaters, and socks for both boys and girls and 400 quilts to be made. The workrooms rooms at 3 Bridge St. West are open 1.30 to 5 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday. Volunteer help would be greatly appreciated.

The next Blood Donor Clinic will be held at Trinity auditorium on November 2, 1960.

Local Teacher At Moira School Gets M.A. Degree

Word was received Saturday from Winnipeg that the Senate of the University of Manitoba had approved the award of the Master of Arts degree to Gerald Boyce of Belleville.

A native of Hamilton, Mr. Boyce graduated with the B.A. degree from McMaster University in 1955 and was graduate assistant in the history department at the University of Manitoba in 1955-56.

His recently completed M.A. thesis dealt with Canada's interest in the Northwest, 1856-60" and attempted to show the development of the annexation movement in Canada which contributed to the Rupert's Land being acquired by the Canadian government following Confederation. Part of the research for this thesis was done among the files of the Ontario Intelligence, the balance being carried out at Winnipeg, Windsor, Toronto, and Ottawa.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Egerton Boyce of Belleville, Mr. Boyce has resided permanently in Belleville for the past three years and is head of the history department at Moira Secondary School. He is also president of the Hastings County Historical Society, an executive member of the Quinte Historic Sites and Parkway Association, and editor of the "Historic Hastings" column in the Intelligencer.

Mr. Boyce is married and has one son.

To Show Slides Of Deseronto, Rathbun Co.

"Deseronto and the Rathbun Company" will be the topic at this evening's meeting of the Hastings County Historical Society to be held in the Corby Library auditorium.

Guest speaker will be Mr. T. Dane Martin of Belleville, who in recent months has made a study of the development of Deseronto, with particular attention to the Rathbun family enterprises that for so many years formed the basis of Deseronto's economy.

Not only was the Rathbun Company vitally interested in the 19th century lumber business in the Quinte district, but its operations also included a host of other enterprises as well. Mr. Martin's talk will be illustrated with slides of Deseronto — past and present.

Also of interest at the meeting will be the ceramic tiles depicting the old Hastings County Court House, 1837-1960. The attractive tiles will be shown publicly for the first time. They were especially designed and prepared for the historical society by Nicholas Mika.

Among business to be discussed will be the potential Hastings County Museum.

The public is cordially invited to attend tonight's meeting of the historical society in the Corby Library auditorium.

Major Portion CNR Roundhouse Being Wrecked

The end of a railroad era is being signalized in the Canadian National Railways yard at Belleville as a major portion of the big roundhouse goes under the wrecking hammer.

All but four bays of the big roundhouse where steam locomotives of yesterday were serviced are being torn down, along with the machine shop, locomotive foreman's office and adjoining stores department.

Contract for the razing of the now unused railway property is D. G. Kleinsteuber of Belleville. Work of wrecking the buildings got underway a week ago.

During the summer the coal chutes and water tanks at the east end of the Belleville yards were torn down.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged today.

The egg market was reported steady with receipts barely adequate for a fair demand.

Country dealers are quoted by the federal department of agriculture on Canada grade eggs delivered Toronto, in three cases: A large 56; A medium 46; A small 39; B 34; C 31.

Butter prices: Canada, first grade: Ontario tenderable 63; non tenderable 62, in light trading: Western butter was not quoted.

Two Occupants Of Panel Truck Suffer Cuts

An out-of-control panel truck which bowled over a no-parking sign and then struck a hydro transformer pole, caused lights to flicker in the Station Street area shortly before midnight Saturday night.

Two occupants of the truck, driver Carl S. Stinson, 20 of Consecon, and passenger, Edsel Macdonald, 23 of 62 College St. East, suffered facial cuts, the former also sustaining a broken nose, when he struck the windshield.

Police said that the panel truck was eastbound on Station and quoted the driver as stating he was forced to veer because of oncoming traffic. The truck bowled over the no parking sign in front of Trudeau's store slammed into the transformer pole.

Damage to the truck was estimated at about $300 and $35 to the no-parking sign and hydro pole.

The only other activity reported by police was a break-in at St. Joseph's Separate School. A window was found broken and teachers' desks were searched, but nothing was reported missing.

Five Agencies Named to Receive Phone Payments

Administrative changes in Bell Telephone's commercial operations in Belleville and the Trenton area were announced today by R. S. O'Rourke, Bell manager here.

The changes include the closing of the company's public office in Belleville, and the transfer of the Trenton Commercial office to Belleville.

These changes are being made in the interest of more efficient and economical administration of the company's business operations and will result in consolidation of all departments since the plant, construction, and traffic departments already operate out of the city.

Besides the office and payment facilities at the Bell building at 75 Bridge Street will close to the public at the end of business on Friday.

Five payment agencies have been established at strategic locations throughout the city to provide customers with a more convenient method of paying their telephone bills. There is no additional charge for accounts paid at these locations.

Additional telephone facilities will be provided to the local business office to handle all inquiries concerning telephone service. To make inquiries about their accounts or any other telephone matters, Belleville customers will simply dial WO 2-3511.

The Trenton change will take effect on November 14. The Bell manager in Trenton, J. Z. Parker, will make his headquarters in Belleville along with

Baha'is Seek World Unity, Outlaw War

TRENTON— Mrs. Laura Davis of the provincial teaching staff of the Baha'i World Organization was the guest speaker at a large gathering of Trenton and district Baha'is Sunday night.

Mrs. Davis said the Baha'i seeks to unite world religions. They believe that ultimately the whole world will be ruled by an international court, whose members will seek to "give" something to each other, rather than to "get" something for themselves.

Baha'is seek a world where every child will receive an education, each person will be required to learn one auxiliary language in addition to his mother tongue, and war will be outlawed.

Mrs. Davis said that religion was not a matter of form, dogma or creed, but that each individual should worship God in his own way and be guided by the teachings of the prophets. She said history points out that there have been only six years since the birth of Christ in which some part of the Christian world has not been at war.

"We have not followed His instructions to "love one another", she said.

It was time the civilized world grew up and knocked down the petty barriers of nationalism. In the eyes of God, one race is as important as another, and mankind should work toward world unity.

Deadline Past For Attempting Land Redemption

TRENTON — Saturday was the last day former owners of registered properties in Trenton could attempt to make arrangements to redeem the properties.

The town office reports that a number of the 25 persons involved have discussed possible means of redemption.

Tax collector Alan Weaver said at Thursday's committee-of-the-whole meeting of council that those properties actually belong to the town and that the municipal board might have the deeds to the former owners would be able to redeem them by paying back taxes and penalties, or whether they would be required to buy back the properties at a price set by the town.

The attitude of the councillors is that many of these people have consistently let their taxes fall behind and their taxpayers have been subsidizing them.

It is expected that this situation will be discussed at tonight's meeting of council.

Head Organizer

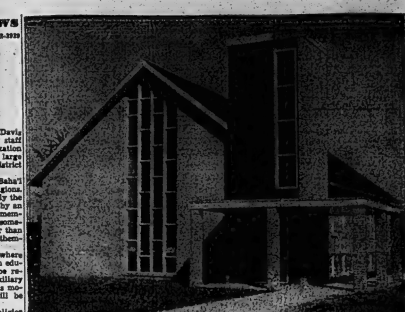
TRENTON — Constable John Martin of the Brighton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police has been appointed Brighton organizer for the fund raising campaign of the Trenton and District Association for Retarded Children.

The Brighton campaign will run coincidentally to the Trenton-Quinte Kinsmen Malartic reports that more than 20 canvassers have been secured to conduct the door-to-door canvass Nov. 13 to 24.

Three members of the Brighton group will be given executive positions in the district association.

Mrs. K. F. Reid of Trenton, first vice-president of the association and executive member of the national association, will speak to the Brighton group tonight. .

Travellers Return



TRENTON — Globe-trotting Rotarians Dick Whitley and Mark Tripp reported attendance make-ups at Europeat, during Mr. Whitley attended club meets in Morecombe and Blackpool, England, and De Saint Avold, France, last month. Mr. Tripp attended a meeting in Troyes, France.

Recently, president Art Sproulton, zone chairman Fred Freeborn, secretary Jim Pegg, Ron Haker, and Jack Goldberg, attended a one-day district institute in Toronto at which 47 district clubs were represented and Trenton had the largest delegation.

the remainder of the Trenton staff.

For the convenience of customers in the Trenton area, payment agencies, where accounts may be paid without additional charge, have been established in Trenton, Brighton, Frankford and Wellington.

All customers in Belleville and the Trenton area will receive notices explaining the changes in their respective exchanges and listing the payment locations in their communities.

Above is the new Centennial Free Methodist Church on Avondale Road in West Belleville, which was officially dedicated at special services on Sunday. The church, with seating capacity of more than 200, was built by the congregation formed only five years ago. Rev. Edith Mainprize is the first resident minister.

Greeting congregational members and visitors at the church were board members along with resident pastor, Rev. Edith Mainprize. Left to right are: Kenneth Harnden, Miss Mainprize, Fred Kemp and Rev. W. J. Stonehouse of Uxbridge, who assisted in the dedication.

Centennial Free Methodist Avondale Church Dedicated, At Special Service Sunday

Fruition of close to two years' work on the part of the pastor and church membership was the afternoon dedication service with many visitors from outside the area.

In the absence of Rev. J. F. Gregory, D.D., of Wasaga Lake, Indiana, who was to dedicate the church, the dedication service was conducted by Rev. A. E. Moffatt of Ottawa, superintendent of the Eastern Conference. Mr. Moffatt was assisted by Rev. W. J. Stonehouse of Uxbridge, Western Conference Superintendent, who also conducted morning and evening services.

Church board members Albert Smith and K. L. Harnden, presented the church for dedication. The church was accepted by Mr. Moffatt together with Mr. Harnden, reading the dedicatory prayers.

The dedication service was rendered somewhat by the death of Mrs. W. H. Gregory of Verona, mother of Rev. J. F. Gregory, who was to dedicate the church.

With the congregation organized only five years ago, members are justifiably proud of their new church which has a mortgage of only $12,000. In addition to the main auditorium seating about 200, the church has a nursery where mothers of young children may watch and hear the service.

In the church basement is the Sunday School Auditorium along with five separate classrooms. Sunday School superintendent is K. L. Harnden.

The church is furnished with light oak pews with matching wood work, altar is carpeted. An electric Hammond organ supplies the church music.

The new Belleville church is named in recognition of the 100th year of the formation of the Free Methodist movement in Pekin, N.Y. The local church has the distinction of being the only one named in honor of the church centennial.

The Belleville congregation was organized five years ago by the Rev. P. L. Chase, then pastor at Frankford. The present pastor, Rev. Edith Malcolmrize, is the first resident minister.

NEW SITE PURCHASED

Original plans called for construction of the new church on Herchimer Ave., but rapid congregation growth brought realization the property was too small and a new site was purchased on Avondale Road.

Here three building lots, with a total frontage of 185 feet, were purchased and plans drawn for a larger church than was originally anticipated. Ultimate plans are for the construction of a parsonage on the property.

Resident minister, Miss Malcolmrize has been three-and-a-half years in Belleville, coming here from Napanee, where she served for nine years. Previously she had been in evangelistic work.

Although services have been held in the lower auditorium of the church since January of this year, the main auditorium was used for the first time only a week ago.

ALL MEMBERS ASSIST

In the meantime congregational members as well as the pastor have turned out to lend a hand in getting the church ready for the dedication.

United Appeal Opens

Belleville's United Appeal opens today.

The response will do much more than determine the amount of money which will be available to the eleven participating agencies. It will show what kind of a community Belleville is.

There will be many families which will say, with accuracy, that they cannot make a large contribution without some sacrifice. The reply is obvious. Can any good thing be achieved without paying a price for it?

Faith, hope and charity are all commendable—but is there any real charity in giving what we will never miss?

It remains true, though, that there will be more families this year than for several years past which literally cannot afford to make more than a token contribution to the Appeal. The economic outlook is not as rosy as it has been for many years.

By the same token, the need for the services of the agencies participating in the Appeal will be enhanced. They will have more work to do, more people needing their help. In such a situation we cannot, we must not, reduce the amount of money they have available to fulfill their tasks.

This means that those of us who can give generously, whose circumstances have not been adversely affected, to any substantial extent, by changed economic conditions, must pick up the slack for those of our fellow citizens who are facing difficulties.

No family which has a bread-winner steadily employed should feel that it can afford to decline to share in this community responsibility. True, in some cases special circumstances may mean that the contribution must be relatively small. But all should share in the task.

It is suggested that every worker give a day's pay. That is little enough to ask, from men and women who are steadily employed. Those whose financial circumstances are above the average can easily contribute more.

Belleville is but one of 108 Canadian cities and towns which are making a united appeal for financial support for essential community organizations. We are more fortunate than many of the communities, in that our employment situation is better than in many other centres. How we respond to this appeal will tell the rest of Canada—and ourselves—what kind of a community Belleville really is. The only satisfactory answer would be that provided by a prompt and convincing attainment of the Appeal's objective—$85,000. Let's give that answer, without delay.

Peace, It's Wonderful

The office is strangely quiet today. Everybody is working. Quarters are not being eagerly exchanged for little slips of paper. Nobody has called anybody else a no-nothing meathead for at least five minutes. The World Series is over.

It takes a little time for things to return to normal. Friday there was naturally a lot of gloating and alibi-hunting, followed by second guessing and rehashing. When the week's pay was distributed, various portions of it were promptly redistributed.

Saturday was a half-day and naturally things were in a hurly-burly, as usual.

But Sunday has had a quietening effect.

Here it is Monday and things are calm in the office—not only in this office but in offices throughout the North American continent, except, perhaps, in Pittsburgh.

The calm, though, as far as Canada is concerned, is merely temporary. In another five weeks things will be stirring again, for Grey Cup Day will be just around the corner.

Wonder whether what happened to the Bronx Bombers is as ill omen as far as those other Bombers from Winnipeg are concerned? Could the original Argonauts be considered a species of pirates? The Braves did not even make the World Series, and this was true, too, of the Indians, but does that mean that the Eskimos face the same fate? The Orioles were strictly for the birds, but does that mean the Riders will ride or be taken for one?

STRENGHT FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

LEARNING TO READ

Are you worried over the fact that modern educational methods vary often bring child-ren to the teen age without being able to read properly or to spell?

Most of us are. It is hard to understand why, with the fine educational equipment we have today, remedial reading courses have to be put in the later school curriculum program to bring teen-agers up to an adequate measure of literacy. Why is it not possible for children to learn the many fine and new things open to them today and at the same time learn to read and spell?

But modern educators point out the fact — and their contention is borne out by support — that when children of today do learn to read they read more significantly and to better advantage than did their parents and grandparents. Certainly the old educational system was too cut and dried. It was stern, unyielding, and frequently combinations of words and sounds failed to bring about growth of mind. Maybe we have not something halfway between the old and the new? Are we not able to take advantage of the many fine things which modern education offers and yet at the same time have some of the disciplines which have departed from modern educational techniques?

Maybe if we knew more we would question less — but I doubt it.

And In The Beginning There Was Light

BY HON. ROBERT W. MACAULAY,
Ontario Minister of Energy Resources

This is one of a series of articles by Mr. Macaulay dealing with sources of energy and their usefulness, in the past, the present and the future.

Are there other planets in the universe upon which "people" live? If so, where are they, what do they look like and what do they eat? Are they listening to what goes on on this earth, or watching us. Recent discoveries assert that powerful telescopes can probe and watch 24,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles out into space where there is a lot going on. It may be silly to suppose, when one considers the various parts of the universe began, that we on the earth alone possess telescopes in this universe.

If there are other "people" on other planets, how did they get there and what is the fact that matter how did we get here and when?

Is it true that "people" do exist — is it true that they already know our future and have seen events that have not yet happened to us?

Is it true that many stars we see in the sky on a clear dark summer night are not there at all and haven't been there for many years?

Is it true that the sun is old or young and that it will die and cease giving at least any light? How will this happen and when, and if it does what will happen to the earth?

Does the sun move or does the earth move? Do they both move, and why? Why, for example, does the earth not plunge into the sun or the sun into the earth, or will it?

IN SPACE LIMITED

What is beyond the sun, the moon and the Milky Way? What is all this stuff which "exists in verse"? If the universe is beyond the Milky Way, what is beyond the universe? If there is nothing, can't stop there, or can you?

Is it true that the earth is made one-pound weights on a scale they won't weight four pounds on the moon?

Is it true that the earth is made up mostly of space just as our bodies are made of mostly water? And since the earth is mostly space, how does it hold itself together and come out the other side of the Milky Way Galaxy?

Why do we weigh more at the equator than we do in Ungava? What? Why do we weigh less up in an aeroplane than we do on the ground?

Do you know that while you think you are standing on your feet you may be actually hanging by them, and that while you think you are walking forward you may be moving backwards?

Is it true that if a person is "very fast," his watch will slow down, his cigaret will burn longer, a grandchild will be born, if he goes fast enough, he won't be able to see his reflection in a mirror held in front of him?

Who was Einstein — and what's all this about the theory of relativity? What does it mean, why should we care, is it true?

What is an atom? Are atoms the matter of which we are made? Is it true that we are all made of atoms? If so, why aren't we all potential atom bombs as well? What can we do with atoms?

RELATED PROBLEMS

Besides, we cares about all these awesome problems, and what does all this have to do with people who live in Ontario?

Surprisingly enough, all of these matters are related, and I will now deal with energy and our future. Ontario has no coal deposits; day-by a-day-by-day, the necessary concentrations is unable, there is build and operate here. It is also understood that it is proposed to run a line from the mines of the wharf at the foot of Front Street. Many Talents Stay Hidden

Oshawa Times

Most people have hidden talents—talents that, if the owners were unable or did not bother to develop them. That is a conclusion reached by Dr. Wilder Penfield, internationally famous Canadian neuro-surgeon, in an article in Health magazine. He writes:

"I have long interested myself in the human brain and wondered at how clumsy we seem to be in making use of the potentialities of the mind. Each of the many unsuspected talents lie hidden, so to speak, in the brain. students drift away from study and genius sleeps, unchallenged."

This was the thought expressed by Mary in her "Elegy in Country Churchyard" when he wondered about the "mute inglorious" Millions lying forgotten in their final resting places. If Dr. Penfield's claim is true, and strongly disputed since Grey wrote his poem, Genius, it had been claimed, will always make itself known, since its possessor cannot help himself. Neither physical nor mental ills have prevented genius from flowering. Van Gogh and Beethoven from overwhelming genius. But back to Dr. Penfield.

He says the greatest opportunity for any government to serve its people is in discovering and giving leadership and honor it.

"The trend towards the close of life there is also some misconception of the capacity of the human brain, which has resulted in a social disease which might be called false senility. The proper preventative for this false senility, he suggests, is not to 'disengage' at the age of retirement, but to recognize that there is a time for "changing harness". It could be called "disengaging" from responsibility at a time when the physical load can be lightened and the mental challenge increased."

Only a thirty-day supply of it has been developed nearly all the celebrities we can think of have died, so how will our future energy demands be met? We look back sixty years to a world will need an amount of energy to equal all the energy that has been used in the last 2000 years.

How about Ontario? Let's talk of our sources of energy for the future. One thing is let's go back to see what energy is and how it all began. Let's first of all take a look around the universe.

THE PACKSACK

BY GREGORY CLARK

The word cheap is now very seldom in use. Once upon a time it had a simple and handy meaning. It comes from the old English word ceap, which meant a bargain, without any association with low quality. But in modern times, like so many good old-fashioned words, its meaning has been steadily debased and altered until it means something fairly close to the worst great. When we say an article or a man is cheap, it is about the most we can say in derogation.

The word we want nowadays is inexpensive.

A lady in a mink cape and the size of a female gran-tee, whatever that word is, came up beside me when I was choosing a necktie in the gents furnishings. She was looking at me as slickly as though I had not been there at all.

I was in search of some inexpensive neckties. I have a friend whose little girl works in civvies coming to my place on leave, and I want to give them some little gift.

The clerk showed her some at $2, and at $1.50, and some at $1, and finally under the counter got some at 79 cents.

They were not inexpensive. They were cheap.

I bought them. And do you know something? I bet they will look for any young Fuzzy Boys at all. I bet they were for her husband.

Poor girl.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

A sudden bush, almost reverent in its utter silence, fell over city and district somewhere at 12.15 Sunday afternoon. A Princess of the Royal Blood was speaking and thousands of ears and eyes were attuned to radio receiving sets as the Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth, spoke to the children of the Empire in her first address abroad.

The finely modulated tones of the Empire's Sweetheart came over the air in bell-like clarity. There was no hesitancy in her clear young voice, in her beautiful English with just a bare trace of her mother's faintly Scottish accent. Princess Elizabeth flashed warm greetings to the children of the Empire who have their homes in the New World. She brought a message of hope and optimism. "Britain's finest hour" is hers are full of cheerfulness - and courage." Her Royal Highness said, and urged children to remember that "courage always comes it will be far the children of today to make the world of tomorrow a better and happier place."

With her very simplicity and sincerity, England's Princess Elizabeth, unknowingly perhaps, forged a stronger link than ever before between the mother land and the Dominions.

Morris Callaghan, George Kidner and Frank Kelcher probably can lay claim to the record catch of "cusq" in a four-day period. Hearing the many stories that were emanating from Mandarin Bay regarding the many lunge being taken and their trophies, these three anglers decided to take a hand in the proceedings. Equipped with plenty of tackle they hurried Muscoke Bay, and at the end of four days had nine lunge in the creel, weighing from 11 to 30 pounds apiece.

Can the States Be Ignorant And Survive?

"It can't happen to me."

This is the secret thought that lurks in the hearts of many of us. It is scarcely a thought—more of a feeling we do not bring to consciousness. But it explains much of the wrong we do.

It explains why the criminal takes out insurance on his stolen car, why the motorist continues to speed while the car radio warns him of the presence of traffic; why the two-pack-a-day smoker keeps smoking as he reads the mounting evidence of lung cancer statistics.

"It can't happen to me."

This is the way a child thinks. A child believes at first that he is omnipotent — that everything he wants or needs will be given to him. Nothing is impossible to the infantile mind.

A child also thinks he is immortal. He cannot conceive of dying. Death is for other people, but he is the centre of a cosmos that would be destroyed if he should ever die.

Many, I am afraid, still live in a world of private fantasy. Emotionally they have not risen above the age of 4, although mentally they may be geniuses of science or famous men of finance or masters of the arts.

Catastrophes and disasters and personal tragedies — these are things we read about in the headlines. They cannot touch us; we are invulnerable, wrapped in the mist of our childish thinking.

It is always going to be someone else's picture in the paper, someone else's sad obituary.

"It can't happen to me."

And so, when the criminal is caught, it was a "freak" or a "fluke" that it happened, that it is after a smart and graceful next time. And when the speeder crashes into a telephone pole, it was the brakes or the steering wheel or the "blind eye—if he lives to speed again. And the smoker with a fatal report spreading on the X-ray film tries frantically to take out more insurance, but it is already too late.

What each of the nations grown fat and rich, with its barbecue pits and swimming pools, with its fabulous stockpiles of steel, its surplus of wheat.

Can it happen to us? Can we be going the way of Rome and Babylon? Can the statesmen protect us if we are ignorant of the military and economic ills that we are sickthis? Can the surpluses save us when the hungry and the fierce and the desperate decide to take them by force?

Can a country, like a child, wrap itself in a magic cloak?

HEART ATTACK VICTIMS FREQUENTLY RETURN TO THEIR JOBS

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is the difference between coronary occlusion and myocardial infarction? What is the treatment? If a person gets well sufficiently may he resume work if it is not strenuous?" — Mrs. C. G.

Coronary occlusion and myocardial infarction are different names for different parts of the same occurrence. Suppose you cut your wrist quite badly, and the wound bled copiously. The cut would be the wound; the bleeding would be a hemorrhage.

So well apply that same kind of terminology to your question. When an embolism of some sort shuts off the flow of blood through a branch of the coronary artery, which nourishes the heart muscle, that is a "coronary occlusion," or clogging of the coronary artery.

As a result, a portion of the heart muscle, for want of good blood and nourishment, dies. This is an "infarct," or "infarction."

The first and most important part of treatment is rest. The heart muscle, having been damaged, must be given as much rest as possible. It is not until it has time to repair some of the damage, and to open some other parts of the network of arteries to make up for the damaged sector.

Medication is sometimes used to inhibit clot formation. It is reasonable hope that if clots cannot develop, they cannot clog the artery again. In a sense, this is locking the barn after the horse is stolen — but in fact there are still other horses in the barn, white and black, and one is still carrying on its work.

After rest, diet is the best remedy. It is steadier in its performance, the essential responsibility of the physician is to keep the patient in count of recovery and knowing when it is safe for the patient to resume his activities.

There are no simple rules for this. The doctor must watch the circumstances the severity of the heart attack, the patient and his basic physical fitness, and other factors. Scores of doctors, large and small, work with all of up to giving the answer: How much is a life may? Some patients may lead?

Happily, three out of four, at least, will return to their accustomed work after recovering from a heart attack. Of those who may not mean that the strenuous duties of that work can be reduced. After all, there is a great difference in the amount of heavy strain imposed by different jobs. There is also a great deal of difference in the severity of heart attacks. We know that many of the severest of attacks are so slight that the victim does not realize they have occurred, until examination long afterward discloses them.

In view of this, I can't truly give an absolute answer to the question of whether a person can resume his work after a heart attack. It depends. But all things properly considered, the answer

Silence is a great Teacher. In Silence there is much thinking — which is wisdom — and creation. The talkative person rejects Silence. He thinks he is afraid of it. Business, Professional Women Of Ont. Hold Largest Ever Conference in Belleville

By SIMONE McFADDEN

Blessed with perfect Indian summer weather, Belleville played host this weekend to members of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Ontario holding their 19th annual Provincial Conference. It was the largest provincial conference ever held by the organization and civic heads also extended the opinion that it was the largest conference ever to be held in the city of Belleville.

Club Canara was filled to capacity on Saturday night when Mrs. Harry S. Quart, M.B.E., addressed the conference on "Increased Participation of Women at the United Nations". She was introduced by Mrs. Margaret Ashdown, Toronto, and appreciation was expressed by Miss Dorothy Milligan, Ottawa.

The Sunday luncheon speaker was Mrs. Jean Casselman, M.P., who was introduced by Mrs. Kes Callahan, Fort Frances. Appreciation was given by Mrs. Lowry Walsh, Sault Ste. Marie.

During the business sessions it was announced that Mrs. Dorothy Brown, Belleville, will be the chairman of the 1961 United Nations Seminar. Next year's provincial conference is to be held at the Royal Connaught Hotel in Hamilton.

Mrs. Maude Helmer, accepted, on behalf of the Picton Club, the membership trophy.

The two guest speakers, Mrs. H. S. Quart, M.B.E. and Mrs. Jean Casselman, M.P. gave most interesting and pertinent facts; the former on experiences of a United Nations delegate, and the effective political rights of women. The latter on women's personal resources and her position in the world today.

Mrs. H. S. Quart, M.B.E. began her talk by stating: "It is little wonder that your clubs are known in the East and West as a dynamic group of women who never stint of time and energy working for the betterment of society. The high regard in which your organization is held in Canada and abroad, at the United Nations, and particularly by the members of the U.N. Commission of the Status of Women must be most gratifying to you.

"And here may I ask you what an exciting experience it is to be a delegate to the United Nations or serve on a U.N. Commission where you can project yourself into new interests and wider horizons. You feel you are really part of the world about you; the close touch with peoples of other lands and cultures enriches you as a human being for no one can be unmoved by the marvelous opportunity of meeting and making friends with peoples of other nations.

"For all these sessions you rub shoulders with that great human family . . . with people from all parts of the world, who, despite the color of their skin, and their religious belief, are much like ourselves . . . People who cry when they are sad and laugh when they are happy. People who think and talk about and in pursuit of happiness. People who want peace and peace of mind. There when you scratch beneath the surface you will realize how alike people are wherever in the world we live. Never again will India, Pakistan, Malaya, Israel or Japan, or any of the countries, be just colored places on a map for me. Instead I shall see the faces of the delegates . . . and I shall hear their voices, especially those delegates from the Asian and African countries, pleading for better understanding and for a greater share of the world's food and wealth to help them improve their lot.

"The Status of Women Commission was established in 1946 by the United Nations to consider measures for removing discrimination of all kinds against women. Now, whereas the Commission deals particularly with the rights of women, its aim is to foster a real partnership between men and women, husband and wife. It recognizes the family as the natural group unit of society; it believes that the substantive status of the wife is not conductive to family unity and mutual respect; it believes the legal equality of husband and wife and the sharing of authority, perogatives and responsibilities involved in marriage is of benefit, not only to the status of women, but also to the family as an institution.

"In the business and professional world, partnerships on equal terms flourish, the partners do not perform identical functions, but they have equal status, and again, if women are forced to pay taxes and to obey laws, it is only just that they should be given a share in the making of them. The State, like the home, needs a woman's viewpoint and influence, in order to create a well balanced society.

"Of course, it is one thing to obtain basic political rights, and it is quite another thing to make those rights effective. Use of those rights once they have been granted. More legislation is not enough . . . what is needed afterwards is political education, to stimulate interest, and spread knowledge amongst all women and men, in order to eliminate as soon as humanly possible social and economic discrimination and inequality of the sexes in all civilized countries of the world.

A three weeks session of this commission is held yearly, usually at the United Nations Headquarters in New York or at Le Palais des Nations in Geneva. There was one Session held in Beirut in 1949 and this year the Commission met in Buenos Aires.

The 18 member states which constitute the membership of the commission are usually represented by women delegates although there are many men who act as legal advisers. Canada was elected to the commission for the first time in 1958, for a 3 year term, and I assure you, it was quite an important occasion for Canada, as well as for me, and I was deeply conscious of speaking and voting in the name of the government, on behalf of the women of Canada.

Mrs. Jean Casselman, M.P., stated that "I would like to have time to get to know you better individually. I assume that the great majority of you, here, obtain satisfaction from your jobs as I do. I'm glad if this is so, because I have the greatest respect for those who work hard in their chosen field. It worries me to think that any Canadian woman in this year 1960 has any hesitancy or timidity about stepping out into life on her own personal resources.

"Since we have long ceased to discriminate against women in any field of education it seems a natural, if not automatic, conclusion that this education should be put to use equally without discrimination. Personally I would like to go on record as saying that I have never felt any disadvantage whatsoever in being a woman.

I believe in this country we have done very well in organizing ourselves into groups with common interests. I would agree that this would continue and that various businesses and professions are willing and able to solve many of their own problems amongst themselves. Of course with freedom of audience to government at all levels but not to be controlled by them. As soon as we, as individuals or groups, shirk the responsibility, we also shift the control, for those who do not think for themselves lose their personal power and the whole strength of our democratic system is personal power of each citizen based on respect for each citizen.

"We in this country, I feel, have been somewhat spoiled by the freedom we have inherited from those who worked hard to obtain it for us, not only physically and mentally, but sometimes to the extent of giving up their lives in fighting for it.

I would hate to think that we would ever reach a stage where we would be told how many square feet per person we could have for living space, whether or not we could travel from one town to another, from one part of our own country to another, and whether or not we could visit other countries and change our place of living.

"This is by government choice so that the state can head the world in military preparedness and scientific research.

"I think if we heed the warning, we are very likely to see more clearly before us the advantages of our free way of living. It has been said, and I heartily believe, that Canadians are the luckiest people in the world and we will remain lucky if we have a real, alive faith in our system of Government based on individual effort and responsibility. I am absolutely sure that demands and obligation that we must recognize in our society, and, in many instances, be considered a stimulating pleasure because of this precious freedom which allows us to contribute to our society in the manner best suited to each of us personally. It seems to me that there is no comparison to be considered between this and a society in which the individual is controlled and treated as a machine.

"I believe the greatest protection for the strength of any country is in education. This is particularly true of the democratic countries where individuals decide for themselves what they wish to work at or what they do with their leisure time and where the doors, opened by education in all directions, can be most enjoyed. It seems to me that if we placed more recognition on education that we would thereby produce new ideas for the establishment of industries and developments which would keep control of Canada by Canadians.

HIGH EDUCATION NECESSARY

"If a country is to be judged by its people, and in the final analysis this is the most powerful element, then we must indeed educate each person highly if we expect our comparatively small country of about 18 million to compete in any world affairs.

"With our world becoming smaller and smaller it is obvious that we must improve knowledge of many things, geography, history and languages, to deal with other countries. Canada is rapidly facing new and heavy responsibilities in the diplomatic circles of the world. Our producers in all fields are finding that they must go further and further afield to sell their products. It is likely that demands will increase on the next generation rather than decrease. We must develop the most precious of all our resources, our children particularly, but our people of all ages.

"The world we contemplate today is fast moving, daily changing, so the world we create in our most important responsibility, an equal responsibility to men and women of Canada."

Remarks People on Diet Get Tired of Hearing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks people on a diet get tired of hearing:

"Haven't you been putting on a little weight lately?"

"Hi, fatty."

"... And then you pour in half a cup of sugar, add the whipped cream and ..."

"Actually, in your case, it's probably not so much fat as it is a matter of posture. Why don't you just try pulling in your stomach? You say it already is pulled in? Oh!!!"

"Goodness, how I envy you No. I really mean it. I eat ... and eat ... and eat ... and never gain an ounce."

TRY YOGA

"My cousin goes to a Hindu mystic who tells him that losing weight is simple—if you just tune your mind to the infinite. Then you forget all about hunger pangs."

"You mean that's all the calories you've allowed for a whole day? Why, in the old days you used to refill more than that on your necktie during lunch."

"Have you tried the lemon juice and aspirin diet? I hear it works wonders—and you can eat all the aspirin you want."

"Have another carrot. Oh, go on, take two."

"So what if you are a little overweight? I had an uncle who weighed 298 pounds and he lived to be 90. Of course, he was bedfast the last 25 years, but on the other hand ..."

JUST A SHADOW

"Poor skinny me! I have to stand twice in the same place to make a shadow."

"He doesn't read the articles in the magazines any more. He just looks at the food ads."

"I know you must be sick and tired of cucumbers. Why don't you try for a little more variety? How about a nice radish, for example?"

"Have you heard about the new all-protein diet?"

"Have you heard about the new all-carbohydrate diet?"

"Have you heard about the new all-vitamin diet?"

"Pass me the gravy, please. Say, boy, aren't these mashed potatoes out of this world?".

Parents Must Undertake Religious Education Past Pre-School Level, Advice

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Rev. Hubert M. Pocock of Regina Mundi parish in Hamilton Saturday urged a practical parish family life program which would aim at restoring a sense of Christian charity towards the problems of other families.

He told the Roman Catholic social life conference here that the traditional structure of parish family organizations which separate men, women, boys and girls had not realized its objective.

Parents must undertake religious education past the pre-school level, he said, for instruction was the responsibility of the parents.

"A wide-spread fallacy exists among Catholic parents that a school is totally responsible for a child's physical, intellectual, social, moral and religious education."

More than 300 English-speaking delegates from Ontario and Quebec are attending the conference which theme is The Christian Family Apostolate.

TRAINING WRONG

During a discussion of husband - wife relationship, William A. Dyson of Hull, Que., warned delegates that the role of men and women as husbands and wives is being jeopardized by an education system which trains "all the boys and girls to the role of men."

"Is it therefore any wonder that husband and wife enter marriage confused about what it is to be husband or wife and spend a lifetime in tension and conflict because of this false orientation we all receive?" he said.

Rev. John T. Shea of Sudbury, the big attraction, is started to tell my father how I was picking on me. Whatever I did, somebody gets mad.

I tried to do a trick and make my mother laugh and I broke a lamp and made her yell. I brought my turtle to school and she cared! Bobby Green had a snake in a big box and that was tell on the chorus once in a while and even there I'm telling —a solo outing with his father, a "secret" whispered in his ear by his big brother, the triumph of winning a checker game from his mother. How important he'll feel out for dinner in a restaurant, just once, alone with his parents!

In other words, Billy can be weaned into joining the family team instead of heckling it from the outside. When he is assured that he is important in his inher circle, he can venture forth among his contemporaries and work off the high spirits which he now used so troublesomely for a primitive sort of recognition.

Baby Sue

by Mary Moore

My first morning alone with little Sue so far is going just fine, a little to my surprise.

Mailon Airport loses its charm when it is departure time for my loved ones. Arrivals are much better.

I cannot get over my wonder at the speed of the jets. Marianne left at 10:40 p.m. (3:40 a.m. London Time) by TCA Douglas DCA jet and was scheduled to arrive at 8:15 a.m. this morning. According to my figuring, if all went well, that West-East flight took 5 hours and 35 minutes, and she would be in Camberley by noon. I hope she is.

She put Sue to bed, kissed her softly, then did a disgusted wailing just before she left. Now it is my turn to wrestle!

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

MONDAY

Savory Boiled Veal Tongues or Ox Tongue; Mustard Sauce; Buttered Noodles; Cauliflower with Chopped Parsley; Tossed Vegetable Salad; Gravenstein Apple Pie with Cheddar Cheese; Tea.

These days I certainly am in tune with you young (or maybe old) mothers with toddlers. For instance I bought plenty of canned baby meats at two for 45c. When one of them was warmed and in her dish on the high chair, I foolishly bent down to pick up her shoe. At that instant she tipped the whole business over my fresh hair do. Another time I gave her a chicken supper and she pushed it around—but would not eat it. I hate this waste — we have no dog! But I'm dog tired and doggedly determined to nourish the child. Cottage cheese and apricot puree she loves. With her eight teeth she chomped on a piece of chicken breast and a piece of veal tongue I offered her so maybe she will thrive on more advanced food. If anyone has suggestions they will be welcomed by this grandma hovering over an infant.

Eleanor and Bruce made a discovery this past weekend. Red brand standing rib roasts were on special sale at 89c per pound. Their boys very much prefer steaks to roast beef. So Bruce asked the butcher to cut the roast he selected into four thick steaks. The quality of the beef was so good these broiled lovely and tender. This is quite a difference in price from regular sirloin steaks at 89c and 99c per pound.

I served a Yorkshire Pudding with a roast leg of lamb this weekend.

YORKSHIRE PUDDING

Absent - mindedly I put the lamb in to roast on the broiler pan with rack (at 300 deg. Fahr. for 3 hours). When it came time to bake the Yorkshire Pudding I was confronted with this big shallow pan. Undaunted, I raised the temperature to 500 deg., lifted out the roast, tipped out the excess fat and slowly poured the Yorkshire Pudding batter in, then gingerly transferred it to the bottom rack in the oven. In 15 minutes it was immensely puffed and golden—and had that crisp "top and bottom" quality made famous by J. B. Priestley. Next time you make a Yorkshire Pudding, try this shallow pan method made from this recipe: To serve 5, beat 2 eggs, then beat in 1 cup unsifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder and 1-3 teaspoon salt. Add 3 cups milk and beat until smooth. Let stand about 2 hours before baking at 500 deg. Fahr. The lamb gravy on it was almost as good as beef gravy would have been. She didn't. I give Sue a taste?

WAS PRE-TALKIES STAR

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Clara Kimball Young, former silent screen star, died at the Motion Picture Country Home and Hospital Saturday. She was 69. Last March she underwent surgery for a chronic bronchial condition. She starred in The Little Minister, The White Slave, and other movies.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each week they discuss a case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. K. G. — One middle son is a problem child.

Billy G. — Tommy's smart, Jimmy's cute, I'm just bad.

Mrs. K. G. — We have three fine boys. Tom is 14, Billy 10 and Jimmy seven. Tom and Jimmy never give me a minute of trouble. They play nicely either alone or together.

But Billy! He makes up for the other two. Let Jimmy spend an hour setting up his trains and Billy swoops into the room and kicks them into the four corners. When Tom's on the phone talking to a friend, Billy will start shooting his cap pistol like mad.

I'm called to school several times a month because Billy forged my name on the homework paper he was supposed to show me. He shot ink out of a water pistol I didn't even know he had. His latest trick is bound is to fall down and yell, "I'm paralyzed". He yells and yells until I rub his leg and help 'im up.

Billy G. — hate my life. At home I have no one to play with. In school they're always picking on me. Whatever I do, somebody gets mad.

I tried to do a trick and make my mother laugh and I broke a lamp and made her yell. I brought my turtle to school and she cared! Bobby Green had a snake in a big box and that was the big attraction. I started to tell my father how I was picking on me. Whatever I did, somebody gets mad.

Thanksgiving Thanks-Living Topic at W.M.S.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Women's Missionary Society met in the Sunday school hall last Tuesday evening for the Thank-Offering meeting. Twenty-five members of the CGIT group were guests and took part in the devotional part of the meeting.

Mrs. Parsons presided at the opening of the meeting, welcoming the visitors. Following the business meeting Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Kennedy of the Evening Auxiliary led in the worship service of Thanksgiving.

Mrs. C. Sarager reported on two large bales sent to the Oscilla Jeffrey Indian school at Kenora, also on a cheque sent to the supply secretary.

The offering at this time was taken by Miss Lillian Vincent and Miss Sandra Helm of the CGIT.

Miss Reta Vincent favored with a beautiful solo, "An Evening Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Egerton Boyce.

Mrs. T. F. Townsend, guest speaker, was introduced by Mrs. Darvell. "Thanksgiving Plans Thanks-Living" was her topic.

Her most interesting address followed with "Every day should be a day of thanksgiving—not just the day of the year. We have so many things for which to be thankful if we only look for them."

Mrs. R. D. MacLean tendered thanks to Mrs. Townsend for a most inspiring address.

Mrs. J. Darvell and her group served lunch.

QUESTION & ANSWER

Question: I have two daughters. One is fourteen, the other seventeen. The older one is nature enough to have dates with boys that have cars. I do not think the younger one has reached that point yet. However, she is so upset and carries on so that I am allowing her to go out on car dates. Am I wrong in this approach?—Mrs. J. F. R., Toledo, Ohio.

Answer: In my opinion, you are wrong. She is young and inexperienced to date boys without a chaperon, and allowing her to go on "car dates" is only courting trouble. You will never forgive yourself for giving in to her tantrums, if something unpleasant, or worse, happens at her parties. You owe the child protection. Whether or not she carries on, it seems to me that a firm and definite "No!" is needed here. It's hard to believe now, I know, but I would be willing to wager that she will thank you when she is older and has more understanding.

Springfield Indians were handed their second defeat of the young season, but padded their lead a bit in the American Hockey League after weekend play that gave the rest of the standings a fast shuffle.

The Indians split two games with the last-place Providence Reds, winning 6-3 Saturday but losing 6-4 Sunday night. Second-place Rochester Americans lost 4-2 to Cleveland Barons Saturday and won 5-3 Sunday night. Buffalo Bisons took two games from Hershey Bears, 3-2 Saturday and 6-1 Sunday night.

Quebec Aces, in a three-way tie for third place, didn't see any action during the weekend.

SIX RED MARKSMEN

Bob Beckett, Paul Larivee Stan Baluik, Eddie Panagabko, Ed MacQueen and George Ratiferi were the Providence marksmen Sunday night. Floyd Smith scored twice for Springfield, Anderson and Pichiny got singles.

The Barons' rookie Wayne Larkin scored after only 10 seconds of play Saturday. Rochester tied the score at 12:45 of the opening period on a goal by Hank Ciesla.

The Barons took the lead again on Eddie Mazur's second-period goal and tied the victory in the final period with goals by roomie Bill Sutherland and Bill Dineen. Rochester's second win was scored by Guy Rousseau.

Bill Saunders' two second-period goals while the Barons were shorthanded led the Americans to victory in the return game.

Stan Smrke, Pat Hannigan and Rousseau each scored once for Cleveland, Mazur and Coach Fred Glover tallied for the Barons.

Doug Barkley and Dick Gamble gave the Bisons a 2-0 lead in the first period Saturday, Gamble scored again in the second period. Pete Conacher scored for the Bears late in the second period and Jack McIntyre added another with six seconds left in the game.

Six different Bisons scored Sunday night after Warren Myers pulled on Hershey's first shot on goal in the opening period. Gamble, Bob Courcy, Ron Ingram, Chico Maki, Phil Maloney and Wayne Hicks were the Buffalo snipers.

The club won its fourth consecutive game by trouncing Sudbury Wolves 9-1 at Hull, Que., taking the league leadership with eight points.

ONE-SIDED GAMES

Kitchener - Waterloo Beavers, who up to now looked like the league's strongmen, lost 5-1 to Kingston Saturday and 4-1 to the Thunderbirds Sunday.

The Beavers are one point behind the Canadiens.

Montreal Royals now share third spot with Kingston Frontenacs, the Wolves are fourth and the Thunderbirds last.

The Royals and Kingston battled to a 4-4 tie in Montreal Sunday. The game was played in the new Paul Sauve Arena and was the first home game played by the Royals outside the Montreal Forum since the club was formed 30 years ago.

Every minute of every day someone, somewhere, buys a Falcon

It's a honey!

Ever asked a Falcon owner how he feels about his car? No question about it, he'll tell you—it's great!

Just have a look inside, he'll say. Ever seen so much room in a car built for economy? Six adults can ride in honest comfort, with plenty of relaxing stretch-out room for long legs. Doors open to almost four feet wide to let you get in and out easily. Even the trunk is roomy—23 big cubic feet for sample cases, or family luggage and fishing gear.

Performance? Falcon delivers smooth, lively power, and plenty of it—in traffic or on the open highway. This year there's a choice of engines—the standard Falcon Six or the brand-new 101 horsepower Special Six, for those who want more zip. You get up to 35 miles to a gallon of regular gas . . . up to 4,000 miles between oil changes . . . and dozens of other economy features all adding up to big savings in the long run.

Why not chat with a Falcon owner yourself and find out first hand why this car is so popular. Then see your nearby Ford-Monarch-Falcon Dealer.

INFORMATION

ABOUT THE

BELLEVILLE UNITED APPEAL

WHAT IS IT?

1. It is a citizens' organization — the officials are elected each year at a public meeting — no one in the organization receives pay — the only exception being for part time clerical and stenographic work in the office.

2. Benevolent, philanthropic and organizations dedicated to building character and citizenship in our youth operating in Belleville are eligible to be participating agencies.

3. Eleven, such agencies have asked the United Appeal to conduct one single campaign to raise the funds; needed to carry out their work in 1961.

WHAT ARE THE OBJECTIVES AND ADVANTAGES OF A UNITED APPEAL?

1. To reduce the inconvenience to citizens in being subjected to a large number of appeals for fund and combine as many as possible, campaigns into one Appeal.

2. Reduce the cost of raising funds—one united campaign costs less than eleven separate ones.

3. To ensure that the amount asked for by each agency has been examined by an independent body and has been approved as proper and reasonable and your charity donation will therefore be shared among the various agencies on the basis of proven need.

4. To raise an adequate amount of money to enable the agencies to maintain at least minimum services.

5. To eliminate tag days which participating agencies might otherwise resort to in addition to other campaigns for funds.

WHY YOU SHOULD SUPPORT THE UNITED APPEAL

1. Because the work done by the agencies is either a work of mercy or a work which makes our city a better place to live, and builds good citizenship in our young people.

2. Because if you do not — the United Effort will fail and each agency will be forced to resort to separate drives for funds, with all the accompanying chaos and inconvenience to canvassed and canvasser alike — costs will be more, less will be collected — needy people will suffer.

HOW CAN SUFFICIENT FUNDS BE COLLECTED?

1. By everyone making a donation.

2. By everyone who can — taking advantage of subscribing by instalments over the year: either

(a) by pay roll giving or

(b) by using the pledge card provided by the canvasser to pay monthly, or quarterly over the year.

3. By everyone keeping in mind that eleven agencies are involved and that only one appeal is made to the public each year.

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Like the late Will Rogers used to drawl, "All I know is what I see in the papers." Football-wise all we know generally is the scores, and sometimes shake the leather-boards from the mezzanine and safari Toronto or Ottawa way to see a game.

But the between-game activities must be left, perchance, to the metropolitan gazettes and the experts who toil for them along the football trails.

By this method we were informed Saturday that "Tobin Rote (of the Toronto Argonauts) and his galaxy of receivers is the sweetest offence this side of Winnipeg — the 1960 Argonaut attack is the mightiest, the most explosive, dangerous and versatile ever fielded in Canada."

This, as you may have guessed, was written by a football writer who toils in the canyons of Toronto, and who, as you also might have guessed, can be tabbed as leaning slightly toward his home town side.

Now you cannot blame a fellow for that. It is only human nature. Why even us corn-feds have a habit of rooting for the hometers and occasionally venturing an opinion as to what team will win the world series. Personal record; two won—six lost. And not ashamed of it.

We know that the Argos defeated the Rough Riders yesterday but not by the "mightiest, most explosive attack in Canada." There was a guy named Halfback Injury who must be given an assist.

But what puzzles us is what expert to believe and when.

In another column of the sports page of the above-mentioned writer's newspaper was this: "The rolling Mess (Montreal) still held in esteem by his employers but regarded as something else again by his athletes, makes his head ache at a playoff today (Saturday). Nobody gives him or the Alouettes a chance inasmuch as his defence has surrendered 163 points while the Ti-Cats on the surge—and everybody beware—have yielded but 59. So you wanna bet on the Alouettes."

The score: Alouettes 43; Hamilton Tiger-Cats 31.

It must be that ole Pirate blood in me, but "I still believe that Ril ole upstart team from Ottawa will sour the "sweetest offence" in Canada." And while you're pondering over that one make sure that Lark team from Montreal which "nobody gives a chance" doesn't sneak in and upset the bull kit and kaboodle.

Speaking of that, down Hamilton way a clutch of husky-beefed Bengals crawled into their lair after being clawed, pocked and tail-twisted by an inspired flock of "discard-riddled" Larks.

Jim Trimble's "New Look" Tigers were met and beaten at their own game by a viciously-charging Alouettes squad paced by the superb performance of Hal Patterson and Sam "The Rifle" Etcheverry.

The Alouettes backed their fine offensive play with superb defensive work, intercepting five Hamilton passes to take the claws from the Tiger attack and send the red blood coursing over the faces of the experts.

Near-faultless quarterbacking on the part of Etcheverry was one of the outstanding features of the game as we saw it on the wide-eyed living room monster. Sam tossed five touchdown passes and field-generalled the Lark attack perfectly. And when you're handing out the kudos don't forget George Dixon who upped his scoring total to 102 points, at one time crawling over for the TD.

'Twas a great day for Montreal fans. The resurgence of their favorite Larks on the gridiron was an appetizer for those who followed the fortunes of the world-champion Canadiens in the Forum on Saturday night.

The Habs miss the Rocket all right but after watching Saturday's performance against the New York Rangers you can tab it as pure sentiment. A young man named Hickey, who is filling the mighty skates of Richard did very well, thank you.

On the whole the Habs astonished some devastating power, especially during the latter part of the game and to the TV observer (a colorful fracas appeared to be stronger than the club which won the honors last year. Dickie Moore and Boom-Boom Geoffrion were blasting their jet-shots at every opportunity, each contending for a trio of goals. The Hab defence looks nothing, except they miss Plante occasionally when he starts wandering around his end of the rink. One of his safaris proved costly Saturday and all the Rangers' Andy Bathgate had to do was poke the puck into the yawning net.

The limb? Ah, 'tis the same sad story. Me heart's with the Black Hawks, but me money's on the Habs' Sure, the Wings beat 'em Sunday, but as our Mr. A. said about the Yankees, "You can't win 'em all."

Ottawa Loses Stewart Early

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

On the first play of the afternoon, Lou Agasi's touchdown-hungry Toronto Argonauts matched a pass from the arm of an Ottawa receiver and marched to the Ottawa Rough Riders' eight-yard line.

The Argos were stopped there but the pattern was set for Sunday's top-of-the-league battle, in which Toronto delivered a crushing 37-13 blow to the Riders' Big Four championship hopes.

A record league crowd of 32,503 at Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition Stadium saw their hometown team put on their finest defensive effort this season.

TWO-POINT LEAD

The victory left Argos with 18 points, two ahead of Ottawa Rough Riders, minus record-rushing halfback Ron Stewart for half the game, get a chance to avenge Sunday's loss next Saturday. If they don't, Argos seem assured of staying on top of the quartet.

In Montreal Saturday, the Alouettes caught an over-confident Hamilton Tiger-Cat machine off-guard and rent it limping back to the cellar with a 43-31 victory.

Ale, smarting under a lopsided lashing from coach Perry Moss, outscored Hamilton in all but the second quarter.

The Toronto game, ended with a flurry of fist-fighting and shoving that nearly broke into a free-for-all.

The Argo attack was fired by quarterback Tobin Rote's three touchdown passes and capped by a 29-yard charge into paydirt by Cookie Gilchrist.

IMPRESSIVE TOTAL

Rote's scoring passes, two to Dave Mann and one to Dick Shatto, brought his season 'total to 31.

Shatto got one other touchdown on a ground play from four yards out. Gilchrist converted all five touchdowns and scored two single points.

Toronto's 16-0 halftime lead was cut to 16-7 in the third quarter when Ottawa's Gary Schreider intercepted a Rote pass and returned it for a touchdown. Schreider converted. In the fourth, George Brancato got the Riders' other score on a eight-yard pass into the end zone from Don Lancaster.

Argos exploded in the fourth with Gilchrist's run, Mann's touchdown and Shatto's second. Shatto went all the way on a 61-yard punt-return play.

Argos made five interceptions. Halfback Dave Thelen was the top Ottawa ground gainer, rushing for 134 yards in 26 carries.

EXCHANGE PUNCHES

Seconds after the final play, Argo's Ron Brewer and Joe Kelly of the Riders tangled. Tackle Angelo Mosca, thrown out for punching minutes earlier, raced into the field seeking Gilchrist. Players and fans milled about, some trading punches, but no damage was done.

Hamilton kicked off as favorites and seemed to justify the role as they marched down the field three times in the first quarter. An interception, a fumble and a mile-wide field goal attempt robbed them of scores.

Just before the quarter ended, Sam Etcheverry started a passing sequence that put Veryl Switzer across the goalline for the first of his two touchdowns. George Dixon also got two for Als, Don Clark and Hal Patterson one apiece, Etcheverry kicked a single and Bill Bewley added six converts.

Hamilton touchdowns went to Ron Howard, Tommy Grant and Paul Dekker, all on passes. Gerry McDougall converted all three.

Montreal scored its second touchdown early in the second quarter, the team's swapped scores with halftime had Ben Etcheverry hit Switzer for a 19-yard pass-and-run into the Hamilton goal area, Switzer then carried it over the line.

Clark crossed in the fourth quarter after seven ground plays had moved the ball to the Hamilton three. Als' final score came when Dixon rambled after an 11-yard pass to Switzer and a long shot through the porous Ticat pass defence to Dixon.

Teepees Tie With Royals

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — St. Catharines Teepees, defending Memorial Cup champions, and Guelph Royals played to a 6-6 draw here Saturday night in a Junior A exhibition game.

Guelph won a Friday night encounter 4-2 on home ice.

The Teeps led 2-1 at the end of the first period and 4-3 at the close of the second.

A goal by sophomore Murray Hall and 12 minutes remaining to play salvaged the draw for the Teepees.

After a major brawl in Guelph the previous night, referee Jack Cleary (Stanley) Cleary) got the issued 26 minutes in penalties to the Teepees, 32 to the Royals.

These included majors to Larry Cahan of the Teepees and Oscar Allan of the Royals for fighting in the second period and to Reg Whaley of Guelph and Doug Robinson of St. Catharines for a brief wrestling match in the third.

Rod Gilbert, runner-up to Chico Maki of the Teepees for the OHA Junior A scoring championship last season, paced the Royals with two goals while singles went to Jean Ratelle, Paul Ades, Bill Taylor and Bob Cunningham.

Murray Hall scored twice for St. Catharines, Dave Pallett, Ray Cullen, John Brenneman and Bill Iveа once each.

Billy Colvin Signs With McFarlands

The on - again - off - again status of Billy Colvin, aired almost daily by the Kingston Frontenacs has been settled.

Coach Gordie Bell of the McFarlands announced today that the high - scoring centre has been signed to a Belleville contract.

Also inking McFarland contracts over the weekend are Bob Senior, goalie and forward Mike Backschedi, both ex - Kingston players.

This brings the total number of signed players to eight, six of whom come under the junior "A" ruling.

On the dotted line to date are, besides the above mentioned trio, Jean Paul Lamirande, Lionel Boily, Davy Janes, Eddie Marineau and "Wiener" Brown.

Bukaschedi and Colvin are not eligible for the senior "A" quota.

The McFarlands will practise in Memorial Arena tonight starting seven o'clock. Heavy practice grinds will be held all week up to opening date next Friday when the Mats lift the schedule curtain against the Whitby Merchants.

Sandy Air has rounded up seven of the cream of the former Drakops which will be bolstered by high-ranking players from intermediate and junior "A" ranks.

The Mats play the second game of the schedule in Whitby Saturday night.

Players Quit

No Hockey For St. Tom.

ST. THOMAS (CP)—The curtain fell on senior Ontario Hockey Association hockey in St. Thomas this weekend when players of last year's St. Thomas Barons refused to play for a new entry, which would have been sponsored by Lyell Mercer of London, Ont.

A proposed meeting Sunday between the players, Mercer and Jack Oakes of Strathroy, an OHA executive member, was cancelled. Stan Long, who was signed to coach Mercer's entry and had been in touch with the Royals, told Oakes the players would not attend the meeting unless they received more concessions than last year.

The Royals players received 35 per cent of club profits last season but were asking for a larger percentage for the coming year.

An OHA subcommittee decided Wednesday night in Toronto that all players registered with the Royals last season would be the property of Mercer's club.

"The Royals executive have called hockey for the people in St. Thomas," said St. Thomas area manager Harry MacLeod. "I'm sorry for Mercer but we've done all we could to keep senior hockey here."

Mercer held one practice two weeks ago, and only two players of senior calibre turned out. Mercer's entry was to start in the western division of the senior OHA next Saturday against the Rockets in Strathroy.

Strathroy, Woodstock, Stratford, Chatham and Windsor are the newly - formed senior league.

Standing Deadlocked

Mustangs Upset Gaels; Blues Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Victories by McGill Redmen and University of Western Ontario Mustangs Saturday left standings in the Senior Intercollegiate Football League solidly deadlocked.

Mustangs upset powerful Queen's Golden Gaels 21-10 at London to move into a first place tie with Queen's—each team has four points.

Redmen, taking advantage of every opportunity, eked out a 5-4 win over University of Toronto Blues at Toronto to gain a second spot tie. Each team now has won a game and dropped two.

Despite a steady drizzle quarterback Ken Ryzalski welded the Mustang squad into a formidable unit. He completed four of 11 passes and had one intercepted. Mustangs picked up 287 yards rushing compared with 125 yards gained along the ground by Gaels.

TOUCHDOWN MARCH

In the final minutes of the game Ryzalski kept 7,000 homecoming fans on their feet as he stepped Queen's on his own two yard line, then led Western on a 106-yard march and climaxed it with a touchdown.

Other Mustang touchdowns were scored by fullback Larry Ouellette and flay Wood. John Nash converted all Western touchdowns.

Gaels took a first-quarter lead when Robin Ritchie scored with a 24-yard field goal followed by Dave Skene's touchdown. Gaels' pivot Cal Connor completed 11 of 21 passes and had one intercepted in the last two minutes but couldn't crash the Redmen wall on three running plays.

Wings Hand Canadiens First Defeat

By LAURENT CHAMBON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Chicago Black Hawks are off to one of their finest starts ever in the National Hockey League—unbeaten in five games with nine out of a possible 10 points.

It's a far cry from last season when the Black Hawks flopped badly at the beginning, winning only one and tying another in their first 13 games. They came back strong and finished third, but 21 points behind front-running Montreal Canadiens.

If anybody is to dislodge Montreal from first place this season the Hawks would have to be rated as the club most likely to do it, though no team from Chicago has ever finished higher than second place in the NHL.

The Hawks played only one weekend game, beating Boston Bruins 5-3 Sunday night. The win left them in second place, one point behind Montreal but with two games in hand.

SCORING RAMPAGE

Montreal's big guns went on a scoring rampage Saturday in an 8-6 triumph over New York Rangers but Canadiens lost their first game of the season Sunday, 5-4 to Detroit Red Wings.

In other weekend games, Toronto Maple Leafs scored their first victory—7-3 over New York —and were held to a 1-1 tie by Boston Saturday.

Bobby Hull, Eddie Litzenberger, Ted Lindsay, Ken Wharram and Ab McDonald split Chicago's scoring while Hull turned back 25 shots.

Two members of the Ukes line—Vic Stasiuk and Johnny Wilson—scored for Boston.

Rookie goalie Don Simmons was cut under the eye by a shot by Eric Nesterenko with less than 30 seconds left in the game. He left the ice bleeding heavily and forward Jerry Toppazzini re-

Raiders Grab First Place

SARNIA (CP)—The Detroit-Port Huron Raiders clinched first place in the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union and ended the defending champion Sarnia Golden Bears front-placed connection here Saturday night. The Raiders won 30-30 before 1,500 fans to garner 12½ points for the season. London Lords and Bears close out play in the circuit in London next Saturday and the best the Lords can do with a win is pick up 12 points. The Bears have only six. London and the Raiders will meet in a home-and-home points-to-count final.

Parker Tops West Scorers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Lineman Doug Brown is trying to prove that the scoring race can be won without touchdowns as he booted 10 points for Calgary Stampeders' 36-27 beating of Edmonton Eskimos in one of two games played Saturday night in the Western Intercollegiate Football Union.

Brown now is one ahead of Eskimos' Johnny Bright, holder of 76 non - kicked points, and trails Wilf Fleming of B.C. with 14 touchdowns. Fleming and Bombers' Gerry James are tied —11 points behind leader Jackie Parker of Elks.

CASPER WINS

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)— Bill Casper Jr. scored his third straight tournament victory Sunday by shooting a two-under-par 68 in the final round of the $50,000 Orange County open. The 28-year-old California golfer survived a challenge by Charlie Sifford of Los Angles and won the $2,000 first prize by a stroke.

More Movie Companies Shift Production to Other Countries

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)

Twinkle twinkle, movie star, Why do you live so afar?

Hollywood is nice for sun. But taxes there are not much fun.

That theme might be applied to a situation that is causing concern and controversy in the film world. More and more movie production by American companies is shifting to foreign countries. Hollywood labor has raised an outcry, but the effort is largely futile.

Take a look at the production schedule for major film companies last week. Of 34 films shooting, 13 were out of the country. Only three were being made entirely in Hollywood.

UNIONS FIGHT BACK

The movie unions have been hard hit by the move of production overseas. They have tried to fight back with resolutions and threats of action. The Cameraman's Union has decried the stars who establish residence overseas for a tax advantage.

Principal target has been William Holden, a member of the growing film colony of Switzerland. The cameramen have threatened to picket his films made abroad.

Holden has replied that he lives in Switzerland for a central location to his world - wide film work and business enterprises.

"I'm not trying to beat taxes."

"RUNAWAY STAR"

The cameramen also have dubbed Ava Gardner a "runaway star." Union members recently picketed the showing of a Gardner film here. The action was called off when it developed there were more pickets than patrons.

Herb Aller, business agent of the 1,000 - member union, explained why cameramen are militant: "We're the only studio union that can't get work in other industries or other cities. Movies are the only work we can do."

Big Four Point Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cookie Gilchrist, brilliant two-way player with Toronto Argonauts, took over second place in the Big Four football scoring race Sunday as Argonauts whipped Ottawa Rough Riders 37-23.

Gilchrist, who scored 13 points on a touchdown, five converts and two singles, now has 86 points, 14 behind George Dixon of Montreal Alouettes who heads the parade with 100. Dixon two touchdowns Saturday as the Als beat Hamilton 43-21.

Fans Fete Yankee Star

SUMTER, S. C. (AP)— Bobby Richardson, a New York Yankee hero of the world series, says "I'd much rather play baseball before 19,000 people" than face the several hundred hometown folks who welcomed him back Sunday.

"I don't think I'm bold, I'm just nervous," said the perspiring second baseman after the ceremony.

A banner across the street in this city of 25,000 proclaimed "Welcome Home Bobby 'Grand Slam' Richardson" in tribute to his bases-clearing home run in the series against Pittsburgh Pirates.

Goyer Scores For Cougars

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Portland Buckaroos open their 1960-61 Western Hockey League season tonight at Winnipeg against the Warriors. It will be the first time in nine years a Portland team has played a regular WHL game.

Portland Eagles were one of the original members of the Pacific Coast League, later changed to the WHL, in 1948-49. After three mediocre seasons, Portland withdrew from the league in 1951.

A victory over Portland tonight would give Winnipeg a share of first place. Vancouver Canucks and Edmonton Flyers now are tied for top spot.

Canucks made it two wins in two days starts by edging Spokane Comets 4-3 Saturday night. Seattle Totems used a pair of goals by Marc Bolleau to beat visiting Victoria Cougars 3-2 Sunday night.

Scoring for Vancouver were Murray Duke, Murray Wilkie, defenceman Frank Roggeveen and Eddie Chiles Baker. Lorne Kilburn, Earl Johnson and Max Mettlick scored for the losers.

Bolleau scored the winner at 12:40 of last goals while Tom McVie connected on a first-period power play. Gerry Goyer and veteran Doug Anderson scored for Victoria.

New Models of Cars Taken To Public by Television

NEW YORK (AP)—CBS, with the cooperation of the Detroit automobile manufacturers, had the bright idea of taking the new model cars to the public by television Sunday night.

It was, in many ways, an improvement over the old system of inviting the public into a hire hall to see the new models: No parking problems involving the public's old cars; no weary feet; no sales pitches.

All the cars looked beautiful; shiny and full viewed what hasn't been able to identify any make of car since they changed the shape of the packard radiator —very much alike.

Renee Taylor, a bright new face among the ranks of announcements, shines much more brightly on Jack Paar's late evening show than she did in a bit on the Perry Como show . . .

NBC, in exchange for $1,000,000 has rights for the annual Emmy awards telecast for the next five years . . . Dr. Frank Stanton, president of CBS, has joined the longlisting list of TV types dipping into book-writing. His, however, will not be an autobiography or joke book, but a study of Broadcast Journalism.

Jack Bailey, MC of the daytime Queen for a Day show, will be (a real) Thursday on NBC's Ernie Ford show. Jack, an all-around entertainer with wide experience in show business, never made the NBC's night-time variety shows when Queed was in his lineup. But now that it's moved to ABC, he has made the grade.

Steven Allen will take on another dramatic role — this time playing a serious role of a psychiatrist in the Oct. 27 June Allyson show. . .

Astrological Forecast

Tuesday, October 18, 1960

General Tendencies: This is a day when you just can't seem to get anyone to go along with what you want, so you would be wise to force nothing but do your own job well, refuse to become emotionally upset or disturbed and to handle all details in a philosophical spirit. Doublecheck all sorts of statements, articles to be sure they are free of errors, confusion, carelessness.

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—Be absolutely certain you know what is expected of you when an associate and are meticulous in carrying through with your end of the bargain, or you could get into real trouble today. This applies to other relationships, too. Be wise.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—If you are not particularly careful and poised, you can easily cause damage that will be difficult to repair and costly as well. Also, be sure you take no chances where your health is concerned. Do not irk anyone with careless talk.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—It is possible for you to have the enjoyable day you contemplate, provided you do not permit some fancied wrong you think a friend has done you to spoil your day. Don't misjudge. P.M. have fun inexpensively. Keep purse zipped.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21)—You may feel quite put out over the seeming lack of co-operation you get from household members, but if you will carry through with duties calmly and tactfully, you will soon all will be well and you get the better end. P.M. take it easy.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21)—If you don't guard your words today, you can really start a fight that you will regret later. Also, take it easy while out driving.

Nixon Keeps Quemoy-Matsu Issue Alive in Campaign

HARTFORD, Conn. (CP)—Vice - President Richard Nixon today opens what his aides describe as his victory march to the White House—a final three-week campaign in which the scorching issue will still be Quemoy and Matsu.

A call by Senator John Kennedy for a truce in the continuing and dangerous feud over the defence of these two Nationalist-held islands finally to be ignored by the enthused Republican leader as he motors through this New England state and then flies to Buffalo, N.Y., for a night rally.

There's a feeling of elation in the Nixon campaign party that he finally has pounced on an issue that will pay rich dividends in the tight race for the presidency. Nixon hopes to nail Kennedy repeatedly with the charge that the Democratic candidate is the Munich-type appeaser who would weaken and surrender freedom to the Communists.

This is the kind of attack Nixon has used to embarrass Democratic politicians from the House of Representatives to the vice-presidency. He did it in California in 1952 as President Eisenhower's running mate.

Nixon has maintained that the two tiny islands—just three miles off the Chinese mainland—must be defended at all costs because the Communists can be appeased if forced. Kennedy has taken the line that the islands are not essential and suggested that they be excluded from a new line of defence of Formosa and the adjacent Pescadores islands.

CLAIMS RETREAT

During the weekend, however, the White House announced Nixon's views are the same as those of President Eisenhower, who has maintained all have been U.S. policy on the defence of the islands would be defined only if an attack took place, whether that attack was directed at Formosa.

Kennedy said Sunday night that Nixon has retreated and that Nixon does not support the administration policy. If this is true, he added, the country should be told. He did not want to imply to Chinese Reds that the U.S. is divided on the issue.

Producer Says Dismissal Due To Union Activity

MONTREAL (CP) — Representatives of the CBC and the French-Language Producers Association will meet "unofficially" Friday to discuss the firing—without notice—of producers Fernand Quirion, association president.

The decision was taken at a meeting of the 80-member association which lasted until early today.

Pierre Lebeuf, head of the association's "grievance" committee, said he will represent the producers at the meeting. He will be accompanied by Claude Sylvestre and Gerald Renaud, executive members of the association.

The firing recalled bitter memories of the 1959 television producers strike when the association sought and won recognition as representative of the producers.

The 58-day strike halted CBC's large French-language network and 1,250 other employees refused to cross the producers picket lines.

Mr. Quirion charged that his union activities had much to do with his dismissal.

He said the association had arbitration—arbitration was one of the rights won by the strike—and that the CBC "doesn't like the way we are running things now."

The CBC said Mr. Quirion's contract was cancelled because he ignored "the internal rules and budgetary-administration of the corporation."

The announcement by the producers that they would take the case to arbitration relieved, at least temporarily, the threat of another producers' strike.

Mr. Quirion said his contract ran until July, 1961, and contained a clause that either side had to give 90 days' notice to break it.

He had been called Friday into the office of Gerard Lamarche, Quebec regional director, and handed a letter saying his contract had been cancelled.

Twenty actors will be put out of work by the cancellation of his latest program, Mr. Quirion said. The program, L'Affaire Rudolph, was scheduled for Nov. 6.

Mr. Quirion was considered one of the CBC's top producers.

Van Roosmalen, a stocktaker with a Woodstock dairy, said afterwards: "I was pretty scared for a while, but fortunately I was thinking straight. I felt as though I was hanging there for half an hour, but Cpl. Corail tells me it was only about 10 minutes."

"I'm still a bit shaky," said the immigrant from Rotterdam, Holland. "But I think I'm going to jump again next weekend if the weather's good."

Bitter Attacks Unlikely To Foil Gaullists' Plans

5-Year Program to Give France Nuclear Weapons

PARIS (CP) — Right and left wing opponents of President Charles de Gaulle's policies today were ready to deliver bitter attacks on his policies as the government launched a two-day debate on his plans to give France its own, independent nuclear striking force.

Nevertheless, the plan for a French atomic buildup was expected to pass easily.

The Gaullists control 215 votes in the 535-member assembly and were confident of support from sections of the Roman Catholic Mouvement Republicain Populaire (MRP) and the Conservatives.

The first stage of a five-year military expansion plan of the armed forces calls for the building of 30 supersonic bombers to carry French atomic bombs.

Hydrogen bombs and guided missiles are to be developed to replace the conventional striking force.

PLOT IS RUMORED

Meanwhile there were rumors of an extreme right wing plot against de Gaulle.

The Paris weekly newspaper Figaro brought the plot rumors prominently to the country's attention. It said a "secret militant accusing right wingers of certain military circles" was trying to undermine de Gaulle's regime and said an "activist" government following intervention by ultra-rightists and "commandos" from Algeria.

The reports said the entire machinery would be "remotely controlled" by soldiers and politicians within France itself.

CHURCH SPEAKS OUT

The reports appeared as the country's Roman Catholic hierarchy spoke out for de Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria. It declared a speech peace with the "free support of the people."

The churchmen warned that Algeria's independence must be conducted "in the spirit of peaceful coexistence for the North African and European communities there. Most of Algeria's 10,000,000 people are Moslems.

Algeria has been under limited non-independence for Algeria, for which Premier Michel Debre has been fighting for six years. Neither did it mention the full integration of Algeria as a part of France, which is sought by most of the European settlers.

Nixon Says Rival Is Dangerous Double-Talker

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (CP) — Vice-President Nixon flies from western New York to Florida today for a clash with Senator Kennedy, a man he now calls a dangerous double-talker.

Both presidential candidates are to address the American Legion convention in Miami.

In Buffalo, N.Y., Nixon charged in letters at an overflow crowd of about 25,000 that Kennedy, the Democratic candidate, is in an "elastic mountain" that could turn the United States into a sitting duck for the Communists to push around.

"America has had enough of his double talk and doesn't want any more of it," the Republican presidential candidate told a Buffalo rally Monday night, topping a day of campaigning in Connecticut where he blasted the Massachusetts senator on his Quemoy-Matsu policy.

WON'T BACK OFF

Kennedy had urged that for the sake of the country's security the question of defending the Chinese offshore islands be closed. But Nixon, hungering for issues, made the issue and dared Kennedy on the issue until the Nov. 8 election day.

Pledging that as president he would keep the United States ahead of Russia in armaments, Nixon declared that Soviet Premier Khrushchev is a ruthless man who can not be trusted. President Eisenhower had held the line against Communism and he (Nixon) would "launch a new offensive for freedom" if elected.

The tremendous cheering that greeted his pledge to defend and even extend freedom seemed to indicate that Nixon has found an issue bringing him within shooting range of the White House.

Trade Policies Under Attack By MacDonald

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, said tonight Canada's trade policies are threatening the country's political independence. He urged Canada to look to the European market as a means of ending her economic reliance to the United States.

Mr. MacDonald was speaking on behalf of Walter Pitman, New Party candidate in the Oct. 31 by-election.

"The trade policies of the Diefenbaker government are relating to the American and the U.K. economies respectively, represent disastrous failure to live up to election promises," he said.

"Moreover, it is a failure which may have fateful consequences for Canada — the one hand adding further to our economic dependence in the U.S. and on the long-term threat to Canadian political and economic independence; on the other raising new tensions within the Commonwealth by standing in the way of Britain's inevitable closer association with the European Common Market."

EXETER LAWYER NAMED TO HEAD CONSERVATIVES

Diefenbaker Attends Ontario Convention

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Monday the Progressive Conservative party will mobilize and extend its influence across the country on a national basis to tell Canadians the role the government is playing in the country's development.

Mr. Diefenbaker, on his way to Ottawa following a visit to his home constituency of Prince Albert, Sask., told nearly 1,100 delegates at a general meeting of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association that "we intend to be heard" and tell Canadians what it is being done in government and what it will be done in the future to advance national development.

He also said Premier Frost's efforts on behalf of the PC party in the 1957 and 1958 federal elections were appreciated.

"Had it not been for his devotion, the results would not have been as they were," he said, adding that this devotion was helpful to the party would continue.

PAY TRIBUTE

Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Frost paid tribute to A. D. McKenzie, association president, and Mrs. Ida May, provincial Conservative secretary, who died Sept. 29. Both became new officials around the world.

Elmer Bell, 51-year-old Exeter lawyer, was elected president by acclamation. George Hogan Jr., 25, of Toronto, was elected secretary, also by acclamation.

John Trimble of Hamilton, president of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association, and J. M. (Mac) Pryce of Lhisowe were elected vice-presidents.

A total of PC members of the Ontario legislature attended the special meeting, along with several federal cabinet ministers, including Public Works Minister Walker; Health and Welfare Minister Monteith; Finance Minister Fleming and Trade and Commerce Minister Hees.

The winners of the recent Ontario provincials, Phil Hoffman, Timiskaming, and Art Evans, Simcoe County, were also present.

HEES LIBERALS HUNT

In an interview following his election, Mr. Bell said it would be "impossible" to say who will be the party leader by the CCF and Liberals. Both parties are trying to get off the ground under present circumstances.

"If it does, it will be much more harmful to the Liberals than the Conservatives," he said, because the history of third parties is that they move from a weaker party.

Recent by-elections in Simcoe and Centre and Timiskaming indicated the Conservative party was "definitely on the upgrade," Mr. Bell did not anticipate any trouble with the Progressive Conservative approach to the electorate.

Mr. Bell is a past president of the Huron and Western Ontario Conservative associations and has been active in the party since 1933.

German Machine Cheap as a Car Could Make Fuel for Atom Bombs

BONN (AP)—A leading West German nuclear scientist says he has a machine for use in uranium-refining machines costing about the same as an automobile.

The West German scientist said a few days ago moved to hang the secret idea on the wall when the gas centrifuge method of refining uranium was discussed by professor Wilhelm Groth. The move was taken at the request of the United States, which fears atomic weapons may get into the hands of irresponsible governments.

Groth, director of physical chemistry at Bonn University, said in an interview that it will be at least five years, possibly two, "before the instrument is developed enough to be used for commercial purposes."

Cost for installation: About 10,000 marks ($2,380).

While stressing his work was for peaceful only at present, and for atomic energy, he admitted there is a danger that some atomic nations might "misuse the centrifuge method to make fuel for bombs."

The 56-year-old professor said two-thirds of the cost of the operation at a centrifuge involved the use of materials. Electrical energy takes up the remaining third.

The main money saving in the centrifuge method has over the present diffusion procedure now used lies in the installation of the device.

The centrifuge is used to separate uranium 235 from the heavier uranium 238. The latter is a by-product used in nuclear reactors.

The uranium gas is heated after the uranium ore has been reduced to gas. In the centrifuge cylinders 20 feet long and about at enormous speeds, isolating the richer U-235 much as wheat is isolated from chaff.

In the diffusion method, the gas is pressed through tiny holes by the force of electrically produced thermal energy. This must be repeated many times to produce the purified gas to be used as fuel in nuclear weapons.

Kennedy Assails U.S. Record Of Giving Dictators Medals

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Senator Kennedy charged the Eisenhower administration today with blunders which, he said, cost the United States its inter-American leadership and opened the way for Communist infiltration.

The Democratic presidential candidate sounded this note in a statement as he opened an intensive day's campaigning in Florida—only 90 miles from Cuba. There, he said, "the forces of alien tyranny have already found their way into the Western Hemisphere."

He called for a massive diplomatic campaign to win back the good neighbor system in the hemisphere.

Kennedy sought to tie his Republican opponent, Vice-President Nixon, to the record. The senator termed the lack of competition, imagination and vigor that has characterized the last eight years.

Former President Franklin D. Roosevelt visited republics to the south 20 years ago, Kennedy said, "and returned with cries of 'long live democracy.'

But, Kennedy said, when Nixon went to Latin America, "they threw stones instead of cheers; and Castro — down with the United States."

Kennedy said Nixon now contends that an economic development program in Cuba five years ago might have averted the takeover by the Communist-oriented Fidel Castro regime.

But "Mr. Nixon himself was in Latin America five years ago. He saw no need for action then. He merely praised 'the courageous spirit and stability' of the (Fulgencio) Batista dictatorship — and said that 'we should not condemn a regime because it may not be perfect.'"

New Road Grader May Be Acquired

Purchase of a new road grader at the cost of $21,376, with payment deferred to next March 31 at no interest cost, was referred to the Bridge committee last night by city council.

Public Works Committee chairman Ald. Jack Mills said the present city grader would normally be up for replacement in 1961, but in view of the fact the present machine was 10 years old, it was felt a good policy to have the new machine for the coming winter.

The intention would be to keep the present machine, as its trade-in value was not great, and it could be used to save on the cost of rental equipment which had cost the city $12,000 in the past two years.

Fear Large Number Will Be Without Jobs This Winter; Committee Makes Its Plans

With the current trend in the number of jobless indicative of a greater unemployment problem this coming winter, every effort will have to go into the planning to help people jobless during the winter months ahead.

This was the feeling yesterday as members of the Belleville Winter Works Committee met to plan their campaign to make or find as many jobs as possible. George Whitman, welfare administrator for the city of Belleville, is chairman of the committee.

Cecil Hiuser, manager of the local employment office noted the picture was serious. Present unemployment figures indicated 300 persons out of work this winter might be among the largest in the history in the Belleville area, he said.

"Every effort must be given to encouraging everyone in realizing the problem and see what can be done to alleviate it", he said.

During the meeting, attended by committee officials, along with municipal officials and labor representatives, the winter Works programme was discussed in length and plans made for a publicity campaign to emphasize the seriousness of the situation.

Plans will be a series of radio talks with employment officials, representatives of industry and labor taking part.

Municipal works programs under which 19 persons will be put to work for approved projects are paid by the municipal and federal governments are among the means through which local committee members hope to provide employment.

Without quoting definite figures, Mr. Hiuser told the committee that the present unemployment problem was general and did not affect certain fields of work.

He said the number of men unemployed was double that of the same time last year. However, women without work were down from the same time last year.

Included in the number of male unemployed are miners at Marmoraville and Madoc, where a temporary layoff has closed operations until November 14th, Monday, meanwhile, when the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, which, according to present plans, will close down at the year-end.

Success of Any Business Depends on Help Club Told

Good human relations are like a straight road, one can't get lost on it, Al Stevens, president of the Higgins Management and Industrial Service Co., told Central Rotarians at their weekly dinner meeting yesterday afternoon. The guest speaker compared good human relations to the Hong Kong four-way flu. "And it the truth? Is it fair to sell? It'll tell you and still will it be beneficial to all concerned? As a guide to better living especially in relationship to modern businessman and employer.

The people who work for a firm are its most valuable asset, said the former General Motors executive, noting that success depends on the efforts of its workers. Workers' time can be bought but their loyalty and productivity must be earned by the employer, he advised.

The guest speaker, also a Rotarian, listed and explained a number of factors which say business, either large or small, should consider in order to retain a happy work force and a successful business. Some of these factors were: training of employees; giving the right kind of leadership through encouragement and support; letting the employees know what is going on; let them feel needed and that they are or will be affected by the decisions; delegate an employee's responsibilities when he is hired; providing good satisfactory working conditions; fair and impartial treatment of employees; and adequate salary review and increment.

MUST BE NEIGHBOURLY

Public relations, not just publicity, is important to any firm, Mr. Stevens said. This concept of whether it would, or not, stated the speaker adding that it is up to the firm to see that it had good public relations whether it was actively engaged in public affairs or participated in the activities of the community. A firm and its employees, good neighbours and part of local business and being neighborly in business.

"Public relations is something which say firm, either large or small, must consider if it would, or not, stated the speaker adding that it is up to the firm to see that it had good public relations whether it was actively engaged in public affairs or participated in the activities of the community.

"Quality and price used to be the influencing factors in making a business that was successful; now good public relations are the most importance factor. "We have committed the goldfish to memory; let us commit it to life" concluded Mr. Stevens.

He was thanked by Percy McGuire, Alderman Walter Elliott leaving made the introduction. The Club president Bill Hurst presented the speaker with a token of the club's appreciation.

Rotarian Stu Robb spoke briefly to remind members on the start of the annual Belleville United Appeal. He urged them to help promote the value of the appeal to their neighborhood and the community. He called this year's campaign a very worthied appeal for United Appeal's history as it is necessary to justify the 11 participating agencies operating under one appeal by putting this campaign over the $95,000 objective since the previous two campaigns have fallen short of their objectives.

The meeting was convened by President Bill Hurst and the birthdays of Rotarian Art Francis and Jack Yanover were observed during their meetings. The large number of guests and visiting Rotarians present were introduced by Rube Freeman.

Sidney Street Bridge to Get Sidewalk

The city will go ahead with construction of a sidewalk on the Sidney Street bridge over the Canadian National Railways. Cost of the sidewalk is estimated at approximately $8,000 of which the city is expected to be called on to pay about 50 per cent.

Alderman Robert Temple said the major portion of the cost of the walk would be borne by the C.N.R. and the Board of Transport.

In addition to the 50 per cent cost, the city would be expected to grade the approaches to the sidewalk and to maintain these approaches.

The sidewalk across the Sidney Street bridge is required for the safety of school children and other persons who are forced to walk along the vehicular pas-sageway.

Many From District Attend United Church Men's Meet

Active church membership, understanding of the Bible and a dedication to the Christian life are stepping stones to man's relationship with God, it was stated by speakers at the United Church Men's Conference which opened at Grafton on Friday evening with 150 men and ministers in attendance.

"One of the encouraging notes in recent years among the men of the United Church is the increased interest in bible study", said Magistrate Greene, "and this has been nurtured by the Conference developed through conference groups in the local church in the past six years".

"The purpose of the church is do to strengthen their witness to the world today, he said, "Athletes train to develop their best performances. Christians must train to develop their spiritual muscles and witness to the world today", he said in closing. An important manifestation of spiritual strength is our conduct in the home, in business and in the community.

Do we give the impression that we have a penny-pail religion? Do we invest in it by making out a strong case for it? Do we live it vital, prayerful by the power of God at work in our lives?

SPEAKS ON AFRICA

The conference delegates were thrilled by reports given by two men who attended the "Ecumenical Crossroads" a program that took them to Africa last summer. Rev. Lloyd Hobden, Picton and Harvey Putman, Belleville, showed films illustrating the work done in Africa by the ecumenical projects in Africa.

The conference in the west have a great task to meet in Africa said Mr. Powell, and are confronted by a world age by the influence of Russian propaganda. Communism is in opposition to the young Africans who have been educated abroad and study in Russia. Under the pressure of Russian influence in the Congo, missionaries have been forced to leave and schools closed. We can hardly blame the Africans for their resentment of the efforts of Russia. The clock is running out on the West in the time race to bring Christianity to the African people".

SUNDAY SERVICES

Worship services were conducted by Taylor Franklin, Belleville, Rev. Lloyd Hobden, Picton, Rev. McIndoe, Ida, and Homer Leavitt, Wooler. Rev. Don Elmslie, Belleville, was in charge of the holy day morning communion service.

Robb, Belleville; Harold Burns, Trenton; J. Burns, Peterborough; David Mc-Neil, Norwood; Murray Austin, Lindsay and Eric Whitney, Petersborough; Frank Weldon, Lindsay; Don G. Williams, Belleville and Ralph Shoultice, Thurlow.

The conference committee included Fraser Charles, Stirling, chairman; Clare Wert, Stirling; William Brooks, Warkworth; Bernice Peterborough; David Mc-Neil, Norwood; Murray Austin, Lindsay; Eric Whitney, Petersborough; Frank Weldon, Lindsay; Don G. Williams, Belleville and Ralph Shoultice, Thurlow.

The conference committee included Fraser Charles, Stirling, chairman; Clare Wert, Stirling; William Brooks, Warkworth; Bernice Peterborough; David McNeil, Norwood; Murray Austin, Lindsay and Eric Whitney, Petersborough; Frank Weldon, Lindsay; Don G. Williams, Belleville and Ralph Shoultice, Thurlow.

The reports of the standing committees of the Association including the championship committee, the P.I.S.T. committee, the W.O.R.A.T. committee, the O.R.A. committee, the annual committee, the Veterans committee, the Good Speech Events committee and the Benevolent Fund committee showed splendid progress during the year under the capable presidency of Ken Wright of Toronto this year. Of particular interest to the bowlers was the decision of the meeting to approve the recommendation of the "Annual" committee to delete the names of club members from next year's roster because due to the loss of a number of bowlers by death, resignation, etc. It was pointed out that if each district would make a determined campaign of advertising this action would not be necessary and should be carried out with every effort in this regard during the winter months.

200 CLUBS IN FIRA

The report of the hon. secretary-treasurer, Earl Knight, indicated that interest in lawn bowling continues to be at a high pitch in Ontario with 200 clubs belonging to the Ontario Bowling Association and these clubs had a gross membership of approximately 17,000 men, 1,700 ladies and 4,000 lady members. The report of the auditors certified a healthy since sheet showing over eleven thousand dollars in assets. The P.I.S.T. Benevolent Fund handed over $3,500 during the year with $1,000 each to three hundred of this being contributed by the Ontario Bowling Association. The Bowling at Sunnybrook Hospital for Veterans and by the Sports-writers and Sportscasters Fund for Crippled Children. A good report was received from the ward to next year to continue these worthwhile causes.

The notice of motion given at the last annual meeting to change the final competition of the Provincial championships from a round-robin event to a knockout competition was approved by the delegates on a margin of only two votes.

SPIRITED DEBATE

This motion produced a great deal of spirited debate and it was felt that the delegates from outside the Metropolitan Area of Toronto, in the main wished to maintain the round-robin system, while the Metro Area wanted the knockout system of competition. The vote was very close indeed but it is understood that the delegates from this area and from Western Ontario were not more interested or armed with more proxies as it appeared that the vote of the social contestants in this competition was held evenly.

Mr. J. W. MacDonald of Windsor, Ontario was elected by acclamation to the office of president for the year 1961 and a well known and popular bowler from Eastern Ontario in the person of J. Ubald Rouleau of Cornwall was elected to the office of vice-president. It is anticipated that Gerald Hyde of the local club will be re-elected as Zone Convener for 1961 by the new president.

The 30th annual meeting of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association held over from last fall on Saturday in the Club Rooms of the Royal Canadian Legion Club by Toronto with two members of the local club in attendance. The official representatives of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club were the vice-president of the local club, Gordon Watkins, while Zone 4 of the Ontario Association was represented by its convener, also a member of the local club in the person of Gerald S. Hyde.

The reports of the standing committees of the Association including the championships committee, the P.I.S.T. committee, the W.O.R.A.T. committee, the O.R.A. committee, the annual committee, the Veterans committee, the Good Speech Events committee and the Benevolent Fund committee showed splendid progress during the year under the capable presidency of Ken Wright of Toronto this year. Bus Route Changes, Increased Fares Approved by Council

Extension of the city-owned bus service to the Bayshore and Bell corners of the city, together with slight increase in fares, was approved last night by members of city council.

Request for the route changes to go into effect November 1st, was made by Transit Commissioner Ted Schwab.

The extended bus service will add approximately 175,000 miles annually and will necessitate the hiring of two or three additional drivers.

NO NEW BUSES

He said the transit commission did not anticipate purchase of any new buses for another two years.

Mr. Schwab said that while it had been the contention of the commission that the transit system in the present form could be operated without cost to the taxpayer, the additional mileage to be travelled and extra drivers required for the extended routes would make slightly higher fares necessary.

The present adult fare is 15c cash or two tickets for 25c. The new fare rate will be 15c cash or seven $1. Children under 12 years have been riding for seven cents cash, or four tickets for 25c. The new fare will be 10c cash or four tickets for $1.

Under the new rate structure students 13 years to high school age will pay 5c for cash or will be sold eight tickets for $1, in multiples of $1 only.

CHANGING ROUTES

One of the main features of the extended service, Mr. Schwab said is that instead of the belt lines terminating being confined to many of the routes would run out to the city boundary area and return to downtown on the same street.

Route changes would be based on half hour service plus an additional bus through the more densely populated centre of the city giving 15 minutes service for 12 hours during the day.

"The Commission will be the first to admit that the proposed system will not satisfy the demands of bus users on every street, but we feel it is the best that can be done at the present time, taking into consideration the cost of operating buses."

Mr. Schwab said the route changes had been planned to work in with the system of one-way streets in the downtown area which was planned to go into effect early in November.

IN MEMORIAM

BRRACE. — In loving memory of a dear father, Mr. Arthur Brrach, who passed away one year ago, October 18th, 1959.

In tears we saw you sinking,
In sorrow bent we stood,
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought for life but God
Said when we saw you sleeping,
So peaceful and so still,
We could not wish you back dear,
To suffer that again.

—Lovingly remembered by daughter Viola and son-in-law Howard.

BRENT. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Ernest Brent, who passed away October 19th, 1953.

Time goes on, but parting sweet,
And did what He thought best;
He gave us memories to remember,
And whispered, "Rest and Pray."
Sometimes we think we hear him,
Some say they see him,
But in the hearts that loved him,
He will live always.
Sadly missed by wife and family.

PARKS. — In ever loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Clarence Edwin, who passed away one year ago October 18th.

What we would give if we could say,
Dad, we love you more than words,
To hear your voice one year today,
To see you smile, to shake your hand,
To those who have a father,
Cherish him with care;
For you never know the heartache
Till you see his vacant chair.
—Lovingly remembered by daughters Marion, Jean, Dorothy and Margaret, sons-in-law, Clarence and Harold, and grandchildren Donald and Cathy.

PARKS. — In ever loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Edwin, who passed away one year ago October 18th.

He lacks no one his last farewell,
He needed not to say,
The heavenly gates were opened,
And Jesus took him away.
He left us peacefully and calm,
The things you used to say,
The place you filled in this home,
Without a chance to say goodbye,
Without a gift, without a word,
Left loved, loved, still mine;
Though we can't see you dear father,
We're not alone.
—Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

WEESE. — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Ernest Weese, who died October 18th, 1959.

Company Wants Town to Pay For Damage

TRENTON — Council was told last night that the Bradford-Bidwell Company had indicated it would go ahead with legal measures if the town fails to pay a bill for $565 in the near future.

The company claims that former town engineer Eric Aldersey acknowledged that the town was responsible for damage incurred by the company during the construction of the sewage disposal plant.

In a telephone conversation with the town solicitor, Mr. Aldersey who is now city engineer in Barrie, denied that he had acknowledged liability.

The town claims that the Bradford and Dey Dock Company and/or the Department of Transport should assume responsibility.

"I've found out through past experience that we always lose lawsuits," said Councillor Cleghan.

"Are we never right?" asked Councillor Aziz.

"Look in the records," replied Councillor Lange.

"From all I can make out, Alderseys acknowledgement is a legitimate claim," said Councillor Fraser.

"Careful," warned town clerk O. W. Lerry.

"I mean they don't have a legitimate claim against us," explained Mr. Fraser.

"Well, don't let it go too far," said Councillor Graham. "Every time we get involved, we lose."

The solicitor will wait until Mr. Alderseys solicitor has written statement before advising council on procedure in the matter.

Council Shelves Grocery Store Closing Bylaw

TRENTON — Council again passed the axe back by refusing to make the final decision at last night's meeting that the town's grocers should be required to close their stores all day Monday.

Eighty-four per cent of the grocers had petitioned council to pass a by-law making the Monday closing obligatory. Last night, council gave first and second reading to the by-law, then voted to shelve it for the time being.

There was a full split on this subject," said Councillor Graham. "Some workers think Mon day closing and have since changed their minds."

"I'm with them — credit," said Councillor N. J. McNair. "They should be given a ticket."

"The Chamber of Commerce has suggested that the idea that the grocery petition be honored," said Councillor H. G. Aziz. A spokesman for the grocers group said that the chamber was the body twice tried to make the store hour issue and failed. He said the grocers had been assured that the chamber could not bring about an agreement whereby all the merchants had had taken matters into their own hands. The large chain grocery stores have indicated they will close Mondays, "and that's what," said the smaller grocers felt they should follow suit.

The mayor and council agreed that the present system "wherein every merchant has a different closing day had resulted in

Mayor MacDo: aid said he had recently been embarrassed by reference to Trenton's store hour issue at a public meeting. Councillor Aziz said that even the Belleville churches were now using advertising in the Trenton paper. He said that seven Belleville churches had advertised in the most recent issue of the paper.

Councillor McNair said the grocers' agreement stipulated that the stores would remain closed on Mondays, year-round, with the exception of during December.

"I suggest we lay this over and let the store's council settle it," he said.

"There may be an election in the Chamber of Commerce," said Councillor Graham. "Many new officers could solve the issue."

Outsiders Must Pay $200 Fee Or Be 'Cut Off'

TRENTON — A registered letter will be sent to town solicitor Frederick Campbell in the next few days — ordering him to cut off the water and sewer services and who have failed to pay a $200 fee for the service. The letter will tell them that if this money is not paid within seven days, their water will be "physically cut" or "cut off".

A cheque from F. J. Aziz in the amount of $200, but with reservations, stipulations on the face and back of it was passed around to council members and treasurer on the face of the cheque was written that it was not to be cashed unless the conditions on the back were fulfilled. Conditions on the back stipulated that cheques for the same amount be demanded and obtained from persons living on the Carrying Place Road and the Delft Gould Plant. If services were used then Dayers Realty Limited, Trenton property-ship residents, the Hendricks Realty Limited and all other residents living outside the town and using the sewer.

The writing also demanded that Gerald Weaver be required to remove his name from the list from town property adjoining the Carrying Place Road and McColl and Henry Sts., or be charged rental. In addition, the writing said that all charges be asked council by Mr. Aziz last night, however, that because the whole meeting be answered to his satisfaction before the cheque was cashed.

"This cheque should be returned," said Councillor Graham.

"It's not worth the paper it's written on," said town clerk O. W. Lerry. "All that is properly due to the town will be paid as possible to cash."

"I want it made plain that I have no objection to any controversy in this issue," said Councillor H. G. Aziz.

Chief Ellis Makes Report On Nursing Home

TRENTON — A report on the Parade's Villa nursing home compiled by Fire Chief Cecil Ellis, was read to council last night.

The report recommended that certain measures be taken to ensure the safety of occupants of the home.

The chief said that of the three fire alarms in the home, only one was in working order. He recommended that these be repaired.

The chief also recommended that fire drills be carried out periodically.

He said that when the department visited the building, the third floor apartment had been occupied by the proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. James Pandachuk, were away. The report recommended that they be all rooms or apartments be left unoccupied by the owners.

The aluminum permanent type window was questionable as being ideal for this type of home, in case of fire, these windows are hard to take an entrance or exit by.

It was recommended that a lounge, on a second storey patio, be moved away from fire escapes.

The report noted that book matches be made a section removed from the patients' doors.

Check Before Burning Leaves

TRENTON — Residents desiring to burn leaves on their property are asked to check with the fire chief before proceeding.

Leaves should only be burned in a metal container or a screed top. They should not be burned on Mondays, because of washings on clothes lines. Leaves should be burned in the daylight hours only.

It was pointed out to council by Chief Ellis that last night, some unauthorized person had started a leaf fire behind the fire paper to the effect that the town would pay for the leaves burned away and the town was stuck for around $600. Council is not liable and not be here this repeated.

Subdivider Gets Wording Changed

TRENTON — Simcoe Kleinsteiber, sponsor of the Stanley Heights subdivision in west Trenton, appeared before council last night and complained that he had not been treated in the same manner as other subdividers in town.

Mr. Kleinsteiber said that the B.E.P. Company, which is constructing a subdivision in the Byron St. area, had not been asked to provide curbs and had only been asked to provide sewers "only when needed."

He said that storm sewers were required in his subdivision at all, due to the topography of the area.

"It will cost me at least $900 a lot more to provide services which my competitors are not asked to provide," said Mr. Kleinsteiber.

Councillor Vagi Lange said that town engineer Walter Murray had said that a system of "storm sewers" was in the front of the property at Fourth Ave. would take the place of storm sewers.

Mr. Murray changed the agreement with Mr. Kleinsteiber to read "drainage system" where "storm sewers" had been designated.

Mr. Kleinsteiber said he would like the term "drainage system" substituted for "drainage system".

Councillor D. E. Fraser objected to having the engineer's wording changed. He said that the engineer had said that some storm sewers might be required at the front of the subdivision. He said that the engineer should be consulted and that if Mr. Kleinsteiber was going to insist on phrases being changed, the town should insist that other details specifications be added including one which stated that the subdivider should put up a $5,000 certified cheque as a guarantee of his bond.

When the term "soak-a-ways" had been substituted, the engineer said, "Now I don't like the wording."

"I wish I wasn't here," said Mr. Kleinsteiber.

"I give up," said Councillor Lange. "I don't think council should sit in settle this tonight."

Finally the agreement was changed to include the "soak-a-ways" plus about 100 feet of storm sewer to be installed to cover the bond.

Mr. Kleinsteiber said he would sign the agreement.

Mayor MacDonald said the agreement had been hung council at least six times in the past two months.

Councillor Fraser proposed that council pass a resolution that subdivisions were started, a standard agreement be drawn up, and all subdividers be obliged to abide by its terms. Councillors agreed.

Council Briefs

One of the committee-of-the-whole recommendations that was changed in read "council will provide a float for the Santa Claus parade," it was changed to read "council will provide a float."

Councillor Vagi Lange, who is also chairman of the Community Gardens Committee, reported that the committee had received a donation of the Gardens and report that the Gardens have remained unused. He said that further leavery should be given to the Gardens for the present time, a by-law allows a $2,000 overdraft, but existing debts against the overdraft up to around $3,600. As the loc is now in the Gardens, revenues is expected to climb.

Frank Mirren, a contractor, was appointed to replace Lloyd Worrall on the 1960 Court of Revision.

Council passed a resolution that eight properties be supplied with sewer and water facilities, as recommended by the Board of Health and that the town solicitor be instructed to start legal position to determine if the town could pay the cost of the installation and recover the money through taxes over a period of years.

A proposal that parking meters be installed on the south side of Quinte St. was left over with free parking, will be considered by the parking committee.

Relations Between Canada And Cuba Remain Cordial

By JACK KENT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

While relations between the United States and Cuba have grown steadily more stormy since Fidel Castro's rise to power in the Caribbean island, those between Canada and Cuba have remained cordial.

Officials in Ottawa have misgivings about the lavish lure taken by the Cuban revolutionary leader that he is part of a modern trend—a trend that generally seems to apply its overtures—and hence they are not unduly alarmed.

"We have no quarrel at all of a bilateral character with Cuba," said one official. "And we want to keep matters that way."

The same sentiments are evidently felt on the Cuban side. A spokesman for the Cuban embassy here described relations between the two countries as "perfect."

There is a feeling here that the U.S. is in Castro's propaganda vocations has been both unwise and provocative. Canada's policy is a velvet-glove approach would bring better results, that the American attitude and policies are driving Cuba over to the Soviet and communist orbit.

Considered particularly undesirable are the U.S. economic sanctions against Cuba — which Canada has refused to persuade the U.S. not to impose. The picture is that by risk economic tightening the screws on a poor small one in this fashion is not likely to lead to a heart of sunny friends in Asia and Africa, it is said.

Further, there is considerable talk of "Welcome to Americans can in fact succeed in bringing Castro to his knees through economic sanctions. The proposed objective, Cuba is a wide-open country and can be reached from other sources.

Welfare Dept. In Great Need Of Office Space

The city welfare department is in great need of additional office space, but in all probability will have to wait until next year to get it.

Early next year an over-all plan for adding additional ground floor space at city hall will be up for consideration but it was decided to wait until that time rather than attempt temporary measures to provide additional space for the welfare office.

City manager J. R. Reynolds told council that the renovation plan had been drawn by the city engineer but would have to wait to wait for next year's budget before any action could be taken.

"The welfare administrator will be in a better position to know what committee would be willing to go along if high priority is given to space for the welfare department," noted Welfare committee chairman Alderman George Whitsett.

Industrial Board Criticized For Paying Costs of Sewer

Action on the part of last year's Industrial Commission in paying a major portion of the cost of services for a new privately-owned garage on the Dundas East street drew criticism Monday evening in city council.

The criticism was heard during discussion on a public works committee recommendation calling for council to approve payment of one-half the costs of services not to exceed $1,500 for other new structure in the same area.

The recommendation was lost.

In recommending the payment, the public works committee noted it did not approve of this policy of assistance and recommended that a firm policy be established for future negotiations.

Speaking to the recommendation, Public Works Chairman Alderman Jack Ellis said last year the Industrial Commission had paid over 70 per cent of the $3,400 cost for sewer installation to the new garage now owned by Joseph St. occupied by the Bell Telephone Company.

This year another similar garage property was being built by other interests in the same area and a request had been made for assistance in the cost of services from the Industrial Commission. The request had been turned down.

"In view of the precedent set last year I think it is only fair that assistance be given in this case," he said.

"It seems ridiculous that an established firm last year could get over 70 per cent of services cost, while a new firm this year can get nothing."

DEFENDS ACTION

Alderman Walter Elliott defended the action of last year's Industrial Commission and said it had been a question of assisting to pay services costs or the building going to Smith's Falls.

Tax returns from the building made the payment worthwhile, he claimed.

Mayor A. M. Haig said he felt the action by the Industrial Commission last year had been a grave error.

"The principle is wrong," he said, noting that it would be a grave error for council to approve of the recommendation in its present form.

Alderman Jack Ireland also defended the action of last year's Industrial Commission.

"With all the clamor last year (for the establishment of the Industrial Commission) would have been tarred and feathered had they refused this help to try to get out of town," he said.

Also, last year the Industrial Commission had had no money to spare much of the year and had saved money in salary that had been paid in payment of services costs for the new Bell Telephone building.

This year there was no money in the Industrial Commission on the books after such payments, he said.

LED DOWN PATH

Alderman Ellis suggested the Industrial Commission had been "led down the garden path" by the threat of the possibility the telephone company building going to Smith's Falls if assistance was not given in services costs.

He noted there were 36 trucks moving out of the building every morning which did not go 20 miles from Belleville.

The men will also be used later on in brush clearing along the river banks.

A Dangerous Theory

John Gellner, well-known Canadian writer on military and international affairs, maintains that "nuclear weapons deter nuclear war, but almost certainly nothing else."

This assertion is fraught with such far-reaching implications that it deserves to be examined carefully.

According to an article by Mr. Gellner published in a recent issue of the Toronto Globe and Mail, we gather that he believes military policy has passed through three stages since the end of the Second Great War.

First came the period when the West, which means essentially the U.S., held to the doctrine of victory through nuclear power. Mr. Gellner says that in September of 1948 the then U.S. Secretary of Defence, James Forrestal, called a meeting of prominent editors and newspaper publishers and asked them whether the U.S. nation would approve the use of atomic weapons. There was unanimous agreement the American people would expect atomic bombs to be used in the event of war.

But by September of 1949 the Russians exploded their first A-bomb and this started a transformation from the policy of victory through nuclear power to deterrence through nuclear power, the Dulles' theory of peace through the threat of massive retaliation. Vice-President Richard Nixon, Gellner points out, said in March of 1954: "Rather than let the Communists nibble us to death all over the world in little wars, we will rely in future on massive, mobile retaliatory power."

Does not that same situation prevail today? Gellner argues in the negative. "The first Sputnik doomed this policy," he says, because "we would not be able to deter with nuclear weapons any enemy which could deter us from using them."

Gellner argues that "you can scare your opponent from making use of his (nuclear weapons) but you cannot scare him into not waging a conventional war, because you do not dare to employ your nuclear power if he does" (start a conventional war.)

Is Gellner right? Perhaps he is, but it ought to be obvious that if this theory is in error any nation which makes the mistake of accepting it and starting a conventional war will be making its last mistake. It may well be the world's last mistake, too.

With the present state of international tension, we can imagine no more potentially dangerous theory than the one advanced by Gellner. If Russia started a conventional war and was winning it, would the U.S. refrain from using nuclear weapons? One may be pardoned for doubting it. True, tactical nuclear weapons might first be used, weapons aimed at specific military objectives, but once such weapons are used is there any person who can confidently say that a line will be drawn and a distinction made?

What applies to U.S. reaction applies to Russia as well. In the hypothetical case of a conventional war started by the West and being won by it, who will assert that Khrushchev would keep his trigger finger off the rocket buttons?

What makes Gellner's theory most suspect is the fact that, if Russia really believed it were true, then the only explanation why Red tanks are not rolling west across Europe must be that the Kremlin loves peace, for it is generally agreed that in a conventional type war the Communists would hold most of the high cards. This glory in the Kremlin being deterred only by good intentions is a little too hard to swallow—and if we are going to swallow it at all we might as well go all the way and divest ourselves of arms entirely. Anybody want to risk that?

Much more likely, it seems to us, is that nuclear weapons are a very real deterrent not merely against nuclear war but against any kind of a major conflict.

One thing ought to be granted Khrushchev—he is not stupid and he knows enough to be scared. It is to be devoutly hoped that he has company, not only amongst the leaders of the West but in China, too.

Mr. H. R. Moorman propped the toast to the King to which all responded by singing "God Save the King." Mrs. Greenwood referred to the occasion as the last official visit to the school of the graduating class and she trusted that they would carry with them in the memories of happy associations with staff and pupils, with the teachings and example of the instructors to inspire them.

Miracles of the Universe
The Earth

BY HON. ROBERT W. MACAULAY

Graphic Minister of Science Broadcasts a series of articles by Mr. Macaulay dealing with sources of energy and their application, in the past, the present and the future.

The Earth is teeming with life now. But it has not always been. Before life will likely perish ultimately, either by man's own hand or by the laws of the Universe.

It "cares not any other" creatures living in the Universe, it is doubtful. If they know of the existence of man because the Earth is so small, so far away and because Earth is not a star and does not give off any light of its own. What little light it does reflect back on the Sun's rays, is very faint. The Earth is a dull unspectacular, little speck in a vast cold dark Universe where the temperature is about 460 degrees F. below zero.

The Earth is a planet circling around the Sun which is very large by comparison with the Earth. The Sun is a star and there are billions and billions of stars in the Universe, many of which are hundreds of times larger and some of which are larger than thousands times brighter than our Sun.

Many scientists believe that hundreds of millions of other stars or moons also have planets circling around them. There may be many planets in the Universe like our Earth. Yet it is unlikely that we will ever be able to see them without telescope because of the great distances that there is much life in the Universe.

The earth is very small. It is like a single grain of sand out of all the sand in all the sands of the world. It is so small that our Sun is over a hundred times larger than the Earth, than the Earth. The Earth is neither flat nor quite round. It tends to be shaped like a door knob. It is 26 miles around the equator around the earth via the equator, than it is go around via the poles.

The Earth has a imaginary stick rammed right through its shortest diameter. This stick protrudes out at both ends (this is the axis of the Earth called "the axis"). The axis of the earth is set approximately a thousand miles an hour at the equator, which is a top which is losing its speed. The Earth's spin is slowing down. The Earth has layers of air of different density and properties wrapped around it like a blanket. The layer is at a certain temperature. If you could be up in the air ten miles it would be 120° below zero fahrenheit, at thirty-five miles up, it is 200° below, at fifty miles up, it is 200° below, and at a hundred and eighty miles up, it is thought to be 1000° above.

Depending upon where you are standing on the Earth and at what season of the year, will depend on whether you are standing on your feet or hanging upside down by your feet.

60 PER CENT WATER

The Earth's surface is made up of land and sea, the rest is water and outboard motor boats.

The Earth weighs approximately 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 tons. (Shown as 36 x 10 to the twenty-first power.) (The Sun weighs 22 x 10 to the 26th power.)

The outside crust of the Earth is cool and solid, but the rest is hard crinkled film which forms the top of a thick sea of molten rock. Scientists believe that this has been standing for some time as the Earth's weight

Council Refuses to Allow New Houses in Hillcrest; Defer Zone Change a Week

A motion which would have given residents of the Hillcrest area the right to construct new homes on property zoned in the area was defeated 9-3 last night in city council.

The motion was presented by Alderman Robert Temple, following complaints from residents of the area that city zoning regulations had frozen their properties as Industrial-land and under the by-law new residential structures or improvements to homes were ruled out.

Three weeks ago more than 100 residents from the Hillcrest area attended city council protesting the freezing by-law and since then the planning committee had recommended amending of the by-law to allow reconstruction of fire and flood also home additions and improvements.

DEFER REPORT

The amendments were to be before council last night but owing to the absence of the new Planning Committee chairman Ald. Dr. John Barlow asked that the matter be deferred to the next council meeting. The committee report will be presented next Monday.

In his motion, however, Ald. Temple said he meant the amendments to the zoning by-law to go much further than recommended by the planning committee.

He asked that Hillcrest residents be allowed to build on their own property as they wished in accordance with city health and building regulations.

He said it would be "a long time before industry goes to Hillcrest and under the present by-law residents can do nothing with their lands."

He claimed the regulation was imposing a hardship.

Planning committee chairman Barlow opposed the motion declaring that freezing the area for new residential construction would obligate the city to install water services.

He noted that installation of water mains and laterals for but one half of the Hillcrest area would cost an estimated $175,000.

As result local improvement charges would amount to $130 per year for 20 years.

Ald. Temple stated was a low assessment area, already there were tax arrears in the area dating back four to five years. Direct relief for the area amounted to $22,000 annually, with one in every five or six families on relief.

WOULD RE-DEVELOP

"There is only one answer; that the area should be built up to redevelop," Dr. Barlow said, noting that his planning committee was already thinking in these terms.

He noted that there were problems in the area for the development of such areas.

Ald. Temple and Ald. Dave McDougal doubted that the city would have to install services in the Hillcrest area. He doubted if there would be any expansion in the area in the next year or just that.

Alderman Don Whalen declared that he was sympathetic to residents to freeze their properties. His said it would take years for the development of Ward 1 in a re-location program.

Alderman Temple's motion was defeated by a 9-3 vote. Approving were Aldermen Temple, McDougall and Whalen. Opposing were Mayor A. M. Haig and Aldermen Barlow, Deacon, Elliott, Harrison, Ireland, Reid and Wishart.

Pleads Guilty To Wilfully Damagmg Car

Eighteen-year-old John Rushlow of Belleville was remanded to Friday for sentencing when he pleaded guilty today before Magistrate T. Y. Wills to wilfully damaging a car.

Inspector J. H. McLaughlan testified that on October 1 Rushlow had broken all the windows and a tail light lens of a car owned by Lee Sylvester Rushlow, uncle of the accused. Damage was estimated at more than $100.

Inspector McLaughlan said John Rushlow had been sentenced on Oct. 6 to seven days in jail for assaulting his uncle on October 1.

Crown Attorney John Pringle is discussing with the magistrate the penalty that should be awarded, said it should be a "straight matter of withdrawing the accused from society . . . for a period of time."

Garnett, chairman of the publicity committee.

Information of interest to all will be brought forward in the discussions.

Need of Qualified Technicians Stressed at T.V. Banquet

Mr. Robert Lorch, Ontario president of the Radio Electronic Technicians' Association (RETA), addressed a large group of television and radio technicians at Sidney Edwards United Church Hall on Monday evening. The address was heard by approximately 80 persons including Mr. Dickinsother of the Belleville Ontario Council.

Technicians present included Mr. Lorch, Kingston, Belleville, Campbellford and Kingston areas.

Mr. W. Slaven introduced the speaker, who has had wide experience in the electronic field including time spent in 118 and 110 Squadrons of RCAF. He was one of the advisers in setting up the technical program at the Ryerson Institute of Technology and is presently engaged in specialist sound system installations. His organization also does television service.

During his remarks, Mr. Lorch related the experience of American counterparts in the industry and noted their failure to achieve any form of licensing to control the domestic television service industry. The failure of these licensing schemes resulted from the none co-operation of jobbers and the non co-operation of older technicians.

In Canada the situation to date has been quite different. A voluntary system of registering qualified technicians has been in effect through RETA for some years. Recently, this has been done only after the passing of qualifying examinations.

Mr. Lorch noted the progress being made by the provincial director of apprenticeship, Mr. D. McNeil, who is now setting up means to have an apprenticeship system for TV technicians. This system has technical school training as an important pre-requisite.

As a final point, Mr. Lorch commented on the writing of the RETA technical examinations written by technicians seeking registration with RETA. He said that although most applicants seemed properly qualified, there was a general lack of ability on the part of the men to express their ideas in clear concise English. This inability was a serious handicap to the investigating examiners.

In conclusion, Mr. Lorch emphasized that RETA is trying to achieve better conditions for the domestic electronic technicians associations such as the Quinte Chapter of RETA and through improved technical standards for technicians.

The speaker was thanked by Mr. G. Kane of Cobourg.

Former Resident Garnet W. French Passes Away

Following these remarks, R. Dryden, president of the Quinte Chapter, introduced Mr. M. Ames, vice-president RETA, Quinte Chapter, who showed several slides of his recent European tour.

He was thanked by D. Vanderwater. Examination results were then given to the members of the Quinta Chapter.

Following a brief illness, Mr. Garnet Warren French of Clarkson, Ont., formerly of this city, passed away in the Western Hospital, Toronto, on Monday, October 17.

Born in Belleville, Mr. French was a son of Mrs. Florence French and the late Clement French of this city. His wife is the former Mas Holland of Belleville, resides at Old Poplar Row, Clarkson.

Mr. French received his public school and high school education here. He was a popular member of the Belleville circle of friends before business interests led him to other centres.

He had a lengthy association with the Zinc Oxide Company of Canada and at the time of his passing was district manager of the company with headquarters in Toronto. Previously he resided in Montreal in keeping with business relations.

During World War two, Mr. French served with the Royal Flying Corps in Britain leaving the service with the rank of lieutenant.

Following his sojourn in Belleville he was a member of Bridge Street United Church. He was a member of the Masonic Order, A.F. & A.M., No. 11, Belleville, Ont.

Surviving besides his wife and mother are one daughter, Mrs. Ron W. (Jan) Richardson of Guelph, and three grandchildren.

The funeral will take place from the John R. Reid Funeral Home, Highland Avenue, on Wednesday, October 19th, with service in the chapel at 1.30 p.m. Interment Belleville cemetery.

For this is the story of a wild goose that not only had brains but knew how to use them.

In fact its ability to play dumb saved its life.

A flock of Canada geese, looking for a resting place before proceeding south, alighted on a small lake in the vicinity of Trenton a few days ago.

The flock was duly spotted by a goose-hungry hunter who promptly organized a posse and went dinner hunting.

They shot the legal limit and hit hvisions of succulent roasted geese took a boat to retrieve the spoils.

Proudly they hoisted the kill. But two of the geese appeared. They were only wounded. One, as it proved, was either stunned or using the brainy it was not supposed to have.

As they beached the boat eager companions stood on the shore. One by one the geese were tossed into waiting hands.

Triumphant, a hunter picked up the biggest trophy of the hunk. He tossed it ashore like a big feathered basketball.

Came a whirr of wings. There was just enough distance for the take-off.

With a raucous honk of derision, the big goose rose and headed into the wild blue yonder to freedom and a winter in the south.

Front and Pinnacle Streets One-Way Streets on Nov. 6

A downtown system of one-way streets, proposed by the city traffic committee last spring, will go into effect on November 6th.

This was agreed last night by city council when the by-law covering the change was formally passed.

The change calls for southbound traffic on Front Street and northbound traffic on Pinnacle Street. Under the change, Dundas Street from Front to Pinnacle, Market, McAnnany and Campbell Streets would also be one-way thoroughfares.

The original intention was to inaugurate the one-way street system during the summer months, but the Ontario Highways Department asked that a traffic survey be first conducted.

This survey is now nearing completion and the one-way street system was fully approved by survey consultants.

Adam Stalker Is Appointed Acting City Clerk by Council

Filling the position of deputy-city clerk since the death of Mrs. Anne Haggerty 11 months ago, Mr. Adam Stalker, former city works superintendent, was last night named acting city clerk by city council.

Under staff rules Mr. Stalker will serve a probationary period of six months following which he can be recommended for permanent appointment. In his capacity as acting city clerk, Mr. Stalker will receive no increase in salary.

Applications for the city clerk's position were scrutinized last week at a caucus meeting of the city fathers, with the recommendation from the personnel committee calling for Mr. Stalker's appointment as city clerk being presented to council last night.

The appointment drew only one comment from the council body, this coming from Alderman Jack Ellis who noted that the position of acting clerk had no status in municipal law. He asked when the position of acting clerk would terminate and was told that under staff rules a probationary period of six months would have to be served following which there could be permanent appointment.

"It's a very poor step," commented the alderman, referring to the probationary period.

A previous appointment of council naming Mr. Stalker as purchasing agent for the city was rescinded by council.

United Appeal Objective Must Be Met Says President

Archie Lewis, president of the Belleville United Appeal, said in a radio address last night that the $80,000 objective must be raised this year so that the 11 participating agencies can carry out their valuable and essential work in the community.

The objective this year is $5,000 less than 1959. This has been achieved by the budget committee working closely with the participating agencies whose budgets now represent their bare minimum requirements.

"We must raise the objective this year so that these agencies can carry out their valuable and essential work in the community, as well as outside of the city of Belleville," said Mr. Lewis.

The participating agencies and their approved budgets this year are as follows:

Canadian National Institute for the Blind, $8,000; Children's Aid Society, $4,500; V.O.N., $5,000; Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, $2,500; Canadian Red Cross Society, $18,000; St. John Ambulance, $1,500; The Boys Scouts Association, $1,500; Navy League of Canada (Sea Cadets), $2,000; Y.M.C.A., $20,000; St. Julien Chapter, IODE, $450; Griffin Chapter, IODE, $450.

This adds up to $70,825. The remaining $9,075 is made up of $5,000 for administration expense and $4,075 for a contingency fund.

The administration expenses include the cost of printing, postage, stationery, fixtures, newspaper and radio advertising, telephone, office supplies and the services of a part-time typist.

NO SALARIES

"No salaries are paid to any of the directors nor do we have any full time paid clerical staff", he said. "During the year we employ a part-time typist on an hourly basis for about half a day a week. During the preparation of a campaign and during the campaign, (a period of about two months) we employ a typist on a full-time basis, supplemented by volunteer workers. Our campaign costs and overhead expenses throughout the year are extremely low, representing only seven per cent of the agencies' budget."

The contingency fund included as a reserve for unpaid pledges, also a reserve for other agencies joining UAA before the next campaign, explained Mr. Lewis.

"You might ask why the United Appeal does not include all agencies who solicit money from you each year. The fact is, we have been invited then to join us ever since the United Appeal has been in existence and invited to keep on asking them, but so far they have declined for one reason or another. Perhaps if we can reach our objective this year one or more of them might join us next year. You might be interested to know that in the various United Appeals held across Canada last year, that all the agencies who have not joined us were entered in some of the campaigns in various cities in Canada.

"To you our Campaign over the top, we need several hundred new contributors. We also need the generous support from those who contributing to our campaign last year".

EASY GIVING

For people working in industry or where the Payroll Giving Plan is in effect, "we recommend this plan as the easiest way to contribute to the United Appeal".

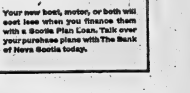
A few cents a week, the price of a pack of cigarettes, or perhaps the price of a soft drink or cup of coffee each day. With today's standard of living "surely it is not beyond the reach of any fully employed person," said Mr. Lewis.

In one campaign, 2,900 people in Belleville contributed $20,000 through the Payroll Giving Plan for an average of 25 cents a person per week. Some gave much more, and some gave less, but the average was 25 cents a week.

"Another 1,000 contributors at this rate would put our campaign over the top", he added.

"Our campaign slogan this year is 'Let's give a day's pay to the United Way'. Before deciding what to give, consider seriously the needs of all the agencies, then please give generously."

NEW METRIC STANDARD



OTTAWA (CP)—The National Research Council announced that a Canadian resolution calling for the new standard for length was adopted Monday by the International Bureau of Weights and Measures, meeting in Paris. The yardstick for measuring the metre will no longer be a metal bar kept in France, but should be defined as a specific number of wave lengths of orange light emitted by the gaseous element krypton.

Ex-Londoner on Ranch

By Mary Moore

"Dear Mrs. Moore: I enjoy your column very much, especially the descriptions of your trip to London and the old familiar spots I knew so well before I came to Canada. I notice a request for a recipe for ginger marmalade. I don't know means the imported kind such as Moorehouse's and Lindsay's. I make it from my own recipe and it's not bad. I find the green ginger is the greatest pulp. Strain through cotton sugar and lemon juice, add the sugar, cup for cup, some lemon juice, and either preserved or crystallized ginger, (about 2 cups ginger to 6 cups juice and sugar). If preserved ginger, add the syrup. Boil and stir often, till it will set, but stand a few minutes, and stir to distribute the ginger evenly, then pour into hot jars and wax.

The best of luck and good health to you and your family —M.Y."

MEAT GALANTINE
(ceegeer M.Y.)

One pound minced veal, pork and beef, (or all beef can be used) 1½ slices of bread soaked in ½ cup milk, 1 cup fine dry breadcrumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 packet, of plain gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water, 2 eggs. Mix all together very well and pack tightly into greased pudding basin. Tie 2 thicknesses of wax paper over top, steam for 2 hours. Turn out carefully before slicing. Serve with salad, meatloaf or pickles and mustard.

FIRM CUSTARD

Butter a shallow pudding dish, sprinkle in ½ cup fine breadcrumbs, then put in 3 or 4 buttered slices of any kind of white fish. Beat 2 eggs slightly, add a little salt and pepper, and 1 cup milk. Pour over the fish and cook slowly till custard is firm. Serve hot. Nice with green peas and buttered toast. Instead of fish, ½ pound of skinless sausage can be used in the same way.

When using oranges or lemons save the peel and grate it finely. Put into a wee glass jar with screw top and add white sugar, 1 good teaspoonful for each fruit. Shake well and store in fridge. This makes a good thing and is always ready to use for cakes, cookies or pudding.

QUICK APPLE CRISP

Butter a shallow pudding dish and empty into it 4 cups canned apple sauce. Rub 2 full tablespoons of butter into 1 cup brown sugar and 1 cup of fine dry breadcrumbs. Arrange this evenly over the apple sauce, bake in oven about 375 deg. for 30 or 35 minutes, or until brown and crisp on top. Serve with cream or thin custard.

Answer — Thanks for a peach of a letter! I hate artificial vanilla, too.

I know you won't be angry with me if I step out of line and criticize a wee bit. I do think Canadian recipes have too much cocoa, spices and vanilla. Why destroy the God-given flavor of fresh or stewed fruits with the lasting synthetic vanilla?

Recently one of your readers asked for cheap cookies. I'm enclosing 2 or 3 she might find useful. Besides being "cheap-ies" they are also "quickies". I have spent many years on a cattle ranch in Saskatchewan, and meals often have had to come under those two categories.

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and four housewives. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Lillian T. — We are invaded by grandparents, too.

Mrs. G. T. — Our grandchildren are lucky to have us.

Lillian T. — Rod and I have been married 10 years and have four children, including a seven-month-old baby. It so happens that the grandparents, all four of them, live nearby. And at the drop of a hat they turn up here.

Of course we appreciate having such young, willing and able parents. But it would be nice if they had a few interests outside of us. My father is retired and has all the t' s in the world to keep him busy. But he insists upon spend all their spare time with us except for the time weekends each year they visit their other son out of province.

It's gotten so we can't feel we're bringing up our own children. There's little room for mistakes of spoiling. If we can't work out some sort of schedule, there'll be a big blow-up one of these days and we'll talk turkey. Either they learn to leave us or we'll move to Alaska!

Mrs. G. T. — To hear my daughter-in-law talk about us you'd think we were their enemies is a real shock.

Sis and Bud grew up together in this neighborhood and their families are close friends. Naturally we are drawn to those darling children the minute one is a magnet.

We try to make things easy. Lillian's mother always brings some of her homemade bread and cookies and I do all her ironing.

As for spoiling the children, we're both a few toys and goodies. Or the grandfather takes them to the movies once in a while, or to play ball in the park. I'm not ashamed to admit I call that loving, and how can a child get too much loving?

The Council — There's no doubt that grandparents can be one of life's greatest blessings to a child. But they may well account for the good mental health of children who have been "deprived" in other departments important to sound emotional growth.

But with the T.'s, Junior and Sis are the ones in danger. Because of the complex relationships involved — parent, child, in-law, neighbor — a skilled outsider should be called upon to draw up the "ground rules" for fair play between the grandparents.

The grandparents will be reminded that Rod's and Lillian's children are not playthings for their idle moments. The youngsters' lives are being directed by conscientious, responsible parents who must be supported, not undermined, by deferred to in all matters pertaining to the children's welfare.

Random "dropping-in" will be stopped. Visits will be spaced and timed, and — to keep excitement and distraction to a minimum — will be limited to one set of grandparents at a time.

Lillian will be told in no uncertain terms that she is a married woman and Rod's equal. She is to be given the right to make decisions and Rod's approval of them.

Rod will be told that the people can't possibly handle their problems without his cooperation and that the older people from seeking out new interests, new friends, new diversions when the days of full-time parenthood are over.

As for Lillian and Rod, once the grandparents' excessive parental attention is reduced, they can start thanking their lucky stars for the treasure of so much love on tap for them and the children. Mrs. G. T. is right in believing that there's such a thing as too much love, but "love" must be defined. Occasionally a grownup thinks he's "loving" the child for his own "using" the child for his own ends.

Certainly all of us are the better for the warm cuddling companionship, treats and guidance offered by kind and understanding grandparents. The many who never know this boon are indeed to be pitied. I myself have passed on and cannot extend to my grandchildren will envy Lillian and Rod their "jackpot."

THE CALLING CARD

Many of us may never pay a social call in the formal manner, where a calling card is needed. But regardless of this fact, such a card can be very useful for other purposes and they are very handy to have around. They are ideal for issuing informal invitations and their use adds a certain personal touch to flowers and sending a gift or flowers.

Cards for social usage should always be engraved, never printed or typed. A full name is given. Initials should not be used. It is advisable to check with a reputable stationer with regard to the type or lettering to be used. The script is always acceptable. The stationer will tell you the correct sizes for the different cards you may need.

The married woman's card (as well as that of a widow) should contain the full name — "Mrs. John Francis Proper" in the centre. The address is placed in the lower right - hand corner. The married man's card simply contains his full name, preceded by the prefix "Mr." No address is necessary, since his card almost inevitably accompanies that of his wife when calls are made. The double or "At Home" card, on which the address is included, is particularly useful for sending out invitations or with gifts.

The divorcee uses her maiden surname and her former husband's surname, thus: "Mrs. Smith Dow" The use of her christian name, "Mrs. Mary Smith Dow," is also considered correct but the first example is preferred.

The unmarried woman uses her full name, followed by the prefix "Miss." The address should appear in the lower right - hand corner. A young girl does not use the prefix "Miss" until the age of 17. Should she have cards before that time, only her first name is on the card.

The bachelor's card contains his name in full, with "Mr." placed before it. In this case the address should be given in the lower right - hand corner.

He does not use the "Jr." until he graduates from high school or reaches the age of 16.

Mr., Mrs. Harry Smith Mark 40 Years of Married Life

NORTHPORT — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, Northport, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on a recent Thursday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kirby, Belleville, entertained in their honor 18 relatives and close friends at Club Canary, where everyone enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner.

Mrs. Smith chose for the occasion, a crushed-rose silk and lace dress. She was presented by Jack Fleschin with roses and feathered pink carnation corsages by her daughter and son-in-law, and Mr. Smith a boutonniere.

A three-tier anniversary cake centred the table, made by their daughter, Mrs. Kinny, and iced in white with touches of ruby red and topped by a vase with red rose buds which was cut by the bride and bridegroom of 40 years.

Mr. Kinny, son-in-law, proposed the toast to the honored guests which Mr. Smith briefly replied.

Mrs. A. M. Palmateer spoke briefly, extending appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Kinny on their thoughtful way of arranging the anniversary party.

Many lovely gifts the guests were received at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kinny, 22 Bidder St., which was decorated with lovely autumn flowers and beautiful baskets of gladioli.

The guests of honor were seated underneath white wedding bells and streamers and presided from the ceiling to a table, with background of flowers and candles.

Mr. Howard Smith, their son, gave a short address after which Mr. and Mrs. Smith opened many beautiful gifts, thanking each one.

Contests were enjoyed and films shown of the family and their trip to the U.S.A. during the summer.

A dainty lunch was served by the host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married on September 29, 1920, at Demorestville United church parsonage, by the late Rev. Burris Garratt.

Mr. Duncan Smith, brother of the bridegroom and Mrs. Smith were the attendants.

They travelled to Midland for their honeymoon, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Palmateer.

Since their marriage they have resided at Northport where Mr. Smith still carries on a full-farm schedule.

They have one son, Howard, of Northport, and one daughter (Ruth) Mrs. Harold Kinny, Belleville, and five grandchildren.

11 Candidates Will Be Seeking 4 Commons Seats

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nominations closed Monday for Canada's big Oct. 31 byelection test with 11 candidates seeking the four Commons seats that are up for grabs.

Filing of nomination papers showed three-way struggles for seats in Ontario's Peterborough and Niagara Falls ridings and in New Brunswick's Royal constituency.

The campaign in Quebec's Lesage riding will be a straight struggle between Progressive Conservative and Liberal candidates.

For the first time in a federal vote, the political designation New Party appeared beside candidates' names.

The label—resulting from action of the CCF and the Canadian Labor Congress to set up a new left-of-centre political party—was adopted by candidates in Peterborough and Niagara Falls. But the third seat in the line against a Conservative and a Liberal in Royal is going under the CCF banner.

Death of the sitting members forced the Ontario byelections—Liberal William L. Houck in Niagara Falls and Progressive Conservative Gordon K. Fraser in Peterborough.

Royal became vacant when former veterans affairs minister Brooks was appointed to the Senate last month and Labelle was thrown open when former secretary of state Henri Courtemanche went to the upper house in January.

Mr. Brooks represented Royal, always a Conservative stronghold, steadily from 1935 while Mr. Fraser represented Peterborough for the Conservatives from 1940 onward.

The present Niagara Falls constituency was established in 1952 and Mr. Houck had held the seat for the Liberals since the general election of the following year.

Seeking to hold Niagara Falls for the Liberals is the lone female candidate in the current batch of byelections — Judy LaMarsh, a 35-year-old lawyer. The two women in the Commons at present are Progressive Conservatives — Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough (Hamilton West) and Margaret Aitken (York-Humber).

Niagara's Conservative candidate is Keith Lougheed, 41, a high school science teacher, and the New Party candidate is Edward E. Michelson, 50, a science teacher and nurse.

The Conservative candidate in Peterborough is Harold Matthews, 57, partner in an insurance firm. Running against him are Liberal C. Donald Munro, 57, a retired school principal, and Walter Pitman, 31, history department head at Kenner Collegiate in Peterborough who is running under the New Party banner.

Hugh John Flemming, 61, the new federal forestry minister, is seeking a seat in Royal against Liberal Harold A. Fredericks, 35-year-old businessman, and the CCF's Georges H. Wheaton, 51, a railway employee.

Paul - Emile Lesage, Progressive Conservative, is opposed by Gaston Clermont, Liberal, in Labelle.

Present standing in the 265-seat Commons: Progressive Conservative 205, Liberal 66, CCF 9, vacant 4.

Single Stalk Saved Became Seed of Red Fife Wheat

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. David Fife looked out her kitchen window Monday in May and saw a few stalks of Siberian wheat in her garden. She chased it away.

A few stalks stole the saved seed the seeds from which sprang the famed Red Fife variety grown in Canada since the 1840s and prized for 80 years.

Red Fife, a short, lined in Canadian township never before, was successful in producing big crops, especially outcast, to resist frost and rust.

She mused a friend in Scotland for some wheat samples but those sent were not suitable. Then in 1841 the same friend sent a sample of wheat from a ship off Danzig and sent it to Fife. The wheat was planted in the garden and the growing continued the row came.

FORGOTTEN FEAT

The salvaged stalk was kept indoors to await the next planting season but was forgotten about. Mrs. Fife died in 1865 and remembered and replanted only after the Siberian wheat then in use started to sprout.

The Way of the Worry-Free

There's the high road and the low road — many are the lanes that lead from here to there.

The anxious road. The fretful road. The hazardous road — the rough and the smooth, the swift and the adventurous.

And there are those who think of all of these when they plan to go from here to there.

Ask the vexationer who leaves his car behind why he rides with Canadian National Railways. Invariably you will find his reason is these half-dozen simple words — it's the way of the worry-free.

Luxury, restfulness. Quiet and roomy comfort. The courteous, the gracious air — all of these are there.

But beyond these is assurance.

It is this, contrasted with the teeming and relentless traffic of today's highways, that is making a growing number of motorists say — "I take it easier — I take the train".

take it easier—take the train

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

To feed—or not to feed. That is the question!

The illegal baiting of wild ducks in the Bay of Quinte and other hunting areas, and the subsequent posting and closing by order of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police caused more or less of a furore among members of the hunting fraternity.

The fact that the "Mountie" by virtue of their authority under the Migratory Birds Act, re-opened the greater majority of the hunting areas assured to some extent the ire of some of the hunters, but the topic has been and still is a "hot one" in general hunting circles.

It is a well-known fact that feeding of wild ducks (legal up to seven days prior to opening date) has been going on in this district for some time. By the same token, so has the illegal baiting of the birds.

It has been stated in some quarters that illegal feeding was not resorted to in order to facilitate commercialism—to bring a "quick and easy dollar for a fast drink."

Be that as it may. As was stated in this column a few days ago, the action of the Mounties in closing certain areas met with varied reaction on the part of hunters.

Veterans, wise in the ways of their "feeding contemporaries," accepted it off with "We knew it had to come."

But the more tried and richly so, were those who consider hunting as a sport and a pastime for a tasty delicacy, and who had resting certain areas in advance, only to have them closed by official edict.

There has been a lot of cracker-barrel discussion going on in Smiths Falls since the RCMP stepped in and put the lock, so to speak, on illegally-baited haunts.

In order to clear up the situation and get expert opinion on the matter, the Belleville and District Fish and Game Club decided to include a panel discussion in the agenda of the regular monthly meeting scheduled for tonight at the Club Corners, starting eight o'clock.

The decision of the Fish and Game Club to include the panel headed the headquarters of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, would be wasted in that the department is sending its top man, actually the head of its Wildlife Section, here, to participate in the discussion.

He is Mr. Douglas Chaned of Toronto, who will head the panel consisting of Douglas Bateman, Dr. Jim Forrester and Bob Phillips.

It is expected that members of the Trend Division of the department will be on hand. RCMP Corporal R. E. Muir, who headed the investigation into illegal baiting, has been invited to attend.

Fish and Game Association president Bruce M. Kerr, secretary Ken Yorke and the directors are to be commended on their action in bringing the matter to the point where it can be fully discussed and aired by members, but those in authority whose professional knowledge and promulgation of opinion could go a long way toward helping clear the air, up.

Members and others, especially those of the hunting division of the club, should make it a point to be on hand tonight when the discussion on the merits and/or the disadvantages of baiting gets under way as soon as possible after eight o'clock.

Besides the panel there will be some fine films shown. A valuable firearm will be "raffled" and some lucky members will go home with handsome door prizes.

'In Bad Shape'

Injuries Riddle Riders

OTTAWA (CP)—"We were in pretty bad shape before we started against the Argos and we're in worse shape now," George Terlep, manager of the Big Four football league club said Monday.

Things look a little rough," he added in a "monumental understatement, considering that the playoffs are less than three weeks away.

Against the Montreal Alouettes Thanksgiving weekend halfback Ron Stewart badly bruised a heel through running for six touchdowns in the two games and quarterback Ron Lancaster suffered a shoulder injury. They now little action in Argos 37-13 whitewashing of the Riders Sunday.

Halfback Joe Kelly played despite an attack of tonsilitis which began Thursday.

Defensive end Lou Bruce reinjured a knee Sunday and is not expected to play here Saturday against Argos. Stewart is also a doubtful starter.

Also injured, but expected to play, are Gary Schreiber with a concussion, linebacker Ron Knox, a shoulder injury, flanker Davey West, an injured back, defensive back Doug Dalgleish, a twisted ankle and plunger Dave Thelen who aggravated a shoulder injury.

National League Expands To 10 Teams

Adds Houston, New York City

By JOE REICHLER

CHICAGO (AP) — The Associated Press learned today that the American League will not immediately follow the example set Monday by the National League when it committed itself to becoming a 10-team league in 1962 by granting franchises to Houston and New York City.

Instead, the American League will devote most of the business at its meeting, scheduled for Oct. 26 in New York, to settling its realignment problem.

A source close to Del Webb, head of the league's expansion committee, said the co-owner of the Yankees was not "gravely concerned" over such problem cities as Kansas City, Washington and Cleveland.

"I think the American League might have to straighten out its realignment problem before it can take definite and positive steps on expansion," said the source.

SENATORS TO MOVE?

These were seen as possible moves or factors involved:

1. Shifting of the Washington franchise to Minneapolis - St. Paul.

2. The desire of Hank Greenberg, part owner of the Chicago White Sox, to obtain a franchise in Washington.

3. The possibility of the Kansas City franchise being moved to Los Angeles.

"And don't overlook the possibility of the Cleveland club being moved elsewhere," one of the informant. "I understand the operators of the Cleveland club are fed up. They're terribly disappointed with the attendance this year."

VOTED FOR EXPANSION

The American League, at its last meeting in New York Aug. 30, voted to expand to 10 teams no later than Dec. 1, 1961, but did not discuss any new teams. It is understood Dallas - Fort Worth has the inside track for a franchise. There are 17 other applicants including Minneapolis-St. Paul, Toronto, Oakland, Seattle and San Diego.

Cal Griffith, owner of the Senators, tried once before to move his club to the twin cities in Minneapolis but was stymied by his fellow owners, who refused to abandon Washington. They may relent if assured that another syndicate, such as Greenberg, would place a team in the U.S. capital.

The Kansas City club, currently owned by the widow of Arnold Johnson, who died last April, is "gravely ill," one source said. It is not known whether the new owners plan to remain or move the franchise elsewhere. The Athletics, by contract, are committed to play in Kansas City for two more years unless the stadium fails short of the prescribed $50,000 in any season.

KEEN ON LOS ANGELES

It is known that several American League owners want to move to Los Angeles at once, especially if New York returns to the National League.

Dodger owner Walter O'Malley, who must approve of an AL franchise in his Los Angeles territory, said he would not oppose such a move, but he added: "I don't think baseball can be a smart move at this time.

"I'm glad that the American League eventually will go to the coast," he said, "but there are other fine cities such as San Diego and Seattle. Seattle is a wonderful baseball town and league ball."

O'Malley said no matter what the American League decides, the National will operate as a 10-team league in 1962.

Fans Honor Bob Simpson

By DAVE STOCKTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Scores of Bob Simpson's friends put him through the gruelling workout of a testimonial dinner Monday night while coddling him in the warm blanket of their words.

Their summed - up hope was that the veteran Ottawa Rough Riders Big Four football club will continue to add his sparkle to the team in seasons ahead.

Praise of the amiable and rolled in by way of telegrams to the head table here assembled Big Four and Western Conference teams and personalities, in the after - dinner speeches of workers and in similar oratory from four on the field who value his after-game friendship.

The 250-plebe affair lasted more than four hours—an opportune whistle reception, the piping in and pouring in of the close to 200 paying friends of Bobby for a main course of beef a-la-carte Canadian, and a marathon of after-dinner speeches from the head table.

IN 12TH SEASON

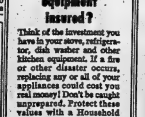
Bob, who has watched the rolypoly ripe old age of 30 in his 11th season with the Riders, was as happy as a bear cub with a honeycomb all through the ceremonies.

Near the end, when his turn came, he told the gathering:

"I'm not a fan of words because everybody here knows me."

With this reference to his willingness to sound off on any subject and anything with the greatest moment anyone could have in sport.

"Nothing," he said, "can touch this very moment."



Bob Simpson Monday night became the proud possessor of a painting depicting the hero of the evening — Bob Simpson. The portrait was done by Tex Coulter, former Montreal Alouettes who also runs a flourishing restaurant business. All proceeds from the evening's going his way, and they are expected to show up in the form of a shiny new automobile when the Riders play at home next Saturday.

Bob is a native of Windsor and played one season with Windsor Rockets in the Ontario Rugby Football Union before coming to Ottawa Rough Riders in 1950.

In his Big Four career he has scored 151 points, making him second in the club's all-time list. Alouette Virgil Wagner with 398. He has been Ottawa's team captain for the last seven years and has won all-star rating in the Big Four six times.

Hull Has 8 Points

Moore Big Gun In NHL Artillery

MONTREAL (CP) — Dickie Moore, who missed the National Hockey League scoring championship last season after winning it twice in a row, came up with a whopping production of six goals and two assists in Montreal Canadiens' four games last week and leads the current parade with 14 points.

Scoring an average of two points a game, Moore now has nine goals and five assists.

Although Canadiens ran into their first loss of the new season after four wins and two ties, they scored 19 goals in the four games and all of Montreal's big guns were firing steadily.

GEOFFRION SECOND

Bernie Geoffrion rifled in five goals and picked up two assists and follows Moore with 10 points on a 7-3 count, in the league's official statistics released today.

Jean Beliveau, Henri Richard and Billy Hicke each have third place at nine points each, with Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers and Norm Ullman of Detroit Red Wings.

Beliveau collected two goals and five assists for seven points during the week while Richard and Hicke each scored two goal and added four assists.

Bathgate scored three goals and two assists and Ullman two goals and four assists. Bathgate is placed at the top of the group because he has more goals, his total is four. Richard and Ullman have three each and Beliveau and Hicke two each.

Bobby Hull, Chicago Black Hawks star who won the scoring title last season, leads a group of three with eight points each. The Hawks played only two games last week but Hull counted two goals and two assists to give him a 6-2 total.

Gordie Howe of Detroit scored one goal and five assists to join the eight-point bracket. Marcel Bonin of Montreal failed to score a goal but his assists put him in the same group. Now has has a 3-6 total and Bonin 1-7.

Alone at seven points in the standing is Brian Cullen of New York, who picked up three assists in the Rangers' three losing games and now has two goals and five assists.

Nine players follow with five points each—Doug Mohns, Johnny Bucyk and Vic Stasiuk of Boston, Andy Hebenton of New York, Red Kelly of Toronto, Bill Hay of Chicago and three defencemen—Jean-Guy Talbot and Doug Harvey of Montreal and Bill Gadsby of New York.

HEADS TRACK SQUAD

HAMILTON (CP)—Linebacker Bill Mitchell of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four will head a McMaster University track and field squad at intercollegiate senior championships in Toronto Wednesday. He is entered in discus, javelin and shot put events. Mitchell, who has been bothered by a bad knee, has not competed in a track meet since 1958.

'Bums' Want New Club In Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP)—Hizzoner New Yorkers today shrugged off the National Baseball League's return to the city.

But Congressman Francis E. Dorn, a Republican, protested that the franchise should be moved to Brooklyn "where it belongs."

The new team will be quartered in Flushing, where a stadium is to be erected on the site of the World's Fair Grounds.

Dorn issued a call to Brooklyn fans to rally behind him in a campaign to have the team housed in the borough. He said he will try to find a spot suitable for a ball park if the new owners ask his help.

That's doubtful. Plans are almost completed for the new 55,000-seat stadium, to be finished for the 1962 season.

Mayor William Zeckis wondered how a name would be chosen for the team.

Has 14-Point Lead

Dixon Stranglehelds Scoring Title

TORONTO (CP) — George Dixon, 25-year-old second - year import with Montreal Alouettes, has just about wrapped up the Jeff Nicklin Memorial Trophy as top Canadian football union scoring title. With only two games remaining in the 14-game schedule, he holds a record margin over his nearest rival.

Dixon scored two touchdowns Saturday as the All-Star Hamilton Tiger-Cats 45-21 to boost his total to 126 points on 17 touchdowns. He has played only 10 of the All- 12 games.

There's a battle for second place. Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Cookie Gilchrist of Toronto Argonauts holding down that spot with 85 points, just four more than Norm Rauhaus, Montreal Ottawa Rough Rider scatback.

Gilchrist, the 1958 scoring champion with 77 points, scored 13 points as Argos whipped the Eskimos 37-13. Stewart was also outside up on Gilchrist going into the game, but was held scoreless.

Dave Mann of Argos, a two-touchdown scorer Sunday, is fourth with 78 points and another Argo, Dick Shatto, who also collected a pair, shares fifth place with Hal Bentley of Montreal Alouettes, each with 66 points.

Furback Dave Thelen of Ottawa is within 76 yards of his Big Four rushing record.

Official league statistics show Thelen with 1,460 yards, just 76 short of the record 1,536 he rolled up last year. Dixon is in second place with 811 while Stewart has 791 yards.

The pass-catching department is dominated by Montreal's Hal Patterson with 58 received.

Toronto's Dave Mann is second in catches, with 51, but his 1,218 yards put him in fifth place, ahead of Patterson's 976 yards. Harry Lunn of Hamilton leads in punt returns. Lunn carried 41 times for 222 yards while Stewart, who had carried 26 times for 212 yards up to this weekend, carried only once more for a 214-yard total.

There's a fight battle going on for the scoring title in the Senior Ontario Rugby Football League. Lenny Lisi of London leads with 36 points on three touchdowns, 33 converts, four field goals and four singles. Just one point behind is Bill Ferris of Scarlets. Golden Bears and Curtis Cotton of Detroit Riders follow with 34. From there in the list is spread out.

Robin Hilton of Queen's Golden Gaels retained the No. 1 spot in the Intercollegiate Football League with 27 points after picking up four as Queen's beat U-of-O in the University of Western Ontario Mustangs last Saturday. John McMurry of the University of Toronto is second with 18 points.

Gerry James Gets Closer To Parker

Otherwise, nothing much was changed by Winnipeg's 31-17 win over Edmonton before 15,000 fans Monday night.

The Bombers have clinched first place and a bye into the final playoffs. Edmonton was sure of second spot.

James picked up 15 points on two touchdowns and three converts to run his point total to 96 — two back of Parker who scored a touchdown.

Both teams have one game left in the 16-regular schedule — Edmonton against Saskatchewan Roughriders at Regina Saturday and Riders at Winnipeg next Monday.

Bright rolled for 71 yards to cut down Lunsford, tied at 95 yards. Both have one game left. Bright in Regina, Lunsford in Vancouver against Lions Saturday night.

Edmonton's points came on the Parker touchdown, a touchdown by fullback Normie Kwong, a field goal and 4 convert by and Tommy-Joe Coffey and a single by end Vic Chapman.

The outstanding play of the game was a 67-yard dash up Leo Lewis, of Winnipeg, begun in Blue Bomber's own touchdown, the final quarter.

Macs Round Into Shape

BY GEO. E. CARVER
Sports Editor

Quite a number of rallbirds were on hand in Memorial Arena last night and, hockeywise, the majority liked what they saw.

Coach Scotty Bell had some 23 in part, present and future McFarlands jumping through the keeping hoops — and he didn't spare the horses nor the whip.

From here it looks like Bell has made a couple ten ten strikes in the acquisition of centre Billy Calvin and defence veteran Jean Paul Lamirande.

The sturdy dependability of Lamirande bolsters the blueline brigade while the fleet, high-scoring centre plugs a hole up front that was definitely noticeable in last year's squad.

Bell gave the squad the full treatment. He had them starting, shooting, rushing in the formation and scrimmage. They will get this mighty swift floor open here Friday night against Whitby.

Showing a final burst of speed was the Hildebrand-Calvin-Mahoney line. Sans the Mass drill remains fast, black, shifty and kept abreast of the fast-starting Bell team.

Defence Brooks Berry Johns and Lou Speers stood firmly intact. Speers, handling cautious rein while Ferraton, Topping and Pinkerton worked out on another line.

Lean, Ferrari of Wellington and Ted Reed, 16, of Picton made a request with Bell after the drill that they be allowed to work out with the Mac team. Bell, of course, with Eddie Mahoney and Lou Speers would get the eye on the talents of the better scoring record.

J. G. (Jake) Gaudaur of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, chairman of the league's managers committees, discussed the situation with Ralph Sazio, president of the Rough Riders, and Sam Berger, league president and a member of the Ottawa executive.

Gaudaur said Heyman and Workman agreed with him that the league's constitution clearly states the procedure to be followed and that it would be unfair at this time to change the legislation.

He said the Ottawa officials still considered it should be given to the Rough Riders' view point, but record should be the deciding factor in a tie between two clubs.

Argos would get the bye on the Tribe Buys Leafs' King

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim King, 28-year-old outfielder who won the International League's most valuable player rating last season, has been purchased from Toronto Maple Leafs by Cleveland Indians, it was announced today. The sale price was not disclosed.

King, from Atkins, Ark., will report to the Indians' American League baseball training camp in Tucson, Ariz. He has had previous major league experience in three seasons, 1955 to 1957. He batted .311 in 111 games and 2.49 in 118 games with Chicago Cubs and in 1957 played 23 games for St. Louis Cardinals.

King, a left - handed hitter, batted .290 and had 83 runs batted in and 24 homers with Leafs this year.

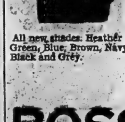
Big Four Clubs

To Hold Emergency Meet

OTTAWA (CP) — D. Wes Brown, secretary - treasurer of the Eastern Football Conference, announced Monday that an emergency meeting of Big Four club representatives will be held here Oct. 21 to discuss the method of determining ties standing of teams in the event of a tie at the end of the regular 14-game schedule.

The meeting has been called because Ottawa Rough Riders are objecting to the present rule in which there is a bye for any of the three playoff berths. The first-place club gets a bye, into two-game, total-points final while the second and third teams play a point-to-point, semi-final.



Under the league's constitution in event of a tie between two clubs at the end of the regular schedule the team that is awarded the points standing is the one which has scored the greater number of points in the games played between the two clubs. The number of games won and lost between the teams is not taken into account.

Ottawa, battling with Toronto Argonauts for first place and the bye, is protesting the rule on the grounds that the league's 14-game schedule tied with Argos, but Argos won the bye over the Riders even though they would have a better won-lost record in five games played there.

The Rough Riders want the standings decided on the basis of who wins the most games. They say Argos beat Saturday and they would drop to Riders' 4-3 won-loss mark for the five games played there.

On the four games so far which they have split Argos hold an 87-80 point edge. The Argos can lose Saturday's game in Ottawa by up to 14 points and, should the two teams be tied at the end of the schedule the following week,

Andy Griffith Plays Straight To His Deputy, Don Knotts

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — It took Danny Thomas more than a season to get his situation comedy series, Make Room for Daddy renamed The Danny Thomas Show. The delight with which he renamed The Jack Parr Show only after several successful seasons. But Andy Griffith — who wasn't as well known as either of the other comedians—has started out as star of The Andy Griffith Show.

Griffith is a tall, country-style comedian with a florid turn of phrase somewhere east of Ernie Ford and south of Bing Crosby.

Although he made his first marks in show business acting— No Time for Sergeants on Broadway and Onion Head in motion pictures—he became known to the TV audience as the bumbling idiot on the Sunday night variety shows.

HOW FUNNY

Griffith now has returned to acting, and one of the big problems he had to be funny and not was just how funny Andy was going to be allowed to be.

"I'm not funny," because it seemed to have a lot of comic possibilities he said, "and apparently I thought that I'd be the one to do all the jokes. Then we added Don Knotts as my comedy deputy. He's a very funny boy.

"Suddenly we discovered that he just wasn't working out having two comedians trying to be funny. So now I play straight man to Don as our scenes together. I get to be funny in the other scenes."

AT THE KELLS — Judy Holliday and Jack Lemmon in "Bells Are Ringing", Color and CinemaScope production of Broadway's hit-singing romance with Mike Kellaway recreating the original stage role. Co-starring are Fred Clark and Hattie Frey Jr., Dailey and Kelly. Also on the program for the last time at the Bells Theatre.

TITLE DEFENCE

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Archie Moore will defend his light heavyweight boxing championship against Erich Schoeppner of Germany here in February, sports editor Tommy Devine of the Miami News said Monday. The long-delayed bout originally was scheduled for last July 18 at Toronto.

Wins Award

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Quarterback Al Dorow of New York Titans became the first two-time winner of the American Football League's award for player of the week on offence.

Dorow, formerly of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football, was voted the honor by AFL writers for his performance in the Titans' 17-13 victory over Buffalo Billy last Sunday.

British Authorities

Will Probe Soccer Scandal

LONDON (AP) — British soccer authorities decided Monday to call in the law in the mounting scandal over fixed matches.

After a lengthy discussion in a hush-hush atmosphere, leaders of the Football Association and the English Football League announced they are pooling on the evidence they have in the government's director of public prosecutions. He advises police whether to file criminal charges.

Roy Paul, former Manchester City captain, started the bribery sensation with a signed article in a Sunday newspaper in which he said he had accepted bribes. Paul said he once took £500 for seeing that Manchester was defeated and split the money with another member of the team.

Since then several other players are reported to have said they were involved in fixing games.

The players' association complained that it was shutout on Monday's meeting.

Chairman Jimmy Hill, who plays for Fulham, told reporters: "We are very disturbed, so put it mildly, about the whole situation. It's not just a matter of newspaper reporting allegations of bribery. It's also a question who supplied them with the information on which they based their approach to the players."

Will Coach Team

CALGARY (CP) — Al Rollins, 33-year-old veteran of 15 years as a netminder in professional hockey, announced Monday he will coach a Calgary team this year in Alberta's Big Six Hockey League, an intermediate A circuit.

Buck Boucher Dies at 65

OTTAWA (CP) — George (Buck) Boucher, a member of the Hockey Hall of Fame and for 17 years one of the game's great defencemen, died in hospital here Monday.

Boucher, 65, was presented hockey's highest award in a ceremony at his hospital bedside only three weeks ago. He was operated on last January for cancer of the throat, an ailment he suffered for six years.

A member of one of Canada's most celebrated hockey families, Boucher was one of five brothers, all but one of whom became National Hockey League stars. The others are Frank and Joe, who survive, and Bobby and Billy who predeceased him.

He started as a forward with the Eureka of the old Ottawa City league and broke into professional hockey with Ottawa Senators during the First World War.

SWITCH TO DEFENCE

Boucher later moved back to defence, where he gained fame as a remarkable stickhandler and partnered some of the game's all-time great combinations, helping to bring the club four Stanley Cups between 1920 and 1927.

An active player until 1934, Buck also played with the Montreal Maroons and the Chicago Blackhawks and coached Ottawa, Boston, St. Louis and Chicago.

Buck brought the Allan Cup to Ottawa while coaching the Ottawa Shamrocks in the Quebec Senior League in 1909.

After turning to professional hockey in 1912 at the age of 18, Buck had played three years of football with the Ottawa Rough Riders. He was considered one of the games best halfbacks.

CASEY DECIDES TODAY

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees have called a press conference for noon today at which manager Casey Stengel will announce his future plans. The announcement gave no hint of Stengel's moves, but it has been reported for weeks that the 70-year-old manager is going to be succeeded by coach Ralph Houk for the 1961 season.

Western Hockey

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Winnipeg Warriors defeated Portland Buckaroos on Monday night in their first Western Hockey League meeting, although Winnipeg had to battle hard to make more than twice as many goals as Don Head in the Portland nets.

Gerry Brisson, Don Bamburak and Lorne Davis scored two goals to lead Warriors.

Portland scorers were Orio Godwin and Eddie Dudych.

Eastern Pros

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Hull-Ottawa Canadiens provide the power to the team's three wingers in the first four games of the Eastern Professional Hockey League season.

The three, Gilles Tremblay, Terry Gray and Bobby Rousseau, are tied for scoring place with four scorers. They have scored 14 of the Canadiens' 25 goals.

Tremblay and Gray, leads the league with 10 points on six goals and four assists. Gray and Buddy Boone of Kingston Frontenacs are tied for second place with nine points each. Boone has six goals and three assists and Gray has four goals and five assists.

Rousseau and Dennis Olson of Hull-Ottawa Canadiens are tied for third spot, each with four goals and two assists. Four other players, including Hull-Ottawa's Cliff Pennington, are tied for fourth place with seven points each.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Wednesday, October 19

General tendencies: The very early A. M. is a depressing time and finds many difficulties confronting you, but they are soon past and an electric influence occurs which shows you the way to wind up whatever has been disturbing or incomplete, and you then can make a fresh start tomorrow towards desirable aims. Get plan ready tonight.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Get an early start in all career matters, putting problems and worries behind you. Beginning at the sunset hour is fine for meeting with good friends and having the delightful time you have long anticipated. Be careful, say.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Remain steadfast to job in A. M. though you may feel somewhat discouraged and want to run off to what seem to be greener pastures. Evening is then ideal for getting home conditions more as you want them to be. Grow.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Instead of fretting over the fact that you cannot discharge that duty so important to you in A. M., get out and visit barber or beautician and improve appearance. Then get together with the right people socially so that you can advance.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Avoid that irate associate in A. M. Look to a clever member of own clan for the right idea that will assist you in bettering your financial situation right now. Then, stay at home tonight and have a charming evening.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — While the early morning may be rather slow, since you are not feeling quite up to par, you can later make up for lost time and be out to the visits, calls, shopping, important work necessary to your advancement in career.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Put all thought of entertainment out of your tireless mind today and get to work on whatever will bring you an abundance, and to spare. Consult with experts. Do any repairing required. P. M. help the needy and the ill.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Avoid that trying situation at home and be off to business and contacts who can help to better your financial condition. Accept assistance willingly given. P. M. be sociable — fraternize.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — Don't take no heart some disheartening letter in A. M. Get in touch with experts or higher — up and garner the information you need at this time. Become successful. P. M. time for pleasure and aiding those less fortunate.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Don't be impatient over some monetary affair in A. M. Devote your time to getting in touch with the right contacts so that you can look into new and more efficient methods of operating. They can be very helpful to you.

Capricorn (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20) — Instead of being and remaining disturbed over the A. M. get busy and look into the new outlets that will help you to get ahead faster in your career. Swing that big deal you have worked on for some time.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You can avoid morning worry by stepping out and meeting worthwhile individuals who can open new avenues of success for you. Also, carry through with associate's fine ideas. Go out socially in P. M. Home fun.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Don't permit that depressed acquaintance to lower your fine spirits today. Confer with advisors you have faith in and make the future brighter and more prosperous instead. P. M. take treatments to improve your health.

If your child is born today — there will be a tendency toward being a nervous and quiet child-hood, but this is due to a diligentive trait, and soon the nature changes to a sunny and charming one. The life can be prosperous and happy, provided you teach early to have self-control and not spend too much time in pleasure mainly. Give an excellent course in business and the fine promise here will be fulfilled.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In per hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were checked over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very large variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing!

All this, without the use of surgery, injections, office visits or any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Now, this Bio-Dyne is in a wide use for healing injured tissue in all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is now in suppository or anesthetized form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H. Supposito ies or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Each product is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

about the leaflet in the Detroit News which described it as a "disgusting, insulting thing to only bigots oppose the election" of Senator Kennedy, the Democratic candidate for president.

In denouncing the leaflet, Eisenhower said he was speaking as an American, not as the Republican nor the Democratic party.

KKK CARTOONS

On the front page of the four-page document, prepared by the national committee of the Democratic party, is a cartoon showing a Ku Klux Klansman. The caption reads: "Which do you choose? Liberty or bigotry?"

Meanwhile, the president of the Auto Workers Union said the leaflet reflected a mistake in judgment and he expressed public regret over its publication. He added the leaflet had been to counteract what he termed "religious hate material" which, he said, had been distributed in auto plants across the United States.

Eisenhower's audience of 2,500 at the auto show dinner in Detroit's new $54,000,000 Cobo Hall was made up mostly of industrialists. Reuther was not among the few labor leaders present. Also not there was Detroit Mayor Louis Miriani, an associate said the press of other business kept the UAW chief from the banquet.

A contrast of Eisenhower's speech was that the U.S. must tolerate no retreat in the progress of peace and intended to bolster free world nations against the Communist threat. But all these nations must help themselves and other countries to whatever extent possible.

Civil Servants Bow to Pressure Of B.C. Govt.

VICTORIA (CP) — The province of British Columbia's civil servants bowed to provincial government pressure Monday and suspended affiliation with the B.C. Federation of Labor (CLC).

The executive of the B.C. Government Employees Association met in a seven-hour emergency session during the day, then sent telegrams to Acting Premier Eric Martin and to the labor federation announcing at least a temporary suspension of ties.

President Dave Stock of Nanaimo later told a press conference a secret referendum will be held — probably in about six weeks — to get the opinion of the association's 11,000 members.

He said he believed the members would approve severing ties with organized labor.

Association spokesmen added, in answer to questions, that the move was a "direct result" of pressure from Victoria.

STOP DEDUCTIONS

The provincial government announced this week it was discontinuing its deduction of associations dues from payrolls, and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black criticized the association's continued affiliation with the labor federation, which worked actively in support of the NDP during the recent provincial election.

At its annual convention 10 days ago, the association decided to continue affiliation with organized labor although urging the members' vote.

when Nixon says he won't make a "deal" with Khrushchev, that Khrushchev is not to be trusted. But he would defend Quemoy and Matsu; that he is against appeasement.

Moreover, Nixon says he wants "peaceful" freedom, rather than retreat—but not at the risk of a great appeasement. He also quickly over-qualifications that he would undertake this extension strictly by peaceful means, leaving open the great quack line that America must be strong militarily and economically—"to launch the offensive for freedom of the world."

Do the American voters understand the issue? Reporters travelling both with Kennedy and Nixon say the great majority do. Some of them say Kennedy has struck the right note—that Americans mobsters don't want their sons shedding blood on Quemoy-Matsu.

But among Nixon followers there is a feeling that many Americans were in favor of more insults and abuse from the Soviet. They want something done about it. This is the mood Nixon is trying to exploit—a get-tough policy, perhaps a new battle-of-missiles policy skirting the edge of war.

Nixon's executive is keep a close eye on the situation.

The association's constitution does not permit affiliation.

The telegram to the government asked that checkoff of dues be reinstated immediately pending the members' vote.

Three Guards Held Six Hours By Prisoners

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Three guards were overpowered and held as hostages for more than six hours early today by convict-patients in the hospital unit of the Connecticut state prison.

The guards were released unharmed when prison officials granted the convicts' demand for a conference with a lawyer and a state representative. The five convicts involved gave themselves up.

Two of the prisoners, Walter Doolittle and Peter Kissoh, conferred with lawyer Roger Glassco of New Britain and state representative Maurice Dudley.

Dudley and Glassco said later that apparently the whole thing was pointless.

They said neither prisoner presented any list of grievances during the 45-minute session.

Doolittle, they said, talked in a kind of disjointed manner as if he were under the influence of drugs, reading mostly back and forth.

Two other convicts locked themselves in isolation cells temporarily, after the guards were released, but they came out a short time later.

Deputy warden Richard Stebbins said the guards were "a little shaky but other than that—in good shape."

Stebbins said the convicts apparently were under the influence of drugs obtained from hospital stores.

The uprising was staged by at least four convicts although there were about 20 convict-patients in the hospital ward at the time, prison officials said.

Urge Training Of Parent Educationists

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Delegates to the regional Catholic social life conference Saturday passed a resolution that parish organizations should direct their attention to conducting sustained programs for the training of parent educationists.

The resolution followed speeches by Dr. and Mrs. Henri Breault of Windsor, Ont., during the laity session, declaring that parent-child relations are suffering from a great lack of understanding. Dr. Breault charged that under the pressure of serving as bread-winner the father has lost sight of any other purpose or goal.

"Many men find the responsibilities of the masculine world more than they can manage," he said. "They settle for biological fatherhood, beget their young, feed them, shelter them, clothe them, but nothing more."

Mrs. Breault said "there is a great need for adult parent education and spelling out of the respective roles of a father and a mother."

The obligations of the family to the church, community and world were outlined Sunday night by Toronto Controller William Allen.

AIR TRAVEL RISES — Total air passengers on the North Atlantic route, busiest of international skyways, has increased more than four times in the last 10 years. Fares have steadily decreased in the same period.

Graph shows trend in commercial passenger traffic and lowest round-trip fares from 1950 to 1960.

Larger faster aircraft spurred the first rate decrease in 1953 when the tourist fare was introduced. It cut more than nine-third from the cost of first-class tickets and remained between $486 and $531 until 1958.

The economy fare started with introduction of North Atlantic jet flights. This year, airlines are experimenting with a low excursion fare for off-season travellers.

Passenger traffic rose to 1,367,267 last year, latest figures available, from 311,545 in 1950. (CP Newsmap.)

No Sign As Yet Of Govt. Action In Rail Dispute

Non-ops and Companies Move Nearer Showdown

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's biggest labor scrap is moving relentlessly toward a crucial showdown—without any sign so far of government intervention to bring the disputants together.

Labor circles indicate that early December—perhaps Dec. 1 —may be the earliest deadline for a nation-wide walkout of 111,000 "non-op" railway workers to back their demands for a 14-cent hourly pay boost.

Strike ballots are to be returned to union general chairmen across Canada by Nov. 1.

After tabulating the result—almost certain to favor strike action—the union would be ready to spring the threat of a strike on the railway by mid-November, possibly about the time objectives set by Parliament to be getting back to work.

CABINET INTERVENTIONIST

Today's trend leaves a case for the federal cabinet to try to prevent a railway strike in the first place. Such unconstitutional services of the CPR and the CNR, in the 1950 dispute, were drawn as far as a strike threat before the cabinet. Parliament ordered the railways 30 days' notice of intention to strike, to give it enough time for the federal cabinet to confirm a freight rate increase to help pay for any wage settlement.

Present freight rates are frozen now. The railways cannot seek a rate increase for at least another year they say is needed to meet the proposed wage bill increases. They take a follow-up to ways have warned their workers that higher wages will ultimately mean fewer jobs.

The union position is that there has been what technological change, not traffic slump, has reduced jobs among the "non-op" workers—those who work in railway shops, offices, terminals, stations and on the tracks.

The question of fairness of wages are the only answer.

The question of subsidies is one point under study by the MacPherson royal commission, a major report due Dec. 31 by the federal government 17 months ago to find out why there is such a railway plight and the impact of freight rates on various areas of Canada.

Its report is expected early next year. Until it reports, the government plans to keep freight rates frozen.

However, one source close to the commission said the report has nothing whatsoever to do with current wage disputes.

Counsel Clash Over Evidence At Inquiry

ARNPRIOR, Ont. (CP) — A sharp clash between counsel just before Tuesday's adjournment enlivened proceedings at the second day of the judicial inquiry into this Ottawa Valley town's affairs.

Evidence was heard about town men, equipment and materials being used at the home and summer cottage of town engineer W. P. Friesday.

Most of the witnesses called Tuesday had given sworn statements to police earlier and had been subpoenaed to appear at the inquiry by Judge John Nelligan, Ottawa lawyer representing the town.

The exchange between counsel came as former employee Francis Friebeuit was being questioned by Mr. Nelligan about town money delivered to the home of Mrs. Otto Friday, bookkeeper for the town engineer.

Lawyer Royden Hughes of Ottawa, representing Mr. Friday, objected that Mr. Nelligan was "prosecuting" his client's witness.

Mr. Nelligan said that Mr. Friebuit was an "obviously reluctant" witness but Mr. Hughes countered that Mr. Nelligan should realize "He's not before the department of municipal affairs playing fast and loose right now."

Mr. Nelligan played a prominent role in the recent public inquiry conducted by the department of municipal affairs into the financial affairs of the Ottawa-area town of Eastview.

Mr. Nelligan said his tribunal seemed to be getting out of hand when a lawyer could cross-examine witnesses on evidence gathered by Police Chief William Parsons.

Judge T. M. J. Galligan of Penetanguishene ruled against Mr. Hughes, saying "the unfortunate part of this whole business to me is that according to the Municipal Act we are not confined to ordinary rules of evidence."

Earlier, Mr. Nelligan had accused Mr. Hughes of "browbeating" former town employee Gerald Friday. Mr. Hughes replied" the inquiry by sending a letter to the other side and that May Hisling what he felt were instances of misuse of labor and materials.

U.S. CURBS MOST SALES TO CUBA BY NEW DECREE

Unsubsidized Foods, Medicine Escape Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration acted today to tighten curbs on American business dealings with Cuba.

The commerce department banned all exports to Cuba except for medicines, certain medical supplies and food products without federal subsidy.

Simultaneously, the maritime administration made it illegal for American-owned ships to be sold, transferred or chartered to Cuban interests without the agency's approval.

The administration acted as debate over the Red-tinged regime of Premier Fidel Castro in Cuba as a major issue in the presidential campaign.

KENNEDY'S CHARGE

Senator Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, has repeatedly accused the administration of showing little concern over the Cuban situation. His Republican opponent, Vice - President Richard M. Nixon, Tuesday promised early action and indicated he will take still further steps to hamstring the Castro government if elected.

Both candidates presented their cases in speeches to the American Legion in Miami, Fla.

The commerce department had said earlier that a requirement that advance approval be obtained before American firms could say trucks or jeeps to Cuba.

The action was a follow-up to Castro seizures of American property and the Cuban swing toward communism.

EXPORTS DOWN ALREADY

U.S. exports to Cuba already have been cut off by the trade ban. Many Americans have not been doing business with Cuba.

However, authorities here saw the official embargo was still needed to prevent Castro from getting commodities from the U.S. if that particularly wants. He might successfully use cash offers to embarrass the nation selling him strategic items like chemicals and military parts.

The restrictions would not apply to U.S. imported goods. The most important of which is tobacco now that sugar has been cut off.

The Washington action would not be taken in concert with any other nation, although the other American republics in the Organization of American States were being advised. The OAS membership includes all but one of the 21 nations plus the United States.

The OAS proposed quarantine of Castro, informants said, would probably be the twelve further action by the OAS.

HAVANA (AP)—The confiscation of all remaining U.S. holding in Cuba is considered certain by Cuban officials because of new U.S. economic measures against the Castro government.

Washington's embargo on almost all U.S. exports to Cuba is expected to be announced today, may also result in a formal severance of that link with the United States abandon its huge Guantanamo naval base in eastern most Cuba. Castro may even break off diplomatic relations.

Castro said last week American businesses that were willing to be saved for expropriation if the United States government "adopted aggressive actions."

The value of some 350 small firms in Cuba still in American hands is estimated at about $250,000,000. Castro regime already has expropriated the big U.S. oil refineries, worth nearly $1,000,000,000.

Says Agricultural Policy Mixture Of Expediency, Jealousies, Politics

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Canada's attitude toward agriculture was described today as a "confused mixture of political expediency, regional jealousies and power politics."

J. M. Appleton, vice-president of the Bell Telephone Company Limited of Peterborough, made the statement at a one-day conference on water availability and pollution.

He said Canadian food production in the future must be directed to those areas where yield is adequate and where increased production is possible. Such increased production was not possible in most of the semi-arid sections of Western Canada.

He said the farmlands of Eastern Canada would be called upon to supply more and more of the food needs. He doesn't see western sections of the province have light rain today.

The conference, sponsored by the Ontario Water Resources Committee and the Conservation Council of Ontario, was held to focus attention on Ontario's water problems.

Mr. Appleton said Canada's use and waste of water is enormous. He said that soil and water, forests and streams, must eventually be restricted to those who respect and cherish this fraternal chief.

L. D. Dougan, vice-president of Polymer Corporation, Limited, Sarnia, said the real cost of correction of shortage and pollution problems in Ontario exceeds the rate of deterioration.

"Much progress has been made in the disposal of industrial wastes and many streams once greatly polluted by a combination of industrial and domestic wastes have been restored to become again valuable resources available to all users."

FARMERS' UNION ASKS CROP LOSS GOVERNMENT AID

Contends Consumers Should Share Cost

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Farmers' Union says increased farm efficiency is passed on to consumers as savings and the consumers should help bear the losses of severe crop damage.

Gordon Hill, union president, told the Ontario legislature's select committee on crop insurance Tuesday the entire administration costs of a crop insurance scheme should be borne by federal and provincial governments as well as 50 per cent of premium costs.

The union brief said both governments should establish a fund to counter exceptionally heavy losses when the premium fund is exhausted.

The proposed insurance would cover all crops and all risks, including drought, excessive rain, fall, hail, wind, insects, frost, flood, disease and fire.

Other farmers' groups did not give the union solid support on the proposal. Jack Wilson, Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association suggested a crop insurance scheme in the form of low-interest loans or grants to farmers in event of heavy losses.

The Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Growers' Marketing Board criticized private insurance companies which underwrite hail insurance. Board chairman Murray Smith said companies take advantage of hailstorms to raise rates for hail insurance as high as 30 per cent.

He urged the committee to recommend lower costs of crop insurance. Losses by frost, insects and worms, the brief said.

The committee met Tuesday night for Lansing, Mich., and a tour of the bean-growing district, will meet Nov. 2 in the village of Tillsonburg and Ridgetown.

More Sports, Visitors, Mail Planned for Prison Inmates

KINGSTON (CP) — Prisoners in Canadian penitentiaries are to receive extra recreational, visiting and mailing privileges, somewhat Justice Minister Fulton describes as a "great new event in the history of our country."

Mr. Fulton announced the changes Tuesday night at the week-long conference of Canadian penitentiary wardens and said the move is a "new, progressive" penal policy. The justice department acted on recommendations from the wardens.

Visiting restrictions are all but abolished. The conference recommended a complete lift but Mr. Fulton said he thought medium-and maximum-security penitentiaries made it impossible.

In minimum-security institutions there no longer will be restrictions on the frequency of visits in medium- and maximum-security penitentiaries two monthly visitors will be allowed instead of one.

There will be no limit on the number of letters sent or received by inmates of minimum-security prisons. Censorship will continue, however, to guard against contraband.

Medium- and maximum-security prisoners will be allowed to receive and send all the mail they can afford. Formerly, the federal government paid mailing charges for all the inmates' mail —four letters a month.

Recreation will be planned for the prisoners' evenings and there or three hours of sports, crafts and hobbies "to help them live normal life," Mr. Fulton said.

He said the situation in which a prisoner stays in his cell from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. leads to an "unnatural life" and "unnatural thoughts."

Greater segregation of first-offenders from habitual criminals and narcotics addicts, and a new system for selection of inmates for the experimental minimum-security establishments are planned.

T. George Street, chairman of the parole board, said the aim of "sentence must fit the criminal."

A prisoner should be sentenced according to his personality and rehabilitation needs, not to the severity of his offence, he said.

Mr. Street called for more minimum- and medium-security institutions such as the penal farm at nearby Joyceville, where rehabilitation, not punishment, is emphasized.

Alan McLeod, commissioner of penitentiaries, welcomed the government's "positive approach."

Mr. Fulton announced the appointment of J. Walter Johnstone, warden of Kingston penitentiaries since 1954, to a new post in the department of justice, director of staff training for Canada's penitentiary service. A successor has been named for him in Kingston.

Judge Will Not Pass Judgment On Evidence

TORONTO (CP)—The county court judge inquiring into the Toronto Transit Commission's streetcar derailment Tuesday against making any recommendations that could be considered political.

John J. Robinette, special TTC counsel, told the judicial inquiry into the $100,000 explosion that TTC commissioners between 1954 and 1959 is becoming "a political issue."
